An unapproved plant may be either a strictly manufacturing plant in which milk is used only for Class II products or a plant engaging in fluid distribution in other markets. Further some unapproved plants have dual operations. The provisions for classification of skim milk and butterfat transferred to such plants should result in Class II classification for that milk which is transferred to plants where only Class II operations are carried on but should result in Class I classification for that milk which the receiving plant needs for Class I disposition.

Transfers from an approved plant to an unapproved plant not more than 200 miles distant should be classified on the basis of a written agreement as to utilization, provided that if skim milk or butterfat so transferred was actually required for Class I use at the unapproved plant (after allocating to Class I the milk received directly from dairy farmers who constitute its regular source of supply for Class I needs) such milk should be classified as Class I milk at the approved plant. This provision will facilitate the movement into manufacturing outlets of skim milk and butterfat in excess of the Class I needs of the North Texas market and at the same time protect producers in the classification of their milk.

Transfers in the form of milk or skim milk from an approved plant to an unapproved plant more than 200 miles distant should be Class I milk. Milk and skim milk ordinarily do not move long distances for manufacturing purposes. There are ample manufacturing facilities within 200 miles of each approved plant to dispose of any prospective surplus of producer milk. Accordingly, it is not necessary to provide classification as other than Class I milk for such transfers. To do so would be administratively impracticable in view of the distances at which the market administrator would have to verify any claimed utilization as Class II milk.

Cream is often moved long distances for manufacture into ice cream. Most localities into which cream is shipped from North Texas or Wichita Falls plants require a Grade A certificate if it is to be used for fluid purposes. It is concluded that cream transferred more than 200 miles should be Class I if it moves under certificate as Grade A, and should be classified as Class II otherwise. While this provides the lower classification on the basis of the absence rather than the presence of positive evidence, it is believed that under the conditions prevailing in this area producers will be assured of proper payment for their milk and handlers will be able to dispose of surplus cream at prices commensurate with the cost of the skim milk and butterfat ingredients.

6. Class prices. Class I milk prices in these areas should be determined by a formula made up of three major components: (1) A basic formula price representative of manufacturing milk values, (2) differentials over the basic formula price, and (3) an adjustment of the price to reflect changes in the rates of receipts of milk from producers to sales of Class I milk—in other words, a supply-demand adjustment.

The production and marketing of inspected milk for fluid purposes are influenced by many of the same economic factors as are the production and marketing of milk for manufacturing purposes. The market for most manufactured products is nation-wide, and changes in the prices of such products reflect some of the changes in general economic conditions affecting the supply and demand for all milk. Manufacturing milk plants serve as alternative outlets for milk which farmers produce. For these reasons prices of fluid milk are frequently determined by formulas based on prices of butter and non-fat dry milk and on prices paid by condenseries.

While the historical relationship to manufacturing milk prices in the North Texas and Wichita Falls markets has not been quite so close as in some other areas where the production of manufacturing milk is a more important farming enterprise, prices of milk for fluid use have generally followed a pattern related to the prices of manufactured products and the prices paid for manufacturing milk.

The basic formula price to be used in establishing the current month price for Class I milk of 4.0 percent butterfat test should be the highest of the following for the preceding month: the prices paid to farmers at 18 mid-west condenseries for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat test adjusted to a 4.0 percent basis; a formula price based on the market prices of butter and non-fat dry milk solids; or the average price paid to farmers for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat test by specified local manufacturing plants. The use of these alternative components in the basic formula price will reflect the value of manufacturing milk. The use of the higher price resulting from the three alternatives is appropriate because the fluid milk supplies for these markets must be obtained at any time in competition with the most favorably priced manufacturing outlet.

Handlers opposed the use of the paying prices of the 18 condenseries in the basic formula price. However, substantial quantities of emergency milk priced under the order for the Chicago marketing area are imported by North Texas handlers. Such emergency supplies are commingled with producer milk and sold in bottled form in competition with producer milk. The marketing order for the Chicago market prices such milk by use of a basic formula using this condensery pay-price. The Chicago order also provides an alternative butter-nonfat dry milk solids basic formula price equivalent to that here proposed. The basic formula price will reflect factors which influence the prices North Texas handlers pay for such emergency supplies.

The use of prices paid by local manufacturing plants was not supported by producers or handlers as a part of the Class I basic formula price. It was proposed by handlers as a basis for a Class II price. The conclusions with reference to pricing Class II milk are that such paying prices can only be used as an alternative pricing basis to one of the other component factors of the basic formula price. The use of the local manufacturing milk price in the basic formula will reflect local conditions of milk pricing when such conditions should be determinates of the Class I price, i. e., when local plants are paying prices for milk higher than the prices resulting from the other two alternatives.

The use of the preceding month's manufacturing values in determining the Class I price for the current month permits handlers to know the Class I price at the time of purchase.

To the basic formula price should be added a differential to reflect the cost of meeting quality requirements in the production of market milk and to furnish the necessary incentive to get a regular and adequate supply of such milk produced. Producers of Grade A milk are required to make substantial investments to meet the inspection requirements of health authorities. Similar investments are not required of producers of manufacturing milk. Fluid milk is a perishable product which must reach the consumer within a short time after it is produced. Manufactured dairy products, on the other hand, may be stored for considerable periods before reaching the consumer. Producers of fluid milk must therefore furnish a regular daily supply to the market. Texas is an area in which milk production is especially costly and substantial price incentive is necessary to induce sufficient market milk productions to supply the needs of the market.

The amount of this differential should be $2.00. Producers advocated a differential of $2.25 while handlers made no specific proposal concerning the level of the differential to be used in determining Class I prices. The differential proposed by producers would have resulted in a Class I price for the period from March 1949 through February 1950 approximately the same as the base prices then prevailing in the markets and would have paralleled fairly closely the course of the prevailing base prices from July through December 1950, without the reductions associated with the chaotic conditions that prevailed in the months of March through June 1950.

Through the years of 1947 through 1950 there has been a continued increase in the production of milk for these markets. While milk sales have also increased, and the North Texas market in particular is not yet adequately supplied, the rate of increase in production appears to have exceeded that of sales during 1949 and much of 1950 so that the deficits in fall and winter months are less severe than those of 1947 and 1948. For the year 1949, when the most rapid increase in production took place, the prevailing base prices of the markets exceeded the basic formula price by an average of $2.48 as compared with the differential decided upon herein of $2.00. In 1950 this difference averaged $1.94.

While continued increases in the volumes of milk sales may be expected under the economic conditions prevailing in these markets, the rate of increase in production need not be as rapid as that of 1949 to provide an adequate supply within a reasonable time. Under an order which pays producers the Class I price for all milk disposed of in Grade A products, the price incentive required to assure an adequate supply of milk need not be quite so pronounced as under the present system of base prices. In view of the supply-demand adjustment of Class I prices provided herein, a differential of $2.00 should be included in the order. As of February 1950 the resulting Class I price would have been $6.19, 34 cents more than the $5.85 price then prevailing. Such an increase at that time was fully justified on the basis of the economic factors affecting the production of milk.

The minimum delivered cost of supplementary milk imported from the Chicago milkshed during the short production months has been about $2.00 per hundredweight more than the basic formula price. The level of prices resulting from the formula provided herein will be about $1.90 per hundredweight less than the cost of milk imported from the Chicago market.

Handlers proposed that the differential should be reduced during the months of seasonally high production, suggesting that the amount of reduction should not exceed 23 cents per hundredweight. There is some normal seasonal variation in the basic formula price. The base-rating plans incorporated in the orders are designed to influence the seasonal pattern of deliveries in the market. It is concluded that no seasonal reduction in the level of the differentials should be included in these orders at this time. Provision should be made, however, to prevent contra-seasonal movements of Class I prices except as they result from the operation of the supply demand adjustment included herein.

The prices resulting from the basic formula price and differential herein provided should be subject to adjustment for variation in the ratio of supplies of milk from approved producers to the sales of Class I milk. If a market is less than normally supplied, the differentials above the basic formula price should be increased in order to induce a greater supply of milk. Conversely, if the market is more than normally supplied, the differential should be reduced. Such adjustment should not be made, however, until the order in each market has been in effect for a length of time sufficient for the pricing mechanism of the order to have had opportunity to affect the responses of producers to the needs of the market. In these markets the record indicates that a minimum milk supply for the market of approximately 108 to 110 percent of Class I sales in any month is necessary in any one month to compensate for unequal distribution among handlers and daily and weekly variations in receipts and sales.

The object of a supply-demand price adjustment in these markets is to bring about an automatic price increase when the supply of producer milk in relation to Class I utilization is such that a shortage in the months of seasonally low production is indicated, and a price decrease when the supply may be expected to be above that needed to supply Class I needs in the low production months.

The rates of change in the volumes of both production of milk and Class I sales have been rapid in these markets. Any supply-demand ratio used should reflect conditions as currently as possible. Otherwise increased prices in spring months of high production may result from shortages in the previous fall months, and vice versa. The latest month for which data of receipts and sales are available for adjusting the Class I price to be announced on the 5th day of the month to which it applies is the second month preceding that month. It does not appear desirable to predicate adjustments on the experience of a single month; the experience of the latest two months for which data are available furnishes a more reliable indication without too much delay.

The use of a supply-demand ratio of two months requires consideration of the normal seasonal variations in production and sales that may be expected to occur. For months of seasonally high production the ratio of supplies to sales which indicates an adjustment in Class I prices should be higher than for those months in which production is normally less. The data available with reference to seasonal variations in production in the North Texas and Wichita Falls markets indicate some changes from year to year, with less seasonal variations in production in 1949 and 1950 than in 1947 and 1948. For purposes of the adjustment ratio it appears reasonable to expect seasonal variations in production slightly wider than the average of those shown for 1949 and 1950 in average production per producer but considerably narrower than those shown for the 1947–50 average monthly receipts adjusted for trend. Normally deliveries per day per producer appear to be about 25 percent greater in May and June, the months of highest production, than they are in November and December, the months of lowest production. There appears to be no significant seasonal variation in sales. Accordingly for purposes of this adjustment a supply equal to 125 percent of Class I sales in May and June is considered equivalent to a supply equal to 100 percent of sales in November and December. Similar ratios for each other two-month period are computed on the same basis.

In order to allow for the effect of year to year variations in the seasonal pattern of production, the supply-demand adjustment should not operate to modify the Class I price unless the relationship of supply to sales gives clear evidence that the quantity of milk deliveries will depart by a considerable amount from what is considered as an adequate but not excessive supply. It is therefore concluded that a supply of less than 100 percent of Class I sales in the short production months should result in an increase in price and that a supply of more than 115 percent of Class I sales in such months should result in a decrease in price. For other months these minimum and maximum percentages should reflect the seasonality of production to be expected in such months.

The rate of this adjustment should be 2.5 cents for each full percentage point that the supply-demand ratio actually prevailing for the second and third preceding months is either less than the minimum ratio established for such months (equivalent to 100 percent of Class I sales in the short production months) or is more than the maximum ratio established for such months (equivalent to 115 percent of Class I sales in the short production months). This rate of adjustment corresponds to slightly more than one percent of the differential included in the Class I price and should be adequate to compensate promptly for any maladjustment in supply that may occur.

The price for Class II milk in each market should be the higher of the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula price or the average of paying prices of the four Texas manufacturing plants for the current month.

Producers originally proposed the use of the paying prices of four Texas manufacturing plants as the means of determining Class II prices. At the hearing, however, they advocated the use of a Class II price based only on the mid-west condenseries and the butter-powder price. Handlers proposed the use of the paying prices of local manufacturing plants only, and suggested a number of such plants without furnishing data concerning the volumes of milk handled and the paying prices that have prevailed.

The local production of milk for manufacturing use does not supply the needs of the areas for the products manufactured there. It is necessary to import throughout the year substantial quantities of cream, condensed skim milk and nonfat dry milk solids for use in the manufacture of ice cream. A number of handlers have ice cream manufacturing facilities and buy imported ingredients to a considerable extent. Surplus Grade A milk is also used in the manufacture of ice cream but only at a price level commensurate with the prices of alternative ingredients in the form of nonfat dry milk solids, condensed skim milk, and unapproved cream. The prices of these products will therefore determine the prices for approved milk used to make ice cream. The costs of imported cream and milk solids are much more closely related to the prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids than to the paying prices of mid-west condenseries. These costs include transportation costs from Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Wisconsin, or Minnesota. The butter-powder formula price included in the orders has every month since September 1950 been almost identical with the price charged under the Chicago order for 4.0 percent milk used in the manufacture of butter and nonfat dry milk solids. Such a price should allow handlers to dispose of surplus milk in competition with both locally produced and imported supplies.

The only data concerning local manufacturing plants relate to those operated by handlers or their affiliates and to a cheese plant operated by a cooperative association for which annual patronage dividends are paid farmers in addition to the paying prices quoted for each month. While the use of the paying prices of plants operated by handlers or their affiliates as a sole determinant of producer prices would not be appropriate, the use of such prices as an alternative to a formula price based on national market values of butter and powder will prevent the price for Class II milk from being less than that paid for ungraded milk in the locality. The four plants selected appear the most representative that could be selected.

The class prices computed under the terms of the order would be those for milk containing 4.0 percent butterfat. The class prices for each handler should be adjusted by a butterfat differential to reflect the average test of producer milk classified in each class. Such differential for Class II milk shall be computed on the basis of the price of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago for the delivery period plus 15 percent. This differential represents a value somewhat less than the generally accepted value of butterfat for butter. With regard to Class I milk such differential should be computed on the same price for butter, plus 25 percent, reflecting the higher value of butterfat for fluid use. These differentials are both low in comparison with those in many other markets. This is in recognition of the fact that cream sales are low in the markets and that the average test of producer milk is high. As a consequence the market deficits are more concerned with total volume of receipts than with butterfat. The use of these moderate butterfat differentials will serve to allocate a higher proportion of the total price of each class to the skim milk which is in shorter supply.

The parity price of all milk sold at wholesale in the United States, which is the applicable parity price under present legislation, was $4.76 per hundredweight as of March 15, 1951. Such price does not reflect what the record shows to be the price of feeds, the available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk or its products in the marketing areas; nor would it insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk for the marketing areas, or be in the public interest.

No adjustments are provided in the pricing provisions of the North Texas order with respect to the location of approved plants at which milk is received from producers. No such adjustments were proposed by producers or handlers of the North Texas marketing area. The record indicates that no such adjustments are now in effect. With respect to the Wichita Falls marketing area it was indicated that an adjustment in price to producers was customarily made with respect to milk received at a cooling plant at Windthorst, approximately 24 miles from Wichita Falls. This cooling plant is owned and operated by a cooperative association which receives uncooled milk twice daily from its members, cools such milk, and delivers it to Wichita Falls handlers. The order provides no adjustment in minimum class prices with respect to the milk received at this cooling plant, but does permit the cooperative association which is the handler to deduct not to exceed 25 cents per hundredweight from the uniform prices of the order for milk received at this plant. Many producers would not be able to supply the market without the cooling facilities provided by this plant.

7. Payments to producers. The "market-wide" type of pool with base-rating plan should be established in these orders for the purpose of distributing among producers returns from the sale of their milk. Under this plan all producers receive the same uniform price for their milk (or when bases are applicable and uniform price for base milk and a uniform price for milk in excess of base) irrespective of the utilization made by such milk by individual handlers.

The alternative to the market-wide pool is the individual-handler pool. Under this latter system producers delivering to each handler receive a uniform price based on each handler's utilization of milk. Because different handlers utilize different proportions of their milk as Class I and Class II, the uniform prices of individual handlers would vary one from the other. The order has been written to permit a cooperative association to become a handler when necessary to market the surplus milk of its members. Under these circumstances an individual-handler pool would result in an unequal sharing of the market among producers and would not be conducive to orderly marketing. It is concluded, therefore, that market-wide pools are necessary to distribute the returns from the sale of milk equally among producers and to create orderly marketing of producer milk.

In the computation of the value of producer milk, provision should be made for the inclusion of the value of milk classified in excess of reported receipts from producers, other handlers, and other sources. This provision is necessary to account for differences between the reported and actual weights and tests of milk received from producers.

The butterfat differential to be used in making payments to producers should be fixed at one-tenth of the price of Grade A (92-score) butter on the Chicago market multiplied by 1.2. This differential is the same as that established under many other marketing orders. The producer butterfat differential merely affects the proration of returns among producers, and it in no way affects handlers' costs for milk.

The distribution among producers of the returns from the sales of milk should be made through the medium of a base-rating plan. Improvement in the seasonal pattern of production has resulted from the base features of present buying plans in these markets. The proposals for base-rating plans are supported by both producers and handlers in each market. Under the plans as hereinafter provided new bases would be established each year on the basis of total deliveries made by each producer during the short production months of October through January. The bases so established would be used in making payments to producers during the months of greatest production, i. e., April through June.

Producers proposed that the bases so established should be used in making payments to producers during the months of February through September. It does not appear necessary that bases be used for so many months for effective results from the plan. Restricting payments on the base to the months definitely associated with flush production will provide greater flexibility, and will provide individual producers better opportunity to make adjustments in their production plans. It also permits new producers to enter the market to meet prospective needs without unduly affecting the returns of producers with established bases.

A uniform price for base milk during these months would be computed which would reflect the value of milk for the market as a whole after the prior assignment of deliveries of milk in excess of base to the lowest available use class. The price of base milk would thus be enhanced above the average for the market and the uniform price for excess milk would be below the average. The lower price applicable to milk in excess of base deliveries tends to limit the deliveries of such milk during the months of surplus production. Conversely, the value of a large base gives impetus to the delivery of milk in the season of short production. The influences of these two forces tends to cause a more even seasonal pattern of milk deliveries than if payments were made during all months of the year on a straight uniform price basis.

It is necessary to provide certain rules in connection with the establishment and transfer of bases to provide reasonable administrative workability of the plan. In order to accomplish this purpose and preserve the effectiveness of the plan no provisions should be made for the transfer of partial bases. However, transfer of the entire base of an individual producer to members of his family in case of death, retirement, or entry into military service is permitted. Provision is also made for transfer of the entire base to one of the joint holders in the case of the termination of joint landlord-tenant relationships. These rules should assure the workability of the plan and at the same time place no undue hardship upon any producer since the established bases are effective in determining producer payments in only three of the twelve months of each year.

Although uniform prices are computed once a month, provision should be made to pay producers on a semi-monthly basis. The majority of producers on these markets have customarily been paid twice a month and it is concluded that this practice should be continued. The advance payment to be made on or before the last day of the delivery period and covering receipts of producer milk during the first 15 days of the delivery period should be at not less than the Class II price for the preceding delivery period. Payment at this rate will largely eliminate the possibility of handlers making overpayments to producers who may leave the market before the end of the delivery period. Final payment for milk received during each delivery period should be made on or before the 16th day after the end of the delivery period.

In the case of a qualified cooperative association, which so requests, the handler should make the advance and final payments sufficiently in advance of the date for payment to other producers to enable the cooperative association to pay its members at that date. The dates which have been provided for these various payments are so spaced that ample time is provided the handlers and the market administrator for the filing of reports, the computation of the various prices and the writing and mailing of checks.

8. Certain other provisions should be adopted to enable proper and efficient administration of the orders.

(a) Administrative assessment. Each handler should be required to pay to the market administrator, as his pro rata share of the cost of administration of the order, 4 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser sum as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, on all receipts at his pool plant within the delivery period of (1) milk from producers (including such handler's own production) and (2) other source milk which is classified as Class I.

The market administrator in each market must have sufficient funds to enable him to administer properly the terms of the order and the act provides that the administration of the order be financed through assessment against handlers. In view of the anticipated volumes of milk on which the rate would apply it is concluded that a maximum rate of 4 cents per hundredweight is necessary at this time to guarantee sufficient administrative funds. In the event at a later date a lesser amount proves to be sufficient for proper administration, provision is made to enable the Secretary to reduce the assessment accordingly.

(b) Deduction for marketing services. Provision should be made for the dissemination of market information to producers and for the verification of weights and for the sampling and testing of milk received from producers for whom such services are not being rendered by a qualified cooperative association. This provision, including the assessing of producers in payment thereof, is specifically authorized by the act. Five cents per hundredweight or such lesser rate as the Secretary may determine should be deducted by handlers from the payment to producers and turned over to the market administrator to finance such services. This rate was proposed by producer groups on the basis of experience with check sampling, weighing, and testing programs in other marketing areas. In the event any qualified cooperative association is determined to be performing such services for any producer, handlers should pay to the cooperative association such deductions as are authorized by such producer in lieu of the payment to the market administrator.

(c) Other administrative provisions. The other provisions of the order are of a general administrative nature, are incidental to the other provisions of the orders, and are necessary for the proper and efficient administration of the respective orders. They provide for the selection of the market administrator, define his powers and duties, prescribe the information to be reported by handlers each month and the length of time that records must be retained. A plan for liquidation of each order in the event of its suspension or termination should also be provided.

Producer-handlers should be exempt from the regulatory provisions of the order except that they should be required to file reports as requested by the market administrator. Since a producer-handler may change his status from time to time it is necessary that the market administrator have authority to require such reports as will enable him to verify the current status of a producer-handler and to supplement other market information. In order that cooperative associations may be in position to allocate milk more equitably among handlers in times of shortage and thus insure each handler a more equitable supply of milk, the market administrator should furnish such an association each month a report of the utilization of its milk by each handler who received milk from its members. Since this report would include only milk received from the association and would not reveal the handler's total operations, confidential information would not be disclosed.

An approved plant which is subject to the regulatory provisions of another milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act and which the Secretary determines disposes of a greater volume of its Class I milk in such other marketing area than in this marketing area should be partially exempt from the provisions of these orders. It would be impractical to attempt to regulate a handler under two separate orders with respect to the same milk. Accordingly, it should be provided in each order that if an approved plant disposes of a greater volume of its Class I milk in a marketing area, regulated by another Federal milk marketing order, than is disposed of in the marketing area here defined such plant shall be exempt from the pricing, payment, administrative assessment, and marketing service provisions of whichever of these orders is involved. Such a handler, however, should make reports with respect to receipts and utilization as the market administrator may require, to insure equity between handlers, such a handler should not be permitted to purchase milk for sale as Class I milk in either area at less than the price paid by regulated handlers of the area in which the milk is sold. Therefore, a handler exempt under these provisions is required to make such payments as will equalize his cost with other handlers.

Each order should provide limitations on the period of time handlers shall retain books and records which are required to be made available to the market administrator, and on the period of time in which obligations under the order shall terminate. The provision made in this regard is identical in principle with the general amendment made to all orders in operation on July 30, 1947, effective February 22, 1949, and the Secretary's decision of January 26, 1949 (14 F. R. 444), covering the retention of records and limitation of claims is equally applicable in this situation and is adopted as a part of this decision.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreements and the orders and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing areas, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreements and the orders are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed orders will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of the North Texas Producers Association, the Wichita Falls Area Milk Producers Association (proponents) the Central West Texas Milk Producers Association, and 25 handlers. The general brief submitted on behalf of handlers was supplemented by three briefs on behalf of certain of these handlers. The briefs contained proposed findings of facts, conclusions, and arguments with respect to the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinafter set forth. To the extent that such suggested findings and conclusions contained in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision. Motions were filed after the hearing on behalf of a group of handlers to (a) reopen the hearing, (b) fix a date for the filing of reply briefs, and (c) provide an opportunity for argument prior to the issuance of a recommended decision. It was requested further that the present proposal of the opponents be rejected in toto and that no decision be reached on the issuance of an order until the "submission of a new and different proposal by the proponents, upon which lawful notice may be given." It was contended that this is necessary to a meaningful record under the statute.

The purpose of reopening the hearing, as stated in the motion of handlers, is to permit them to produce evidence relative to proposals made during the hearing to change provisions of the proposed order. Full opportunity for all interested persons to be heard on all issues in this proceeding was provided at the hearing. Any changes proposed at the hearing related closely to the character of the provisions sought to be amended. In our view the issues are clear on the record, and there has been ample time to meet such issues. Therefore, the request to await the submittal by the proponents of further proposals for hearing are denied. The request to reopen the hearing is likewise denied for the same reasons.

Ample time was allowed following the hearing for filing of briefs and proposed findings and conclusions. A reasonable period of time subsequent to this recommended decision is allowed for the filing of exceptions to the findings and conclusions and to the recommended marketing agreements and orders contained herein. Such procedure provides adequate opportunity for all interested parties to present their views and arguments and leaves no useful purpose to be served by oral arguments or reply briefs. Accordingly the motions to provide for oral arguments and reply briefs is denied.

Recommended marketing agreements and orders. The following orders are recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreements are not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the recommended orders.

§ 943.10 Producer. "Producer" means any person, other than a producer-handler, who produces milk which is received directly from the farm at an approved plant: Provided, That if ungraded milk is regularly received at the premises of such approved plant with the approval of the applicable health authority having jurisdiction, only those persons whose milk is received at such approved plant who are producing milk under a dairy farm permit or rating issued by such health authority for the production of milk to be disposed of for consumption as Grade A milk shall be producers: And provided further, That if the applicable health authority shall notify the operator of an approved plant and the market administrator in writing that a person whose milk has been received at such approved plant is no longer qualified to have his milk received at such plant such person shall not be a producer on the basis of receipt of milk at such plant from the effective date of such notice until the effective date of a written notice from such health authority to the market administrator that such person is again qualified to have his milk received at such plant. "Producer" shall include any such person whose milk is caused to be diverted by a handler to an unapproved plant, and milk so diverted shall be deemed to have been received at an approved plant by the handler who causes it to be diverted. "Producer" shall not include a person with respect to milk produced by him which is received at a plant operated by a handler who is subject to another Federal marketing order and who is partially exempt from the provisions of this order pursuant to § 943.61.

In either case, the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly, upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 943.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat received within the month by a handler and which is required to be reported pursuant to § 943.30 shall be classified by the market administrator pursuant to the provisions of §§ 943.41 to 943.46, inclusive.

§ 943.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 943.43 and 943.44, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat (1) disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk drinks, cream, cultured sour cream, any mixture (except eggnog and bulk ice cream mix) of cream and milk or skim milk, (2) used to produce concentrated (including frozen) milk, flavored milk, or flavored milk drinks disposed of for fluid consumption neither sterilized nor in hermetically sealed cans, and (3) all other skim milk and butterfat not specifically accounted for as Class II milk;

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Used to produce any product other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section;

(2) Disposed of for livestock feed;

(3) In shrinkage up to 2 percent of receipts from producers;

(4) In inventory variations of milk, skim milk, cream, or any product specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 943.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the resulting amounts between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in receipts from producers and of other source milk.

§ 943.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat shall be reclassified if verification by the market administrator discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

§ 943.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of by a handler either by transfer or diversion shall be classified:

(a) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream, to the approved plant of another handler (except a producer-handler), unless utilization in Class II is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 7th day after the end of the month within which such transaction occurred: Provided, That if either or both handlers have received other source milk the skim milk or butterfat so transferred or diverted shall be classified at both plants so as to allocate the greatest possible Class I utilization to producer milk.

(b) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted to a producer-handler in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream.

(c) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk from an approved plant to an unapproved plant more than 200 miles distant by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator.

(d) As Class I milk, if transferred in the form of cream under Grade A certification from an approved plant to an unapproved plant located more than 200 miles distant and as Class II milk if so transferred without Grade A certification.

(e) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream from an approved plant to an unapproved plant located not more than 200 miles distant by shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator, unless:

(1) The handler claims classification as Class II milk on the basis of a utilization mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the operator of the unapproved plant and the handler on or before the 7th day after the end of the month within which such transfer occurred; and

(2) The operator of the unapproved plant maintains books and records showing the receipts and utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification: Provided, That if the Class I utilization of skim milk and butterfat in such plant exceeds receipts at such plant of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in milk direct from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitutes the regular source of supply for fluid usage of such unapproved plant in markets supplied by it, an amount of skim milk and butterfat equal to such excess shall be classified as Class I milk.

§ 943.45 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the monthly report submitted by each handler and shall compute the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler.

§ 943.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After making the computations pursuant to § 943.45, the market administrator shall determine the classification of milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk determined pursuant to § 943.41 (b) (3);

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk in other source milk: Provided, That if the receipts of skim milk in other source milk are greater than the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class I;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk received from other handlers according to its classifiation as determined pursuant to § 943.44 (a);

(4) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(5) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II milk. Any amount so subtracted shall be called "overage."

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Determine the weighted average butterfat content of Class I and Class II milk computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 943.50 Basic formula price to be used in determining Class I prices. The basic formula price to be used in determining the price per hundredweight of Class I milk shall be the highest of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section.

(a) The average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid or to be paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department, divided by 3.5 and multiplied by 4.0:

§ 943.51 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of § 943.52, the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk received at his plant from producers during the month shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. The basic formula price for the preceding month plus $2.00, subject to the following:

(1) For each month after this order shall have been in effect twelve months such price shall be increased 2.5 cents for each full percentage point that the percentage of the total Class I milk disposed of by all handlers (exclusive of producer-handlers and handlers partially exempt from this order pursuant to § 943.61) during the second and third months preceding such month represented by the total volume of receipts from producers by all handlers during such months is less than the minimum percentage listed below opposite the month for which such adjustment would apply, and such price shall be decreased 2.5 cents for each full percentage point that such percentage exceeds the maximum percentage listed below opposite the month for which such adjustment would apply:

Month:	Percentages Minimum	Percentages Maximum
January	100	115
February	100	115
March	100	115
April	100	115
May	105	120
June	115	132
July	120	140
August	125	150
September	120	140
October	110	127
November	110	127
December	105	120

(2) Except for adjustments pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, such price for each of the months of October, November and December shall not be less than that for the preceding month, and such price for each of the months of April, May and June shall not be more than that for the preceding month.

(b) Class II milk. The higher of the prices computed pursuant to § 943.50 (b) or (c) for the current month.

§ 943.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. If the average butterfat content of the milk of any handler allocated to any class pursuant to § 943.46 is more or less than 4.0 percent, there shall be added to the respective class price, computed pursuant to § 943.51, for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 4.0 percent, or subtracted for each one-tenth of 1 percent that such average butterfat content is below 4.0 percent, an amount equal to the butterfat differential computed by multiplying the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling price per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the Department during the appropriate month by the applicable factor listed below and dividing the result by 10:

(a) Class I milk. Multiply such price for the preceding month by 1.25;

(b) Class II milk. Multiply such price for the current month by 1.15.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 943.60 Producer-handlers. Sections 943.40 through 943.46, 943.50 through 943.52, 943.70 through 943.73, 943.80 through 943.81, and 943.90 through 943.97 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 943.61 Handlers subject to other orders. In the case of any handler who the Secretary determines disposes of a greater portion of his milk as Class I milk in another marketing area regulated by another milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act, the provisions of this part shall not apply except as follows:

(a) The handler shall, with respect to the total receipts of skim milk and butterfat, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

(b) If the price which such handler is required to pay under the other Federal order to which he is subject for skim milk and butterfat which would be classified in Class I milk under this order is less than the price provided by this order, such handler shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund (with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I milk within the marketing area) an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat as computed pursuant to this order and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject. Such payments shall be made on or before the 13th day of the following month.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 943.70 Computation of value of milk. The value of milk received during each month by each handler from producers shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the pounds of such milk in each class by the applicable class prices and adding together the resulting amounts: Provided, That if the handler had overage of either skim milk or butterfat, there shall be added to the above values an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 943.46 by the applicable class prices.

§ 943.71 Computation of aggregate value used to determine uniform price(s). For each month the market administrator shall compute as follows an aggregate value from which to determine the uniform price(s) per hundredweight for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from the producers:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 943.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 943.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 943.90 and 943.93 for the preceding month.

(b) Add not less than one-half of the cash balance on hand in the producer-settlement fund, less the total amount of the contingent obligations to handlers pursuant to § 943.94.

(c) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 4.0 percent or add if such average butterfat content is less than 4.0 percent an amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 4.0 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 943.91 and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk;

§ 943.72 Computation of uniform price. For each of the months of July through March, the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight for all milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers at an approved plant as follows:

(a) Divide the aggregate value computed pursuant to § 943.71 by the total hundredweight of milk included in such computation; and

(b) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents.

§ 943.73 Computation of uniform prices for base milk and excess milk. For each of the months of April through June the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and for excess milk, each of 4.0 percent butterfat content, received from producers at an approved plant as follows:

(a) Compute the total value on a 4.0 percent butterfat basis of excess milk included in the computations pursuant to § 943.71 by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk not in excess of the total quantity of Class II milk included in these computations by the price for Class II milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content, multiplying the hundredweight of such milk in excess of the total hundredweight of such Class II milk by the price for Class I milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content, and adding together the resulting amounts;

(b) Divide the total value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk, and adjust to the nearest cent. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk of 4.0 percent butterfat received from producers;

(c) Subtract the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section from the aggregate value computed pursuant to § 943.71 and adjust by any amount involved in adjusting the uniform price of excess milk to the nearest cent;

(d) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (c) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk included in these computations;

(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for base milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers.

DETERMINATION OF BASE

§ 943.80 Computation of daily average base for each producer. For the months of April through June of each year the market administrator shall compute a daily average base for each producer as follows, subject to the rules set forth in § 943.81:

(a) Divide the total pounds of milk received by a handler(s) from such producer during the months of October through January immediately preceding by the number of days, not to be less than ninety, of such producer's delivery in such period.

§ 943.81 Base rules. (a) A base shall apply to deliveries of milk by the producer for whose account that milk was delivered during the base forming period;

(b) Bases may be transferred only by notifying the market administrator in writing before the last day of any month that such base is to be transferred to the person named in such notice only as follows:

(i) In the event of the death, retirement, or entry into military service of a producer the entire base may be transferred to a member(s) of such producer's immediate family who carries on the dairy operations.

(ii) If a base is held jointly and such joint holding is terminated, the entire base may be transferred to one of the joint holders.

PAYMENTS

§ 943.90 Time and method of payment. Each handler shall make payment as follows:

(a) On or before the 15th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, to each producer for whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, at not less than the applicable uniform price(s) for such month computed pursuant to §§ 943.72 and 943.73, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 943.91, and less the amount of the payment made pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 943.94, he may redeem his total payments to all producers uniformly by not less than the amount of reduction in payments from the market administrator; he shall, however, complete such payments pursuant to this paragraph not later than the date for making such payments next following receipt of the balance from the market administrator.

(b) On or before the 25th day of each month, to each producer for whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section for milk received during the first 15 days of such month, at not less than the Class II price of the preceding month.

(c) On or before the 13th and 23rd days of each month, in lieu of payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section respectively, to a cooperative association which so requests, with respect to producers for whose milk such cooperative association is authorized to collect payment, an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers. Such payment shall be accompanied by a statement showing for each producer the items required to be reported pursuant to § 943.31.

§ 943.91 Producer-butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 943.90, there shall be added to or subtracted from the uniform price for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of the milk received from the producer is above or below 4.0 percent, an amount computed by multiplying by 1.2 the simple average as computed by the market administrator of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the Department during the month, dividing the resulting sum by 10, and rounding to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

§ 943.92 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund," into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 943.61 (b), 943.93 and 943.95, and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to §§ 943.94 and 943.95.

§ 943.93 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers as determined pursuant to § 943.70 is greater than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 943.90.

§ 943.94 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, the market administrator shall pay to each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers during the month as determined pursuant to § 943.70 is less than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 943.90: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this paragraph, the market adminstrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available.

§ 943.95 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever verification by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, accounts or payments discloses errors resulting in money due:

(a) the market administrator from such handler;

(b) such handler from the market administrator; or

(c) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any amount so due and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payments set forth in the provisions under which such error occurred.

§ 943.96 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers (other than himself) pursuant to § 943.90, shall deduct 5 cents per hundredweight or such amount not exceeding 5 cents per hundredweight as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of each month. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to sample, test, and check the weights of milk received and to provide producers with market information.

(b) In the case of producers for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deduction specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from the payments to be made to such producers as may be authorized by the membership agreement or marketing contract between such cooperative association and such producers and on or before the 15th day after the end of each month pay such deduction to the cooperative association rendering such services, accompanied by a statement showing the quantity of milk for which such deduction was computed for each such producer.

§ 943.97 Expenses of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration hereof, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of the month 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within the month of (a) other source milk which is classified as Class I milk, and (b) milk from producers including such handler's own production.

§ 943.98 Termination of obligation. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this order for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this order shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this order, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this order to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this order to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this order shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8 (c) (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat (1) disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk drinks, cream, cultured sour cream, any mixture (except eggnog and bulk ice cream mix) of cream and milk or skim milk, (2) used to produce concentrated (including frozen) milk, flavored milk, or flavored milk drinks disposed of for fluid consumption neither sterilized nor in hermetically sealed cans, and (3) all other skim milk and butterfat not specifically accounted for as Class II milk;

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Used to produce any product other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section;

(2) Disposed of for livestock feed;

(3) In shrinkage up to 2 percent of receipts from producers;

§ 945.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the resulting amounts between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in receipts from producers and of other source milk.

§ 945.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat shall be reclassified if verification by the market administrator discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

§ 945.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of by a handler either by transfer or diversion shall be classified:

(a) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream, to the approved plant of another handler (except a producer-handler), unless utilization in Class II is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 7th day after the end of the month within which such transaction occurred: Provided, That if either or both handlers have received other source milk the skim milk or butterfat so transferred or diverted shall be classified at both plants so as to allocate the greatest possible Class I utilization to producer milk.

(b) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted to a producer-handler in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream.

(c) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk from an approved plant to an unapproved plant more than 200 miles distant by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator.

(d) As Class I milk, if transferred in the form of cream under Grade A certification from an approved plant to an unapproved plant more than 200 miles distant and as Class II milk if so transferred without Grade A certification.

(e) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream from an approved plant to an unapproved plant not more than 200 miles distant by shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator, unless:

(1) The handler claims classification as Class II milk on the basis of a utilization mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the operator of the unapproved plant and the handler on or before the 7th day after the end of the month within which such transfer occurred; and

(2) The operator of the unapproved plant maintains books and records showing the receipts and utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification: Provided, That if the Class I utilization of skim milk and butterfat in such plant exceeds receipts at such plant of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in milk direct from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitutes the regular source of supply for fluid usage of such unapproved plant in markets supplied by it, an amount of skim milk and butterfat equal to such excess shall be classified as Class I milk.

§ 945.45 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the monthly report submitted by each handler and shall compute the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler.

§ 945.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After making the computations pursuant to § 945.45, the market administrator shall determine the classification of milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk determined pursuant to § 945.41 (b) (3).

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk in other source milk: Provided, That if the receipts of skim milk in other source milk are greater than the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class I;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk received from other handlers according to its classification as determined pursuant to § 945.44 (a);

(4) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(5) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II milk. Any amount so subtracted shall be called "overage."

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Determine the weighted average butterfat content of Class I and Class II milk computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 945.50 Basic formula price to be used in determining Class I prices. The basic formula price to be used in determining the price per hundredweight of Class I milk shall be the highest of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section.

(a) The average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid or to be paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department, divided by 3.5 and multiplied by 4.0:

§ 945.51 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of § 945.52, the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk received at his plant from producers during the month shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. The basic formula price for the preceding month plus $2.00, subject to the following:

(1) For each month after this part shall have been in effect twelve months such price shall be increased 2.5 cents for each full percentage point that the percentage of the total Class I milk disposed of by all handlers (exclusive of producer-handlers and handlers partially exempt from this order pursuant to § 945.61) during the second and third months preceding such month represented by the total volume of receipts from producers by all handlers during such months is less than the minimum percentage listed below opposite the month for which such adjustment would apply, and such price shall be decreased 2.5 cents for each full percentage point that such percentage exceeds the maximum percentage listed below opposite the month for which such adjustment would apply:

Month:	Percentages Minimum	Percentages Maximum
January	100	115
February	100	115
March	100	115
April	100	115
May	105	120
June	115	132
July	120	140
August	125	150
September	120	140

(b) Class II milk. The higher of the prices computed pursuant to § 945.50 (b) or (c) for the current month.

§ 945.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. If the average butterfat content of the milk of any handler allocated to any class pursuant to § 945.46 is more or less than 4.0 percent, there shall be added to the respective class price, computed pursuant to § 945.51, for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 4.0 percent, or subtracted for each one-tenth of 1 percent that such average butterfat content is below 4.0 percent, an amount equal to the butterfat differential computed by multiplying the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling price per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the Department during the appropriate month by the applicable factor listed below and dividing the result by 10:

(a) Class I milk. Multiply such price for the preceding month by 1.25;

(b) Class II milk. Multiply such price for the current month by 1.15.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 945.60 Producer-handlers. Sections 945.40 through 945.46, 945.50 through 945.52, 945.70 through 945.73, 945.80, 945.81, and 945.90 through 945.97, shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 945.61 Handlers subject to other orders. In the case of any handler who the Secretary determines disposes of a greater portion of his milk as Class I milk in another marketing area regulated by another milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act, the provisions of this part shall not apply except as follows:

(a) The handler shall, with respect to the total receipts of skim milk and butterfat, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

(b) If the price which such handler is required by pay under the other Federal order to which he is subject for skim milk and butterfat which would be classified in Class I milk under this order is less than the price provided by this order, such handler shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund (with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I milk within the marketing area) an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat as computed pursuant to this order and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject. Such payments shall be made on or before the 12th day of the following month.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 945.70 Computation of value of milk. The value of milk received during each month by each handler from producers shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the pounds of such milk in each class by the applicable class prices and adding together the resulting amounts: Provided, That if the handler had overage of either skim milk or butterfat, there shall be added to the above values an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 945.46 by the applicable class prices.

§ 945.71 Computation of aggregate value used to determine uniform price(s). For each month the market administrator shall compute as follows an aggregate value from which to determine the uniform price(s) per hundredweight for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 945.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 945.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 945.90 and 945.93 for the preceding month.

(b) Add not less than one-half of the cash balance on hand in the producer-settlement fund, less the total amount of the contingent obligations to handlers pursuant to § 945.94.

(c) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 4.0 percent or add if such average butterfat content is less than 4.0 percent an amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 4.0 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 945.91 and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk.

§ 945.72 Computation of uniform price. For each of the months of July through March, the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight for all milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers at an approved plant as follows: (a) Divide the aggregate value computed pursuant to § 945.71 by the total hundredweight of milk included in such computation; and (b) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents.

§ 945.73 Computation of uniform prices for base milk and excess milk. For each of the months of April through June the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and for excess milk, each of 4.0 percent butterfat content, received from producers at an approved plant as follows:

(a) Compute the total value on a 4.0 percent butterfat basis of excess milk included in the computations pursuant to § 945.71 by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk not in excess of the total quantity of Class II milk included in these computations by the price for Class II milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content, multiplying the hundredweight of such milk in excess of the total hundredweight of such Class II milk by the price for Class I milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content, and adding together the resulting amounts;

(b) Divide the total value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk, and adjust to the nearest cent. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk of 4.0 percent butterfat received from producers;

(c) Subtract the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section from the aggregate value computed pursuant to § 945.71 and adjust by any amount involved in adjusting the uniform price of excess milk to the nearest cent;

(d) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (c) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk included in these computations;

(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for base milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers.

DETERMINATION OF BASE

§ 945.80 Computation of daily average base for each producer. For the months of April through June of each year the market administrator shall compute a daily average base for each producer as follows, subject to the rules set forth in § 945.81:

(a) Divide the total pounds of milk received by a handler(s) from such producer during the months of October through January immediately preceding by the number of days, not to be less than ninety, of such producer's delivery in such period.

§ 945.81 Base rules. (a) A base shall apply to deliveries milk by the producer for whose account that milk was delivered during the base forming period;

(b) Bases may be transferred only by notifying the market administrator in writing before the last day of any month that such base is to be transferred to the person named in such notice only as follows:

(1) In the event of the death, retirement, or entry into military service of a producer the entire base may be transferred to a member(s) of such producer's immediate family who carries on the dairy operations.

(2) If a base is held jointly and such joint holding is terminated, the entire base may be transferred to one of the joint holders.

PAYMENTS

§ 945.90 Time and method of payment. Each handler shall make payment as follows:

(a) On or before the 15th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, to each producer for whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, at not less than the applicable uniform price(s) for such month computed pursuant to §§ 945.72 and 945.73, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to §945.91, and less the amount of the payment made pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 945.94, he may redeem his total payments to all producers uniformly by not less than the amount of reduction in payments from the market administrator; he shall, however, complete such payments pursuant to this paragraph not later than the date for making such payments next following receipt of the balance from the market administrator.

(b) On or before the 25th day of each month, to each producer for whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section for milk received during the first 15 days of such month, at not less than the Class II price for the preceding month.

(c) On or before the 13th and 23rd days of each month, in lieu of payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section respectively, to a cooperative association which so requests, with respect to producers for whose milk such cooperative association is authorized to collect payment, an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers. Such payment shall be accompanied by a statement showing for each producer the items required to be reported pursuant to § 945.31.

§ 945.91 Producer-butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 945.90, there shall be added to or subtracted from the uniform price for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of the milk received from the producer is above or below 4.0 percent, an amount computed by multiplying by 1.2 the simple average as computed by the market administrator of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the Department during the month, dividing the resulting sum by 10, and rounding to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

§ 945.92 Location adjustment to producers. In making payments pursuant to § 945.90 (a) to producers whose milk is received at the cooling plant located at Windthorst, Texas, currently operated by the Wichita Falls Area Milk Producers Association, Inc., the handler may deduct not to exceed 25 cents per hundredweight of milk. Such deductions shall not affect the computation of amounts to be paid by the handler or the market administrator pursuant to §§ 945.94 and 945.95.

§ 945.93 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund," into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 945.61 (b), 945.94 and 945.96, and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to §§ 945.95 and 945.96.

§ 945.94 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers as determined pursuant to § 945.70 is greater than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 945.90.

§ 945.95 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, the market administrator shall pay to each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers during the month as determined pursuant to § 945.70 is less than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 945.90: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available.

§ 945.96 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses errors resulting in money due:

(a) The market administrator from such handler;

(b) Such handler from the market administrator; or,

(c) Any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any amount so due and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payments set forth in the provisions under which error occurred.

§ 945.97 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers (other than himself) pursuant to § 945.90, shall deduct 5 cents per hundredweight or such amount not exceeding 5 cents per hundredweight as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of each month. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to sample, test, and check the weights of milk received and to provide producers with market information.

(b) In the case of producers for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deduction specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from the payments to be made to such producers as may be authorized by the membership agreement or marketing contract between such cooperative association and such producers on or before the 15th day after the end of each month pay such deduction to the cooperative association rendering such services, accompanied by a statement showing the quantity of milk for which such deduction was computed for each such producer.

§ 945.98 Expenses of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this part, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of the month 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within the month of (a) other source milk which is classified as Class I milk, and (b) milk from producers including such handler's own production.

§ 945.99 Termination of obligation. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and,

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this order to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this order shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

Minimum wage rates recommended by the committee shall be the highest rates (not in excess of 75 cents per hour) which it determines will not substantially curtail employment in such industries and will not give any industry in Puerto Rico a competitive advantage over any industry in the United States outside of Puerto Rico.

Said special industry committee shall investigate conditions respecting, and recommend minimum wage rates for, the employees in the following industries in Puerto Rico: foods, beverages, and related products industries; paper, paper products, printing, publishing, and related industries; jewel cutting and polishing industry; communications, utilities, and miscellaneous transportation industries; shoe manufacturing and allied industries; and the general division of the textile and textile products industry.

Provided, however, That the definition shall not include any product or activity included in the vegetable, fruit and nut packing and processing industry, the bakery products industry, the sugar manufacturing industry, and the chemical, petroleum and related products industries, as defined in the wage orders for those industries in Puerto Rico, and in the alcoholic beverage and industrial alcohol industry, the cigar and cigarette industry, and the leaf tobacco industry, as defined in Administrative Order No. 403 (15 F. Provided, however, That the definition shall not include any activity included in the definitions of the wage orders applicable in Puerto Rico for the railroad, railway express, and property motor transport industry, the shipping industry, the sugar manufacturing industry, or any other industries in Puerto Rico for which wage orders have been issued.

Shoe Manufacturing and Allied Industries. (a) The manufacture or partial manufacture of footwear from any material and by any process except knitting (including crocheting), vulcanizing of the entire article or vulcanizing (as distinct from cementing) of the sole to the upper. The term footwear as used herein includes but without limitation: Athletic shoes, boots, boot tops, burial shoes, custom-made boots and shoes, moccasins, puttees (except spiral puttees), sandals, shoes completely rebuilt in a shoe factory, and slippers.

FEDERAL SECURITY AGENCY

Social Security Administration

BUREAU OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

ORGANIZATION, DELEGATION OF FINAL AUTHORITY, PLACES AT WHICH INFORMATION MAY BE SECURED

The material on organization, delegation of final authority, and places at which information may be secured as published on September 11, 1946 (11 F. R. 177A 532), and amended on December 15, 1948 (13 F. R. 7746), December 16, 1948 (13 F. R. 7790), and May 20, 1949 (14 F. R. 2765) is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec.
651. General.
652. Bureau of Public Assistance.
653. Regional Representative.
654. Delegation of final authority.
655. Information concerning public assistance.
656. Public inspection of final opinions, orders and rules.
657. Availability of official records.

SECTION 651. General. The Bureau of Public Assistance is a part of the Social Security Administration of the Federal Security Agency and is the operating unit responsible for activities relating to the Federal-State system of public assistance. Functions relating to services in the area of State merit systems, and audits are performed by the Office of Federal-State Relations for all of the grant-in-aid programs of the Federal Security Agency. These services, along with the activities provided by the Office of Field Services as related to regional offices, are described in connection with the general organization of the Federal Security Agency.

SEC. 652. Bureau of Public Assistance. The Bureau of Public Assistance is headed by a Director. In her absence or disability an Assistant Director acts for her.

The Bureau of Public Assistance was established as the operating unit concerned with the administration of Titles I, IV, X, and XIV of the Social Security Act, which provide for grants-in-aid to the States for old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, and aid to the permanently and totally disabled, respectively. Under Title VII of the Social Security Act, the Bureau of Public Assistance has responsibility for participating in studies and making recommendations as to the most effective methods of providing economic security through social insurance and as to legislation and matters of administrative policy concerning public assistance and related subjects.

The four assistance programs, old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, and aid to the permanently and totally disabled, are State-initiated and State-administered. The Social Security Act stipulates certain minimum conditions which the State's plan for administering its public assistance programs must meet. If these conditions are met, the act requires that the plan be approved. The particular eligibility requirements within the limits of the Social Security Act, and amounts of payment, however, are prescribed by the State. When a State plan is submitted and approved, the State becomes eligible for Federal funds in an amount determined in accordance with the provisions of the Federal act for assistance payments and for half the costs of administration.

Through its regional representatives and the departmental staff, the Bureau of Public Assistance reviews provisions and operation of State plans for these four special types of assistance to determine their initial and continuing conformity with the specifications of the Social Security Act. The Bureau reviews the State's request for Federal funds and recommends the amount to be granted each quarter as the Federal share of expenditures under each approved plan. The Bureau also collects and analyzes data on the operation of all forms of public assistance in the States and advises them on developing and improving the operation of their public assistance programs.

The divisions of the Bureau are a Division of Program Operations, a Division of Program Standards and Development, a Division of State Administrative and Fiscal Standards, a Division of Program Statistics and Analysis, a Division of Technical Training, and for purposes of internal management, a Division of Administration.

(a) Division of Program Operations. The Division of Program Operations executes the Bureau's program for grants-in-aid to States, planning and conducting field activities, and coordinating services to regional staff and State agencies. It reviews State plan material and fiscal audits, conducts the continuing review of State and local administration, advises Director on questions of conformity with the act, reviews grant requests and makes recommendations for payments to States, keeps the Director currently advised on whether the operations of State plans meet the requirements of the act for continued certification of Federal funds, and provides the Bureau mail and messenger service.

(b) Division of Program Standards and Development. The Division of Program Standards and Development formulates policies, standards, and procedures on substantive content of public assistance programs, such as determination of eligibility and amount of assistance, and provision of welfare services. It prepares material on program development and improvement, initiates evaluation of program objectives and accomplishments as basis for Federal and State legislative recommendations and selection of major program emphases, develops standard-setting material on public assistance legislation to assist State agencies, provides technical assistance to regions and States, and maintains liaison within Agency and with other agencies and organizations in these areas.

(c) Division of State Administration and Fiscal Standards. The Division of State Administrative and Fiscal Standards formulates policies, standards and procedures on Federal requirements relating to proper and efficient administration of public assistance programs, such as organization and management standards and practices of State agencies, fiscal accountability of State agencies, fiscal policy affecting financing of programs, fiscal planning of State agencies, supervision of administration by State agencies, costs of administration, and technical aspects of Federal matching. It provides technical assistance to regions and States, and maintains liaison within Agency and with other agencies and organizations in these areas.

(d) Division of Program Statistics and Analysis. The Division of Program Statistics and Analysis compiles statistics and conducts research on operations of public assistance programs and their relation to social insurance and other welfare programs and to social and economic conditions for use of the Commissioner, Bureau, and State public assistance agencies. It provides technical supervision of Regional Research Analysts, renders consultative service to State agencies on reporting requirements of the Administration and the development of their statistical and research programs, and acts as liaison with other research organizations interested in public assistance.

(e) Division of Technical Training. The Division of Technical Training formulates policies, standards and procedures on staff development in State public assistance agencies. It provides technical assistance to regions and States on objectives, methods, and content of staff development programs, prepares training materials, recommends staff development methods for Bureau Staff and conducts selected training activities, cooperates with Federal and national agencies and educational institutions on personnel needs and training for public assistance programs, and maintains liaison within Agency and with other agencies and organizations in these areas.

SEC. 653. Regional representatives. Each regional office of the Federal Security Agency (see description of organization of Federal Security Agency) includes a representative of the Bureau of Public Assistance. The regional representative of the Bureau of Public Assistance and his staff are the major points of contact by State public assistance agencies and by other interested persons for securing general information. Required reports, official documents, and other related communications are submitted through the regional offices. The regional public assistance staff is available at all times to the State agency for consultation and advice on any aspect of the State's administration of public assistance. The regional public assistance representative is responsible for review of State plans and also initiates discussion with State public assistance agencies on the content of any of the reports or other materials submitted by the State which raise questions because of lack of clarity or incompleteness and because of possible conflict with basic requirements of the Social Security Act.

The regional public assistance representative, in addition to advising with States on the application of Federal standards and requirements and on the improvement of the State's administration, is responsible for conducting a continuing review of State and local public assistance operations to determine compliance with the minimum requirements of the Social Security Act. The regional public assistance staff also furnishes technical assistance to State agencies in carrying out research and statistical programs and in the development of data needed for program planning and appraisal of operations.

SEC. 654. Delegation of final authority. By delegation from the Federal Security Administrator, the Commissioner for Social Security (see also description of organization of Federal Security Agency) has the following authority in relation to public assistance:

(a) All powers and duties of the Administrator concerning public assistance, contained in Titles I, IV, VII, X, XI, and XIV of the Social Security Act, except that only the Administrator shall exercise the authority to disapprove a State plan, or an amendment of a State plan, under Titles I, IV, X, or XIV, and, except as hereafter specifically authorized by him, only the Administrator shall exercise the authority conferred by section 4, 404, 1004, or 1404 of the Social Security Act as amended.

SEC. 655. Information concerning public assistance. Information concerning public assistance, or any of the functions for which the Bureau of Public Assistance is responsible, may be obtained by request in person or by letter at the regional offices of the Federal Security Agency, or at the Washington, D. C., office, Third and Independence Avenue SW. Since the Bureau of Public Assistance exercises no authority with respect to determination of eligibility or amount of payment made by State public assistance agencies in individual cases, inquiries in such instances will be disposed of more expeditiously if addressed to the appropriate State public assistance agency.

SEC. 656. Public inspection of final opinions, orders, and rules. All final opinions or orders in the adjudication of cases and all rules relating to public assistance are available for public inspection, except that the Commissioner for Social Security may hold any such opinions, or orders, or parts thereof confidential for good cause. Opinions and orders not held confidential (or copies thereof) and all rules may be inspected at any of the regional offices or at the central office of the Bureau of Public Assistance, Social Security Administration, located at Washington, D. C. Requests to inspect at the central office must be submitted to the Director of the Bureau of Public Assistance.

SEC. 657. Availability of official records. The record of any hearing held by the Commissioner for Social Security including transcripts of testimony, exhibits and all documents received in evidence or made part of the record of such hearings are official records.

Official records relating to public assistance are made available for inspection to persons properly and directly concerned upon written application to the Director of the Bureau of Public Assistance, except that upon good cause found by the Commissioner such records or parts thereof may be held confidential. Notice of denial of a request to inspect official records will be given promptly together with a statement of the reason for denial.

Dated: May 11, 1951.

A. J. ALTMEYER,
Commissioner for Social Security.

Approved: May 11, 1951.

(4) Copy of the applicant's purchase order and supplier's shop order number, if available.

(5) End use of each commodity in the country of ultimate destination, including a description of any products to be produced by or from the commodity exported, services rendered thereby, on the part of the consignee or the consignee's distributors.

(6) Statement as to attempts which have been made to secure the commodities without a priority rating. If the United States exporter has attempted to secure the commodities in foreign countries, this information should be set forth.

(7) Statement as to why a rating is required, including any supporting evidence from the potential supplier.

[1] This amendment was published in Current Export Bulletin No. 619, dated May 10, 1951.

(8) The effect upon the production or activity abroad if a priority rating is not approved. Include a statement of the equipment or facilities, if any, and the value thereof, which will be incapacitated until receipt of the commodities for which supply assistance is requested. State also the benefits to be derived if a priority rating is approved. State the date when these commodities are needed abroad to meet this export requirement.

(9) Promised delivery date with and without a priority rating.

(10) Statement as to feasibility of substituting less critical material whose procurement will not require a priority rating.

(11) Relationship of the production or activity abroad to any of the three categories of export requirements described in paragraph (a) of this section, including any other information which may be pertinent to the case, and which would serve to justify the prior delivery of this order over other domestic or foreign non-rated orders.

(12) If a validated export license is required for the proposed exportation, the request for priority assistance shall also include:

(i) An export license application prepared in accordance with Parts 370 through 399 of this chapter, unless a license application has been submitted previously.

(ii) If a license application has been submitted, but no export license has been granted, the OIT case number should be given.

(iii) If an export license has been granted, reference shall be made to the OIT case number and the export license number covering the exportation.

(c) Where to submit requests for priority assistance. (1) Where the exportation is to be made to a foreign country other than a country listed in § 398.1 (c), the request for priority assistance, in triplicate, should be addressed to the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C.:

(i) Where the request is submitted directly to the Office of International Trade by the exporter, it should be addressed to the attention of the licensing division responsible for the commodity on which priority assistance is requested; in case the exportation is to a project or program covered by an outstanding project license, to the attention of the Projects and Technical Data Division. If the responsible licensing division is unknown, requests may be made to the attention of the processing code for such commodities. (Processing codes for all commodities are set forth in § 399.3, Appendix C, of this chapter.)

(ii) Where the request is submitted to the Office of International Trade through a representative of the foreign government or agency thereof, it should be addressed to the attention of the geographic division having responsibility for the foreign country in question.

(2) Where the exportation is to be made to Canada, the request for priority assistance should be submitted through the Priorities Division, Department of Defense Production, Ottawa, Canada, to the National Production Authority, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C. (Ref. NPA Reg. 3). In accordance with National Production Authority Regulation 3.

(3) Where the exportation is to be made to a country for which the Economic Cooperation Administration is claimant agency listed in § 398.1 (c)), the request for priority assistance should be submitted through the Washington mission of the country of destination to the Economic Cooperation Administration, Washington 25, D. C. Exporters should consult with ECA as to the form and manner of submitting requests. (See ECA's revised Memo for Small Business No. 44 of May, 1951.)

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of May 10, 1951.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 6, Amdt. 7]

CPR 6—FATS AND OILS

FISH OIL

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 7 to Ceiling Price Regulation 6 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendmment establishes a specific ceiling price of 16¢ a pound for leading types of crude fish oil. It provides that sellers of other grades are to apply normal market differentials to the 16¢ price in order to arrive at their ceilings for those grades. The basic purposes achieved by this amendment are to bring fish oil prices into line with those of competing oils and to eliminate the differences in ceiling prices which prevail from one seller to another under the General Ceiling Price Regulation. The issuance of this amendment at the present time is particularly important since the fishing fleets will shortly be going out for the current season and a firm basis must be provided to permit the fish oil producers to contract for the catch.

From a technical point of view, fish oils may be used in a wide variety of products. Of the total production of 166 million pounds in the United States last year, 77 million pounds were exported. In foreign countries these oils are principally used in such edible products as margarine and shortening. In this country, by contrast, the remaining supply is used almost entirely for industrial purposes. To determine logical ceiling prices for fish oils, therefore, attention must be focused primarily upon competitive relationships to other industrial oils.

A review of the ceiling prices established by sellers under the General Ceiling Price Regulation established the fact that only scattered sales were made in the base period, December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951. This base period was unrealistic with respect to these oils since it came well past the end of the marketing year for the bulk of the supply from the 1950 catch. Those who made sales in the base period established ceilings around the 18¢ level, others who did not sell in the base period established these 18¢ ceilings for later sales under section 6 of the GCPR.

At the 18¢ level, fish oils were clearly out of line with the prices of competing industrial oils and fats.

The leading domestic use of fish oils is in the paint and varnish industry where, after removing the stearine and cold pressing, they compete with raw linseed oil, treated soybean oil, and other oils in the drying oil class. Detailed cost analyses used in the industry indicate that fish oils cannot be priced at more than about 16¢ and remain on an equal competitive basis with these drying oils.

A second channel of use of fish oils is in the manufacture of fatty acids and in this channel they compete with tallow. Analyses by this Office indicates that on a 16¢ crude basis, fish oil fatty acids will be in a fair competitive position as against animal fatty acids.

While the 16¢ ceilings represent a reduction from somewhat higher ceiling prices established under GCPR, they nevertheless are double the average obtained from the 1950 supply.

In formulating this regulation, the Director obtained the views of the members of an Industry Advisory Committee, convened to consider this problem and in addition sought advice from a number of individual producers and users. He has given full consideration to all the recommendations made by these industry representatives. In his judgment the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objective of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 6 is amended by adding a new section 18, to read as follows:

SEC. 18. Ceiling prices for the sellers of fish oils. The ceiling prices of fish oils shall be as follows:

(a) Fish oils: Loaded on buyers' tank cars, tank trucks, or barge:

	Cents per pound
Menhaden oil, crude, f. o. b. producer's plant, Atlantic and Gulf Coasts	16
Sardine oil, crude, f. o. b. producer's plant, Atlantic Coast	16

	Cents per pound
Sardine oil, crude, f. o. b. producer's plant, Pacific Coast	16
Pilchard oil, crude, f. o. b. producer's plant, Pacific Coast	16
Herring oil, crude, f. o. b., Seattle	16
Herring oil, crude, f. o. b. producer's plant, Atlantic Coast	16
Crude tuna oil, mackerel oil, red fish oil, seal oil, hairyback fish oil, bottom fish oil, or other fish body oils produced by the reduction of the whole fish or the offal of such fish, f. o. b. plant of production	16

(b) If you import any of the oils specified in paragraph (a) of this section, your ceiling prices for the sale of such fish oils shall be the above ceiling prices, f. o. b. port of entry. These ceiling prices include all import duties and taxes.

(c) The usual and customary differentials for grades above or below these prices for basic grades shall continue to apply.

(d) The usual or customary differentials for types of conveyance or container shall continue to apply.

(e) Sales contracts for the grade and type of fish oil to be delivered, after the effective date of this amendment may be performed only at a price that does not exceed the ceiling prices set forth in paragraph (a) of this section.

(f) If you are a seller of fish oils to be sold at any of the price differentials specified in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, you must file, within thirty days from the effective date of this order, with the Fats and Oils Branch, Food and Restaurant Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a schedule of prices which will indicate the customary industry differentials from the ceiling price of crude oil which you intend to apply in accordance with paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section.

(g) If you have customarily charged a premium for sales of fish oil to be used as a carrying medium for vitamins, you may apply in writing to the Fats and Oils Branch, Food and Restaurant Division, OPS, Washington, D. C., for an adjustment in your ceiling price for such sales. This application must be filed in duplicate and contain all pertinent information indicating the name and address of the buyer; documentary evidence that you have customarily charged the premium; and the proposed selling price for which you are seeking adjustment.

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law. 81st Cong.)

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Effective date. This amendment shall be effective May 19, 1951.

CPR 10—HOUSEHOLD SOAPS AND CLEANSERS

INTRODUCTORY OFFERS DURING THE BASE PERIOD

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 10 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

CPR 10 was issued as a specific regulation designed to establish equitable relationships between costs and selling prices for all manufacturers of household soaps and to permit normal markups for distributors of these products. That regulation caused, as was intended, a rollback of soap prices. This amendment in no way alters such action but deals with isolated cases which were not apparent at time of the issuance of CPR 10.

Prior to the issuance of CPR 10, many distributors of household soaps were severely squeezed. They had not reflected in their selling prices the last price advances made by most soap companies in January. This squeeze was relieved by leaving wholesale and retail ceilings unchanged under GCPR and by rolling back manufacturers' prices to the highest prices charged in the month of December, 1950.

The situation which this action failed to recognize was that of certain manufacturers whose December prices were abnormally low because, at that time, they were introducing new products at unusually low prices. This amendment permits such a manufacturer to get back into line with his competitors.

The effect of this amendment will not only adjust the inequity in such cases, but will also prevent a reduction in the number of brands available to the consumer.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Section 3, paragraph (a) of Ceiling Price Regulation 10 is amended by the addition of the following: "If, during the base period, you were selling household soaps or cleansers, as part of an introductory offer, announced in writing and intended to remain in effect for a limited time, at a price which was below normal compared to that of competitive brands, your ceiling price is the same as the ceiling price of your most closely competitive seller of the same class selling the same types of soaps and cleansers to the same class of purchaser."

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.)

Effective date. This Amendment shall be effective May 15, 1951.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 38]

CPR 38—CEILING PRICES FOR PULPWOOD PRODUCED IN NORTHEASTERN STATES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Ceiling Price Regulation 38 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Summary of Provisions

This regulation establishes specific dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for pulpwood produced in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York except nine counties comprising the southern tier of the state. These prices are established for top-quality wood prepared to conform with the consumer's specification; when defective wood is involved in the transaction, all trade practices and customs with respect to allowances must be observed. For the purposes of this regulation, and in recognition of variations in stumpage and operating costs, prices have been established on a zone basis as delimited in section 10 of the regulation. Ceiling prices per cord of pulpwood (128 cu. ft.) are set forth on f. o. b. car, streamside, roadside, and delivered mill (by truck) bases, in accordance with industry practices, for spruce and fir, hemlock, pine, poplar and northern hardwoods. A method for calculating the price of wood sold at points other than those specified is provided in the regulation. Under the regulation, a sale to a wholly owned subsidiary of a consumer may be considered as a sale to a consumer. The regulation permits payment in excess of the established ceiling prices, subject to conformance with specified requirements, amounting to not more than $3.00 per cord for additional expenses incurred in the salvage of timber damaged in the hurricane of November, 1950, or by the amount paid by the seller in the form of special state road taxes, in addition to the normal truck registration fee, or toll fees arising out of the use of roads, bridges, or ferries. The regulation also permits on sales conforming to the specified requirements, payment of a commission in excess of the established prices of not more than $1.00 per cord to a "1,000 cord man" by a dealer or consumer and not more than $1.75 per cord to a dealer by a consumer. The commission paid to a "1,000 cord man" may not be split with another person; the dealer, however, may pay up to $1.00 of his commission to a qualified "1,000 cord man". The regulation permits the buying and selling of logging services in connection with market wood provided that, at the point of sale, the sum paid for such service plus stumpage does not exceed the appropriate ceiling prices established under this regulation.

Description of Commodity and Industry

A. Importance and use of commodity. Pulpwood is the term used to describe wood of any species which has been cut for conversion into wood pulp. Pulpwood is important to the economy because it is the principal raw material for wood pulp which, in turn, is necessary for the manufacture of paper, rayon, cellophane, and plastics, and can be used in the making of explosives.

B. Description of the industry. The United States is the world's largest producer and consumer of pulpwood. In 1950 according to official statistics of The U. S. Department of Commerce, United States mills consumed 23.7 million cords, valued at about 470 million dollars, in the production of 14.8 million tons of wood pulp. Despite this country's large production of pulpwood, however, imports of wood are necessary to supply mill requirements and, in 1950, approximately 1.5 million cords, valued at 25 million dollars (foreign value) were imported from Canada. The area covered by this regulation is particularly dependent on imports and, in 1950, received about 1 million cords of such wood, an amount equal to approximately one-third of the total quantity received by its mills.

In 1950, mills in the states to which this regulation applies received about 3.0 million cords of pulpwood and consumed about 3.4 million cords; consequently, mill inventories, which were substantially reduced, must be increased if the area mills are to maintain pulp production at the level achieved in 1950. Softwoods (spruce, fir, hemlock and pine) and hardwoods (poplar, beech, birch, maple, and oak) are used in the manufacture of wood pulp, but softwoods are generally preferred because of their fiber characteristics. In 1950, 80 percent of the wood consumed by these mills was of softwood species, of which spruce and fir represented 87 percent; the remaining 20 percent of the wood consumed in 1950 was of the hardwood species, and of this, poplar represented 38 percent.

C. Method of procurement. Pulp mills in these states receive their domestic wood from three sources. About one-third of the wood annually obtained is from timber lands owned or controlled by pulp mills and cut either by company crews or by contractors who are sometimes financed by the consumer; another one-third is obtained from independent dealers, "1,000 cord men," and contractors operating on their own capital and cutting on private land, other than mill-owned or controlled, or public land; and the remaining one-third is obtained from farmers, cutting on their own land with family help and hired labor, who may have a contract for delivery of a specified quantity of wood or may make irregular deliveries to the mill. Since this regulation does not establish ceiling prices on wood which has been imported or cut from mill-owned land, the prices established herein will be applicable during the 1951 cutting season to about 1.5 million cords.

Pulpwood is customarily shipped to the mill in the form of "sticks" 4 feet in length which may be in either rough, peeled or rossed condition. Rough wood is delivered with the bark attached. It is usually cut in the fall and winter, when peeling is not possible because the sap has ceased to run, and cutting is continued so long as weather conditions permit. Peeled wood is wood from which the bark has been removed by hand tools while the sap is running and before the bark has dried enough to adhere to the wood; consequently, wood to be peeled is cut in the spring and summer (May–August). The rossing of wood is accomplished by a machine which removes the bark and any irregularities in the surface of the wood, an operation not affected by weather conditions. In 1950 approximately 80 percent of the wood received by mills in these states was in the form of rough wood.

D. Transportation. After the wood has been cut and processed in the forest it is usually moved by a horse or tractor-drawn vehicle to a concentration point or to a shipping point. There it is either piled awaiting final movement to the mill or placed directly on rail cars by the seller. The weather is an important factor in transporting wood from the rural areas where it is cut. Consequently, the principal movement of domestic wood is during January and February, when the ground is covered with snow and frozen, and during the summer months, when the roads are dry and firm. The major movement of Canadian wood to United States mills is from June to October.

Pulpwood is transported to the mill in various ways, the choice depending upon the location of the standing timber with reference to the mill and transportation facilities, such as streams, roads or rail lines. In the New England states covered by this regulation about 55 percent of the pulpwood reaches the mill by truck, 40 percent by rail, and 5 percent by water. In New York almost all of the domestic wood is moved by truck; wood from Canada, however, usually is transported by a combination of water and rail. Movement of pulpwood by truck for distances up to 100 miles is generally preferred by the seller because it involves less handling of wood and by the mill because wood so received is less costly than when transported by rail.

The Necessity for Ceiling Price Regulation

A. The General Ceiling Price Regulation. Prior to the issuance of this regulation, the price of pulpwood has been controlled by the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Under the General Ceiling Price Regulation prices were frozen at various levels, which, if maintained, might reduce the quantity of wood available and dislocate the traditional pattern of wood movement within this region. Issuance of this regulation is necessary, therefore, to stabilize prices in the respective zones at levels which will assure an equitable distribution of the available wood, provide mills with an adequate supply of wood, and permit a reasonable return to sellers of wood.

B. Recent price history of pulpwood in this area. Since June 1950, the demand for pulpwood has rapidly increased as mills increased their production of pulp and, of necessity, reduced their wood inventories by approximately 30 percent. The supply of pulpwood, however, did not increase in response to the larger demand because most of the wood available for the year had been cut in the fall and winter of 1950 and sold under contract. In those instances, however, where firm contracts had not been made, the price of wood was bid up and some mills anxious to retain their suppliers found it necessary to make upward adjustments in their prices. Consequently, between June 1950 and January 1951 the price of pulpwood increased. The extent to which the price per cord of rough spruce and fir delivered to the mill by truck advanced during this period is shown below:

	June 1950	December 1950	January 1951
Zone I	$14.50–$15.00	$15.50–$18.00	$16.50–$18.00
Zone II	17.00	20.00	18.50–22.50
Zone III	19.00–22.00	22.00–24.50	22.00–26.00

SOURCE: Compiled from data supplied the Office of Price Stabilization by representative producers and consumers of pulpwood.

Economic Justification of Ceiling Prices

A. Level of prices. In determining ceiling prices on pulpwood for the area under consideration, industry representatives were of the opinion that, consistent with industry practices: (1) ceiling prices for pulpwood should be calculated by adding to the roadside price the cost incurred by additional handling and transportation from that point; (2) the price of spruce and fir (70 percent of the wood consumed by area mills) should serve as the base to which the prices of all other species would be related; (3) the prices established for zones 2 and 3 should be progressively higher than in zone 1 to reflect the higher stumpage and operating costs in those zones; and (4) the ceiling price for wood delivered to the mill by truck, and involving a haul of not more than 20 miles, should be slightly in excess of the ceiling price of wood sold on an f. o. b. basis to reflect the fact that that such movements normally involve a slightly longer haul than do movements to rail cars. All of these factors were carefully considered in setting pulpwood prices for this area. The prices established by this regulation, although higher than in June 1950, are below the highest prices obtained during the period December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951. The increase over the June level is necessary because the cost of labor (about 70 percent of the cost of producing pulpwood) and transportation and stumpage costs have increased and failure to allow for these increases would result in curtailment of the supply of wood made available.

OTHER PROVISIONS

A. Price differentials for peeled or rossed wood. Although 80 percent of the wood received by mills in this area is in the form of rough wood, several advantages accrue to mills by the procurement of peeled or rossed wood and the continued production of such wood is necessary. The purchase of wood so conditioned is advantageous to mills because: (1) a cord of peeled or rossed wood contains more solid wood than does a cord of rough wood; (2) the cost of transportation, per cord of solid wood, is substantially less than for rough wood; and (3) there is less loss from decay and insect infestation when the wood is stored. Further, the production of peeled wood requires additional labor and can be carried on only part of the year, and rossing, in addition to requiring additional labor, involves the use of special equipment and results in the loss of some wood. For these reasons it is necessary that sellers of peeled wood be permitted to receive payment in excess of the established ceiling prices for rough wood and that sellers of rossed wood be permitted to receive payment in excess of the established ceiling prices for peeled wood. The price differentials for peeled or rossed wood set forth in this regulation were established following consultation with industry representatives and with due consideration of the facts involved. They are, therefore, believed adequate to encourage production of peeled or rossed wood and to provide a reasonable return to the seller.

B. Additional payments. Under certain conditions, subject to conformance with specified requirements and to the right of the Office of Price Stabilization to withdraw the privilege, this regulation permits payments in excess of the established ceiling prices.

The November, 1950 hurricane damaged a substantial quantity of timber estimated to amount from 600 thousand to 2 million cords of wood, in New York which is now available for salvage and which, for the next few years, will represent an important source of wood to area mills. This regulation recognizes that normal operations will not always prevail in the salvage of this wood and permits, upon proper application to this office, payment of not more than $3 per cord in excess of the established ceiling prices when the producer can demonstrate (a) the need for such payment because of abnormal expenses and (b) that this is the least expensive means of procuring such pulpwood.

This regulation recognizes also that the seller of pulpwood frequently incurs the payment of road taxes, in addition to regular truck registration fees, and of toll fees, and permits an increase in the appropriate ceiling price by the amount of such charges.

C. Commissions and allowances. A substantial quantity of the pulpwood used in this area is acquired from farmer and independent contractors by "1,000 cord men" who may sell either to a dealer or a consumer, and by dealers who sell directly to the consuming mills. Dealers and "1,000 cord men," therefore, provide a valuable service by generating a supply of wood and by simplifying mill procurement of wood. Their continued activity in the pulpwood market is encouraged under this regulation by permitting payment of a commission to them, subject to conformance with specified requirements. "One thousand cord men", may receive from a dealer or consumer a sum in excess of the ceiling prices of not more than $1 per cord which may not be split with any other person. Dealers may receive from a consumer a sum in excess of the ceiling prices of not more than $1.75 per cord, out of which the dealer may pay to a "1,000 cord man", and to no other, a sum not more than $1 per cord. Under no condition may the established ceiling prices of wood sold by a "1,000 cord man", be increased by more than $1 per cord, nor the ceiling price of wood sold by a dealer increased by more than $1.75 per cord. The allowances and commissions set forth by the regulation are commensurate with those customary in the pre-Korean period and they are considered fair and equitable in view of the purpose for which they are permitted.

D. Wood purchased at nonspecified delivery points. Most of the pulpwood marketed in this area is purchased at one of the delivery points for which dollar-and-cents ceiling prices are established by this regulation. Sometimes, however, wood is purchased at a point other than one of those specified herein. An example is that of wood purchased alongside a road which, as part of a private estate, cannot qualify as a "public highway" as defined. This regulation provides, therefore, that when such a purchase is made, the ceiling price of the wood shall be determined by deducting from the appropriate ceiling price an amount equal to the actual cost incurred by the buyer in transporting the wood to and loading the wood at one of the specified points of shipment.

This regulation recognizes that some producers of pulp utilize their own trucks or have contracts with independent trucking companies to have wood hauled to the mill. It provides, therefore, that when wood is hauled to the mill at the buyer's expense a deduction must be made from the established ceiling price so that in no event is a higher price to the seller effectuated when wood is transported at the buyer's expense.

E. Mixed shipments and mill sales. The seller of wood frequently finds it to be impracticable to include in a particular shipment only pulpwood of one price group. This regulation provides, therefore, that when a shipment is made of species of wood covered in more than one price category, the number of cords for each price category involved shall be determined and the appropriate ceiling price applied.

When, as sometimes occurs, one mill sells pulpwood to another mill, the price charged by the seller shall not exceed the actual cost of the wood to him plus such additional costs as he incurs in moving the wood to the buyer.

F. Payment for extra services. Some of the mills in this area have no wood procurement department but depend to a large degree, or entirely, on one dealer, who, knowing the mill requirements, purchases and arranges for the shipment of wood to the mill. The supplier, under these conditions, frequently performs services not normally performed by a seller of wood and it is the practice of mills to reimburse him by payment of an additional sum for the additional service. The need for continuance of wood procurement under that kind of arrangement is recognized in this regulation by permitting such payments, subject to conformance with specified requirements.

G. Logging services and stumpage. Dealers and "1,000 cord men", as defined, frequently find it necessary to purchase logging services in the course of producing and transporting pulpwood to a delivery point. This regulation, therefore, permits free negotiations between the buyer and seller of such services in determining the price to be paid for the service involved, provided that the sum of the prices paid for all such services plus the stumpage does not exceed the appropriate ceiling price. The price of stumpage, by General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 17, has been decontrolled and the provisions of this regulation do not apply to such sales.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

In formulating this regulation the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted extensively with industry representatives and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objective of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

To the extent that this regulation compels changes in business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids of distribution established in the industry, such changes are necessary to prevent circumvention of evasion of this regulation.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 10 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this ceiling price regulation does. This regulation supersedes the General Ceiling Price Regulation with respect to all sales and purchases of pulpwood cut from the stump in the States of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Massachusetts and all of the State of New York except the counties of Chautauqua, Cattaraugus, Allegany, Steuben, Chemung, Tioga, Sullivan, Orange and Rockland.

SEC. 2. Prohibitions. (a) On and after May 16, 1951, in the continental limits of the United States regardless of any contract, agreement, or other obligation, no person shall sell and no person shall buy in the regular course of business, pulpwood cut from the stump in the States of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Massachusetts and all of the State of New York except the counties of Chautauqua, Cattaraugus, Allegany, Steuben, Chemung, Tioga, Sullivan, Orange, and Rockland at prices in excess of the ceiling prices set forth in Section 10 of this regulation; and no person shall agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do any of the foregoing: Provided, however, That for the purposes of this Ceiling Price Regulation 38, a sale to a wholly owned subsidiary of a consumer may be considered as a sale to the consumer.

SEC. 3. Less than ceiling prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Section 10 of this regulation may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 4. Adjustable pricing. Nothing in this regulation shall be construed to prohibit the making of a contract or offer to sell a commodity or service at (a) the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery, or (b) the lower of a fixed price or the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery.

SEC. 5. Evasion. Any practice which results in obtaining indirectly a higher price than is permitted for pulpwood covered by this regulation is a violation of this regulation. Such practices include, but are not limited to, devices making use of commissions, services, cross sales, transportation arrangements, premiums, discounts, special privileges, tie-in agreements and trade understandings.

SEC. 6. Records and reports. (a) After the effective date of this regulation, every person making purchases or sales of pulpwood covered by this regulation shall keep for inspection by the Director of Price Stabilization for a period of two years records of each purchase or sale of such pulpwood made which show the following:

(1) Date of purchase or sale.

(2) Name and address of buyer and seller.

(3) Price group of pulpwood purchased or sold and whether peeled or rough.

(4) Quantity of peeled or rough pulpwood of each price group purchased or sold.

(5) Prices including discount paid or received, and all other direct or indirect considerations given or received, and rebates made or taken.

(6) Warranties if any, received or given.

(7) Origin and destination of shipment.

(8) Means of transportation used.

(b) Persons required to keep records shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Stabilization as it may from time to time require, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942. All records required by section 16 (a) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation shall be preserved and, for the period specified in section 16 (b) of the same regulation, all records required by section 16 (b) which relate to sales of pulpwood covered by this regulation made between January 26, 1951, and the effective date of this ceiling price regulation shall also be preserved.

SEC. 7. Penalties. Persons violating any provision of this Ceiling Price Regulation 38 are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 8. Petitions for amendment. Persons seeking any amendment of this Ceiling Price Regulation 38 may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation 1 (15 F. R. 9055).

SEC. 9 Definitions. (a) When used in this Ceiling Price Regulation 38, the term:

Such 1,000 cord man must qualify as such each year.

The log rule commonly in use in the area where such pulpwood is cut will be used to determine the cubical content of such logs and the conversion ratio commonly used in the area will be used in converting log scale to cords.

(4) "Dealer" means any person who has during at least one 12-month period between May 1 of one year and through April 30 of the following year, during the years 1947 through 1951 sold and delivered to consumers at least 7,500 cords of pulpwood. A person who has not qualified as a dealer under the foregoing section may qualify in any subsequent year.

Highways which are maintained at town, country or state expense and suitable for movement for fully loaded vehicles during at least 6 months of the year, are considered public highways. In all instances where pulpwood is sold at roadside, it must be possible for trucks to load and carry away the normal truck load of wood from the loading point without assistance.

(15) "Rossed pulpwood" includes hand shaved pulpwood and any pulpwood from which the bark has been removed by any mechanical rosser, prior to its delivery to a consumer.

(2) When pulpwood is rossed (as defined in section 9 (a) (15) of this regulation) a sum not in excess of $2 per cord may be added to the appropriate ceiling price for peeled pulpwood set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(4) When pulpwood is trucked at the buyer's expense between the selling points listed in the table of prices above, there must be deducted from the appropriate ceiling price the actual cost incurred by the buyer in loading and hauling the pulpwood between such points which deductions in no event may be less than the differential established between the points.

(b) Salvage timber differential. When a producer can demonstrate that a payment is necessary to cover abnormal expense incurred in the salvage of timber damaged in the November 1950 hurricane; and further, provided that this payment is the least expensive means of procuring such pulpwood, the appropriate ceiling prices for pulpwood set forth in paragraph (a) (1) of this section may be increased by no more than $3.00 per cord. Such payments for salvage timber may be paid only to a producer and only if application is made to the Forest Products Division, Pulp, Paper and Paperboard Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., in each separate instance for approval to make such payment and prior to such payment. The application shall set forth the reasons why such payment is necessary and shall include a statement prepared by the producer showing the cost of stumpage, piece work rates and hourly rates paid, and such elements of cost as the producer is able to supply. If the producer cannot furnish detailed itemized cost it must include, as a minimum requirement, the cost of stumpage, the cost of slash disposal, and the total per cord cost of the operation. The application shall also include a signed statement from the state or local forest fire official having jurisdiction over the area, stating that such salvage is in the public interest, and outlining any special measures which the forest fire service prescribes to be followed in such salvage work. Unless the Director of Price Stabilization shall, by notice mailed to the applicant within 20 days from the date of filing such application, disapprove, adjust, request additional information, or extend the time within which to do any of the foregoing, such application shall be deemed to have been approved, subject to non-retroactive written disapproval or adjustment at any later time by the Director of Price Stabilization.

(c) Highway taxes and toll charges. When it is necessary for the seller to pay per ton mile road taxes on highways to a state or other governmental agency in addition to the regular truck registration fee or to pay toll fees on highways, bridges, and ferries, a sum not to exceed the actual charges may be added to the appropriate ceiling price.

(d) Specifications. Prices established herein are for wood of top quality prepared to conform with the consumer's specifications. All trade practices and customs with respect to allowances for defective wood of any kind must be observed.

(e) Mixed shipments. If a shipment contains a mixture of species of different price groups, the ceiling price shall be ascertained by determining the number of cords in each price group in the shipment and then applying the appropriate ceiling prices per cord for the cords in each group.

(f) Sales between consumers. When one consumer sells pulpwood to another consumer the ceiling price shall not exceed the actual cost which the pulpwood stands the seller plus such actual cost of moving the pulpwood to the buyer as the seller incurs.

(g) Allowances and commissions. (1) In the event that a person qualifies as a 1,000 cord man, as defined in section 9 (a) (1) of this regulation, a consumer or dealer, may pay such 1,000 cord man in addition to the producer's ceiling price hereinbefore provided a sum not to exceed $1.00 per cord on each cord of pulpwood received. Such 1,000 cord man shall not split said commission with any other person. In the event that a person qualifies as a dealer, as defined in section 9 (a) (4) of this regulation, a consumer may pay to such dealer, in addition to the producer's ceiling price hereinbefore provided, a sum not in excess of $1.75 for each cord of pulpwood received. Such dealer may pay out of his dealer's commission the allowance specified above to a qualified 1,000 cord man, but to no other persons. Any one consumer who is asked to pay the commission on less than 7,500 cords of pulpwood sold by a dealer, may rely upon making such payments on letters from other consumers to the dealer indicating that at the time the commission is paid the dealer has met the requirements of section 9 (a) (4).

(2) All moneys to be paid as a 1,000 cord man's commission under this regulation must be withheld by the consumer or dealer until such 1,000 cord man sells and delivers at least 1,000 cords of wood during each 12-month period, as hereinbefore provided, to said consumer or dealer. Thereupon, the 1,000 cord man may be paid the sum of $1.00 per cord as a commission on the first 1,000 cords, plus a commission on any additional cordage delivered in that year. In the case of a dealer, all moneys to be paid as a dealer's commission under this regulation must be withheld by the consumer or consumers until such dealer provides evidence that he has sold and delivered 7,500 cords so as to qualify under this regulation. Thereupon the dealer may be paid the sum of $1.75 per cord as a commission upon the first 7,500 cords plus any additional cordage.

(3) The ceiling prices established in paragraph (a) of section 10 shall in no case be augmented by virtue of the operation of this paragraph (g) by more than one 1,000 cord man's allowance in the case of pulpwood sold by a 1,000 cord man nor by more than one dealer's allowance in the case of pulpwood sold by a dealer on each cord.

(4) In addition to the producer's price a 1,000 cord man may be paid his allowance specified above by either a consumer or a dealer; a dealer may be paid his allowance specified above only by a consumer and in each case only if the 1,000 cord man or the dealer fulfills all the following requirements with respect to the transactions.

(i) Keep copies of all contracts in which a 1,000 cord man's or dealer's allowance is specified.

(ii) The 1,000 cord man or the dealer guarantees the title to the pulpwood.

(h) Logging services. (1) Any person may sell and any person may buy one or more logging services in connection with pulpwood to be sold under this regulation at prices acceptable to both parties; Provided, however, That at the point where the pulpwood is sold to the consumer, the total of all the prices paid for the individual partial operations which comprise the complete operation plus the stumpage may not exceed the appropriate ceiling prices established under this regulation.

(2) Logging services include all services in connection with the transportation and/or production of pulpwood up to the point where the pulpwood is sold to a consumer, as specified in section 9 (a) (2) above. It includes all operations in connection therewith such as, but not limited to, hauling, road and camp construction, felling, bucking, skidding, yarding, peeling, loading and reloading, trucking. It also covers the transportation of gravel, building materials, machinery and the like when performed solely in connection with a logging operation. It does not include services rendered in connection with pulpwood after the pulpwood is sold to the consumer.

(i) Stumpage. Provisions of this Ceiling Price Regulation 38 shall not apply to sales, leases, licenses or other contractual obligations pertaining to the right of a person to sever timber (stumpage) from the stump on the land of another person.

(j) Additional services performed for mills. In the event that a person performs wood procurement services for a consuming mill which ordinarily would be performed by a department or subsidiary of a consuming mill and for which service the consuming mill desires to pay a fee in the nature of a per cord payment on pulpwood, said consuming mill or person may request from the Office of Price Stabilization permission to continue to pay or collect such fee. Such applications shall contain the following information:

(1) The annual per cord volume of wood handled by such person.

(2) The nature of the extra service provided.

(3) The fee paid or received for the service rendered.

(4) The reasons why it is thought necessary to continue such payments.

(5) Unless the Office of Price Stabilization shall by notice mailed to the applicant within 20 days from the date of filing such application, disapprove, adjust, request additional information, or extend the time within which to do any of the foregoing, such application shall be deemed to have been approved, subject to non-retroactive written disapproval or adjustment at any later time by the Office of Price Stabilization.

Effective date. This Ceiling Price Regulation 38 shall become effective May 16, 1951.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 27]

GCPR, SR 27—INTRODUCTORY OFFERS DURING BASE PERIOD

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 27 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 808) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation is designed to permit the adjustment of certain ceiling prices that are out of line with prices of competing products or services because of the fact that the manufacturer or the distributor of the products in question was introducing a new commodity or service at a low price during the base period. The low price being used in this effort became the established ceiling price by the operation of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. This low price is causing unnecessary and inequitable hardships in some cases. The Director has determined that adjustments of ceiling prices in these cases are justified. These adjustments will permit the distributors to increase their ceiling prices to the extent necessary to bring their products in line with their competitors. In the field of household soaps and cleansers where any manufacturer was caught with a low price for the same reason relief has been granted in Amdt. 1 to CPR 10. This amendment permits the wholesaler and retailer of such a manufacturer to reflect this relief by increasing the ceiling prices of such commodities or services, again, to the level of their competitors.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.

1. Ceiling price adjustment for wholesalers or retailers selling at introductory offers.
2. Ceiling price adjustment for wholesalers or retailers to reflect increases to suppliers based on introductory offers.
3. Reports.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 3 issued under sec. 704, Public Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Public Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Ceiling price adjustment for wholesalers or retailers selling at introductory offers. If you are a wholesaler or retailer who during the base period was selling a commodity or service under the terms of an introductory offer, announced and intended to remain in effect for a limited time, at a price which was substantially below the prices prevailing among competing products when sold by the same class of sellers to the same class of purchasers, you may increase your ceiling prices of that commodity or service to the extent necessary to bring your ceiling prices of such commodities or services in line with the most closely competitive products of the same class when sold to the same class of purchaser. Before increasing your price under this section, you must comply with the reporting requirements of section 3 of this regulation.

SEC. 3. Reports. (a) Before you sell at a price increased under section 1 or 2 of this supplementary regulation, you must file with the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a report containing the following:

(1) Your name and address;

(2) The nature and duration of the introductory offer which was the basis for your low price; and

(3) Your new ceiling price. This price must be in line with your established ceiling prices of competing products or services. If you do not deal in competing products or services, your ceiling prices shall be in line with the ceiling prices of your most closely competitive seller selling the same class of commodities or services to the same class of purchasers.

(b) You may put your new ceiling price into effect as soon as you have filed your report in accordance with this section, but the price reported by you may be revised by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation shall become effective May 15, 1951.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements contained in this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Overriding Regulation 11]

GOR 11—EXEMPTION OF SALES BY CERTAIN FEDERAL INSTRUMENTALITIES

VETERANS CANTEEN SERVICE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this General Overriding Regulation 11 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This General Overriding Regulation exempts from price control sales of commodities and services by the Veterans Canteen Service. The Veterans Canteen Service was established as an instrumentality of the United States by Public Law 636, 79th Congress, Second Session, as amended, for "the primary purpose of making available to the veterans of the armed forces of the United States who are hospitalized or domiciled in hospitals and homes of the Veterans Administration, at reasonable prices, articles of merchandise and services essential to their comfort and well being." Pursuant to this act the Administrator of Veterans Affairs has caused to be activated in each Veterans Administration hospital, and continually operated therein, a canteen. These canteens offer for sale to the hospitalized patients and members personal services and a limited assortment of merchandise, including tobacco products, candy, stationery supplies, clothing, toiletries, and sundries, at prices generally lower than those charged in local retail establishments offering similar items for sale. A limited food department is operated in conjunction with the canteen. The canteens are not open to the public; however, in addition to patients and members, employees not residing on the station and visitors are allowed to purchase food and tobacco products for on-premise consumption.

The Veterans Canteen Service operates on a revolving fund which was established by an appropriation from the Congress for this purpose. It is largely a self-supporting operation and attempts to operate only with a sufficient profit margin to cover its cost of operation. Any profits that may accrue as a result of its operation are covered back periodically into the Treasury of the United States. The Veterans Canteen Service is subject to an annual audit of a commercial type by the General Accounting Office which reports annually to the Congress its findings, including the financial status of the Service and the adherence of the Service to the congressional mandate that established it. The cumulative gross mark-up of the Service is lower than the mark-up generally used by retailers and it is the policy of the Service to obtain earnings of approximately 2 percent. Furthermore, it is their intention to budget for a slight decline of earnings for the fiscal year 1952. It is obvious that where a commodity is supplied with a minimum of overhead and a budget for earnings of approximately 2 percent, any increase in labor or material constitutes a real threat to the continued supply of the commodity and could impair service to patients and members hospitalized or domiciled at Veterans Administration hospitals and homes.

Compliance with price regulations which contain reporting and other requirements would impose an administrative burden on the Veterans Canteen Service and Office of Price Stabilization without commensurate benefits to either.

Exemption of these commodities from price regulations by the Office of Price Stabilization will in no way defeat or impair the price stabilization program since they are sold for the most part only to patients and members hospitalized and domiciled at Veterans Administration hospitals and homes at the lowest possible prices, nor will such exemption have any material effect upon the cost of living or upon the general level of prices.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. Exemption of sales by Veterans Canteen Service. No ceiling price regulation heretofore or hereafter issued by the Office of Price Stabilization shall apply to sales and deliveries of any commodity or service by the Veterans Canteen Service unless such regulation contains a specific provision making it applicable to such sales.

PART 104—CONSTRUCTION OF SCHOOL FACILITIES IN AREAS AFFECTED BY FEDERAL ACTIVITIES

GRANTS TO CERTAIN LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES

Part 104 (16 F. R. 769 and 2840) is amended by adding thereto the following sections. The purpose of this amendment is to state the conditions under which grants will be made from the funds reserved for additional grants under section 209 (c), 64 Stat. 975; 20 U. S. C. 279 (c).

Sec.
104.21 Reservation of funds for grants.
104.22 Grant made before approval of application.
104.23 Grant made after approval of application.
104.24 Order of making grants if funds insufficient.
104.25 Maximum amount of grant.
104.26 Definitions and explanation of terms.

AUTHORITY: §§ 104.21 through 104.26 issued under sec. 208, Pub. Law 815, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 209, Pub. Law 815, 81st Cong.

§ 104.21 Reservation of funds for grants. Pursuant to the authority contained in section 209 (c) of Public Law 815, 81st Congress (64 Stat. 975; 20 U. S. C. 279 (c)) whereby the Commissioner may make additional grants to certain local educational agencies whose need is urgent and acute, there will be reserved from each appropriation for grants under Title II an amount not in excess of ten (10) per cent thereof from which additional grants may be made to local educational agencies eligible for payments under section 202 of Public Law 815 (64 Stat. 969; 20 U. S. C. 272).

§ 104.22 Grant made before approval of application. Subject to the limitations in §§ 104.24, 104.25, and 104.26, a grant will be made from such reserved funds where the application cannot be approved otherwise because of the inability of the applicant to finance part or all of the non-Federal share of the cost of the project under the following circumstances:

(a) The project application of a local educational agency is for no more than minimum school facilities;

(b) The project when completed will not reduce applicant's total percentage of unhoused children below ten (10) per cent;

(c) Under the regulations governing urgency of need, the project is entitled to preference in payment of the Federal share of the cost from available funds.

§ 104.23 Grant made after approval of application. Where an application for a project has been approved under section 205 (b), (64 Stat. 972; 20 U. S. C. 275 (b)) of this act, and such project could not without additional aid be completed because of flood, fire, or similar emergency, affecting either the work on the project or the agency's ability to finance the non-Federal share of the cost, a grant will be made from such reserved funds in such an amount as is necessary to complete the project when it is shown that the applicant is unable to procure elsewhere the funds necessary to complete the project.

§ 104.24 Order of making grants if funds insufficient. Where the need for funds under §§ 104.22 and 104.23 is in excess of the funds reserved, the order in which grants will be made will be determined on the basis of the urgency and acuteness of the applicants' need.

§ 104.25 Maximum amount of grant. No grant will be made from the reserved funds in excess of applicant's deficit after application to the project of all funds on hand or obtainable within the provisions of § 104.26 (c) and which are uncommitted and are legally expendable for providing school facilities.

§ 104.26 Definitions and explanation of terms. For the purpose of §§ 104.21 to 104.26,

(a) "The act." "The act" means Title II of Pub. Law 815, 81st Congress (64 Stat. 972; 20 U. S. C. 271–280);

(b) "Non-Federal share of the cost of the project." "Non-Federal share of the cost of the project" refers to that part of the estimated cost of a project which exceeds the estimated Federal share as shown in the application;

(c) "Inability to finance non-Federal share." No applicant will be considered to be unable to finance any part of the "non-Federal share of cost" if he has any sources from which funds can be realized in time for use on the project when needed: Provided, That under § 104.22 any unobligated portion of the applicant's entitlement will be considered to be a source from which funds could be realized in time for use on the project when needed;

(d) Determination of "urgent and acute" need. The degree of urgency and acuteness of need will be determined by ranking all applicants applying for funds under section 209 (c), 64 Stat. 975, (20 U. S. C. 279 (c)) with respect to:

(1) The existing indebtedness of the local educational agency relative to its legal debt limit and tax assessment base, and

(2) The number and percentage of unhoused children after utilization of capacity of approved projects under this act and other construction which has begun. In computing the unhoused children the Commissioner will include the number of children whom he estimates will be unhoused during the ensuing year;

(3) In ranking applicants under § 104.22, preference will be given to those whose inability to finance part or all of the non-Federal share of the cost of a project is attributable primarily to the effect of a Federal law or action upon the fiscal capacity or obligation of the school district;

(4) All requests for grants under § 104.23 will be preferred over those under § 104.22.

Dated: April 24, 1951.

Acting United States Commissioner of Education.

Approved: April 24, 1951.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR, Part 44]

EDIBLE SUGARCANE MOLASSES

U. S. STANDARDS FOR GRADES

Notice is hereby given that the United States Department of Agriculture is considering the issuance, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.), of a further proposed revision of United States Standards for Grades of Edible Sugarcane Molasses.

On September 26, 1950, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (15 F. R. 6474) regarding United States Standards for Edible Sugarcane Molasses.

On the basis of all written data, views, and arguments presented after two extensions of time, it is deemed desirable that the Department issue a further proposed revision, as hereinafter set forth, of United States Standards for Grades of Edible Sugarcane Molasses. It is now proposed to designate the grades for Edible Sugarcane Molasses, to modify the method for calculating grade factors, and to introduce tolerances for ascertaining grade as herein prescribed.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the revised proposed standards may do so by filing them in duplicate with the Director of the Sugar Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed revision is as follows:

GENERAL

§ 44.1 Definition. "Edible sugarcane molasses" means the liquid product obtained when any part of the commercially crystallizable sugar is extracted from sugarcane grown in the United States.

[1] Compliance with the requirements of these standards will not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

GRADES

§ 44.2 Grades of edible sugarcane molasses. The grades of edible sugarcane molasses are designated as follows:

(a) U. S. Fancy Edible Sugarcane Molasses.

(b) U. S. Choice Edible Sugarcane Molasses.

(d) U. S. Substandard Edible Sugarcane Molasses.

§ 44.3 Grade specifications. Specifications for each grade of edible sugarcane molasses are as follows:

(a) U. S. Fancy Edible Sugarcane Molasses consists of edible sugarcane molasses which possesses a flavor characteristic of edible sugarcane molasses of fancy quality; which contains no excess of sediment; which is practically free of foreign matter; which has a Brix solids content of not less than 79 percent when corrected to 20° C. (68° F.); which has a total sugar (sucrose plus reducing sugars) content of not less than 63.5 percent; which has a sulfated ash content of not more than 6.75 percent; which contains not more than 200 parts of total sulfites, calculated as total SO_2 per million parts of sample; and which possesses a color no darker than ESM Color Standard No. 1.[2]

(b) U. S. Choice Edible Sugarcane Molasses consists of edible sugarcane molasses which possesses a flavor characteristic of edible sugarcane molasses of choice quality; which contains no excess of sediment; which is practically free of foreign matter; which has a Brix solids content of not less than 79 percent when corrected to 20° C. (68° F.); which has a total sugar (sucrose plus reducing sugars) content of not less than 61.5 percent; which has a sulfated ash content of not more than 7.5 percent; which contains not more than 200 parts of total sulfites, calculated as total SO_2, per million parts of sample; and which possesses a color no darker than ESM Color Standard No. 2.

(c) U. S. Standard Edible Sugarcane Molasses consists of edible sugarcane molasses which possesses a flavor characteristic of edible sugarcane molasses of standard quality; which contains no excess of sediment; which is practically free of foreign matter; which has a Brix solids content of not less than 79 percent when corrected to 20° C. (68° F.); which has a total sugar (sucrose plus reducing sugars) content of not less than 58 percent; which has a sulfated ash content of not more than 8.5 percent; which contains not more than 200 parts of total sulfites, calculated as total SO_2, per million parts sample; and which possesses a color no darker than ESM Color Standard No. 3.

(d) U. S. Substandard Edible Sugarcane Molasses consists of edible sugarcane molasses that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Standard Edible Sugarcane Molasses.

[2] "ESM" is an abbreviation for edible sugarcane molasses.

(e) Table of specifications for grades: The specifications for the designated grades of edible sugarcane molasses are set forth in summary form in the table which follows:

TABLE I—TABLE OF SPECIFICATIONS FOR GRADES

Factors	Grades and specifications
	U. S. Fancy edible sugarcane molasses	U. S. Choice edible sugarcane molasses	U. S. Standard edible sugarcane molasses

DETERMINATION OF FACTORS

§ 44.4 Quantitative determination of factors. Quantitative determination of the respective factors (other than color) of the grades may be on the basis of any method of analysis adopted by the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists. The results so obtained, however, are to be interpreted in terms of the results obtained when the determination of such factors is made by the methods (also adopted by the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists) set forth in this section for the respective factors:

(a) Brix solids. By Brix hydrometer, using the double-dilution method, corrected to 20° C. (68° F.).

(b) Total sugars—(1) Sucrose. By the Clerget, or double polarization, method, using invertase as the inverting agent.

(2) Reducing sugars. By the Lane-Eynon volumetric method.

(c) Sulfated ash. By the sulfation method, with no deduction.

(d) Total sulfites. By the Monier-Williams method, calculated as total SO_2.

§ 44.5 Preparation of basic solutions and ESM color standards. Chemicals of reagent grade, at room temperature, are used in the preparation of the solutions described in this section.

(a) Preparation of basic solution—(1) Solution A. Dissolve 10 grams of $CuCl_2 \cdot 2H_2O$ in a sufficient quantity of 10 percent hydrochloric acid solution to make 100 milliliters.

(2) Solution B. Dissolve 50 grams of $CoCl_2 \cdot 6H_2O$ in a sufficient quantity of 10 percent hydrochloric acid solution to make 500 milliliters.

(3) Solution C. Dissolve 50 grams of $FeCl_3 \cdot 6H_2O$ in a sufficient quantity of 10 percent hydrochloric acid solution to make 500 milliliters.

(4) ESM stock solution. Mix 50 milliliters of Solution A and 485 milliliters of Solution B with 465 milliliters of Solution C.

(b) Preparation of ESM color standards—(1) ESM Color Standard No. 1. Dilute 40 milliliters of the ESM stock solution to 100 milliliters with 10 percent hydrchloric acid solution.

(2) ESM Color Standard No. 2. Dilute 75 milliliters of the ESM stock solution to 100 milliliters with 10 percent hydrochloric acid solution.

(3) ESM Color Standard No. 3. ESM stock solution undiluted.

§ 44.6 Use of ESM color standards in determining color factor—(a) Containers required. The containers needed to perform the visual color comparison test set forth in paragraph (c) of this section are:

(1) A container for a sample of edible sugarcane molasses for which the color factor is to be determined (such container hereinafter called "sample container"); and

(2) Containers for the respective ESM color standards.

(b) Description of containers. The sample container is made of colorless and transparent glass or plastic material and is of such shape and construction as to provide a flat 1/8-inch thickness of the sample to be viewed. The container for each ESM color standard is a colorless and transparent 2-ounce French square water sample bottle having outside base dimensions of 1 7/16 inches by 1 7/16 inches.

(c) Visual comparison test. A sample of edible sugarcane molasses is compared in the following manner with the ESM color standards to determine whether the sample is darker than one or more of such color standards:

(1) Place each of the ESM Color Standards Nos. 1, 2, and 3 in separate 2-ounce French square water sample bottles;

(2) Place a sample of the edible sugarcane molasses in a sample container; and

Issued this 14th day of May 1951.

JIM HOOVER SALES PAVILION

DEPOSTING OF STOCKYARD

It has been ascertained that the Jim Hoover Sales Pavilion, Sterling, Colorado, originally posted on July 31, 1937, as being subject to the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U. S. C. 181 et seq.), no longer comes within the definition of a stockyard under said act for the reason that it no longer meets the area requirements. Therefore, notice is given to the owner of such stockyard and to the public that such stockyard is no longer subject to the provisions of said act.

Notice of public rule making has not preceded promulgation of the foregoing rule since it is found that the giving of such notice would prevent the due and timely administration of the Packers and Stockyards Act and would, therefore, be impractical. There is no legal warrant or justification for not deposting promptly a stockyard which no longer meets the area requirements of the act and is, therefore, no longer a stockyard within the definition contained in said act.

The foregoing rule is in the nature of a rule granting an exemption or relieving a restriction and, therefore, may be made effective in less than 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER. This notice shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(7 U. S. C. 181 et seq.)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 11th day of May 1951.

Director, Livestock Branch, Production and Marketing Administration.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-2628]

MICHIGAN-WISCONSIN PIPE LINE CO. AND AMERICAN NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 11th day of May A. D., 1951.

Notice is hereby given that an application has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), by American Natural Gas Company ("American"), a registered holding company, and its subsidiary, Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Company ("Michigan-Wisconsin"). Applicants have designated section 6 (b) of the act and Rule U-50 (a) (2) as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 28, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing to be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after May 28, 1951, said application, as filed or as amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said application, which is on file in the offices of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, and which are summarized as follows:

In July, 1950, pursuant to authorization of this Commission, Michigan-Wisconsin entered into a Credit Agreement with certain Banks (The National City Bank of New York, Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company—New York, and Mellon National Bank and Trust Company—Pittsburgh) under which it has borrowed an aggregate of $20,000,000 on its notes maturing July 1, 1951. Under the terms of the Credit Agreement, at the option of the Company and with the approval of this Commission, the notes may upon ten days' written notice be renewed upon the same terms and conditions for a period of one year from July 1, 1951. The Credit Agreement obligates the Company to prepay $3,000,000 principal amount of the loans on or before June 30, 1951, if it has not by June 20, 1951, received $3,000,000 through the sale of its preferred or common stock or through issuance of debt obligations subordinated to the bank loans.

Michigan-Wisconsin proposes, upon approval by the Commission, to extend its bank loans in the principal amount of $20,000,000 for one year, or until July 1, 1952, as permitted under the terms of the Credit Agreement. It is anticipated that the bank loans will be retired through permanent financing at an appropriate later time prior to the maturity date, as extended.

To satisfy the provisions of the Credit Agreement and to provide cash funds and an equity base for the contemplated future permanent financing Michigan-Wisconsin proposes at or before the extension of its notes to sell 30,000 shares of its common stock to American Natural Gas Company for $3,000,000 cash, an amount equal to the aggregate par value. American Natural will make the investment from funds on hand, being available as a result of the sale in the latter part of 1950 of 304,486 additional shares of its common stock.

It is stated that no regulatory agency or authority other than this Commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions, and that the proposed issuance and sale of notes is exempt from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 because of the provisions of paragraph (a) (2) thereof.

It is requested that the Commission enter an order, to become effective upon its issuance, by May 30, 1951, or as soon as practicable thereafter.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS,
Secretary.

PART 3—ACQUISITION OF A COMPETITIVE STATUS

SUBPART C—REGULATIONS UNDER EXECUTIVE ORDER 10157

1. In processing cases under this subpart it has been observed that August 28, 1948, fell on a Saturday and August 29, 1948, fell on a Sunday. Since these were nonwork days for the majority of Federal agencies and employees, the Commission has determined that in any case where an individual entered on duty on the first work day following, that is, on August 30, 1948, he will be regarded as fulfilling the requirement as to date of entrance on duty. Accordingly § 3.301 (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.301 Basic requirements for the acquisition of a competitive status under Executive Order 10157. • • •

(a) He must have been appointed to and entered on duty in a civilian position

2. For some time it has been the Commission's policy on questions relating to completion of probation, to consider 22 work days as the equivalent of 30 calendar days. The Commission has therefore determined that for purposes of conversion to competitive status under this subpart, 22 days of leave without pay should be considered as the equivalent of 30 calendar days. Section 3.303 (a) (2) is therefore amended to read as follows:

§ 3.303 Continuous service. (a) * * *

(2) Periods of absence on annual or sick leave and periods of absence on leave without pay not exceeding a total of 60 calendar days. (If the leave without pay was not in one straight period but extended over broken periods, 44 work days will be considered the equivalent of 60 calendar days.)

TITLE 16—COMMERCIAL PRACTICES

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

PART 2—RULES OF PRACTICE

COMPLAINTS

The Commission on May 11, 1951, amended the second paragraph of paragraph (a) of § 2.5 of its rules of practice (§§ 2.1 to 2.31), so as to make said section read as follows, effective thirty days from date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

NOTE: In said section, the number to the right of the decimal point corresponds with the Roman numbers in the Commission's rules of practice, as included in its publication, Rules, Policy, Organization, and Acts.

§ 2.5 Complaints. (a) Whenever the Commission shall have reason to believe that there is a violation of law over which the Commission has jurisdiction, and in case of violation of the Federal Trade Commission Act, if it shall appear to the Commission that a proceeding by it in respect thereof would be to the interest of the public, the Commission shall issue and serve upon the proper parties a complaint stating its charges and containing a notice of a hearing upon a day and at the place therein fixed, at least thirty (30) days after the service of said complaint.

When a substantial saving in time and expense in disposing of the case may result, any party may submit facts, arguments, offers of settlement, or proposals of adjustment; and where time, the nature of the proceeding, and the public interest permit, they shall have due consideration. All such submissions shall be in writing and shall, when the proceeding is pending before a trial examiner, be made to and ruled upon by him. The trial examiner shall afford opposing counsel an opportunity to reply to any submission, and the action of a trial examiner in accepting a submission may be reversed by the Commission upon review of the initial decision.

(b) In the "Notice" portion of the complaint there may be set forth a statement of the provisions which may appear in the order to cease and desist which the Commission shall have reason to believe should issue if the facts in the record shall be found to be as alleged in the complaint. If the complaint contains such provisionary order to cease and desist, it shall also state that such order shall issue, unless the respondent shall file an answer within the time designated in the complaint; shall appear at the time and place so fixed; and shall show cause why the said order to cease and desist should not be entered by the Commission, in which event such provisionary order to cease and desist shall be without effect.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 722; 15 U. S. C. 46)

Promulgated as of this date in pursuance of the action of the Federal Trade Commission under date of May 11, 1951, effective thirty days from date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By direction of the Commission.

Secretary.

PART 3—DIGEST OF CEASE AND DESIST ORDERS

GRIFFON CUTLERY CORP. ET AL.

Subpart—Advertising falsely or misleadingly: § 3.15 Business status, advantages or connections—Plant and equipment: Producer status of dealer—Manufacturer: Manufacturer as maker of raw material also, or other products not made. Subpart—Using misleading name: Vendor: § 3.2440 Plant and equipment. In connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution in commerce, of respondents' cutlery products, including pinking and other shears, representing, directly or by implication, (1) that respondents or any of them manufacture or make Carbo-Magnetic cutlery unless or until respondents do in fact manufacture or make Carbo-Magnetic cutlery; (2) that the corporate or individual respondents own or operate a factory in which pinking or any other shears or cutlery sold by them are repaired or made, or that they or any of them maintain works in which the cutlery products sold by them are made, unless or until they actually own and operate, or directly and wholly control the factory or works wherein the products sold by them are in fact made: and disseminating, etc., any advertisement, containing any of said prohibited representations, by any means, to induce, etc., the purchase in commerce, of such products; prohibited.

(Sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C., 45) [Cease and desist order, Griffon Cutlery Corporation et al., Docket 5816, March 9, 1951]

In the Matter of Griffon Cutlery Corporation, a Corporation; and Alfred L. Griffon and Herman L. Kaplan, Individually and as Officers and Directors of Griffon Cutlery Corporation

This proceeding was heard by Webster Ballinger, trial examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission, respondents' answer, and hearings at which testimony and other evidence in support of and in opposition to the allegations of the complaint were introduced, and which were duly recorded and filed in the office of the Commission.

Thereafter the proceeding regularly came on for final consideration by said trial examiner on the complaint, the answer thereto, testimony and other evidence, and proposed findings as to the facts and conclusions presented by respective counsel, oral argument not having been requested; and said trial examiner, having duly considered the record and found that the instant proceeding was in the interest of the public, made his initial decision comprising certain findings as to the facts, conclusion drawn therefrom, and order to cease and desist.

No appeal having been filed from said initial decision of said trial examiner as provided for in Rule XXII, nor any other action taken as thereby provided to prevent said initial decision becoming the decision of the Commission thirty days from service thereof upon the parties, said initial decision, including said order to cease and desist, accordingly, under the provisions of said Rule XXII, became the decision of the Commission March 9, 1951.

The said order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent, Griffon Cutlery Corporation, a corporation, its officers, agents, representatives, and employees, and respondents Alfred L. Griffon, and Herman L. Kaplan, individually, directly or through any corporate or other device in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, of its cutlery products, including pinking and other shears, do forthwith cease and desist from representing, directly or by implication:

(1) That they or any of them manufacture or make Carbo-Magnetic cutlery unless or until respondents do in fact manufacture or make Carbo-Magnetic cutlery.

(2) That the corporate or individual respondents own or operate a factory in which pinking or any other shears or cutlery sold by them are repaired or made, or that they or any of them maintain works in which the cutlery products sold by them are made, unless or until they actually own and operate, or directly and wholly control the factory or works wherein the products sold by them are in fact made.

(3) Disseminating, or causing to be disseminated, any advertisement, by any means, for the purpose of inducing or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, of such products, which advertisement contains any of the representations prohibited in the preceding Paragraphs 1 and 2.

By "Decision of the Commission and Order to File Report of Compliance", Docket 5816, March 12, 1951, which announced and decreed fruition of said initial decision, on March 9, 1951, report of compliance with said cease and desist order was required as follows:

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: March 12, 1951.

By the Commission.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

[Ceiling Price Regulation 22, Amendment 3]

CPR 22—MANUFACTURER'S GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

CORRECTIONS, CHANGES AND CLARIFICATIONS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Since the issuance on April 25, 1951, of Ceiling Price Regulation 22, questions raised by industry and further study of some of the problems involved have indicated the need for clarifying some of the provisions of the regulation and amending it in certain particulars.

To eliminate any question as to certain of the steps involved in determining ceiling prices under the regulation, language clarifying the following points has been inserted: In averaging the prices at which materials were delivered in determining costs, deliveries made pursuant to "stale" contracts are not to be included; in computing the materials cost adjustment where a substitute material not used during the base period (or used in different quantities or proportions) is now being used, the comparison in net cost as of each of the applicable dates must be based upon the same quantity of production; the net sales which are used in the calculation of the labor cost adjustment and the materials cost adjustment relate only to sales of commodities produced by the manufacturer, not those for which he is simply a distributor. To simplify the procedure where a manufacturer must apply to OPS for an appropriate increase in the cost of a manufacturing material, there has been deleted the requirement that he list the base period prices and the proposed ceiling prices of all the commodities in which that manufacturing material is used.

Again, in the interest of clarity, the section dealing with modification of ceiling prices by the Director of Price Stabilization has been expanded so that there will be no question as to the power of the Director to adjust ceiling prices both up and down.

To prevent evasion of the controls imposed by the regulation a section has been added giving a transferee of a business or a stock in trade the same ceiling prices as his predecessor and imposing upon him the same obligation to keep his records. Also, a provision has been added specifically reserving to the Director of Price Stabilization the right to issue an order fixing ceiling prices for any person subject to the regulation who fails to keep records or to establish ceiling prices as required by the regulation.

To ease the burden of reporting, sellers who were unable to price their products under the General Ceiling Price Regulation except by special application to the Director of Price Stabilization, and who must make such special application again, are not required to duplicate the information they have already given. Moreover, if prices have been established for such sellers by letter order of the Director of Price Stabilization, they are permitted to retain these prices until notified that they have been changed.

In the interest of eliminating the number of reports required from manufacturers who normally make a vast number of new commodities each month but in the same basic categories the requirement that a report be prepared and mailed the Director of Price Stabilization 15 days before a new commodity is sold has been eliminated where sales of the new commodity are not expected to exceed $10,000. However, where sales exceed the original expectations, the seller will be required to file such report before sales in excess of that value may be made.

A number of changes have been made in the list of commodities excluded from the regulation. Certain of these changes are made in order to eliminate any ambiguity and to make the description of the product excluded more exact. Of this character are the changes in the definition of sugar, and the various stone, clay and glass products. Other changes are the result of discussions with members of the industries concerned, which discussions have indicated the inadvisability of keeping certain products under the regulation. Examples of such changes are those made in the coverage by the regulation of poultry and meat products. Still other changes have been made in the interest of consistency. For example, cottonseed hulls are now exempted in the same way as cottonseed cake and meals all of which are used in manufacturing livestock feed. Metallic oxides and metallic by-products are exempted for the same reasons as primary metals and metal alloys were originally. The change in the coverage of various iron and steel mill products is due to the fact that they are the subject of a voluntary agreement between their producers and the Economic Stabilization Administrator.

Ceiling Price Regulation 22, effective May 28, 1951, is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (c) of section 18 is amended by inserting between the fourth and fifth sentences immediately after the words "each period" a new sentence to read as follows: "In obtaining this average price you should not include any delivery made pursuant to a contract bearing a firm price entered into more than sixty days prior to the prescribed date." and by adding at the end of the paragraph immediately after the words "prescribed dates" two new sentences to read as follows: "The term '30 days' as used in this paragraph means either a period of 30 consecutive days or an accounting month customarily used by you, provided that it is the last accounting month terminating not later than the applicable prescribed date. Where the applicable prescribed date is June 24, 1950, you may use an accounting month terminating not later than June 30, 1950." so that paragraph (c) of section 18 as amended will now read as follows:

(c) The net price per unit of the material shown on the invoice for the last delivery of the material to you prior to the prescribed date. If, however, the delivery was received more than 30 days prior to the prescribed date or was pursuant to a contract bearing a firm price entered into more than 60 days prior to the prescribed date, you may not use this paragraph (c). If within 30 days prior to each of the applicable prescribed dates, you received more than one delivery of the same manufacturing material, you must use an average price for each such date. You obtain this average price by dividing the net amount you paid for all deliveries of the material during each of the 30-day periods by the total number of units of the material delivered to you during each period. In obtaining this average price you should not include any delivery made pursuant to a contract bearing a firm price entered into more than sixty days prior to the prescribed date. The average price for each period is the price you use for each of the respective prescribed dates. The term "30 days" as used in this paragraph means either a period of 30 consecutive days or an accounting month customarily used by you, provided that it is the last accounting month terminating not later than the applicable prescribed date. Where the applicable prescribed date is June 24, 1950 you may use an accounting month terminating not later than June 30, 1950.

2. Paragraph (f) of section 18 is amended by deleting from the second sentence thereof the following words after the last semi-colon: "and you must state the base period price of the commodity and the ceiling price you propose." so that paragraph (f) as amended will now read as follows:

(f) If none of the foregoing is available to you for one or both of the applicable prescribed dates, you may apply to the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., for an appropriate increase in the cost of the manufacturing material for use in your calculations. If you make such an application, you must refer specifically to this paragraph; you must describe the commodity being priced and the manufacturing material; you must propose the amount of increase per unit of the manufacturing material you consider appropriate based upon what you would have paid for the material if you had purchased it on each of the applicable prescribed dates; you must set forth in detail supporting reasons and why this paragraph is applicable. You must file this application before using the increase you propose. Although you need not await a reply from the Director of Price Stabilization, he may at any time disapprove the increase you propose, stipulate the amount of increase which he will approve or request additional information.

3. Section 19 is amended by inserting between the first and second sentences immediately after the words "by you now" a new sentence to read as follows: "The physical amounts of those materials normally used by you in your base period and now must relate to the same quantity of production of the commodities being priced in the case of Method 4, to a unit of the commodity being priced in the case of Method 2 and to a unit of the best selling commodity in the case of Method 3." so that section 19 as amended will now read as follows:

SEC. 19. How to compute net cost as of the applicable prescribed dates where you are using a substitute material not used during the base period or used in lesser quantities. In the case of a substitute material not used by you during the base period (or used in lesser quantities or proportions) in the manufacture of the commodity being priced, you must, if you are using Methods 2, 3, or 4 for calculating "the materials cost adjustment", compute the net cost to you as of the end of your base period of the physical amounts of the materials normally used by you in your base period and the net cost to you as of December 31, 1950, March 15, 1951, or a current date, whichever date is applicable, of the physical amounts of the materials normally used by you now. The physical amounts of those materials normally used by you in your base period and now must relate to the same quantity of production of the commodities being priced in the case of Method 4, to a unit of the commodity being priced in the case of Method 2, and to a unit of the best selling commodity in the case of Method 3. Since this calculation cannot be made accurately under Method 1 (section 13), you may not use that method for any unit of your business in which you are now using significant quantities of a substitute material whose current unit cost is lower than the current unit cost of the material used by you during the base period. However, if the current unit cost of the substitute material is the same or higher than the current unit cost of the material used by you during the base period, you may use Method 1, but without making any allowance for the higher cost of the substitute material.

4. Paragraph (f) of section 32 is amended by inserting after the heading "Required report" the number (1), by inserting after the words "under this section," in the first sentence, the words "except as permitted under subparagraph (2) below," by inserting before the words "In case, however," in the second paragraph the number (3) and by adding the following new subparagraph to be inserted between the first and second paragraphs:

(2) You need not prepare or file the report required by paragraph (g) of this section with the Director of Price Stabilization, if total net sales of the commodity required to be priced under this section are not expected to exceed ten thousand dollars in value; but no sales of the commodity which would result in its total net sales equalling or exceeding ten thousand dollars in value may be made until after a report has been filed. Appropriate records and work sheets relating to the computation of your ceiling prices must be preserved as prescribed in section 46.

5. Section 34 is amended by inserting after the heading "Sellers who cannot price under other sections" the letter "(a)" and by adding new paragraphs (b) and (c) to read as follows:

(b) If your ceiling price was determined under section 7 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, you may, after making the application prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section, continue to use that ceiling price unless and until notified by the Director of Price Stabilization that your proposed ceiling price has been disapproved, or that more information is required.

(c) If your ceiling price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation was established under section 7 of that regulation by letter order of the Director of Price Stabilization, you need not repeat in your application for a price under this section any information which you have already submitted to the Director of Price Stabilization and which, in the light of the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section, is still accurate.

6. Section 38 is amended by adding the following sentence immediately after the words "this regulation": "Such downward revisions may, of course, be accompanied by upward revisions—as in a case where the Director of Price Stabilization requires an apportionment of the 'materials cost increase' for a unit of your business to avoid any inequities resulting from the application of sections 13 or 16" so that the section will now read as follows:

SEC. 38. Modification of ceiling prices by the Director of Price Stabilization. The Director of Price Stabilization may at any time disapprove or revise downward ceiling prices proposed to be used or being used under this regulation so as to bring them into line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation. Such downward revisions may, of course, be accompanied by upward revisions—as in a case where the Director of Price Stabilization requires an apportionment of the "materials cost increase" for a unit of your business to avoid any inequities resulting from the application of sections 13 or 16.

7. Section 47 is amended by inserting immediately after the heading "Definitions and explanations" the following sentence: "Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions and explanations in this section shall be controlling." and by adding to the definition of "Net sales" immediately after the words

"should not be deducted" the following sentence: "This term does not include sales of commodities of which you are not the manufacturer."

8. A new section, section 48a is added to follow immediately after section 48 and to read as follows:

SEC. 48a. Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets or stock in trade are sold, or otherwise transferred, after the issue date of this regulation, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of commodity, in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the ceiling prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this regulation.

9. Section 51 is amended by substituting for the heading "Penalties" the heading "Violation—(a) Civil and criminal action" and by adding a new paragraph (b) to read as follows:

(b) Violations of record-keeping and reporting requirements. If any person subject to this regulation fails to keep the records or file the reports required by this regulation, or if any person subject to this regulation fails to establish a ceiling price or apply to the Office of Price Stabilization for the establishment of a ceiling price, if he is required to do so, the Director of Price Stabilization may issue an order fixing ceiling prices for the commodities such person sells. Any ceiling price fixed in this manner will be in line with ceiling prices established by this regulation. The order fixing the ceiling price may apply to all deliveries or transfers for which a ceiling price was not established in accordance with the provisions of this regulation, including deliveries or transfers completed prior to the date of issuance of the order. The issuance of such an order will not relieve the seller of his obligation to comply with the requirements of this regulation or of the various penalties for failure to do so.

10. Appendix A is amended in the following respects:

a. Subparagraph (1) of paragraph (c) is changed to read as follows:

(1) All meats, except dry sausage and sterile canned meat.

b. Subparagraph (4) of paragraph (c) is changed to read as follows:

[Ceiling Price Regulation 37]

CPR 37—PRIMARY COTTON TEXTILE MANUFACTURERS' REGULATION

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Ceiling Price Regulation 37 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The need for this regulation. The general objective and economic considerations leading to the formulation of this Primary Cotton Textile Manufacturers' Regulation are generally the same as those which led to the promulgation of the recent Manufacturers' General Ceiling Price Regulation (Ceiling Price Regulation 22), and are set forth in the Statement of Considerations which is a part of that regulation.

The General Ceiling Price Regulation, issued on January 26, 1951, imposed a general freeze at all levels of production and distribution. It was an emergency measure made imperative by the urgency of bringing the inflationary spiral to a halt. It was not intended to be a permanent basis of control, and it was then recognized that specific regulations adapted to the needs of individual industries would have to be formulated and issued as quickly as the resources of the Office of Price Stabilization would permit.

The price structure which was frozen by the General Ceiling Price Regulation was badly unbalanced in many respects. In some industries prices had lagged behind the increase in production costs, and in others prices had outrun the advance in manufacturing costs. Because of "lag" on the one hand and anticipatory pricing on the other, there was serious disparity both between the different levels of the economy and within industry at each of those levels. The freeze "caught" prices at the end of six months of dynamic change without opportunity for normal mutual adjustment between raw materials, manufacture, and wholesaler and retailer distribution.

The soundest way in which to restore a balanced and equitable price structure would be by the issuance of individual regulations tailored to meet the needs and peculiarities of each specific industry. But it is neither feasible nor possible, within the time limit which the urgency of the present situation demands, for the Office of Price Stabilization to prepare and issue a large number of specifically tailored regulations. Neither is it feasible nor sound policy to attempt to correct inequities by applying a vast number of individual adjustments. Even were it possible, such individual relief would result only in upward pricing without a concurrent effort to roll back those prices which are clearly excessive.

The Manufacturers' General Ceiling Price Regulation, while recognizing that no such regulation can fully reflect the diverse problems of a great many industries, is one of general application to as large a segment of the manufacturing industry as possible. It is an interim step between the general freeze and the establishment of specifically tailored regulations.

Similarly, this Primary Cotton Textile Manufacturers' Regulation, although not a tailored regulation, is intended and designed to more closely approximate the needs of one of the nation's major industries at the manufacturing level. The cotton yarn and textile producers have industry characteristics, and are confronted with economic factors, which are peculiar to themselves. This regulation is an application of the underlying concepts of the over-all manufacturing regulation, narrowed to the particular requirements of the cotton textile industry.

It is believed that it will quickly meet the needs of the cotton textile industry as comprehensively as possible; that it is generally fair and equitable in principle; that it will afford at least limited relief to most cases of inequity imposed by the general freeze and at the same time it will serve simultaneously to require reductions in prices which are too high. A price structure based upon a depressed or distressed period would choke the incentive for normal production. Conversely, prices measured by those of a period of abnormal prosperity would contradict the very concept of price stabilization. The margins of profit provided by this regulation are considered adequate to minimize any tendency toward diversion of production away from low-end cost-of-living fabrics and yarns. It is believed that the regulation is an important step toward the restoration of a sound and properly balanced price structure.

General nature of this regulation. This regulation applies to manufacturers of yarns or fabrics consisting, after production but before finishing, of fifty percent or more of domestic cotton by fiber weight and containing less than twenty-five percent of fiber weight of any one of either wool, rayon, nylon or other fibers. It has been formulated under the same general principle which underlies the Manufacturers' General Ceiling Price Regulation (Ceiling Price Regulation 22), i. e., a return to pre-Korean price levels, adjusted for certain increases in manufacturing costs which have occurred since the Korean outbreak.

The Defense Production Act of 1950 provides that the President shall give due consideration to prices which he finds to be representative of those prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950 to June 24, 1950, or if those were not representative because of abnormal or seasonal market conditions, then those prevailing on the nearest date on which they are generally representative.

The period immediately prior to June 24, 1950 may not have been representative in the cotton yarn and textile industry because of cyclical reactions and seasonal market conditions. It is believed, however, that the whole year from July 1, 1949 to June 24, 1950 was one in which prices and costs generally were in balance at levels which yielded satisfactory operating margins. Consequently, and to eliminate seasonal distortions, this regulation permits the cotton yarn or fabric manufacturer to select as his base period from which cost adjustments will be made any calendar quarter between July 1, 1949 and June 24, 1950 for yarns or fabrics within a category.

Two decisions had to be made before a method could be determined for the establishment of a base period price. Manufacturers of cotton yarns and fabrics historically sell their products for future delivery, some segments of the industry selling for periods of as long as six and more months in advance. The industry generally sells on firm price contracts with no provision for upward adjustment in price due to increases in the cost of component parts of the fabrics manufactured.

It was necessary, therefore, to determine a method whereby a current and precise relationship could be established between the costs of production and the price of the product. It was apparent that costs at the time of product delivery would not have been the costs on which pricing was based. It was decided, therefore, to relate costs to the date of the contract or the written offer used for the determination of the base period price. A second decision was to permit the use of written price lists issued by a manufacturer to his salesmen in his customary manner as one method of establishing base period prices. The decision to permit use of these lists was made because they represent a method used for many years by a large part of the industry to communicate price offers to the trade. Their use is carefully restricted by requiring that they must have been the manufacturer's customary manner of pricing, that they must have been issued during the base period, and that within thirty days subsequent to their issuance, the manufacturer must have contracted in writing to make substantial deliveries of items on the list at prices on the list and that such deliveries must thereafter have been made within the period of time customarily allowed within the trade for processing and shipment. In addition, it is required that if a price list is used for one yarn or fabric on the list it must be used for all of the yarns or fabrics on the list.

The cost increases which may be added to pre-Korean prices are essentially the same as those allowed in the Manufacturers' General Ceiling Price Regulation. Because this regulation applies to a single industry, it was possible to separate manufacturing costs into costs for cotton, purchased sales yarn, manufacturing materials and labor and to provide different methods of computation for each which are more suitable to the particular needs of the industry.

Consideration has been given to the inventory problem, and that any inventories of low cost cotton should be reflected in the cost adjustment allowed. It is believed, however, from information obtained, that such inventories do not exist to any significant extent.

Cotton costs are to be computed on the basis of the published average of the spot prices in the 10 "designated markets." The reasons for this are: (1) The use of the quoted cotton prices provides a uniform and simplified method of determining cotton costs; (2) the price of cotton quoted on the 10 spot markets as of the day of a contract or offer to sell (or the issuance of a price list), which establishes the base period price for the yarn or fabric, has an exact and definite correlation to the price fixed by the mill under its contracts for the purchase of raw cotton. Labor costs are determined as of the same date as that of the base period price, and the costs of purchased sales yarn and other manufacturing materials have a similar correlation although allowance has been made for the possibility that these materials cannot be "costed" as of the exact date of the base period price.

This regulation gives effect to only those increases in the cost of manufacturing materials other than cotton, purchased sales yarn and labor which occurred up to December 31, 1950, on the assumption that the average price of those materials will be rolled back by the General Manufacturers' Ceiling Price Regulation to a level approximating that which prevailed last December. The cost increases for raw cotton, purchased sales yarn and labor may be computed up to March 15, 1951, inasmuch as no rollbacks in these items may be expected in the immediate future. (The ceiling price on raw cotton was established on March 5, 1951, by Ceiling Price Regulation 8). The Manufacturers' General Ceiling Price Regulation requires, in certain instances, that a report be filed with the Director of Price Stabilization and that commodities for which a ceiling price has been determined may not be sold until 15 days after the mailing of such report. Such a waiting period is not considered necessary in the present regulation which has a narrower scope, and in which the nature and extent of price changes can be more readily forecast.

This regulation recognizes that a manufacturer may wish to determine a ceiling price for a yarn or fabric in which he did not deal during the base period. For such cases, it makes provision for establishing ceiling prices both for those yarns or fabrics which are comparable to those dealt in during the base period and for those which are not comparable to any dealt in during the base period. For comparable yarns or fabrics a percentage cost adjustment is permitted, and for those not comparable a "dollars-and-cents" difference is permitted. Ceiling prices for new sellers and for sales to an entirely new class of purchaser of any particular yarn or fabric are the same as those of the manufacturer's most closely competitive seller.

It is recognized that certain segments of the industry have granted retroactive wage increases, which are now pending approval by the Wage Stabilization Board. This regulation does not anticipate the effect of action by that Board but consideration will be given to the matter after a decision has been handed down.

This regulation prohibits the redetermination of a ceiling price once it has been reported, except for arithmetical error and except when the Director of Price Stabilization shall require it by amendment or by supplement to this regulation. The Director expects in due course to issue such an amendment so as to reflect more accurately the materials prices established by this and other ceiling price regulations.

It cannot, of course, be anticipated that any general regulation of this character can cure all cases of hardship or inequities imposed by the freeze; nor can it avoid imposing hardship in special circumstances. It is recognized, therefore, that provision must be made for the adjustment of individual hardship cases. The regulation permits a manufacturer who under this regulation would be forced to operate at a loss to apply for an adjustment of his ceiling prices. This provision is not intended to take care of losses resulting from unusual or seasonal factors which would normally cure themselves; nor is it intended to provide an inefficient manufacturer with a level of prices substantially in excess of that which is adequate for the bulk of his competitors. The Office of Price Stabilization expects to act upon petitions for relief submitted under this provision promptly, and if no action is taken within thirty days after the request has been submitted the applicant is permitted to sell at the prices proposed in his petition until the Office has taken final action.

Interim character of this regulation. It should be emphasized again that this regulation is not intended as the final pricing action of the Office of Price Stabilization for the cotton textile industry. It is expected that other interim regulations will be formulated for the cotton converters and finishers who are exempt from this regulation, and that at the earliest possible date tailored dollars-and-cents regulations will be issued for all segments of the industry.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR

The provisions of this regulation and their effect upon business practices, cost practices, or methods, or means or aids to distribution in the industry have been carefully considered. Generally only such changes in such practices or methods have been effected as are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the regulation and to effectuate the policies of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

In formulating this regulation the Director has consulted with representatives of the industry to the extent practicable under the circumstances and has given consideration to their recommendations.

He has also given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In the judgment of the Director, based upon an analysis of the presently available data, the provisions of this regulation and the ceiling prices established are generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 17 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation fixes ceiling prices for sales of cotton yarn or fabric by manufacturers located in the United States, its territories and possessions. It applies to sales of unfinished cotton yarns or fabrics, except that finished woven bed spreads, sheets, pillow cases, diapers and towels (i. e., end-use products) are also covered. During the period between May 16, 1951, and May 28, 1951 you may use either this regulation or the General Ceiling Price Regulation. On and after May 28, 1951, you must use this regulation. This regulation shall not apply to deliveries under a military contract or subcontract for yarn or fabric covered by Supplementary Regulation 1, as amended, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation. This regulation supersedes the Manufacturers' General Ceiling Price Regulation (Ceiling Price Regulation 22) for sales of yarns and fabrics covered by this regulation.

SEC. 2. Ceiling prices for yarns or fabrics which are the same as those dealt in during your base period. Your ceiling price for a yarn or fabric (which should be computed on a unit basis, that is, a pound of yarn or a yard of fabric) in which you dealt at any time between July 1, 1949 and June 24, 1950 is your base period price for the yarn or fabric with adjustments for permitted increases or required decreases in cost of labor and materials.

(a) Step 1; Base period. Select one calendar quarter from the four quarters between July 1, 1949 and June 24, 1950, that is, one of the following quarters: July 1, 1949 through September 30, 1949; October 1, 1949 through December 31, 1949; January 1, 1950 through March 31, 1950; or April 1, 1950 through June 24, 1950. The quarter which you select is your base period under this regulation for pricing all yarns or fabrics falling within the same category (see Definitions, section 17 of this regulation).

(b) Step 2; Base period price. (1) Find the class of purchaser which, during your base period, contracted in writing to buy from you the largest dollar amount of yarns or fabrics in the same category as the yarn or fabric to be priced. Then find the highest unit (pound of yarn, yard of fabric) price at which you contracted in writing to sell to that class of purchaser the yarn or fabric to be priced. Exclude sample quantity contracts (see Definitions, section 17 of this regulation).

(2) If you did not contract to sell a particular yarn or fabric during your base period, find the highest unit price at which you offered in writing to sell that yarn or fabric during your base period. This written offer must have been made to the class of purchaser to whom you sold in the base period the largest dollar volume of yarns or fabrics in the same category as the yarn or fabric to be priced.

(3) If, however, during the base period you issued a written price list to your salesmen in your customary manner and within thirty days subsequent to its issuance contracted in writing to make substantial deliveries of any of the listed items at the prices in the list, and thereafter made such deliveries within the period of time customarily allowed in your trade for processing and shipment, you may use, instead of the price found in subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, the listed price, for a unit of the yarn or fabric, to the class of purchaser which during the base period contracted in writing to buy from you the largest dollar amount of all yarns or fabrics in that category. If, however, you use a price list for one yarn or fabric on the list, you must use the listed price for all yarns or fabrics on that list.

The price found in this paragraph, when reduced or increased, as the case may be, by your customary trade terms, is your base period price. If your base period price includes any excise, sales or similar tax, follow the instructions in section 8 of this regulation.

(c) Step 3; Cost increases or decreases. Compute your increase or decrease in the cost of cotton, purchased sales yarn, other manufacturing materials, and labor in the following manner (with waste credits to be taken according to your customary accounting procedure):

(1) Cotton. Find the physical amount of cotton used in a unit of the yarn or fabric to be priced. Multiply that amount by the increase in the unit cost of cotton between the published average of the spot prices in the 10 "designated markets" on the date of your base period price adjusted for the grade and staple you were then using (the date of the contract, written offer, or price list from which you have found your base period price for that yarn or fabric in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section), and March 15, 1951, adjusted for the grade and staple you are currently using.

(2) Purchased sales yarn. If a fabric contains purchased sales yarn, find the physical amount of that yarn used in a unit of the fabric to be priced. Multiply that amount by the increase in the unit cost of purchased sales yarn between the highest unit price at which you contracted to buy that yarn during your base period and the highest unit price at which you contracted to buy it between January 1 and March 15, 1951. If you did not contract to buy that yarn during your base period (or between January 1 and March 15, 1951), use the highest unit price at which your customary source of supply contracted in writing to sell it during each period to the class of purchaser in which you fall, or if he made no written contract, use the highest price at which, during such period, he made a written offer to sell it to the class of purchaser in which you fall.

(3) Manufacturing materials. Find the increase or decrease in the unit cost of manufacturing materials (see Definitions, section 17 of this regulation) which are actually used in a unit of the yarn or fabric to be priced. This increase or decrease is the difference between the highest unit price at which you contracted to buy these materials during your base period and the highest unit price at which you contracted to buy them during the period between October 1 and December 31, 1950. If you did not contract to buy these materials during the base period or during the period between October 1 and December 31, 1950, use the highest unit price at which your customary source of supply made an offer in writing to sell these materials to you during either the base period or the period between October 1 and December 31, 1950, provided, that you still have the written offer or obtain a copy of it from the offeror. If you did not contract to buy these materials, or did not receive a written offer of sale of these materials to you, during either the base period or the period between October 1 and December 31, 1950, use the unit price last prior to the expiration of your base period or last prior to December 31, 1950 at which your customary source of supply contracted in writing to sell the materials to the class of purchaser in which you fall, or if he made no written contract, use the price last prior to the expiration of your base period or last prior to December 31, 1950 at which he made a written offer to sell them to the class of purchaser in which you fall.

(4) Labor. Find the increase in your cost of labor (see Definitions, section 17 of this regulation) between the date of your base period price and March 15, 1951, per unit of the yarn or fabric to be priced.

(5) Total unit cost factor. Add or subtract the amount of the increases or decreases you have calculated for cotton, purchased sales yarn, manufacturing materials and labor. The result is your total unit cost factor. Where a fabric is sold shrunk you may further adjust this total unit cost factor by the same percentage working loss used during the base period.

(d) Step 4; Ceiling price. Add this total unit cost factor to the base period price found in paragraph (b) of this section. The result is your ceiling price for a unit of that yarn or fabric. To this ceiling price apply the provisions of section 9 of this regulation with regard to conditions of sale and classes of purchasers.

This section is applicable only when the yarn or fabric you are now pricing is the same as the yarn or fabric you sold during the base period.

Before you deliver a yarn or fabric at a ceiling price fixed by this section, you must file the report required by section 13 of this regulation.

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices for yarns or fabrics comparable to those dealt in during your base period. If you want to sell a yarn or fabric, for which you cannot establish a base period price under section 2 of this regulation but which is comparable to a yarn or fabric for which you are able to establish a base period price under that section, compute your ceiling price as follows:

(a) Step 1; Computed cost of yarn or fabric to be priced. The computed cost of the yarn or fabric to be priced is the cost, as of specified dates, of cotton, purchased sales yarn, other manufacturing materials and labor. Determine the computed cost by the following method (with waste credits to be taken according to your customary accounting procedure):

(1) Cotton. Find the physical amount of cotton used in a unit of the yarn or fabric you wish to price and multiply that amount by the published average of the spot prices in the 10 "designated markets" on March 15, 1951, adjusted for the grade and staple used.

(2) Purchased sales yarn. If a fabric contains purchased sales yarn, find the physical amount of that yarn used in a unit of the fabric to be priced and multiply that amount by the highest unit cost at which you contracted to buy that yarn between January 1, 1951 and March 15, 1951. If you did not contract to buy that yarn during that period use the highest price at which your customary source of supply contracted in writing to sell it during that period to the class of purchaser in which you fall, or if he made no written contract, use the highest price at which, during that period, he made a written offer to sell it to the class of purchaser in which you fall.

(3) Manufacturing materials. Find the unit cost of the manufacturing materials (see Definitions, section 17 of this regulation) which are actually used in a unit of that yarn or fabric, using the highest unit price at which you contracted to buy these materials during the period between October 1 and December 31, 1950. If you did not contract to buy these materials during the period between October 1 and December 31, 1950, use the highest unit price at which your customary source of supply made an offer in writing to sell these materials to you during that period provided that you still have the written offer or obtain a copy of it from the offeror. If you did not contract to buy these materials, or did not receive a written offer of sale of these materials to you, during the period between October 1 and December 31, 1950, use the unit price last prior to December 31, 1950, at which your customary source of supply contracted in writing to sell the materials to the class of purchaser in which you fall, or if he made no written contract, use the price last prior to December 31, 1950, at which he made a written offer to sell them to the class of purchaser in which you fall.

(4) Labor. Find your cost of labor for a unit of that yarn or fabric using your highest wage rates between February 15 and March 15, 1951.

(5) Total computed cost. Add the costs you have calculated for cotton, purchased sales yarn, manufacturing materials and labor. The result is your total computed cost of a unit of the yarn or fabric to be priced. Where a fabric is sold shrunk you may further adjust this total computed cost by the same percentage working loss used by you for the comparable fabric under paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of this section.

(b) Step 2; Comparable yarn or fabric. Using only yarns or fabrics within the same category as the yarn or fabric to be priced, select among the yarns or fabrics for which you are able to establish a base period price under section 2 of this regulation, the first of the following which is available to you:

(1) A yarn or fabric which you are presently manufacturing whose computed cost computed by the method prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section is the same as or lower than the computed cost of the yarn or fabric you are pricing;

(2) A yarn or fabric you are presently manufacturing whose computed cost is next higher than the computed cost of the yarn or fabric you are pricing.

(c) Step 3; Multiplication factor. Compute by the method prescribed in section 2 of this regulation the ceiling price of a unit of the selected comparable yarn or fabric. Divide its ceiling price by its computed cost. This gives you the multiplication factor.

(d) Step 4; Ceiling price. Multiply the computed cost of a unit of the yarn or fabric you are pricing by the multiplication factor. The result is your ceiling price for a unit of that yarn or fabric. To this ceiling price apply the provisions of section 9 of this regulation with regard to conditions of sale and classes of purchasers.

Before you deliver a yarn or fabric at a ceiling price fixed by this section 3, you must file the report required by section 13.

SEC. 4. Ceiling prices for yarns or fabrics not comparable to those dealt in during your base period. If you produced and sold yarns or fabrics during the base period but you cannot use sections 2 or 3 of this regulation to fix a ceiling price for a yarn or fabric you now want to sell, your ceiling price for the one you now want to sell shall be computed as follows:

(a) Step 1; Cost of yarn or fabric to be priced. Find your computed cost of a unit of the yarn or fabric you now want to sell by the method prescribed in section 3 of this regulation.

(b) Step 2; Most "nearly like" yarn or fabric. From the yarns or fabrics for which you are able to establish a base period price under section 2 of this regulation select the first of the following which is available to you:

(1) A yarn or fabric you are presently manufacturing which is most nearly like and for which the computed cost (see section 3 of this regulation) is the same as or lower than the computed cost of the yarn or fabric you are pricing;

(2) A yarn or fabric you are presently manufacturing which is most nearly like and for which the computed cost is next higher than the computed cost of the yarn or fabric you are pricing;

(3) A yarn or fabric you are no longer manufacturing which is most nearly like and for which the computed cost would be the same as or lower than the computed cost of the yarn or fabric you are pricing;

(4) A yarn or fabric you are no longer manufacturing which is most nearly like and for which the computed cost would be next higher than the computed cost of the yarn or fabric you are pricing.

(c) Step 3; Dollars-and-cents difference. Compute, in accordance with the method prescribed in section 2 of this regulation, the ceiling price of a unit of the yarn or fabric selected in paragraph (b) of this section. Then subtract from its ceiling price its computed cost determined in accordance with the method prescribed in section 3 of this regulation. The result is the dollars-and-cents difference.

(d) Step 4; Ceiling price. Add this dollars-and-cents difference to the computed cost (see paragraph (a) of this section) for a unit of the yarn or fabric you want to sell. This gives you the ceiling price for a unit of that yarn or fabric. To this ceiling price apply the provisions of section 9 of this regulation with regard to conditions of sale and classes of purchasers.

Before you deliver a yarn or fabric at a ceiling price fixed by this section 4, you must file the report required by section 13.

SEC. 5. Ceiling prices for new sellers and for sales to an entirely new class of purchaser. (a) If you did not at any time between July 1, 1949 and June 24, 1950 contract in writing to sell, or make a written offer to sell, or distribute price lists for, yarns or fabrics, or, if you wish to sell to an entirely different class of purchaser from any to which you sold during your base period, your ceiling price for a particular yarn or fabric is the same as the ceiling price of your most closely competitive seller of the same class selling that particular yarn or fabric to the same class of purchaser. Your ceiling price must carry the same price differentials as that of your most closely competitive seller. You cannot sell any yarn or fabric under this section, however, until 15 days after you have filed, by registered mail, the report required by paragraph (b) of this section, with the Consumer Soft Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. Thereafter you may sell at your proposed ceiling price unless and until notified by the Director of Price Stabilization that your proposed price has been disapproved or that more information is required. If you are notified that additional information is required, you cannot sell at your proposed price until you have filed such additional information, by registered mail, or until such time (not to exceed 15 days after the filing of the additional information requested) as the request for information shall specify. The Director may disapprove or revise ceiling prices reported under this section, at any time, even after the 15-day period, so as to bring them into line with other ceiling prices fixed by this regulation.

(b) Required report. Your report should state the name and address of your company; the name, address and type of business of your most closely competitive seller of the same class; a statement of his ceiling price and his price differentials to each of his classes of purchasers; your reasons for selecting him as your most closely competitive seller; a statement of your customary price differentials; and, if you are selling to an entirely new class of purchaser, a description of such class of purchaser. If you are starting a new business, you should include a statement whether you or the principal owner of your business are now or during the past twelve months have been engaged in any capacity in the same or a similar business at any other establishment, and, if so, the trade name and address of each such establishment. Your report should include the following: your proposed ceiling price and a description of the yarn and fabric you are pricing; the manufacturing process involved; the computed cost (computed by the method prescribed in section 3 of this regulation) for that yarn or fabric; the reason you believe the proposed ceiling price is in line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation; and the types of customers to whom you will be selling.

SEC. 6. Manufacturers who cannot price under other sections. If you claim that you are unable to determine your ceiling price for a yarn or fabric under any of the foregoing provisions of this regulation, you may apply in writing to the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., for the establishment of a ceiling price. This application shall contain an explanation of why you are unable to determine your ceiling price under any other provision of this regulation; all pertinent information describing the yarn or fabric and the nature of your business; your proposed ceiling price and the method used by you to determine it; and the reason you believe the proposed price is in line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation. You may not sell the yarn or fabric until the Director of Price Stabilization notifies you in writing of your ceiling price.

SEC. 7. Rounding ceiling prices. You may round your ceiling prices determined under this regulation so that they will be expressed in the nearest cent or fraction of a cent you normally employ. If you do so for one yarn or fabric you must similarly round the ceiling prices for all of your yarns or fabrics normally priced by you upon the same basis to reflect decreases as well as increases. In no event may the increase be greater than 1 percent of your ceiling price prior to rounding. For example, if you normally quote to the nearest quarter of a cent and your ceiling price for fabric A is 21.20¢ per unit, you may round that ceiling price to 21¼¢ per unit. However, if your ceiling price for fabric B is 27.39¢ you must round its ceiling price to 27¼¢.

SEC. 8. Excise, sales, and other similar taxes—(a) Where the tax is included in your base period price. If the price for a yarn or fabric you are to use under any of the sections of this regulation for the purpose of determining your ceiling price either for that yarn or fabric or another yarn or fabric includes any excise, sales or other similar tax which is not separately stated, you must first ascertain the amount of any such tax and exclude it from the price. The price, with any such tax so excluded, may then be used by you in connection with any appropriate computations under this regulation. After completing the computations involved in determining your ceiling price, you may then add on the appropriate amount of any such tax for inclusion as part of your ceiling price.

(b) Where the tax is separately stated and collected. In addition to your ceiling price determined under this regulation, you may collect the amount of any excise, sales or other similar taxes paid by you as such only if it has been your practice to state and collect such taxes separately from your selling price for the same or similar yarns or fabrics. In the case of such a tax imposed by law which is not effective until after the effective date of this regulation, you may collect the amount of the tax actually paid as such by you, if not prohibited by the tax law. You must in all such cases state separately the amount of the tax.

SEC. 9. Conditions of sale and classes of purchasers. Your ceiling price must carry the same terms, discounts, and other conditions of sale as your base period price for the same yarn or fabric (see section 2 of this regulation), the comparable one (see section 3 of this regulation) or the most nearly like one (see section 4 of this regulation) as the case may be. If you have classes of purchasers other than the class of purchaser you used in determining your base period price, your ceiling prices for sales to such other classes of purchasers are fixed by applying your customary price differentials in effect during the base period. In the event you made no base period sales to a particular class of purchaser, you apply your customary differentials last in effect prior to the base period, or, if none, then those first in effect after the base period but prior to this regulation. You shall sell your seconds, irregulars, short pieces, pound goods, and off-goods classified in the same manner and at the same discounts as during the base period.

SEC. 10. Redetermination of Ceiling Price. (a) Once you have reported your ceiling price or a proposed ceiling price for a yarn or fabric as required by this regulation, you may not thereafter redetermine it except as required by paragraph (b) of this section. A purely arithmetical error may, however, be corrected, but the correction must be reported to the Consumer Soft Goods Division of the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C.

(b) The Director of Price Stabilization expects in due course to issue an amendment to this regulation providing for a redetermination of your ceiling prices under this regulation. The primary purpose of this redetermination would be to reflect more accurately the materials prices established by this and other ceiling price regulations. The Director of Price Stabilization may also from time to time announce "materials cost increase factors" for certain materials in order to provide greater uniformity in the calculation of their change in price since the end of your base period. These factors will be percentage figures based on studies of some categories of important basic materials. If such a factor is announced, it must be used in place of any change you have had in the price of the material covered by the factor, regardless of whether the factor is higher or lower. These "materials cost increase factors" may be announced by amendments or by supplementary regulations to this regulation.

SEC. 11. Adjustment of ceiling prices where over-all loss in operations results. (a) This section permits you to apply for an upward adjustment of your ceiling prices established by this regulation, if as a result of these ceiling prices, you would operate at a loss.

(b) You may apply under this section if:

(1) Your total manufacturing operations have been conducted at a net loss for a period of operation under this regulation of at least one month, or would have been conducted at a loss if you had manufactured the yarns or fabrics covered by this regulation in your customary quantities and proportions;

(2) The loss was attributable to the level of prices established by this regulation, and not to any of the following:

(i) Seasonal, non-recurring or temporary factors affecting your operation; or

(ii) A reduction in volume of production below the normal economical capacity of your plant; or

(iii) The payment of unlawful wages or excessive salaries or of unlawful or excessive prices for materials; or

(iv) The incurring of factory overhead or of selling, administrative and general costs which are abnormally high relative to sales or other costs unless such excess is demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence to have been unavoidable in the exercise of sound business judgment and management; or

(v) Any transactions with affiliated corporations or businesses which either are of a kind which would not result from arm's-length bargaining or differ from the transactions which you have customarily had with such affiliated corporations or businesses; or

(vi) Reserves for contingencies.

(3) The adjusted prices for which you apply will not be substantially out of line with the prices of similar yarns or fabrics manufactured by other sellers under this regulation.

(c) If you make application under this section, you must supply:

(1) Your name, address, a description of your manufacturing facilities and of the yarns or fabrics you manufacture, a statement of the principal types of customers to whom you sell;

(2) A detailed annual profit and loss statement for your firm for the years 1946 through 1949, and both an annual profit and loss statement, and if you regularly prepare them, quarterly profit and loss statements covering the year 1950 and each quarter since then;

(3) A detailed profit and loss statement covering a period of operations of one month or more under this regulation, together with a careful explanation of how it was prepared, including particularly a justification of any estimating procedures used in its preparation;

(4) For yarns or fabrics covered by this regulation, either (i) a statement of your base period and ceiling prices to your largest buying class of purchasers (including delivery terms, cash, trade and volume discounts, allowances, premiums and extras, deductions, guarantees, servicing terms and other terms and conditions of sale), a schedule of your price differentials to your other classes of purchasers; or (ii) a copy of the report required and submitted to the Office of Price Stabilization under sections 5 or 13 of this regulation, together with (iii) a statement of the section or sections under which you established your ceiling prices.

(5) A showing that the loss in your current operations was not due to any of the six factors in paragraph (b) (2) of this section;

(6) A list of your principal competitors, and a statement of their ceiling prices under this regulation for yarns or fabrics similar to yours, together with data showing the past relationship of your prices to those they have charged for the same or similar yarns or fabrics;

(7) A proposed schedule of adjusted ceiling prices for yarns or fabrics covered by this regulation, and a demonstration that, if these prices were charged, your operations would be at a break-even position.

(8) The application must refer specifically to this section of the regulation, must be signed by a responsible officer of your company, and should be sent to the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington, 25, D. C.

(d) Within thirty days of the receipt of your application, the Director will grant or deny your application in full or in part, or request further information. The Director may, as a condition of granting your application in full or in part, require you to submit reports of subsequent operations and may revoke or modify the adjustment at any time. If, thirty days after the acknowledgment of receipt of your application, none of the actions listed above has been taken, you may sell at your proposed ceiling prices until such time as the Director shall notify you that these prices have been disapproved.

SEC. 12. Records. (a) You must keep and make available for examination by the Office of Price Stabilization for a period of two years the records you customarily maintain showing the prices you charge for yarn or fabric sold or delivered after the effective date of this regulation. You must also preserve until two years after the expiration of the Defense Production Act of 1950 all of the data required to be reported under any section of this regulation, and, in addition, the following data:

(1) All contracts of sale of yarn or fabric entered into during your base period. For yarns or fabrics for which you have established a base period price through a written offer to sell, preserve a copy of each such written offer to sell. If you have established base period prices through price lists, preserve a copy of each such price list.

(2) All contracts which you entered into during your base period and between January 1 and March 15, 1951, to buy purchased sales yarn. All contracts which you entered into during your base period and between October 1 and December 31, 1950, to buy other manufacturing materials. If you are establishing for the purpose of computations in sections 2, 3 or 4 of this regulation, a purchase price for such a yarn or material through a supplier's price, obtain and preserve a statement, signed by the principal owner or an officer of the supplying company, of the highest unit price at which your supplier contracted in writing, or made a written offer, to sell such yarn or material during your base period (or between January 1 and March 15, 1951, or between October 1 and December 31, 1950) to a purchaser of the class in which you fall.

(b) You shall continue to preserve all records required to be preserved by section 16 (a) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation and, for the period specified in section 16 (b) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, all records required by that section relating to sales of yarn or fabric made between January 26, 1951, and May 28, 1951.

SEC. 13. Reports. Prior to making any deliveries of yarns or fabrics for which ceiling prices are established by sections 2, 3 or 4 of this regulation, you must file by registered mail, the report required by this section, with the Consumer Soft Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. You may deliver, upon filing the required report, unless and until notified by the Director of Price Stabilization that your proposed price has been disapproved or that more information is required. If you are notified that additional information is required, you cannot sell at your proposed price until you have filed such additional information by registered mail, or until such time (not to exceed 15 days after the filing of the additional information requested) as the request for information shall specify. The Director of Price Stabilization may at any time disapprove or revise ceiling prices reported under this section so as to bring them into line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation.

(a) When you are computing ceiling prices under section 2 of this regulation the following information must be reported with respect to the first yarn or fabric you price within a category. If this yarn or fabric first to be priced is not that which within the category constituted historically your largest dollar volume item, you must report with respect to both:

(1) Your name and address;

(2) A description of the yarn or fabric and the category in which it falls;

(3) The ceiling price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, and the section thereof under which it was determined, of the yarn or fabric for which you are computing a ceiling price under section 2 of this regulation;

(4) For a yarn or fabric for which you established a base period price through a written contract to sell, your report should include the name, address, and class of purchaser, the date of the contract, and the price. For a yarn or fabric for which you had no contract of sale but have established a base period price through a written offer to sell, your report should include the offering price, the date of the offer, the name, address, and class of the recipient of the offer. For a yarn or fabric for which you have established a base period price through a price list, your report should include the price list, together with its date of issuance, and itemization of substantial deliveries thereunder.

(5) Your customary price differentials to different classes of purchasers.

(6) A computation sheet showing how you arrived at your ceiling price.

(b) When you are computing ceiling prices under section 2 of this regulation for all items other than the ones for which you are required to file the report prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section, your report should include the following:

(1) Your name and address;

(2) A description of the yarn or fabric and the category in which it falls;

(3) The ceiling price for the yarn or fabric you are pricing.

(c) When you are computing a ceiling price under sections 3 or 4 of this regulation, your report should include both with respect to the yarn or fabric being priced and the comparable or most nearly like yarn or fabric used in computing your ceiling price, the following:

(1) Your name and address;

(2) A description of the yarn or fabric and the category in which it falls;

(3) A description of the types or grades and amount of cotton and purchased sales yarn used in the yarn or fabric; the published average of the spot prices in the 10 "designated markets" on March 15, 1951, for each unit of the grade and staple of cotton used; the highest purchase price, or the highest contract or written offering price of your customary source of supply, for each unit of purchased sales yarn between January 1, 1951, and March 15, 1951; and the highest aggregate unit cost of other manufacturing materials between October 1 and December 31, 1950;

(4) The cost of labor for a unit of the yarn or fabric computed at your highest wage rates between February 15 and March 15, 1951;

(5) The ceiling price under section 2 of this regulation of the comparable or the most nearly like yarn or fabric;

(6) The multiplication factor as computed under section 3 of this regulation or the dollars-and-cents difference as computed under section 4 of this regulation;

(7) The ceiling price for the yarn or fabric you are pricing.

SEC. 14. What acts are prohibited by this regulation. On and after May 28, 1951, regardless of any contract or other obligation, the following practices are forbidden:

(a) Charging more than ceiling prices. Except as provided in section 1 of this regulation, you are prohibited from selling or delivering yarn or fabric at a price higher than that permitted by this regulation. A lower price may, of course, be charged. Nothing in this regulation shall be construed to prohibit the making of a contract or offer to sell a yarn or fabric at (1) the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery or (2) the lower of a fixed price or the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery.

(b) Buying for more than ceiling price. All persons are prohibited from buying or receiving, in the course of trade or business, any yarn or fabric sold or delivered in violation of this regulation.

(c) Evasion. No person shall evade or circumvent this regulation by any direct or indirect methods in connection with the sale, purchase, delivery or transfer of yarn or fabric alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or material, or by way of commission, transportation charge, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by up-grading, tie-in agreement, trade understanding, or otherwise.

(d) Attempts to violate. All persons are prohibited from agreeing, offering, soliciting, or attempting to do any of the acts prohibited by this regulation.

SEC. 15. Enforcement. If you violate any provision of this regulation, you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 16. Petitions to amend this regulation. Any person seeking an amendment of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with Price Procedural Regulation 1.

SEC. 17. Definitions. (a) "Category" means a group of yarns or a group of fabrics which are normally classed together for purposes of production, accounting or sales. Illustrative categories of yarns are set out in Appendix "A", and illustrative categories of fabrics in Appendix "B." These groupings are intended only as examples and are not necessarily all-inclusive.

(b) "Class of purchaser or purchaser of the same class" is determined in the first instance by reference to your own practice of setting different prices for sales to different purchasers or groups of purchasers. The practice may (but need not) be based on the characteristics or distributive level of the buyer (for example, manufacturer, wholesaler, individual retail store, retail chain, mail order house, government agency, public institution). It may (but need not) be based on the location of the purchaser or the quantity purchased by him. If you have followed the practice of giving an individual customer a price differing from that charged others, that customer is a separate class of purchaser.

If in your industry a practice prevails of charging different prices for sales to groups of buyers based on their characteristics or distributive level, any such group to whom you did not make sales during your base period and for whom you did not have a customary differential in effect during or before your base period, is a separate class of purchaser as to you.

(c) "Cost of labor" means the cost of labor that enters directly into the product and is paid at hourly or piece rates. In addition, it includes the cost of labor for factory supervision, ordinary maintenance, repair of plant or equipment, materials control, and testing and inspection. It may include the equivalent, on an hourly or piece rate basis, of so-called fringe benefits (for example, pension plans, paid vacation and insurance programs). It does not include the cost of labor for general administration, sales, advertising, research, major repairs or replacement of plant or equipment and expansion of plant or equipment. In computing the cost of labor for a unit of yarn or fabric under this regulation, you shall allocate the permitted labor costs according to your customary accounting method. The same method must be used in all computations of unit cost of labor.

(d) "Cotton yarn or fabric" means a yarn or fabric which consists, after production but before finishing, of 50 percent or more of cotton by fiber weight and containing less than 25 percent by fiber weight of any one of either wool, rayon, nylon or other fibers. Any two or more of wool, rayon, nylon or other fibers may exceed 25 percent provided that such combination does not exceed 50 percent. It does not include a yarn or fabric in which the cotton component consists entirely of American-Egyptian cotton or extra long staple Egyptian type cotton grown outside the United States.

(e) "Manufacturer of cotton yarn or fabric" means a person who for his own account produces (or has produced for him) and sells (or has sold for him) a spun cotton yarn or a woven, non-woven or knitted cotton fabric. It does not include a converter or a finisher other than a converter or finisher of woven bed spreads, sheets, pillow cases, diapers and towels (end-use products).

(f) "Manufacturing material" means material, except domestic cotton or purchased sales yarn, entering directly into the yarn or fabric being priced or used directly in the manufacturing processes from which the yarn or fabric results, together with purchased fuel, steam or electric power, packaging materials and subcontracted industrial services which are directly related to the yarn or fabric. It does not include materials or subcontracted industrial services used in replacing, maintaining or expanding your plant and equipment, nor other materials or supplies the use of which is not directly dependent upon the rate at which you manufacture the yarn or fabric being priced. In computing the cost of manufacturing material for a unit of yarn or fabric under this regulation, you shall allocate the permitted manufacturing material costs according to your customary accounting method. The same method must be used in all calculations of unit cost of manufacturing material.

(g) "Most closely competitive seller of the same class" means the seller with whom you are in most direct competition, even though he may perform a different function with respect to the yarn or fabric (for example, as a manufacturer your most closely competitive seller might be a wholesaler). You are in direct competition with another seller who sells the same types of yarn or fabric to the same classes of purchasers in similar quantities, on similar terms, and rendering approximately the same amount of services.

(h) "Person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representatives of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any other government and their political subdivisions or agencies.

(i) "Price list" means a written price list issued to your salesman in your customary manner, provided you made substantial deliveries of any of the items on the list at the prices on the list.

(j) "Sample quantity contracts" means contracts for quantities of less than your standard delivery unit to your largest class of purchaser.

(k) "Sell" includes sell, supply, dispose, barter, exchange, lease, transfer and deliver, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The terms "sale", "selling", "sold", "seller", "buy", "purchase", and "purchaser" shall be construed accordingly.

(l) "Written offer to sell" means an offer in writing to a customer to sell a yarn or fabric at a specified price. It includes a written price list distributed to the trade or a substantial number of customers in the seller's customary manner. The term does not include an offer at a price intended to withhold a yarn or fabric from the market or used as a bargaining price by a seller who usually sells at a price lower than his asking price. It does not include a price list issued to salesmen as defined in paragraph (i) of this section.

(m) The pronoun "you" as used in this regulation means the person subject to the regulation. "Your" and "yours" shall be construed accordingly.

(n) All other words or phrases relating to the trade which are used in this regulation have the meanings generally accepted and understood by the trade.

Effective date: This regulation shall become effective on May 28, 1951.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation Amdt. 2 to Supplementary Reg. 3]

GCPR, SR 3—FOOD, AGRICULTURAL AND RELATED COMMODITIES

INCLUSION OF RETAIL SALES; SOYBEANS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this amendment No. 2 to Supplementary Regulation No. 3 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 808) is hereby issued.

This amendment does four things: (1) it clarifies Supplementary Regulation 3 by providing ceiling prices for sales of soybeans at the farm which are less than the ceiling prices at the country elevator; (2) it fixes ceiling prices for merchant-truckers of soybeans; (3) makes it clear that the regulation applies to retail sales; and (4) makes certain other clarifying amendments which effect no substantive change in the regulation.

Supplementary Regulation 3 was intended to fix the ceiling prices for soybeans at the farm as well as ceiling prices at various other marketing levels. However, the regulation left doubt as to whether the ceiling prices of producers included transportation costs to the country elevator. This amendment clarifies Supplementary Regulation 3 by providing separate ceiling prices for sales at the farm based on ceiling prices at the country elevator less a uniform transportation deduction. This difference in price corresponds with the custom of the trade. Normally, most soybeans are not sold on the farm, but are sold at the country elevator. When sales are made at the farm level, however, it is the custom to sell for a lesser price, reflecting the transportation differential from the farm to the country elevator. The standard amount to be deducted, as representing transportation costs in calculating prices at the farm, was found by using the hauling allowances fixed in this amendment for the distance most producers must transport their soybeans to the nearest country elevator.

At the time of the issuance of Supplementary Regulation 3, no ceilings were fixed for trucker-merchants—persons who purchase soybeans at the farm and transport them to the elevator or processor. The reason for the omission was that attempts were being made to obtain sufficient data to fix appropriate ceilings, but complete information was not then on hand. While the lack has not been completely satisfied, and the ceilings set by this amendment may require revision, consultation with industry representatives indicates that there probably have been no substantial changes requiring departure from the rates fixed by the Office of Price Stabilization. This amendment, therefore, fixes ceiling prices for trucker-merchants at the Office of Price Stabilization levels.

With respect to a particular lot of soybeans, the country-shipper[1] may perform the function of trucker-merchant as well as that of country shipper. If he does so, he is permitted, by this amendment, to add to his ceiling price of that lot of soybeans, the appropriate charges allowed trucker-merchants. No provision is made for like increases in the ceilings of any other handlers of soybeans because they do not, ordinarily, perform the function of a trucker-merchant in addition to their principal functions of commission merchant, truck merchandiser and the like. As to producers, their ceiling prices at the country elevator already reflect transportation costs.

Supplementary Regulation 3 caused confusion and misunderstanding among retailers of soybean chips, soybean oil cake or 41 per cent soybean oil meal, soybean flakes or 44 per cent soybean oil meal because section 1 (c) established ceiling prices for retailers of those commodities, whereas section 1 (d) provided that: "This section shall not apply to sales at retail of any of these commodities:", and the statement of considerations stated: "These ceilings will apply to sales—up to but not including sales by the retailer whose ceilings will be those determined under the General Ceiling Price Regulation."

It was intended that retail ceiling prices for the commodities in question should be established by the regulation, and this amendment accomplishes that purpose. As for the other commodities covered by Supplementary Regulation 3, section 1 (a), dealing with green coffee and raw cocoa beans, by its terms refers only to sales in bulk; soybeans are not sold at retail in their unprocessed state; and section 2, dealing with undressed hogs, excludes sales at retail from its operation.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of Supplementary Regulation 3, as amended hereby, to the GCPR are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950 to June 24, 1950; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In formulating this amendment to Supplementary Regulation 3 to the GCPR, the Director has consulted with representatives of the industry to the extent practicable under the circumstances and has given consideration to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Supplement 3 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation is further amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1 is amended by deleting the words "(other than retailers)" from the title of section 1.

2. Section 1 (b) (2) (ii), (iv) and (v) are amended to read as follows:

(ii) If you are, with respect to a particular lot of soybeans, a country shipper—that is, you unload soybeans into your elevator or warehouse from trucks at any point before movement of the beans by rail, water or in the conveyance of the buyer—your ceiling price for that lot f. o. b. cars, barges or trucks at your elevator or warehouse is determined as follows:

(a) For shipment by rail (including shipment by a country shipper who can load either to rail cars or barges) the Chicago base ceiling price less applicable rail transportation charges from Chicago to your elevator or the applicable base ceiling price for your State, whichever is higher;

(b) For shipment by barge, the Chicago base ceiling price less applicable barge transportation charges from your elevator to Chicago, or the applicable base ceiling price for your State, whichever is higher;

(c) For shipment by truck, after transfer through your elevator or warehouse, the Chicago base ceiling price less applicable rail transportation charges from your elevator to Chicago, or the applicable base ceiling price for your State, whichever is higher, plus a hauling allowance at the rate specified in subparagraph (7) of this section.

If, with respect to any lot of soybeans, you perform the functions of a trucker-merchant, as that term is defined in subparagraph (6) of this section, as well as the functions of a country-shipper, you may, with respect to such lot of soybeans, add to your ceiling price as a country-shipper, as established by this subparagraph, the appropriate hauling allowance of a trucker-merchant set forth in subparagraph (7).

(iv) If you are the producer, and you deliver your soybeans to a country shipper at his elevator or warehouse, your ceiling price is the ceiling price of that country shipper less the appropriate elevator and handling charges provided by the Uniform Grain Storage agreement. If you deliver the soybeans at the farm where grown or at roadside near such farm, your ceiling price shall be the same as the ceiling price you would be entitled to, pursuant to the provisions of this section, if you were to deliver to your nearest country elevator or warehouse, less three cents per bushel.

(v) If you are a track merchandiser, or a commission merchant in any terminal market or grain exchange other than Chicago, your ceiling price is your supplier's ceiling price on his sale and delivery to you plus the transportation charges which you paid or incurred plus two cents per bushel.

3. There is added to section 1 (b) a new subparagraph, numbered and reading as follows:

(6) If you are, with respect to any lot of soybeans, a trucker-merchant—that is, if you purchase that lot of soybeans for resale and, without loading them into a barge or railroad car or unloading them into an elevator or warehouse for your own account or use, you transport and deliver them to your customer in a truck or other vehicle owned or leased and operated by you—your ceiling price is your supplier's ceiling price on his sale and delivery to you plus the appropriate hauling allowance specified in subparagraph (7) of this section.

4. There is added to section 1 (b) a new subparagraph, numbered and reading as follows:

(7) "Hauling allowance" means the appropriate charge, for transportation of soybeans by truck, as determined by the following scale of charges:

If the total haul does not exceed 100 miles: 3 cents per 100 lbs. for the first 5 miles, plus one cent per 100 lbs. for each additional 5 miles or fraction thereof.

If the total haul exceeds 100 miles: The lowest local carload rail rate for soybeans from the rail point nearest the point of origin to the rail point nearest the point of destination plus 8 cents per 100 lbs. (but not to exceed 22 cents per 100 lbs.) plus ¼ cent per 100 lbs. for each 5 miles or fraction thereof over 100 miles.

In calculating the mileage for any haul, you shall use the mileage of the shortest route, reasonably suitable for truck movement, between the point of origin and the point of destination.

5. Paragraph (d) of section 1 is deleted in its entirety.

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.)

Effective date. This amendment is effective May 22, 1951.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amdt 3 to Supplementary Regulation 5]

GCPR SR 5—RETAIL PRICES FOR NEW AND USED AUTOMOBILES

ADJUSTMENTS IN CEILING PRICES FOR REMOVAL OF STANDARD EQUIPMENT AND MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong., Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 3 to Supplementary Regulation 5 (16 F. R. 1769) to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Manufacturers of automobiles have been prohibited from equipping new cars with spare tires and tubes since April 1, 1951, by an amendment to Order M-2, issued by the National Production Authority. To compensate for the absence of the fifth tire and tube, and for the elimination of any other standard equipment, this amendment requires the seller to reduce his ceiling price by the standard charge he had in effect on January 26, 1951, for the eliminated equipment. If the seller had no standard charge in effect on January 26, 1951, he is required to determine his charge for the eliminated standard equipment by increasing the ceiling price in effect made to him by the amount of the elimination of the standard equipment in January 26, 1951 price plus 10 per cent of the entire amount. This will ensure that the seller does not receive a higher price for automobiles he did before the [illegible] was eliminated.

To facilitate compliance by dealers and to aid in the enforcement of this regulation, a section has been added to describe a number of evasive practices which are forbidden by this regulation.

This amendment also provides that the March–April issue of the Kelley Blue Book Official Guide, published by Les Kelley, may be used only in determining the ceiling price of 1939 or more recent model used cars. This guide is not permitted to be used for models older than 1939 because it does not list prices for 1938 models. Accordingly the January issue of the Kelley Blue Book Official Guide is to be used in determining the ceiling prices of all 1938 or older models.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 3 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) The manufacturer's suggested list price, f. o. b. factory, in effect prior to January 26, 1951, for that make and model car. If the car is a new model for which the manufacturer had not published a list price prior to January 26, 1951, the suggested list price which the manufacturer first publishes after January 26, 1951 must be used. This suggested list price shall include all equipment that was standard for each such make and model on January 26, 1951, or if the ceiling price is established on the basis of a counterpart model in the previous line, the equipment that was standard for such counterpart model. In the event that a new automobile is sold without such standard equipment, the manufacturer's suggested list price shall be reduced by the standard charge which the seller had in effect to the same class of purchaser on January 26, 1951, for the standard equipment which has been eliminated. If the seller had no standard charge for such standard equipment in effect on January 26, 1951, he shall determine his standard charge for the standard equipment eliminated in the following manner:

(1) The seller shall first determine the price, f. o. b. factory, which he had in effect to the same class of purchaser for the complete automobile on January 26, 1951.

(2) The seller shall then divide this price by the cost, f. o. b. factory, in effect to him for the complete automobile on January 26, 1951.

(3) The seller shall then multiply the allowance which the manufacturer makes to him because of the elimination of such standard equipment by the quotient determined under subparagraph (2) of this section. The resulting dollars and cents figure is the standard charge which the seller must deduct from the net price which he had in effect on January 26, 1951, to the same class of purchaser.

2. Section 3 is amended by deleting therefrom the last paragraph which begins with the words, "The ceiling delivered price established by this section is ------", and ends with the words, "(------, which value should be related to the ceiling price for the used car established by section 4).".

3. Section 3 is amended by adding the following undesignated paragraph at the end thereof:

The ceiling delivered price established by this section is the price for sales for cash. The dealer may sell on other terms when so requested in writing by the purchaser.

4. In the table in section 4 (g), the entry under the heading "Issue", on the same line as "Kelley Blue Book Official Guide, published by Les Kelley" is amended to read "March–April issue for 1939 and more recent models—January issue for 1938 and older models."

5. Section 5 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 5. Prohibitions. After the effective date of this regulation, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell, deliver or otherwise dispose of a new or used automobile, or buy or receive, in the regular course of business or trade, a new or used automobile at a price in excess of the ceiling price established by this regulation, and no person shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing.

6. Section 7 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 7. Evasion.—(a) In general. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase, lease of, or relating to, a new or used automobile, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or service; or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge, discount, premium or other privilege; or by tie-in agreement or other trade understanding; or otherwise.

(b) Specific practices. The following practices are specifically, but not exclusively, among the practices prohibited by paragraph (a) of this section and are itemized here only to lessen the frequency of interpretative inquiries which experience indicates are likely to be made under the general evasion provision:

(1) Requiring a purchaser of a new or used automobile to buy any equipment, accessories, parts, repairs, or any other commodity or service as a condition of the sale or transfer of the new or used automobile.

(2) Requiring either the purchaser or any other person to trade in, exchange or transfer to the seller or his designee any vehicle or commodity as a condition to the purchase of a new or used automobile, regardless of whether such trade-in, exchange or transfer is part of the same transaction or is a separate transaction.

(3) Giving an allowance or compensation for the trade-in, exchange or transfer of an automobile which is less than its reasonable value to the dealer. The reasonable value of a used automobile to the dealer must bear a reasonable relationship to the ceiling price of the used automobile as established by section 4 of this regulation.

(4) Requiring the purchaser to buy on credit as a condition of the sale or transfer of a new or used automobile.

(5) Requiring the purchaser to finance a new or used automobile through any particular lending agency.

(6) Establishing terms or conditions of sale more onerous to purchasers than they have customarily been, except to the extent allowed by this regulation.

(7) Requiring any person to pay a purchase commission or fee, if the sum of the commission and the purchase price exceeds the ceiling price.

(8) Renting or leasing a new or used automobile with an option to purchase, where the sum of the rental and the sale price exceeds the ceiling price established by this regulation for the sale of the automobile.

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.)

This amendment shall become effective May 22, 1951.

EDWARD F. PHELPS, Jr.,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[NPA Order M-4, as Amended May 11, 1951]

M-4—CONSTRUCTION

EDITORIAL NOTE: The following is a complete restatement of NPA Order M-4, embodying all changes effected by the amendment to said Order M-4 as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, April 12, 1951, 16 F. R. 4463.

In the formulation of this order, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the formulation of this amendment, however, consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, was found to be impracticable due to the necessity for immediate action.

This amendment affects NPA Order M-4 as amended May 3, 1951, as follows: It adds a new subparagraph (3) to paragraph (b) of section 5 and a new paragraph (f) to section 5, and it also makes certain changes in lists A and B.

As amended, NPA Order M-4 reads as follows:

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 17 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this order does. In order to further the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950 by conserving critical materials and services needed for the defense program, this order prohibits the commencement of construction of certain types of buildings, structures and projects unless specific exception is made, or authorization issued, by the National Production Authority. The order allows, within specified limits, small construction jobs, and necessary maintenance and repair of buildings, structures or projects, and also permits, under specified circumstances, the restoration of buildings, structures, or projects in the event of a disaster, act of God, or an act of war.

SEC. 2. Policy of the National Production Authority. In the event that increasing shortages clearly indicate the necessity for such action, in the national interest, the National Production Authority may further limit the commencement of construction of additional types of buildings, structures or projects which do not support the defense effort, or increase the Nation's production capacity for defense.

SEC. 3. Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Construction" means the erection of any building, structure, or project, or addition or extension thereto, or alteration thereof, through the incorporation-in-place on the site of materials which are to be an integral and permanent part of the building, structure or project.

(c) "Commence construction" means substantial site clearance (including demolition of buildings or structures), preliminary to the start of or incident to the work on a new building, structure, or project; or to incorporate into a building, structure, or project, substantial quantities of materials which are to be an integral and permanent part of such building, structure, or project.

(d) "Construction cost" means the total expense for demolition of existing structures in connection with a new construction, for site preparation, and for building materials, building equipment, labor and services used in the construction of the particular building, structure, or project, by whomever spent. It does not include the cost of personal property, or the expense for land acquisition, attorneys, architects, and financing.

(e) "Consumer goods" means articles or commodities that directly satisfy human wants or desires, and which are capable of use without further processing (for example, clothing, food, furniture, floor covering, household appliances, motor vehicles, etc.). They are distinguished from capital goods (for example, dynamos, industrial ovens, generators, etc.). They are distinguished also from production goods that satisfy wants only indirectly as factors in the production of other articles or commodities (for example, machine tools, heavy duty presses, etc.).

(f) "Damage restoration" means restoring to substantially the same size and condition on the same site, any building, structure or project which has been damaged by storm, fire, flood, or other disaster, or by act of God, or act of war.

(g) "Maintenance and repair" means such work as is necessary to keep a building, structure, or project in sound working condition or to rehabilitate a building, structure, or project or any portion thereof, when the same has been rendered unsafe or unfit for service by wear and tear, or other similar causes. The term does not include any building operation or job where substantial structural alterations or changes in design are made.

(h) "Office building" means any building the principal use of which is to provide office space or office facilities, regardless of whether it is designed for the exclusive or partial use of its owner or is to be used commercially and rented to prospective tenants, including buildings for use by government agencies. The size of the building is not a determinative factor in deciding whether a building is an office building as the term includes both one-story and multi-storied structures; but the term does not include a private residence with incidental office space located therein for the use of the occupant.

(i) "Hotel" means either or both an establishment furnishing sleeping accommodations for transient guests, or an establishment classified as a hotel under applicable State, municipal, or other local law.

SEC. 4. Prohibited construction. (a) (1) Except as permitted in section 5 of this order, or pursuant to an adjustment or exception granted under section 11 of this order, after midnight October 26, 1950, no person shall commence construction of any building, structure, or project to be used for, or in connection with, any of the purposes specified, as set forth in section 15 of this order.

(2) Since October 26, 1950, the National Production Authority has issued exceptions to permit the commencement of construction of specific buildings, structures, or projects of the type prohibited by section 15 of this order. All such exceptions granted prior to January 13, 1951, will cease to be effective 120 days after the date of issuance, unless construction has been commenced within that time; and construction of any such building, structure, or project may not be commenced thereafter without a further authorization from the National Production Authority.

(b) (1) After midnight, January 13, 1951, with respect to construction specified in section 16 (list B), and after midnight, May 3, 1951, with respect to construction specified in section 17 (list C), no person shall commence construction of any building, structure, or project to be used for, or in connection with, any of the purposes specified, as set forth in section 16 (list B) or section 17 (list C), until a specific authorization therefor has been issued by the National Production Authority. The conditions which must exist before an authorization will be issued are set forth in section 6.

(2) In matters involving unreasonable hardship, or when required in the interest of the national defense, the National Production Authority may grant an exception from this order, pursuant to section 11, with respect to types of construction specified in section 16 (list B) and section 17 (list C).

SEC. 5. Exemptions. The following construction in connection with the buildings, structures, or projects to be used in connection with any of the purposes specified in sections 15, 16, and 17 of this order is exempted from this order:

(a) Maintenance and repair on any building, structure, or project.

(b) Small jobs of new construction or in connection with any such building, structure, or project including, but not limited to, alterations, additions, improvements, and modernization, where the cost of all such work shall not exceed:

(1) In the case of interior alterations, additions, improvements, or modernization of hotels, store space of department stores, office buildings, and loft buildings, 25 cents per square foot of occupied space for any consecutive 12-month period. (In computing this cost, both construction cost and all other expenses or charges incident to the work shall be taken into consideration.)

(2) In the case of any type of construction of all other buildings, structures, or projects specified in section 15 (list A), section 16 (list B), and section 17 (list C), $5,000 for any consecutive 12-month period. (In computing this cost, only construction cost shall be considered.)

(3) In addition, alterations, additions, improvement, or modernization may be made in the case of an industrial plant, factory, or facility, without authorization from the National Production Authority: Provided, That, after completion, the total use of steel in such alteration, addition, improvement, or modernization, both in the forms and shapes as defined in NPA Order M–1 and also reinforcing steel, will not exceed 25 tons.

(c) Reconstruction of any such building, structure, or project following a fire, flood, storm, disaster, act of God, or act of war, which occurred on or after July 29, 1950: Provided, however, That the reconstruction work will not require the use of more than a total quantity of 25 tons of steel, both in the forms and shapes as defined in NPA Order M–1 and also reinforcing steel.

(d) Construction by, or for the account of, the Department of Defense, the Atomic Energy Commission, or the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

(e) Installation of personal property, fixtures or equipment where the total cost incurred for installation in any consecutive 12-month period does not exceed $2,000.

(f) Construction of an industrial plant, facility, or factory for which a certificate of necessity has been issued pursuant to the provisions of the Revenue Act of 1950, or a loan made pursuant to section 302 of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 6. Authorization for certain construction. (a) Any person desiring to erect a building, structure, or project to be used for, or in connection with, any of the purposes specified, as set forth in section 16 or section 17 of this order, may apply for a National Production Authority authorization to commence such construction. The application shall be made on NPA Form NPAF–24, copies of which are available at all field offices of the Department of Commerce, and should be addressed to the field office of the Department of Commerce in the region of the site of the proposed construction.

(b) Authorization under this section will be granted if the National Production Authority is satisfied that the desired construction conforms to the following requirements:

(1) It furthers the defense effort by providing facilities of the type specified in section 16 of this order in areas adjacent to military establishments or defense plants and projects, which construction the National Production Authority considers necessary to furnish or to supplement facilities in connection with the activities of the Defense Production Administration, the Department of Defense or the Atomic Energy Commission, including their programs for increasing production capacity; or

(2) It is essential to maintenance of public health, safety or welfare.

(c) Further, with respect to an application for authorization to construct a facility not directly related to the defense effort, the NPA will consider the type and quantity of materials on hand, and needed, for the facility, and the effect on the community at large if the authorization were denied.

SEC. 7. Multiple use buildings, structures, or projects. Where a building, structure, or project to be constructed is designed for a number of different uses and occupants, no portion thereof shall be constructed for use or occupancy in connection with any of the purposes specified in sections 15, 16, or 17 of this order where the construction cost apportionable to such use or occupancy will exceed the small job exemption provided for in section 5 (b) of this order.

SEC. 8. Scope of this order. This order shall apply to construction in the 48 States, the District of Columbia, and in the territories and insular possessions of the United States.

SEC. 9. Prohibited deliveries. No person shall accept an order for, sell, deliver, or cause to be delivered, material, equipment, or supplies which he knows, or has reason to believe, will be used in violation of the provisions of this order.

SEC. 10. Defense against claims for damages. No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties for any default under contract or order which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with any regulation or order of the National Production Authority (including any direction, directive or other instruction), notwithstanding that any such regulation or order shall thereafter be declared by a judicial or other competent authority to be invalid.

SEC. 11. Applications for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that:

(a) Such provision works an unreasonable hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade, industry, or other relative position; or that enforcement of such provision against him would not be in the interest of the national defense. In determining whether unreasonable hardship exists, the National Production Authority will consider, among other things:

(1) The extent of the work done by the applicant incident to the proposed construction.

(2) Whether the building, structure, or project requires reconstruction as a result of a fire, flood, storm, disaster, act of God, or act of war.

(3) Whether a building, structure, or project of the applicant has been seized by legal action under eminent domain, or condemned by responsible governmental authorities; and the applicant requests permission to replace such facility.

(b) Each request shall be made on NPA Form NPAF–24, copies of which are available at all field offices of the Department of Commerce, and should be addressed to the field office of the Department of Commerce in the region of the site of the proposed construction.

SEC. 12. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the Field Offices of the Department of Commerce, Ref: NPA, M–4.

SEC. 13. Reports. Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 14. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order, or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority, or who wilfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against such person to suspend any authority to commence or complete construction or such other assistance as may be rendered pursuant to this order.

SECTION 1. What this order does. The purpose of this order is to set aside as a reserve for the needs of national defense specified percentages of the production of all softwood plywood manufacturers. It also provides for equitable distribution of rated orders among such manufacturers.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States Government or any other government.

(b) "Softwood plywood" means any plywood which has a rotary cut face of Douglas fir, cedar (Alaska, Port Orford, and Western red), California redwood, Western (Idaho) white pine, ponderosa pine, sugar pine, Sitka spruce, Western larch, Western hemlock, Noble fir, and the commercial white firs whether or not overlaid with paper, plastic, metal, or any other material except hardwood veneer.

(c) "Exterior type softwood plywood" means softwood plywood bonded with waterproof adhesives and suitable for permanent exterior use.

(d) "Interior type softwood plywood" means softwood plywood bonded with moisture-resistant adhesives and suitable for uses where subjected to occasional deposits of moisture, but not suitable for permanent exterior use.

(e) "Grades suitable for concrete form use" means interior type softwood plywood which is edge-treated and oiled or otherwise sealed.

(f) "Hutment grade" means interior type softwood plywood manufactured with protein glues to which shall be added 5 percent of toxic per 100 pounds dry weight glue base as specified in Mil P66a. Each panel shall be thoroughly treated with toxics, water-repellent, or sealer containing 5 percent toxics. Toxics shall meet accepted commercial specifications, such as pentachlorophenol or equivalent.

(g) "Facilities" means major equipment items, including but not limited to, presses, driers, and lathes, which increase or alter production capacity.

(h) "Production" means all softwood plywood produced for whatever purpose.

(i) "Base period" means the fourth calendar quarter of 1950 and the first calendar quarter of 1951.

SEC. 3. Reserve production. (a) Each manufacturer of softwood plywood, for the month of July 1951 and each calendar month thereafter (except as provided in the last sentence of this paragraph), shall set aside a reserve of production time and facilities and materials and supplies sufficient to produce and ship on DO rated orders within such month such proportions of his production as required by paragraph (b) of this section. Mills which operate during only a portion of any month due to industry vacation practice shall compute their reserve in proportion to the time operated during that month.

(b) For the month of July 1951 and each month thereafter, each manufacturer shall set aside as a reserve 20 percent of his average monthly production of softwood plywood, during the base period, and such quantity so set aside shall be his "reserve production." This reserve production, computed on a $\frac{3}{8}$-inch rough footage basis, shall be set aside as follows:

(1) Each Douglas fir manufacturer who shall produce both exterior and interior types is required to produce at least 40 percent of his reserve production in exterior type; the balance of his reserve production may be in any grade or type.

(2) Each Douglas fir manufacturer who shall produce interior type only is required to produce at least 40 percent of his reserve production in grades suitable for concrete form use or hutment grade; the balance of his reserve production may be in any other grades.

(3) Each softwood plywood manufacturer, other than a Douglas fir manufacturer, shall produce his reserve production in any type or grade.

(c) The National Production Authority may from time to time by amendment of this order increase or decrease the quantity to be set aside as a reserve as required by paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) Any manufacturer of softwood plywood not in production during the base period shall apply for a reserve production quota in lieu of the reserve required by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, not later than June 1, 1951, or the 15th day of the month following his first full month of production. Application shall be made by letter, in triplicate, to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-63, stating plant capacity estimated on a 2-shift 5-day week, and the preceding month's softwood plywood production by types, exterior and interior. An interim reserve production quota will be assigned by NPA, which quota will be adjusted following the first 3 months of full production.

(e) A manufacturer who, through the installation of additional facilities, increases his production shall at once adjust his reserve production quota to include such increased production and, not later than 10 days following the first 3 months of increased production, shall report such increased production. Report shall be made by letter, in triplicate, to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-63, and NPA will assign an adjusted reserve production quota.

SEC. 4. Acceptance of rated orders. (a) A manufacturer, notwithstanding any previous contracts or agreements, shall not be required to accept DO rated orders for softwood plywood for shipment in any month in a quantity in excess of his reserve production for that month.

(b) A manufacturer shall not be required to accept a DO rated order which is received less than 30 days prior to the 1st day of the month in which shipment is requested, unless specifically directed by NPA.

(c) The provisions of NPA Reg. 2, as amended, relating to priorities are superseded to the extent they are inconsistent with this order.

SEC. 5. Release of reserve production. If, 30 days prior to the 1st day of the month of scheduled production, a manufacturer has not received rated orders which exhaust his reserve production for that month, he may schedule his production for which no rated orders have been received in any manner except as prohibited by section 6 of this order.

SEC. 6. Restriction on exchanges. (a) Except with the written approval of NPA, no person shall sell, transfer, trade, or ship, or contract to sell, transfer, trade, or ship any softwood plywood as a consideration, whether actual or implied, for the receipt of logs. Application for such approval may be made by the person delivering or owning the logs, or the person delivering or owning the softwood plywood.

(b) Persons requesting approval of such exchanges shall file with NPA a letter setting forth: the names and addresses of the parties to any existing or proposed exchange agreement; the kind, grade, and form of the softwood plywood and logs involved; the footage of the logs and the footage of the resulting softwood plywood involved; the rate and the dates of delivery of such material; the length of time such agreement or other similar agreement between the same parties has been in force, if there has been such an agreement; the duration of the agreement; the purpose for which the softwood plywood is to be used; and such other information as may seem pertinent and necessary.

SEC. 7. Applications for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

SEC. 8. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-63.

SEC. 9. Monthly report. Each manufacturer of softwood plywood shall report on or before the 21st day of May 1951, and on or before the 10th day of each succeeding month, on NPA–Census Joint Survey Form M-13B Revised.

SEC. 10. Records, audit, inspection, and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least 2 years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 11. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or who wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order shall take effect on May 16, 1951.

MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Administrator.

TITLE 33—NAVIGATION AND NAVIGABLE WATERS

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter C—Aids to Navigation

[CGFR 51-14]

TABLE OF CHARGES

The purpose of the following amendment to the regulations is to revise the schedules of rates on charges for the employment of vessels and materials used to construct, repair and maintain aids to navigation necessitated by loss or damage, and to mark wrecks in the navigable waters of the United States.

The schedules of rates for costs and charges covering the employment of vessels and materials used were estimated and established in 1948. Due to numerous changes in costs of materials and upon further analysis of the pay of Coast Guard personnel the rates and charges as published in 1948 do not now reflect a fair and equitable basis to support charges for such work, and for settling claims arising from the performance of that work when performed by Coast Guard vessels and personnel. Since the Coast Guard performs this work as an incident to the performance of other statutory duties, it is administratively impossible to determine with definite exactness the costs to repair or replace each particular aid to navigation damaged or destroyed.

The statutory requirement in section 642, Title 14, contemplates collection of the cost of replacement of damaged or destroyed aids to navigation in a manner that would not be a greater expense to the Government than would be applicable to other property of the Government damaged by tortious acts. Since the functions of the Coast Guard are more than just the establishment, maintenance and repair of aids to navigation, it is not possible to compare these schedules with those in private industry performing such work. The schedules of rates for costs and charges are estimates based on the average costs and charges taken from available Coast Guard records. In recalculating these schedules of rates and costs, some rates and costs have slightly increased while others have decreased an appreciable amount. Because of the urgency of fairly and equitably settling current claims arising in the performance of such work, as well as anticipated claims arising during the summer because of the increase in number of vessels navigating the navigable waters of the United States, and in view of other considerations given above, it is hereby found that compliance with the notice of proposed rule making, the public rule making procedure thereon, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest.

By virtue of the authority contained in Title 14, United States Code, sections 633 and 642, the following amendment to the regulations is hereby prescribed and shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Section 74.01–1 is amended to read as follows.

§ 74.01–1 Table of charges. Charges for the performance of aids to navigation work by the Coast Guard, when authorized, shall be in accordance with the following tables:

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans' Administration

PART 4—DEPENDENTS AND BENEFICIARIES CLAIMS

BURIAL EXPENSES OF DECEASED PERSONS WHO SERVED IN MILITARY FORCES OF COMMONWEALTH OF THE PHILIPPINES INCLUDING CERTAIN GUERRILLA FORCES

A new § 4.452 is added to read as follows:

§ 4.452 Burial expenses of deceased persons who served in the military forces of the Commonwealth of the Philippines including certain guerrilla forces—(a) Provisions of the act. Public Law 21, 82d Congress, dated April 25, 1951, provides:

That the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs is authorized to furnish a flag to drape the casket and to pay a sum not exceeding 150 Philippine pesos for the burial and funeral expenses and transportation of the body (including preparation of the body) of any person who served in the organized military forces of the Commonwealth of the Philippines while such forces were in the service of the Armed Forces of the United States pursuant to the military order of the President of the United States, dated July 26, 1941, including among such military forces organized guerrilla forces under commanders appointed, designated, or subsequently recognized by the Commander in Chief, Southwest Pacific Area, or other competent authority in the Army of the United States, and who dies, or has died, after separation from such service under conditions other than dishonorable. Payments under this Act shall be subject to the applicable provisions of Veterans Regulation Numbered 9 (a), as amended, except that in case any such person has died heretofore, the time for filing claim for reimbursement of such expenses shall be extended until two years after the date of this enactment.

(b) Basic eligibility requirements. The act applies to the payment of burial allowance for any person who served in the organized military forces of the Commonwealth of the Philippines while such forces were in the service of the Armed Forces of the United States pursuant to the military order of the President of the United States, dated July 26, 1941, including among such military forces organized guerrilla forces under commanders appointed, designated, or subsequently recognized by the Commander in Chief, Southwest Pacific Area, or other competent authority in the Army of the United States, and who dies or has died after separation from such service under conditions other than dishonorable. The service of a person in the Commonwealth Army or in the organized guerrilla forces which meets the definition of service required for entitlement to death compensation will also meet the service requirements of this act, but the death of such person must have occurred after separation from service under conditions other than dishonorable. Separation from service will be deemed to have occurred on the date of release from active duty, discharge or June 30, 1946, whichever is the earlier. Release from active duty will be in accord with the principles enumerated in Administrator's Decision 746 and the definitions outlined in Veterans' Administration claims procedures. Service of a Philippine Scout enlisted under section 14, Public Law 190, 79th Congress, is not service in the military forces of the Commonwealth of the Philippines and consequently does not confer title under this act.

(c) Death prior to date of act. In those instances where death occurred prior to the date of the act the time limit for the filing of a claim is extended through April 25, 1953. Where a claim was filed and disallowed prior to the date of the act, such claim may be reconsidered under the act and this section, upon receipt on or before April 25, 1953 of written request therefor from the claimant or his representative.

(d) Amount payable. There shall be paid a sum not exceeding 150 Philippine pesos for the burial and funeral expenses and transportation of the body (including preparation of the body) of any person coming within the purview of paragraph (b) of this section, where the other conditions of title are met. Paragraph III of Veterans Regulation 9 (a), as amended, and § 4.196 (relating to deaths occurring while traveling under prior authorization or while properly hospitalized by the Veterans Administration) are not for application; consequently, no expenses in excess of 150 Philippine pesos may be paid in any one case.

(e) Other applicable directives. The provisions of Veterans Regulation 9 (a), as amended, and the Veterans Administration Regulations and procedural issues pertaining thereto, which are not inconsistent with this section, are for application. (Instruction No. 1, Public Law 21, 82d Cong.)

(Sec. 5, 43 Stat. 608, as amended; 38 U. S. C. 706. Interprets or applies sec. 7, 43 Stat. 609, as amended; 38 U. S. C. 707, and Sup. 11a, 423, 707)

This regulation effective May 18, 1951.

Deputy Administrator.

(a) Add or deduct, as the case may be, the amount of money involved in adjustments resulting from verification by the market administrator of the handler's reports for previous months:

(b) Add or deduct, as the case may be, the amount of money involved in adjusting the handler's preceding month's uniform price to the nearest cent:

(c) Compute the total value of excess milk received by such handler by multiplying the hundredweight of such excess milk by the Class III price for 3.5 percent milk as announced for the previous month.

(d) Compute the total value of base milk, received by such handler by subtracting the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(e) Divide the result obtained in paragraph (d) of this section by the hundredweight of base milk received by such handler, and adjust to the nearest cent. This result shall be known as the uniform price per hundredweight of such handler for base milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received at his fluid milk plant(s) or receiving station(s).

(f) Divide the result obtained in paragraph (c) of this section by the hundredweight of excess milk, and adjust to the nearest cent. This result shall be known as the uniform price per hundredweight of such handler for excess milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received at his fluid milk plant(s) or receiving station(s): Provided, however, That the difference of any amount above the price of base milk determined pursuant to § 907.72 (e) shall be allocated to the payment of base milk and shall not be paid for excess milk.

(g) If the combined amount of Class III and Class IV milk reported by all handlers in the marketing area during the months of February and March of any year does not exceed 18 percent of the total receipts from producers by said handlers, then producers shall not be paid pursuant to the base-excess payment provisions of this order during April, May and June of such year, but shall be paid according to the uniform price provisions as they are otherwise applicable herein.

Proposal No. 12. Amend § 907.80 (a) and (b) to read as follows:

§ 907.80 Time and method of payment for producer milk. (a) On or before the 15th day after the end of each of the months of July through March, each handler shall make payment to each producer for milk received from such producer during such month at not less than the uniform price per hundredweight computed for such handler (§ 907.71), subject to the butterfat differential provided by § 907.81 and to the deduction specified in § 907.83: Provided, That if a cooperative association of which such producer is a member is authorized to receive payment for such producer and requests receipt of such payment, payment shall be made to such cooperative association on or before the 13th day after the end of such month: And provided also, That the provisions of this paragraph shall not be construed to restrict any cooperative association qualified under section 8c (5) (F) of the act from making payment for milk to its producers in accordance with such provision of the act;

(b) On or before the 15th day after the end of each of the months of April through June each handler shall make payment to each producer for milk received from such producer during such month as follows, subject to the butterfat differential provided by § 907.81, the deduction specified in § 907.83, and both provisos of paragraph (a) of this section;

(1) At not less than the uniform price per hundredweight for base milk (§ 907.72) with respect to base milk received from such producer; and

(2) At not less than the uniform price per hundredweight for excess milk (§ 907.72) with respect to excess milk received from such producer.

Proposal No. 13. Amend § 907.90 to read as follows:

§ 907.90 Producer-handlers. Sections 907.40 to 907.47, 907.50 to 907.51, 907.60 to 907.61, 907.70 to 907.72, and 907.80 to 907.85, inclusive, shall not apply to a producer-handler.

Proposal No. 14. Amend § 907.41 (a) to include concentrated milk, flavored milk and flavored milk drinks as Class I milk.

The following amendments have been proposed by the Blochowiak Dairy, et al.

Proposal No. 15. Amend § 907.46 to provide for the conversion of butterfat in excess shrinkage and in Class II milk, Class III milk and Class IV milk to milk equivalent by use of a factor of 3.7 percent in lieu of 3.5 percent.

Proposal No. 16. Amend § 907.47 (d) to provide for reconcillation between the sum of the computed class volumes of milk and producer receipts at the Class III price.

The following amendments have been proposed by the Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration.

Proposal No. 17. Delete § 907.91 (a) (2) and substitute therefor:

(2) The other order is that regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area and the Secretary determines that the quantity of Class I milk disposed of by such handler within the marketing area herein defined is greater than the quantity so disposed of in the marketing area defined in such other order. This subparagraph shall be applied only with respect to milk at the plant(s) from which disposition was made by the handler directly to outlets within the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area.

Proposal No. 18. Reconsider the definitions of "Route" (§ 907.7), "Fluid milk plant" (§ 907.8), "Receiving station" (§ 907.9), "Producer" (§ 907.10), "Producer milk" (§ 907.11), "Producer-handler" (§ 907.13), and "Other source milk" (§ 907.14), and "Nonfluid milk plant" (§ 907.15) in light of the proposed reconsideration of the definition of "Handler" under Proposal No. 1 above.

Proposal No. 19. Reconsider the method of applying the rate of administrative assessment under § 907.82 to other source milk classified as Class I milk or Class II milk.

Proposal No. 20. Make such other changes as may be required to make the entire marketing agreement and order conform with any amendments thereto that may result from this hearing.

The following amendment has been proposed by Wern Farms:

Proposal No. 21. Reclassify skim milk from Class I milk to Class II milk.

The following amendment has been proposed by the Gehl Guernsey Farms, Inc., and Wern Farms:

Proposal No. 22. Amend § 907.47 (d) to provide for reconciliation between the sum of the computed class volumes of milk and producer receipts at the Class III price.

The following amendments have been proposed by the Kewaskum Dairy Company:

Proposal No. 23. Delete §§ 907.60, 907.61, 907.71, and 907.72 contained in said order, relating to the "Base and Surplus Plan."

Proposal No. 24. Amend § 907.70 to read as follows:

§ 907.70 Determination of uniform price—(a) Net pool obligation of handlers. The market administrator shall on or before the 14th day of each delivery period examine for mathematical correctness and obvious errors the report of receipts and utilization submitted by each handler for the preceding delivery period and shall make such corrections as such examination shall indicate to be appropriate. The net pool obligations of each handler for milk received from producers during each delivery period shall be a sum of money computed for such delivery period as follows:

(1) Multiply the net pooled milk in each class by the applicable class price and add together the resulting amounts.

(b) Computation of the uniform price. The market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of milk for each delivery period in the following manner:

(1) Combine into one total the net pool obligation of all handlers, computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

(2) Add the amount of cash balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(3) Divide the result by the total hundredweight of net pooled milk of all handlers whose net pool obligations are included pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(4) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents to provide against the contingency of errors in reports and payments or of delinquencies in payments by handlers. The result shall be known as the uniform price for milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat received from producers.

Proposal No. 25. Amend § 907.80 to read as follows:

§ 907.80 Payment for milk—(a) Time and method of payment. (1) On or before the 15th day after the end of each delivery period each handler shall pay to each cooperative association which is also a handler, for milk purchased or received from it during the delivery period, an amount of money representing not less than the total value of such milk computed by multiplying the pounds of such milk in each class by the applicable class price subject to a butterfat differential computed as in § 907.81.

(2) On or before the 18th day after the end of each delivery period each handler shall pay to each producer, for milk purchased or received from him during such delivery period, an amount of money representing not less than the total value of such milk, at the uniform price per hundredweight: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such delivery period pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section, he may reduce such payments uniformly per hundredweight for all producers by an amount not in excess of the per hundredweight reduction in payment from the market administrator; however, the handler shall make such balance of payment to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following that on which such balance of payment was received from the market administrator.

(b) Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section: Provided, That the market administrator shall offset any such payment due to any handler against payments due from such handler. Immediately after computing the uniform price for each delivery period, the market administrator shall compute the amount by which each handler's net pool obligation is greater or less than the sum obtained by multiplying such handler's net pooled milk by the uniform price and shall enter such amount on such handler's account as a pool debit or pool credit, as the case may be, and shall render such handler a transcript of his account.

(c) Payments to producer-settlement fund. On or before the 16th day after the end of each delivery period each handler shall make full payment to the market administrator of any pool debit balance shown on the account rendered, pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, for the preceding delivery period.

(d) Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 17th day after the end of each delivery period, the market administrator shall pay to each handler the pool credit balance shown on the account rendered, pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, if any, for the preceding delivery period, less any unpaid obligations of the handler, pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section. If at such time the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available.

Copies of this notice of hearing and of the said order, as amended, may be procured from the Market Administrator, 956 N. 12th Street, Milwaukee 3, Wisconsin, or from the Hearing Clerk, Room 1353, South Building, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE TENTATIVELY APPROVED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO THE ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held at the Hotel Faust, 618 E. State Street, Rockford, Illinois, beginning 9:30 a. m., c. d. s. t., on May 25, 1951.

The hearing is for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to economic and marketing conditions which relate to the handling of milk for the Rockford-Freeport, Illinois, marketing area and to the proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement as heretofore approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area set forth herein below, or modifications thereof. Consideration will be given also to the question of whether such conditions require emergency action with respect to any or all amendments deemed necessary as the result of the hearing. The amendments proposed have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The following amendments have been proposed by the Stephenson County Pure Milk Association and the Mid-West Dairymen's Company:

Proposal No. 1. Delete the schedule of prices in § 991.51 and substitute therefor language to provide that the Class I price shall be the same as the minimum Class I price effective under Federal Order No. 41 for plants located in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area, plus 10 cents.

Proposal No. 2. Delete the schedule of prices in § 991.52 and substitute therefor language to provide that the Class II price shall be the same as the minimum Class II price effective under Federal Order No. 41 for plants located in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area, plus 10 cents.

The following amendments have been proposed by the Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration:

Proposal No. 3. Delete § 991.50 (b) in its entirety and substitute therefor the following:

(b) The price per hundredweight computed from the following formula:

(1) Multiply the simple average as computed by the market administrator, of the daily average wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago, as reported by the Department during the delivery period, by 6;

(2) Add 2.4 times the simple average as published by the Department of the prices determined per pound of "Cheddars" on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin, for the trading days that fall within the month;

(3) Divide by 7;

(4) Add 30 percent thereof; and

(5) Multiply by 3.5.

Proposal No. 4. Delete § 991.50 (c) in its entirety and substitute therefor the following:

(c) The price per hundredweight computed as follows:

(1) Multiply by 4.24 the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade AA (93-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago, as reported by the Department during the delivery period: Provided, That if no price is reported for Grade AA (93-score) butter, the highest of the prices reported for Grade A (92-score) butter for that day shall be used in lieu of the price for Grade AA (93-score) butter;

(2) Multiply by 8.2 the weighted average of carlot prices per pound for spray process nonfat dry milk solids, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding delivery period through the 25th day of the current delivery period by the Department; and

(3) From the sum of the results arrived at under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph subtract 75.2 cents.

Proposal No. 5. Delete § 991.61 (d) and substitute therefor:

(d) Milk received at a plant where any fluid milk is received and bottled for distribution as Class I milk in the marketing area defined in Federal Order No. 41 regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area shall be subject to pricing and payment under this order only in the event that the Secretary determines that the quantity of Class I milk disposed of from such plant within the marketing area herein defined is greater than the quantity of Class I milk disposed of from such plant within the marketing area defined in Federal Order No. 41.

Proposal No. 6. Delete § 991.41 (a) (1) and substitute therefore the following:

(1) Disposed of in fluid form as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drink (except as provided in paragraph (c) (4) of this section), and concentrated (including frozen) milk, flavored milk and flavored milk drink not sterilized; or

Proposal No. 7. Make such other changes as may be required to make the entire marketing agreement and order conform with any amendments thereto that may result from this hearing.

The following amendments have been proposed by the Rockford-Freeport, Illinois, handlers:

Proposal No. 8. Amend the order to include the following definition:

"Emergency milk" means milk which is permitted by the health authorities of any of the several municipalities in the marketing area to be labeled Grade "A" and which is received by a handler from sources other than producers or other handlers during any delivery period in which the market administrator determines that the supply of Grade "A" milk available to such handler is insufficient to fulfill his Class I and Class II requirements for Grade "A" milk.

Proposal No. 9. Amend § 991.14 by adding the words "in emergency milk verification."

Copies of this notice of hearing and of the said order, as amended, may be procured from the Market Administrator, 73 West Monroe Street (2d floor), Chicago 3, Illinois, or from the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 1353, South Building, Washington 25, D. UNION ELECTRIC CO. OF MISSOURI AND MISSOURI POWER & LIGHT CO.

NOTICE OF FILING FOR AUTHORITY TO SELL UTILITY ASSETS TO NONAFFILIATED PUBLIC UTILITY COMPANY

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 11th day of May 1951.

Notice is hereby given that a joint declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("the act") by Union Electric Company of Missouri ("Union"), a registered holding company and a public utility company, and its public-utility subsidiary, Missouri Power & Light Company ("Missouri Power"), all of whose outstanding common stock is owned by Union. Declarants designate section 12 (d) of the act and Rule U-44 (a) thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 31, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after May 31, 1951, said declaration, as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

All interested parties are referred to said declaration on file in the office of the Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Missouri Power proposes to sell its electric distribution properties located at Clinton, Missouri to Missouri Public Service Company ("Missouri Public"), a non-affiliated public utility company, for a purchase price of $650,000 in cash, including $17,569.20 on account of the transfer of materials and supplies and merchandise on hand for resale and $709.59 for certain other investments, pursuant to an agreement of sale between said companies, dated January 18, 1951. A copy of said agreement is on file with the Commission.

The net book cost (computed original cost) at December 31, 1950, of the electric property to be sold was $480,589. Missouri Power proposes to credit the excess of the purchase price over the depreciated book cost to earned surplus on its books of account.

The declaration states that this transaction is proposed to be consummated in accordance with the terms of an order of this Commission, dated December 19, 1950, (Holding Company Act Release No. 10720) whereby the preferred stock of all the common stock of Missouri Power by Union was exempted, subject to the condition, inter alia, that the Clinton electric distribution properties be disposed of within six months, since such properties could not be retained under the standards of section 11 of the act.

The declaration states that the net proceeds of the sale will be expended for the construction by Missouri Power of a new substation near Moberly, Missouri, which it alleges will further integrate its system with that of Union.

The proposed transactions have been approved by the Missouri Public Service Commission, and it is represented that the proposed sale is not subject to the jurisdiction of any other regulatory body, except this Commission.

It is requested that the order of this Commission approving the sale conform to the requirements of Supplement R of Chapter I of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended.

By the Commission.

BIRMINGHAM ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE OF FILING WITH RESPECT TO SALE OF TRANSPORTATION PROPERTIES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 11th day of May 1951.

Notice is hereby given that an application has been filed pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and the general rules and regulations promulgated thereunder by Birmingham Electric Company ("Birmingham"), a public utility company and an indirect subsidiary of the Southern Company, a registered holding company. The applicant has designated sections 9 (a) and 10 of the act as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 25, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application proposed to be controverted or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after May 25, 1951, such application, as filed or as amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said application which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized below:

This Commission on August 24, 1950, entered an order whereby Alabama Power Company, a public utility subsidiary of the Southern Company, was permitted to acquire certain capital stock of Birmingham (Holding Company Act Release No. 10055). Such order provided, in effect, that Alabama Power Company shall dispose, not later than August 31, 1951, of any direct or indirect interest in the transportation properties and business owned by Birmingham. In compliance with the aforesaid order, Birmingham has notified this Commission, pursuant to the provisions of Rule U-44 (c) under the act, that it has entered into an agreement dated April 10, 1951, with John S. Jemison, Jr., Ernest Woods, Harvey Deramus, George Morris, and Joseph H. Woodward, II, a group of Birmingham businessmen none of whom is or has been affiliated with Birmingham or any of its affiliates. The notice under Rule U-44 (c) states that Birmingham previously requested sealed bids to be submitted on November 14, 1950, for the purchase of its transportation properties but that no bids were received. Following the failure of the company to receive bids Birmingham announced that it would enter into negotiations with respect to the sale of the properties with any persons interested in so doing.

It is further stated that by February 1, 1951, five groups indicated an interest and that after protracted discussions definite proposals for the purchase of the property were received from three, the most favorable of which, in the company's opinion, was submitted by John S. Jemison, Jr., and his associates and was accepted and incorporated in a contract entered into on April 10, 1951. Under the terms of this agreement the purchasers will, among other things, organize an Alabama corporation ("realty company") to which Birmingham will transfer the real estate upon which are located the transportation offices, garages, shops and storage yards used by Birmingham in its transportation business. In addition, the purchasers will organize another Alabama Corporation ("transit company") to own and operate a public transportation system in the areas now served by Birmingham and Birmingham will convey to such corporation its remaining transportation properties and its franchises. The realty company will lease its property to the transit company which will pay as rental the operating expenses of realty company and all amounts necessary to discharge the realty company's obligations. Under the contract, Birmingham also agrees to assign its right to receive, upon payment therefor, 63 trolley coaches from Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Company.

The aggregate consideration to be received by Birmingham, subject to certain adjustments, is $2,012,500 of which $1,212,500 is payable in cash (including $1,000,000 to be paid by Birmingham to Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Company) and $800,000 is payable by the delivery of purchase money obligations of the realty company. Such obligations will be dated as of the date of transfer of Birmingham's property to be sold, will be secured by a first mortgage on all of the property of the realty company, will bear interest at the rate of 4½ percent per annum payable annually, will mature 12 years after date and will be amortized at the rate of $25,000 per annum for the first 4 years and at the rate of $50,000 per annum thereafter. The mortgage securing the purchase money obligations will contain a covenant that the lease to the transit company will not be modified or cancelled without consent of Birmingham as long as any of the mortgage indebtedness remains unpaid and the lease will contain a similar provision. The contract also provides that the purchasers will take over, on a month to month basis, and pay the rental on certain motor buses and coaches leased by Birmingham for varying periods. Birmingham has agreed to include in the property to be conveyed certain overhead facilities for trolley coaches to be constructed by Birmingham at a cost of not to exceed $300,000.

Applicant states that, as of March 31, 1951, the book cost, less applicable reserve, of the property to be sold by Birmingham, plus the payment of $200,000 to Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Company being the estimated amount of Birmingham's liability to that company in excess of the $1,000,000 to be paid by the purchasers, the estimated cost of $300,000 for the above-mentioned overhead facilities, the cost of track removal and paving estimated at $250,000, and $290,000 of materials and supplies to be transferred under the contract, was $7,950,074. Applicant further states that on the basis of the consideration under the contract, the estimated net loss to Birmingham, after credit of an estimated reduction in income taxes for the period 1950-53 inclusive, as a result of the proposed sale and upon the basis of existing tax laws, will be approximately $3,323,225, which loss Birmingham proposes to charge to earned surplus after which there will remain in earned surplus approximately $2,087,622; and that for the 12-months ended March 31, 1951, Birmingham's transportation department operated at a loss of $695,310 before depreciation charges of approximately $570,000.

The contract is subject to the obtaining of all necessary governmental approvals and to the securing of a release of the property to be sold from the lien of Birmingham's Mortgage and Deed of Trust, dated August 1, 1944, to Central Hanover Bank & Trust Company and Frank Woolf, Trustees, as amended. The contract provides for the closing thereunder 28 days after the receipt of the last of such approvals and release and also provides that the obligations of the parties thereto shall terminate 120 days after the date of the contract if such approvals and release have not then been obtained.

Birmingham states it contemplates that, upon transfer of the properties pursuant to the contract, it will abandon all transit business upon approval by the Alabama Public Service Commission, to which commission application has been made for such approval as well as for the approval of its proposed sale of the transportation properties.

The above-described proposed sale is not a part of Birmingham's present application to this Commission and the Commission has determined that a declaration with respect to the sale should not be required. The application by Birmingham seeks permission to acquire the purchase money obligations from the realty company which are to form part of the consideration to be received by Birmingham in connection with the sale.

It is estimated that the proposed transactions will involve expenditures aggregating $6,000, including counsel fees in the amount of $3,000.

Birmingham requests that the Commission's order herein be issued by June 1, 1951, and that it become effective upon issuance.

By the Commission.

The Attorney General states that "another organization not designated bears a similar title, namely, the Blue Star Mothers of America. In order to avoid any further confusion which may result in undue hardship for the Blue Star Mothers of America, it will be appreciated if in future releases containing the designation of organizations under Executive Order No. 9835 you follow the words 'National Blue Star Mothers of America' with the following phrase in parentheses 'Not to be confused with the Blue Star Mothers of America organized in February 1942'."

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 953.490 Lemon Regulation 383—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953; 14 F. R. 3612), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of lemons, grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, are currently subject to regulation pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified in this section was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Lemon Administrative Committee on May 16, 1951, such meeting was held, after giving due notice thereof to consider recommendations for regulation, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., May 20, 1951 and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., May 27, 1951, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: Unlimited movement;

(ii) District 2: 650 carloads;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said amended marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached hereto and made a part hereof by this reference.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "carloads," "prorate base," "District 1," "District 2," and "District 3," shall have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup., 608c)

ORDER AMENDING ORDER REGULATING HANDLING OF MILK

§ 988.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon a proposed marketing agreement and certain proposed amendments to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order, amending the order effective June 1, 1951. Such action is necessary in the public interest in order to reflect current marketing conditions and to promote the orderly marketing of milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, marketing area. Any further delay in the effective date of this order amending the order will seriously threaten the orderly marketing of milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, marketing area. The provisions of the said order are well known to handlers, the public hearing having been held on January 16–20, 1951, the recommended decision having been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (16 F. R. 2852) March 31, 1951, and the final decision having been executed by the Secretary on May 2, 1951. Therefore, reasonable time under the circumstances, has been afforded persons affected to prepare for its effective date and it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendment for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (See section 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, Public Law 404, 79th Congress, 60 Stat. 237).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order amending the order) of more than 50 percent of the volume of the milk covered by this order amending the order, which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum on the question of approval of the order, and who during the determined representative period (February 1951) were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

ORDER RELATIVE TO HANDLING

It is therefore ordered, That on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. In § 988.5 (b) delete subparagraph (1) and substitute the following:

(1) Class I milk. The price for Class I milk prior to August 1, 1951, shall be the basic formula price plus $1.30 per hundredweight. Effective August 1, 1951, the price for Class I milk shall be the basic formula price plus $1.50 per hundredweight: Provided, That, if during the 12 months prior to the month immediately preceding each delivery period, the total volume of milk received from producers by all handlers was more than 110 percent of the total Class I utilization of all handlers during such 12-month period, the Class I price shall be decreased 2.5 cents per hundredweight for each full percentage point that such percentage is more than 110 percent.

2. In § 988.5 (b) delete from subparagraph (2) "Scott Cheese Co., Sweetwater, Tenn."

3. In § 988.5 (c) delete from subparagraph (1) "1.4" and substitute "1.3" therefor.

4. In § 988.5 (c) delete from subparagraph (2) "1.2" and substitute "1.15" therefor,

5. In § 988.4 (d) add the following proviso at the end of subparagraph (3): "Provided further, That if such plant disposes of fluid cream to another nonfluid milk plant which plant conforms with the requirements of subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subparagraph, such cream shall be classified as Class II milk."

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 16th day of May 1951, to be effective on and after the 1st day of June 1951.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

PROCEDURAL AMENDMENTS RELATING TO ELECTION OF DIRECTORS OF FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANKS

MAY 16, 1951.

Resolved that, pursuant to Part 108 of the general regulations of the Home Loan Bank Board (24 CFR Part 108), notice and public procedure having been duly afforded (16 F. R. 3194), Part 122 of the regulations for the Federal Home Loan Bank System (24 CFR Part 122), under the subheading "Directors", is hereby amended in the manner hereinafter set forth, effective May 19, 1951:

a. Section 122.21 is amended to read as follows:

§ 122.21 Election. Eight directors of each Bank will be elected in accordance with the provisions of §§ 122.21 to 122.45.

b. Section 122.26 is amended to read as follows:

§ 122.26 Notification of nomination and classification. The Board will adjust the lines of class demarcation of members every four years or more often if it deems such action desirable. Before August 1 of each year, the Board will divide the member institutions into groups A, B, and C on the basis of the size of the members as determined, as of the May 31 immediately preceding said August 1, from the aggregate unpaid principal of each member's home mortgage loans appearing on the most recent annual report of the member in the possession of its Bank or on the most recent financial statement of a member in the possession of its Bank in the event such Bank holds no annual report of such member. The Board will then notify each member not later than August 1 of each year of its right to nominate and of its classification and will furnish each member with a list of the members in its class and a list of those holding directorships at that time in the Bank of which it is a member, reflecting each class directorship and each directorship-at-large and containing the name of each director, the date of expiration of the term of each director, the name and address of the member institution of which each class director is an officer or director and his title, the name and address of the institution with which each director-at-large is affiliated and his title, or, if not affiliated with an institution, his present or former occupation and the city and State of which he is a bona fide resident. At the same time each member will be furnished with a copy of the regulations in this part governing the nomination and election of Bank directors and the necessary nominating certificate and will be notified of each directorship to be filled from the membership-at-large and of each directorship to be filled in its class.

c. Section 122.27 is amended to read as follows:

§ 122.27 Nominating certificates. Upon receipt of the nominating certificate each member, by resolution of its governing body, may nominate, or authorize one of its directors and one of its officers to nominate, a suitably qualified person for each directorship to be filled in its class and each directorship to be filled from the membership-at-large. The certificate shall then be duly executed and mailed to the Secretary to the Board, so as to be delivered to his office in Washington, D. C., not later than August 31.

d. Section 122.28 is amended to read as follows:

§ 122.28 Notification to nominees. A letter will be forwarded to each nominee under registered mail so as to reach his address, as shown by the Board's records, before September 9, informing him of his nomination: Provided, however, No such letter shall be forwarded to any nominee holding a class directorship or a directorship-at-large whose term does not expire until after the close of the calendar year during which the election is being held or to any nominee holding a public interest directorship, unless the Secretary to the Board has received from him before September 1 notice of his intention to be a candidate for a class directorship or directorship-at-large. With such letter each such nominee will be forwarded a list of nominees reflecting the directorship or directorships for which each was nominated, a copy of these Regulations governing the nomination and election of Bank directors and a questionnaire which will contain, among other things, a request for a brief biography and questions to ascertain whether the nominee is eligible for the directorship for which he has been nominated and whether he is willing to serve if elected. Such questionnaire must be completely filled in and mailed so as to be delivered to the office of the Secretary to the Board not later than September 15 in order for the nominee to have his name placed on an election ballot. No candidate shall be eligible for election to a directorship unless he is nominated and his name placed on an election ballot pursuant to the provisions of this section and § 122.29.

e. Section 122.30 is amended to read as follows:

§ 122.30 First election ballots. On or before October 1, the Board will mail to each member the first election ballots which will contain in alphabetical order the name of each candidate for each directorship to be filled in its class and from the membership-at-large who has complied with the provisions of §§ 122.28 and 122.29. Each ballot for a class directorship will also reflect the title of each candidate and the name and address of the member institution of which he is an officer or director. Each ballot for a directorship-at-large will also reflect the title of each candidate and the name and address of the institution with which he is affiliated or, if not affiliated with an institution, his present or former occupation and the city and state of which he is a bona fide resident. In the event a candidate for a directorship-at-large is affiliated with an institution which is not a member of the Bank such fact will be recorded on the ballot.

f. Section 122.35 is amended to read as follows:

§ 122.35 Declaration and notification of first election results. Upon determining the results of the first election ballots, the Board will declare elected the candidates who should be declared elected in accordance with the provisions of §§ 122.21 to 122.45. The Board will thereupon spread said results upon its minutes and notify the directors elected of their election. The Board will also furnish each Bank member the results of the first election ballots and advice as to any directorship or directorships which are to be subject to a final election. The results of the first election ballots shall reflect the name of each candidate, the name and address of the institution with which he is affiliated, the number of votes he received, the number of members eligible to vote for the directorship for which he was a candidate and the candidate declared elected. Upon the request of a candidate the Board will furnish him with the number of votes each candidate received for the directorship for which he was a candidate and the number of members eligible to vote for the directorship for which he was a candidate.

g. Section 122.36 is amended to read as follows:

§ 122.36 Final election ballots. On or before November 15, the names of the two highest candidates for each directorship not filled will be placed on final election ballots and such ballots forwarded to the members entitled to vote for such directorships: Provided, however, That in the event more than two candidates receive the same number of votes for a directorship and such number is greater than the votes of any of the other candidates for such directorship, the names of all said candidates receiving an equal number of votes shall be placed on the final election ballot: Provided further, That in the event one candidate receives more votes than any other candidate for the directorship and the next highest number of votes for the directorship is held by two or more candidates, the names of all said candidates receiving the two highest number of votes for the directorship shall be placed on the final election ballot. There will be shown on each final election ballot the same information with respect to each candidate which will be shown on each first election ballot with respect to each candidate as set forth in § 122.20.

h. Section 122.38 is amended to read as follows:

§ 122.38 Declaration and notification of final election results. Upon determining the results of the final election ballots, the Board will declare elected the candidates receiving the highest number of votes. The Board will thereupon spread said results upon its minutes and notify the directors elected of their election. The Board will furnish each Bank member with the results of the election of directors for that Bank. The results of the final election ballots shall reflect the name of each candidate, the name and address of the institution with which he is affiliated, the number of votes he received, the number of members eligible to vote for the directorship for which he was a candidate and the candidate declared elected. Upon the request of a candidate the Board will furnish him with the number of votes each candidate received for the directorship for which he was a candidate and the number of members eligible to vote for the directorship for which he was a candidate.

i. Section 122.40 is amended to read as follows:

§ 122.40 Mailing of nominating certificates and balloting material. All nominating and balloting material sent to members shall be forwarded by regular mail, except that such material sent to members in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Alaska, and Hawaii shall be forwarded by airmail. Each Bank will be furnished with copies of all nominating certificates, ballots and other election material which has been forwarded to its members.

Resolved further that, these amendments, merely simplifying procedures and reducing costs in connection with the handling of elections of directors of the Federal Home Loan Banks and not effecting any substantive changes in existing regulations, should be put into effect promptly and therefore shall become effective upon the date of publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

[Ceiling Price Regulation 22, Supplementary Regulation 4]

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

SR 4—ALTERNATIVE PRICING METHODS FOR MANUFACTURERS USING GRADE CHARTS AND FOR PRICING FURNITURE "EXTRAS"

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation is issued to adapt the pricing standards of CPR 22 to the peculiar problems of the furniture industry. The regulation specifically provides for the continuance of certain industry pricing practices which were temporarily disturbed by the General Ceiling Price Regulation and CPR 22.

The supplementary regulation permits manufacturers, who during their base period had grade charts in effect, to continue the use of such charts. Grade charts are most commonly used by manufacturers of upholstered furniture and bedding. They are occasionally used for summer furniture and elsewhere.

A grade chart is a table which sets forth the price of each piece of furniture or each mattress when covered in different grades of fabric. The cover fabrics which a manufacturer purchases are generally placed in grades A, B, C, etc., according to the cost per yard. At any one time a manufacturer may carry in stock a wide variety of covers in various styles, colors and textures all varying in cost. Over the course of a year, he is constantly buying new fabrics and discontinuing old ones. Rather than determine individually the price of a sofa or chair when covered in each of perhaps one hundred or more covers of different cost, manufacturers generally group all covers with costs within a certain price range per yard in a single grade. Thus, for example, fabrics whose cost ranges between $2.00 and $2.49 per yard might be designated grade D; $2.50 to $2.99, grade E; $3.00 to $3.49, grade F, etc. This greatly simplifies the pricing problem for the manufacturer since a chair can be offered at 8 or 10 prices even though the customer is given the choice of buying the chair in a hundred or more different covers.

Ceiling Price Regulation 22 now requires the manufacturer to determine a ceiling price for each article covered in a different fabric in his line. When a product is offered in a new fabric, a new ceiling price must be established. It is evident that the regulation imposes a severe administrative burden on the manufacturer. He must not only establish new ceiling prices for each article in his line, but when he offers his articles in fifty different fabrics his pricing problem is increased fiftyfold.

Under this supplementary regulation, a manufacturer determines his price under CPR 22 for the article in muslin or lowest grade. He then applies to the price so determined the "step-ups" in the grade chart published during his base period. By this device, he need not make any adjustments in the grade chart itself. The adjustments are limited to the price of the basic item in muslin or lowest grade.

However, in establishing the ceiling price in muslin or lowest grade, certain adjustments have to be made if the computation is made under method 1 (the aggregate method) or method 4 (the composite bill of materials method) of CPR 22. Both of those methods require the calculation of cost increases in manufacturing materials and both require the use of net sales to arrive at the materials cost adjustment factor. A distortion in the price of the article in muslin would result if those methods were literally applied.

Provision is made for incorporating into existing grade charts products designed after the base period. The price for the basic item is determined under section 32 by reference to a margin over current unit direct cost obtained for a "comparison" commodity. If the comparison commodity requires the same yardage as the new commodity, the grade chart step-up for the new commodity is the same as for the comparison commodity. If the new commodity requires a yardage differing from that required for the comparison commodity, the step-up is determined by the proportion which the yardage of the new commodity bears to yardage of the comparison commodity.

Provision is made in the supplementary regulation for extension of grade charts upwards or downwards to take care of cover materials having a per yard cost higher or lower than any used in the base period. The extension of the grade chart must be made in the same cost ranges as used in the base period chart.

The supplementary regulation makes provision for pricing furniture with extension features, such as extra leaves and extra length bed rails and for special hardware, decorations and optional finishes. Separate materials cost adjustment factors need not be computed for items furnished with such variations. Instead the manufacturer may continue in effect the base period differentials. Where these differentials were expressed in dollars, they are recomputed in percentages and such percentages may be added to the recomputed ceiling price for the basic commodity.

The supplementary regulation is only intended to be applicable to those manufacturers of bedding and furniture who had a firmly established cover grade system or differential system for pricing extras in effect during the base period. To establish that this was the fact, the supplementary regulation contains a requirement that base period grade charts or other documents showing the existence of the pricing system be filed with the Office of Price Stabilization.

In the preparation of this supplementary regulation, consultations were had with an industry advisory committee for the furniture manufacturing industry.

The supplementary regulation was issued in order to conform CPR 22 to established business practices, cost practices and methods established in the furniture and bedding industries. To the extent that this supplementary regulation compels changes in business practices, cost practices or methods established in these industries, such changes are affirmatively found by the Director of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of any regulation, order or requirement issued by him.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the ceiling prices established by this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 10 issued under sec. 704, Public Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Public Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation enables certain manufacturers of furniture and bedding to continue the use of grade charts. It also enables furniture manufacturers to continue in effect price differentials which existed during their base period with respect to extension features, optional finishes and added decorations. Under this supplementary regulation, you establish your ceiling price under Ceiling Price Regulation 22 (hereinafter abbreviated, CPR 22) for your article of furniture or bedding in muslin or lowest grade. To the ceiling price thus established, you add the differentials contained in your grade chart. Similarly you establish your ceiling price for a basic article of furniture and add your established differential for supplying extension features, optional finishes or added decorations. Except as specifically modified by this supplementary regulation, all the provisions of CPR 22 remain in effect. You may price under this supplementary regulation only if you meet the requirements set forth in section 2.

SEC. 2. Manufacturers entitled to fix ceiling prices under this supplementary regulation—(a) Applicability to manufacturers of upholstered furniture or bedding. You may fix ceiling prices for upholstered furniture or bedding under sections 3, 4 and 5 of this supplementary regulation only if you meet the following qualifications:

(1) You must have had in effect and communicated to a substantial number of your customers during your base period a written price list or catalog containing a cover grade chart. See Section 9 for filing requirements.

(2) You must have customarily used the grade chart during your base period as a method of determining prices in different cover grades. A cover grade chart for the purposes of this supplementary regulation is a chart which fixes a price for an item in muslin or lowest grade and which establishes varying prices for the same item when furnished in varying cover fabrics, depending upon the grade in which the fabric falls. Fabrics must be assigned to a grade depending on their costs.

(3) You may elect to price upholstered furniture or bedding under this supplementary regulation, or under CPR 22 without reference to this supplementary regulation. If you elect to price any upholstered furniture or bedding under this supplementary regulation, you must price all your upholstered furniture or bedding under it, and you may not later alter your election.

(b) Applicability to manufacturers of basic articles of furniture with extension features, optional finishes or added decorations. You may fix ceiling prices under sections 6, 7 and 8 of this supplementary regulation for basic articles of furniture with extension features, optional finishes, or added decorations only if you meet the following qualifications:

(1) During the base period, you must have had in effect and communicated to a substantial number of customers a written price list or catalog showing fixed prices for basic articles of furniture and showing differentials, expressed either in percentages or dollars, for extension features, optional finishes, or added decorations. See Section 9 for filing requirements.

(2) You must have customarily used the price list during the base period as a method for determining prices of basic articles of furniture with extension features, optional finishes or added decorations.

(3) You may elect to price under this supplementary regulation or CPR 22. If you elect to price under this supplementary regulation any basic article of furniture with extension feature, optional finishes, or added decorations, you must use it for pricing all of them and may not later alter your election.

SEC. 3. Manufacturers' ceiling prices for sales of articles of furniture or bedding to which an established cover grade chart applied during the base period. To determine your ceiling price for an article of upholstered furniture or bedding which you sold or offered for sale during your base period, you take the following steps:

(a) Step 1. Determine the ceiling price for the basic article in muslin or lowest grade under CPR 22 with the following changes:

(1) If you use method 1, section 13 of CPR 22 (aggregate method), you may deduct, from the dollar amount of net sales determined in section 13 (a), the total cost of cover material other than muslin or lowest grade used during your last fiscal year ended not later than December 31, 1950. If you are unable to determine the actual total cost of the cover fabrics, you may use a cost figure arrived at by multiplying the physical amount of each cover material used by the cost of that material determined by reference to the last invoice prior to the end of your base period.

In computing the physical amount of each manufacturing material used under section 13 (b) of CPR 22, to arrive at your materials cost increase, you must omit the total physical amount of cover material used other than muslin or lowest grade;

(2) If you use method 4, Section 16 of CPR 22 (composite bill of materials method), you may deduct from the total net sales determined in section 16 (a), the total cost of cover material other than muslin or lowest grade used in the articles sold during the accounting period chosen under that section. If you are unable to determine the actual total cost of cover fabrics, you may use a cost figure arrived at by multiplying the physical amount of cover material used in articles sold during the accounting period by their cost determined by reference to the last invoice prior to the end of the same accounting period.

In computing the physical amount of each manufacturing material used under section 16 (b) of CPR 22, to arrive at your materials cost increase, you must omit the total physical amount of cover material, other than muslin or lowest grade, used in the articles sold.

(3) If you use methods 2 or 3, sections 14 or 15 of CPR 22, you follow the instructions as set forth in those sections without any changes.

(b) Step 2. Find the difference between the price of the article in muslin or lowest grade and the price, to your largest buying class of purchaser, of the article in the applicable grade on your base period grade chart. This is your "grade chart step-up."

(c) Step 3. Add to the ceiling price for the basic article obtained under paragraph (a) of this section the grade chart step-up established in paragraph (b) of this section. The result is your ceiling price for the applicable grade. The resulting ceiling prices for each grade of fabric may be used to construct a ceiling price grade chart containing the ceiling prices established under this regulation.

(d) If you are selling extras such as skirts, flounces, pleats, etc., you may add the same dollar and cents charges which you added under the terms of your base period price chart or you may compute a ceiling price for such extras under the provisions of CPR 22 without reference to this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 4. Ceiling prices for new articles of upholstered furniture or bedding falling within categories dealt in during your base period. If you did not sell or offer for sale an article of upholstered furniture or bedding during your base period but did sell or offer for sale articles in the same category, you establish your ceiling prices in various cover grades for this new article by taking the following steps:

(a) Step 1. Determine your ceiling price under section 32 of CPR 22, as modified by section 3 (a) of this supplementary regulation, for the new article in muslin or lowest grade.

(b) Step 2. Determine the amount of your grade chart step-up for each grade of cover material as follows:

(i) If your comparison commodity uses the same yardage of cover material as the article being priced, you use the same step-ups as are found in your base period grade chart for the comparison commodity.

(ii) If your comparison commodity uses a yardage differing from the yardage used in the commodity being priced, divide the yardage required for the new article by the yardage required for the comparison commodity; multiply the resulting quotient by the grade chart step-ups for the comparison commodity contained in your base period grade chart. The resulting figures constitute your grade chart step-ups for the commodity being priced.

(c) Step 3. Add to the basic price arrived at in Step 1 (paragraph (a) of this section) the amount of the grade chart step-up arrived at in Step 2 (paragraph (b) of this section). This gives you your ceiling price for the article in each cover grade. The resulting ceiling prices for the article in each grade of fabric may be incorporated into your ceiling price grade chart.

(d) Step 4. If you supply extras such as skirts, flounces, pleats, etc., you may add to the ceiling price the same dollar-and-cents charges which you added to the comparison commodity during the base period, or you may compute a ceiling price for such extras under the provisions of CPR 22 without reference to this supplementary regulation.

Example: You are establishing a ceiling price for a sofa which you did not sell or offer for sale during your base period. You find your comparison commodity under section 32 of CPR 22. You compute the current unit direct cost of the comparison commodity in muslin. This is $80. Under the provisions of CPR 22 as modified by section 3 of this supplementary regulation, the ceiling price in muslin is $112. Your percentage markup on your comparison commodity is 40% ($112 ceiling price minus $80 current unit direct cost equals $32 markup; $32 markup divided by $80 current unit direct cost equals 40% markup). Your current unit direct cost of the sofa to be priced is $90 in muslin. Add 40% markup. Your ceiling price for the new sofa in muslin is $126 ($90 current unit direct cost multiplied by 40% equals $36 markup; $90 plus $36 equals $126). Your ceiling price for your comparison commodity is $112 in muslin and $142 in cover Grade D. Your step-up charge for Grade D is $30. Your comparison commodity requires 7 yards of material; the new sofa requires 8 yards of material. The step-up for the new sofa is $34.29 (8/7 multiplied by $30 equals $34.29). The ceiling price for the new sofa in Grade D cover is $160.29 ($126 ceiling price in muslin plus step-up of $34.29 equals $160.29). This price may be incorporated into your ceiling price grade chart.

SEC. 5. Placement of cover materials in your grade chart; new cover grades. (a) In determining the placement of cover materials in your various grades, you must use the same cost ranges you used in establishing grades in your base period grade chart. If you acquire cover fabrics having a material cost higher than those used in the highest grade or lower than those used in the lowest grade on your base period cover grade chart, you add an additional grade or grades. The range of cost for each new higher grade shall be the same as the cost range used in establishing the highest grade on your base period grade chart; and the range of cost for each new lower grade shall be the same as the cost range used in establishing the lowest grade on your base period grade chart. Cover fabrics must be assigned to grades depending on their cost.

(b) To price an article of furniture in a new higher grade, you add to its ceiling price in the highest grade on your chart an amount equal to the difference between the grade chart price for your highest grade and the grade chart price for the next lower grade. Similarly, to price an article in a new lower grade, you subtract from its ceiling price in the lowest grade (other than muslin) on your chart an amount equal to the difference between the grade chart price for your lowest grade and the grade chart price for the next higher grade.

Example: During the base period you had a cover grade chart in effect with grades F through M, inclusive. Fabrics used in grades F through J have a 25¢ cost range; grade F includes fabrics from $1.26 to $1.50; grade G from $1.51 to $1.75, etc. Fabrics used in grades K through M have a 50¢ cost range; grade K includes fabrics from $2.51 to $3.00, grade L from $3.01 to $3.50; Grade M from $3.51 to $4.00. You now acquire fabrics which cost $4.25. You may establish grade N for articles covered in fabrics which cost between $4.01 and $4.50. Similarly, if you acquire a fabric at a cost of $1.10, you may establish grade E for articles upholstered in fabrics which cost between $1.01 and $1.25.

Your ceiling price for a sofa in lowest grade, i. e., F, is $110, in grade G it is $114, in grade H it is $118, in grade K it is $134, in grade L it is $142 in grade M it is $150. The ceiling price in your new grade N is $158, in new grade E it is $106.

SEC. 6. Basic articles of furniture with extension features, optional finishes, or added decorations, dealt in during the base period. Your method for determining your ceiling price for a basic article of furniture which you sold or offered for sale during your base period and for which you offered, during your base period, an extension feature, optional finish, or added decoration, is as follows:

(a) Determine the ceiling price for the basic article of furniture under CPR 22; if the article is one to which section 3 of this supplementary regulation applies, the ceiling price must be determined under CPR 22 as modified by section 3 (a) of this supplementary regulation;

(b) Determine the charge you made in your base period for supplying the same extension feature, optional finish or added decoration in accordance with your written list. If you used a dollar charge, find the appropriate percentage by dividing the dollar charge by the base period price of the basic article of furniture;

(c) Multiply the ceiling price for the basic article determined in paragraph (a) of this section by the percentage obtained in paragraph (b) of this section. This is the additional charge;

(d) Add this additional charge to the ceiling price for the basic article determined in paragraph (a) of this section.

SEC. 7. New basic articles of furniture with extension features, optional finishes, or added decorations. If you did not sell or offer for sale during the base period a basic article of furniture with an extension feature, optional finish, or added decoration, but did sell or offer for sale basic articles of furniture in the same category, you establish your ceiling price by taking the following steps:

(a) Determine the ceiling price for the new basic article of furniture under section 32 of CPR 22; if the article is one to which section 4 of this supplementary regulation applies, the ceiling price must be determined under CPR 22 as modified by section 3 (a) of this supplementary regulation.

(b) Determine your base period charge for supplying the same extension feature, optional finish or added decoration to the "comparison" commodity used in the computation of your ceiling price. If you used a dollar charge, find the appropriate percentage by dividing the dollar charge by the price during the base period of the "comparison" commodity;

(3) Multiply the ceiling price determined in paragraph (a) of this section for the basic new article by the percentage obtained in paragraph (b) of this section. This gives you the additional charge;

(d) Add this additional charge to the ceiling price for the basic new commodity determined in paragraph (a) of this section. The result is your ceiling price.

SEC. 8. New extension features, optional finishes, or added decorations differing only by reason of minor changes from those sold or offered by you during your base period. The additional charge for an extension feature, optional finish or added decoration not sold or offered for sale by you during your base period, but differing from one which you did sell or offer for sale only by reason of minor changes in material, design or construction, which do not reduce unit manufacturing costs or prevent its offering fairly equivalent service, shall be the same charge applicable under this supplementary regulation to the most similar extension feature, optional finish, or added decoration sold or offered for sale by you during the base period.

SEC. 9. Reports. (a) Your report on Form 8 for a product line or category shall be in accordance with the instructions to that form except that (1) the materials cost adjustment or adjustment factor shall be computed in accordance with the instructions in this supplementary regulation, and (2) you shall list in Item 8 only proposed increases in prices of items in muslin or lowest grade or prices of "basic articles" as that term is used in this supplementary regulation. Sales figures reported in Item 3 or column (c) of Item 8 should, however, include all sales in the product line, including items with extension features, optional finishes, or added decorations.

(b) As a supplement to Form 8, you shall file: (1) A copy of your written cover grade chart in effect and communicated to a substantial number of your customers during your base period; (2) a statement of the cost ranges for all grades contained in your cover grade chart; (3) a copy of your written list or quotation for extension features, optional finishes, or added decorations which you customarily used and communicated to a substantial number of your customers during your base period; (4) your proposed ceiling prices on all articles of furniture and bedding priced under this supplementary regulation including ceiling prices for all cover grades.

SEC. 10. Modification of ceiling prices by the Director of Price Stabilization. The Director of Price Stabilization may at any time disapprove or revise downward ceiling prices reported under this supplementary regulation, if the proposed prices are not correctly arrived at, or if a seller does not qualify for the use of this supplementary regulation, or if prices reported are not in line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this supplementary regulation or CPR 22.

Effective date: This supplementary regulation shall become effective May 28, 1951.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 14, Amdt. 3]

CPR 14—CEILING PRICES OF CERTAIN FOODS SOLD AT WHOLESALE

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (16 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 14 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This statement of considerations covers Amendments 3 to CPR 14, CPR 15 and CPR 16. These amendments deal primarily with the proper ceiling prices for certain "specialty" food items. Simultaneously with the issuance of these amendments, the Director of Price Stabilization has issued Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7 which excludes, at wholesale and retail, a substantial number of "specialty" food items from price control. These amendments relate to additional "specialty" food items which are not excluded from price control by Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7, but whose ceiling prices are to be determined by the General Ceiling Price Regulation rather than by CPR 14, CPR 15 and CPR 16.

These amendments were made necessary in order to permit all distributors selling "specialty" food items to establish their ceiling prices in the same manner. Amendments 2 to these regulations relieved certain stores carrying mostly "specialty" food items from the necessity of using the markups in these regulations upon certain specific conditions, including an average markup on "net cost" of 40 percent or more at retail and 22 percent or more at wholesale in their fiscal year 1950 on all food sales. Since there is no hard and fast definition of just what constitutes a "specialty" food item, the method used in Amendments 2 relieves the squeeze on those wholesalers and retailers selling mostly "specialty" food items from pricing under the provisions of CPR 14, CPR 15, and CPR 16. These amendments permit those sellers dealing in "specialty" food items not excluded from price control by Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7, who do not qualify for adjustment under Amendments 2 to these regulations to use the ceiling prices established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation rather than the ceiling prices established under CPR 14, CPR 15 and CPR 16.

In order to provide a ready reference and an easy guide, these amendments define the food items included in the regulations, those which are excluded from the regulations but subject to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, and those which are excluded from price control at wholesale and retail levels by Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7.

Additionally, these amendments transfer some food items which have been misplaced into their proper commodity category.

In the formulation of these amendments, special circumstances have rendered impractical consultation with official advisory committees, including trade association representatives; however, the provisions of this amendment incorporate the recommendations of persons representing substantial segments of the industry. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable, the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objective of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

[General Overriding Regulation 7, Amdt. 1]

GOR 7—EXEMPTION OF CERTAIN FOOD AND RESTAURANT COMMODITIES

SPECIALTY FOOD ITEMS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7 is issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to General Overriding Regulation 7 is an across-the-board amendment which exempts certain food items from wholesale and retail ceiling price restrictions imposed by the Office of Price Stabilization.

The commodities exempted by this amendment are both domestic and imported items which are classified as "specialty" food items. For example, imported cookies, Hollandaise sauce, brandied and stuffed fruits, wine gelatines, wine jellies, wild game, turtle meat, rattlesnake meat, rock candy syrup, cocktail mushrooms, truffles and snails. The commodities exempted by this amendment are of minor significance which have but a trifling effect upon the cost of living, the cost of the defense efforts, or the general current of industrial costs. Furthermore, any ceiling price restrictions imposed on these commodities would involve an administrative enforcement burden out of all proportion to the importance of keeping such commodities under price control.

In view of the nature of the commodities exempted, this amendment will not have any material effect on the general level of prices.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

General Overriding Regulation 7 is amended by adding a new section 4 to read as follows:

SEC. 4. Specialty food items. No ceiling price regulation heretofore issued or which may hereafter be issued by the Office of Price Stabilization shall apply to sales at wholesale and retail of the following commodities covered by this section and amendments thereto.

1. Imported breakfast cereals if imported in consumer size containers.
2. Imported cocoa, chocolate, and cereal drink preparations if imported in consumer size containers.
3. Imported coffee if imported in consumer size containers of two (2) lbs. or less.
4. Imported cookies, crackers and toast if imported in consumer size containers.
5. Water ground corn meal.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 15, Amdt. 3]

CPR 15—CEILING PRICES OF CERTAIN FOODS SOLD AT RETAIL IN GROUP 3 AND GROUP 4 STORES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (16 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 15 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This statement of considerations covers Amendments 3 to CPR 14, CPR 15 and CPR 16. These amendments deal primarily with the proper ceiling prices for certain "specialty" food items. Simultaneously with the issuance of these amendments, the Director of Price Stabilization has issued Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7 which excludes, at wholesale and retail, a substantial number of "specialty" food items from price control. These amendments relate to additional "specialty" food items which are not excluded from price control by Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7, but whose ceiling prices are to be determined by the General Ceiling Price Regulation rather than by CPR 14, CPR 15 and CPR 16.

These amendments were made necessary in order to permit all distributors selling "specialty" food items to establish their ceiling prices in the same manner. Amendments 2 to these regulations relieved certain stores carrying mostly "specialty" food items from the necessity of using the markups in these regulations upon certain specific conditions, including an average markup on "net cost" of 40 percent or more at retail and 22 percent or more at wholesale in their fiscal year 1950 on all food sales. Since there is no hard and fast definition of just what constitutes a "specialty" food item, the method used in Amendments 2 relieves the squeeze on those wholesalers and retailers selling mostly "specialty" food items from pricing under the provisions of CPR 14, CPR 15, and CPR 16. These amendments permit those sellers dealing in "specialty" food items not excluded from price control by Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7, who do not qualify for adjustment under Amendments 2 to these regulations to use the ceiling prices established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation rather than the ceiling prices established under CPR 14, CPR 15 and CPR 16.

In order to provide a ready reference and an easy guide, these amendments define the food items included in the regulations, those which are excluded from the regulations but subject to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, and those which are excluded from price control at wholesale and retail levels by Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7.

Additionally, these amendments transfer some food items which have been misplaced into their proper commodity category.

In the formulation of these amendments, special circumstances have rendered impractical consultation with official advisory committees, including trade association representatives, however, the provisions of this amendment incorporate the recommendations of persons representing substantial segments of the industry. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objective of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 8 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation permits you to determine your ceiling prices by adjusting your ceiling prices established under the GCPR rather than your base period prices under CPR 30. Consequently this pricing method can be used only for commodities in which you dealt between July 1, 1949, and June 24, 1950, for which you can determine a base period price under section 7 of CPR 30. You may wish to use this supplementary regulation if a uniform percentage increase applied to your base period prices for all of your commodities or for all of your commodities produced in a particular unit of your business or included in a particular category or product line would be inappropriate because materials costs of your individual commodities have increased in varying proportions. Although, under Method 2 (section 18) of CPR 30, "the materials cost adjustment" could be calculated separately for each commodity, it may be that you manufacture so many different commodities that use of that method would not be practicable.

Under this supplementary regulation you first calculate the average percentage increase over your base period prices which you would be permitted under CPR 30. You then compare this percentage with the percentage by which your GCPR ceiling prices actually exceed your base period prices. The difference is a percentage adjustment up or down, which you apply to your GCPR ceiling prices. In addition, this supplementary regulation permits you to propose your own method for arriving at such a percentage adjustment. There are prescribed limitations upon the use of any such proposed method.

This section is intended only as a general description to aid in understanding this supplementary regulation; the following sections are controlling.

SEC. 2. Applicability of this supplementary regulation. This supplementary regulation applies only to commodities for which you can establish a base period price under section 7 of CPR 30. Therefore, any reference to "commodity" in this supplementary regulation means only a commodity which can be so priced.

SEC. 3. How to adjust your GCPR ceiling prices for all of your commodities. If you do not operate more than one plant you may determine your ceiling prices for all of your commodities in the following manner:

(a) Add your labor cost adjustment factor derived under section 12 (e) of CPR 30 and your materials cost adjustment factor derived under either section 17 (d), 19 (c) or 20 (d) of CPR 30, depending upon which you used. (You will have used section 19 (c) only if all of your commodities are in the same product line and section 20 (d) only if all of your commodities are in the same category or product line.) The resulting total is referred to as your "total cost adjustment factor".

(b) Find the number of units of each commodity (for which you can determine a base period price under section 7 of CPR 30) sold by you during your last fiscal year ending not later than December 31, 1950.

(c) Multiply the number of units of each commodity found under paragraph (b) of this section by the base period price for that commodity. The base period price is obtained under section 7 of CPR 30 and is based upon a price to your largest buying class of purchaser. Add these amounts to find the total value of your sales at base period prices.

(d) Multiply the number of units of each commodity found under paragraph (b) of this section by your GCPR ceiling price for that commodity to the same largest buying class of purchaser you used in paragraph (c) of this section. Add these amounts to obtain the total value of your sales at GCPR prices.

(e) Divide the GCPR value found under paragraph (d) of this section by the base period value found under paragraph (c) of this section. This will give you the average ratio between your GCPR prices and your base period prices. This percentage is referred to as your "actual price ratio".

(f) Add 100 percent to your total cost adjustment factor derived under paragraph (a) of this section. The resulting percentage is referred to as your "permissible ceiling price ratio".

(g) Divide your permissible ceiling price ratio by your actual price ratio. The resulting percentage is referred to as your "price adjustment ratio".

(h) Apply your price adjustment ratio to your GCPR ceiling prices for the commodities you are pricing. The GCPR ceiling price you use is that to the same largest buying class of purchaser you used in paragraph (c) of this section. This will give your ceiling prices for these commodities to that class of purchaser. Your ceiling prices to each of your other classes of purchaser shall be determined in accordance with section 3 (c) of CPR 30.

(i) If you use this section, it must be used for all of your commodities for which you can establish a base period price under section 7 of CPR 30.

Example 1: Your labor cost adjustment factor calculated in accordance with section 12 (e) of CPR 30 is 3 percent. Your materials cost adjustment factor calculated in accordance with section 17 (d) of CPR 30 is 7 percent. Your total cost adjustment factor is therefore 10 percent. 100 percent plus 10 percent is 110 percent. This is your permissible ceiling price ratio. Your actual price ratio derived under paragraph (e) of this section is 115 percent. 110 percent divided by 115 percent is 95.65 percent. This is your price adjustment ratio. Multiply your GCPR ceiling prices for the commodities being priced by 95.65 percent (or decrease each price by 4.35). This will give you your new ceiling prices for these commodities.

Example 2: Your permissible ceiling price ratio is 110 percent, the same as in Example 1. However, your actual price ratio derived under paragraph (e) of this section is 105 percent. 110 percent divided by 105 percent is 104.76 percent. This is your price adjustment ratio. You therefore multiply your GCPR ceiling prices for the commodities being priced by 104.76 percent (or increase each price by 4.76 percent). This will give you your new ceiling prices for these commodities.

SEC. 4. How to adjust your GCPR ceiling prices for all commodities produced in a particular unit of your business, category or product line. If you wish to determine your ceiling prices for all commodities (for which you can establish a base period price under section 7 of CPR 30) produced in a particular unit of your business for which you regularly maintain separate accounts, or in a particular category or product line, you make the calculations prescribed in section 3 of this supplementary regulation, except that your labor cost adjustment factor may be derived under either sections 12 or 13 of CPR 30 and your other calculations will be based upon that particular unit of your business, category or product line, rather than upon your entire business. Thus in calculating your materials cost adjustment factor you will use section 17 (d) of CPR 30 for a unit of your business, section 19 (c) of CPR 30 for a product line or section 20 (d) of CPR 30 for a category or product line. The price adjustment ratio you derive will be applied only to the GCPR ceiling prices for the commodities (for which you can establish a base period price under section 7 of CPR 30) produced in that particular unit of your business, category or product line. If you use this section, it must be used for all commodities produced in that particular unit of your business, product line or category for which you can establish a base period price under section 7 of CPR 30.

SEC. 5. Applicability of provisions of CPR 30. Except to the extent expressly modified or supplemented by this supplementary regulation, all provisions of CPR 30 shall be applicable to any manufacturer subject to CPR 30 who uses this supplementary regulation. Thus, by way of illustration, reports on Public Form No. 8 must be filed in accordance with sections 44 and 46 of CPR 30; the 15 day waiting period prescribed by those sections in cases where a ceiling price higher than that under the General Ceiling Price Regulation is reported, must be observed; and the limitations upon the use of sections 17 and 20 of CPR 30 must be complied with.

SEC. 6. Option to propose an alternative method for obtaining your price adjustment ratio. (a) If you believe that your situation makes desirable the use of a pricing method under which your GCPR ceiling prices would be adjusted rather than your base period prices under CPR 30, but you consider that the method prescribed in this supplementary regulation for obtaining your price adjustment ratio cannot practicably be used by you, you may propose an alternative method in the manner specified in paragraph (b) of this section. Your proposed method must take account of the same factors as the method prescribed in this supplementary regulation and must achieve the same basic results.

(b) You should submit your proposed method in writing to the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., stating the reasons why you believe it to be appropriate and why you consider use of the method prescribed in this supplementary regulation is not practicable; and setting forth in detail each of the steps to be taken. You may, if you prefer, submit your proposed method without actually calculating your ceiling prices under it. You must nevertheless indicate what the change would be in the general level of your GCPR ceiling prices and your base period prices for the particular commodities to which your proposed method will be applied; and what your new ceiling prices would be for at least the best selling commodity in your most important product lines. In addition, you must indicate your base period prices and your ceiling prices as determined under CPR 30 for each best selling commodity. Unless and until the Director of Price Stabilization approves in writing your proposed method, you may not use it. If you have submitted your proposed method without calculating your ceiling prices under it, you may not use that method until you have submitted your ceiling prices as determined thereunder and the Director of Price Stabilization has given you written approval.

SEC. 7. Records. Section 44 (a) (2) of CPR 30 requires that the records to be preserved must include appropriate work sheets. In addition to the work sheets referred to therein, there must also be preserved the additional work sheets required for your calculations under this supplementary regulation. The work sheets to be preserved may be in any convenient form so long as they include all data and calculations required to determine your ceiling prices under this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 8. Definitions—(a) GCPR. This term means the General Ceiling Price Regulation issued by the Director of Price Stabilization on January 26, 1951 (16 F. R. 809), as amended.

(b) CPR 30. This term means Ceiling Price Regulation 30 issued by the Director of Price Stabilization on May 4, 1951.

All definitions used in CPR 30 which are pertinent to this supplementary regulation are incorporated in this supplementary regulation by this reference.

Effective date. The effective date of this supplementary regulation is May 28, 1951.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

EDWARD F. PHELPS, JR.,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 16, Amdt. 3]

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (16 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 16 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This statement of considerations covers Amendments 3 to CPR 14, CPR 15 and CPR 16. These amendments deal primarily with the proper ceiling prices for certain "specialty" food items. Simultaneously with the issuance of these amendments, the Director of Price Stabilization has issued Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7 which excludes, at wholesale and retail, a substantial number of "specialty" food items from price control. These amendments relate to additional "specialty" food items which are not excluded from price control by Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7, but whose ceiling prices are to be determined by the General Ceiling Price Regulation rather than by CPR 14, CPR 15 and CPR 16.

These amendments were made necessary in order to permit all distributors selling "specialty" food items to establish their ceiling prices in the same manner. Amendments 2 to these regulations relieved certain stores carrying mostly "specialty" food items from the necessity of using the markups in these regulations upon certain specific conditions, including an average markup on "net cost" of 40 percent or more at retail and 22 percent or more at wholesale in their fiscal year 1950 on all food sales. Since there is no hard and fast definition of just what constitutes a "specialty" food item, the method used in Amendments 2 relieves the squeeze on those wholesalers and retailers selling mostly "specialty" food items from pricing under the provisions of CPR 14, CPR 15, and CPR 16. These amendments permit those sellers dealing in "specialty" food items not excluded from price control by Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7, who do not qualify for adjustment under Amendments 2 to these regulations to use the ceiling prices established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation rather than the ceiling prices established under CPR 14, CPR 15, and CPR 16.

In order to provide a ready reference and an easy guide, these amendments define the food items included in the regulations, those which are excluded from the regulations but subject to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, and those which are excluded from price control at wholesale and retail levels by Amendment 1 to General Overriding Regulation 7.

Additionally, these amendments transfer some food items which have been misplaced into their proper commodity category.

In the formulation of these amendments, special circumstances have rendered impractical consultation with official advisory committees, including trade association representatives; however, the provisions of this amendment incorporate the recommendations of persons representing substantial segments of the industry. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objective of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amendment 11]

FROZEN FISH AND SHELLFISH

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738) this amendment 11 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 808) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment exempts frozen fish and shellfish from the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Fresh fish and sea food, because of the unusual marketing factors involved and their seasonal and perishable characteristics, are subject to marked price fluctuations. It was not deemed feasible, therefore, to control fresh fish by the general freeze. Traditionally, fresh and frozen fish are in the same marketing category and move in the same channels of distribution. They are sold competitively with each other. Fresh fish is "frozen" primarily to counteract its perishability and to provide more stable distribution control. Since fresh and frozen fish are substantially identical, uniformity of treatment is desirable. Preferential treatment results in undesirable departures from normal trade practices.

The present exemption of fresh fish from the General Ceiling Price Regulation with frozen fish remaining under price control has resulted in inequities to segments of the fish industry and maladjustments in marketing practices. Some producers of frozen fish in certain areas were able, prior to the base period, to purchase fresh fish at abnormally low prices and the prices of frozen fish during the base period reflected these abnormal purchases. When controls were placed upon frozen fish without the imposition of similar controls upon fresh fish, these producers were adversely affected.

This distortion of the normal price relationship between fresh and frozen fish has created a problem of geographical distribution. Coastal states are receiving more than their normal supply of fresh fish while inland states (where fresh fish cannot be shipped) are receiving abnormally small supplies of frozen fish. This dislocation of distribution is depriving the public in the areas affected of a low-priced protein food and will materially injure many retail outlets who have in the last few years built up their frozen fish sales and who have no present facilities for the handling of fresh fish.

Stocks of frozen fish in 1950 were the largest ever reported. Present cold storage stocks are the heaviest in history. As of March 1, 1951, there were 106 million pounds of fish in storage as compared to 105 million pounds for the corresponding period last year. The maximum production season for all fish is now approaching. Import conditions seem very favorable and should substantially increase the market supply. The fact that supplies are ample makes it possible to restore the normal relationship between fresh and frozen fish without material increases in price. Some increases may be anticipated in those cases where ceilings are abnormally low but these are justified in order to maintain future frozen fish production at desirable levels.

For these reasons the Director of Price Stabilization finds that the exemption of frozen fish and shellfish from the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation will be in accord with the objective of the Defense Production Act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Section 14 (s) (8) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby amended to read as follows:

(8) Fresh fish, seafood and game and frozen fish and shellfish.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 26, Revised]

CPR 26—REVISED CEILING PRICES OF KOSHER BEEF ITEMS SOLD AT RETAIL

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture to the Economic Stabilization Agency with Respect to the Allocation of Meat, January 26, 1951, 16 F. R. 1272, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 5, February 8, 1951 (16 F. R. 1273), this revised Ceiling Price Regulation 26 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation establishes revised dollars and cents ceiling prices for retail sales of kosher beef cuts and most kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products. This regulation supplements and is substantially identical with Ceiling Price Regulation No. 25, as corrected and amended. The Statements of Consideration issued in connection with that regulation, as amended, apply equally to this regulation and therefore are incorporated herein. There are, however, a few differences between the two regulations which are discussed below.

This regulation treats all sellers of kosher beef as independent retailers (Class 1 or 2 stores) and does not classify them into three groups, since the overwhelming majority of such sellers are small independent stores. Accordingly, this regulation does not provide for price adjustment from "Class 3 or 4" stores to "Class 1 or 2."

Since most kosher retailers buy from wholesalers, the ceiling prices established in this regulation reflect the wholesale addition of $2.25 per cwt. provided for in Ceiling Price Regulation 24.

It is not customary for kosher retailers to operate locker plants and, therefore, no special provision is made for locker plants in this regulation.

Kosher retail prices have been determined by the same procedure as was used for non-kosher prices. In computing the retail ceilings for kosher beef cuts, the wholesale ceiling prices for kosher beef for the period through July 31, 1951, were used. In order to issue this regulation at the earliest practicable time, the regulation omits the price lists for the periods beginning August 1 and October 1, 1951. The regulation will be amended shortly to include those lists and will thereby reflect the decreases in livestock and wholesale prices which become effective on those dates.

Kosher butchers generally have charged higher prices than non-kosher butchers, principally because of their higher costs for kosher killed beef, and for rabbinical inspection. The cutting tests used in fixing the prices in this regulation were those conducted by the Office of Price Administration in connection with Maximum Price Regulation No. 394.

This revised regulation supersedes and differs from Ceiling Price Regulation 26, as corrected and amended, in the following respects: The revised regulation defines those retail kosher beef cuts which were not defined by, but for which ceiling prices were provided by, Ceiling Price Regulation 26, defines three new kosher retail beef cuts and omits from the definition of kosher beef variety meats and beef byproducts two items which were defined by, but for which ceiling prices were not provided by, Ceiling Price Regulation 26. It also corrects certain minor errors appearing in that regulation.

This revised regulation also makes extensive changes in the ceiling prices to correct errors made at the time of issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 26 and to bring the kosher retail beef regulation into line with the other beef regulations, Ceiling Price Regulations 24 and 25, and thus to effectuate the Office of Price Stabilization objectives set forth in the Statements of Consideration accompanying those beef regulations. The revised regulation also establishes ceiling prices for certain items, including deckle of rib, breast of flanken, breast deckle, cheek meat, head meat, tongues and tripe, for which ceiling prices could not be established at the time of issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 26 without delaying its issuance. The revised ceiling prices were computed after conferences with industry representatives.

In formulating this revised regulation, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives to the extent practicable and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable, the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950 to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

ARTICLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation supersedes Ceiling Price Regulation No. 26, as corrected and amended, and fixes specific ceiling prices for most retail sales of kosher beef cuts and of certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products. It also fixes ceiling prices for sales of these products by stores to eating places and to other retailers for resale purposes and sets forth the conditions under which such sales may be made. The ceiling prices established by this regulation supersede those established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation. This regulation does not establish ceiling prices for retail sales of other types of kosher beef products such as sterile canned beef or sausage, which remain under the General Ceiling Price Regulation. In addition, this regulation defines and standardizes kosher retail beef cuts and prohibits the sale of non-standardized kosher cuts.

SEC. 2. Where this regulation applies. This regulation shall be applicable in the 48 States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices for specifically enumerated kosher beef products—(a) Kosher beef cuts and certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products. Your ceiling price for all retail sales to consumers is the price specified in section 30 for kosher beef cuts, or in section 31 for certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products, for your zone. Your zone is determined by Appendix 1. Your ceiling price for sales of these items to eating places and to other retailers is determined under Article II. You may obtain a copy of the price lists containing your ceiling prices from your Office of Price Stabilization District or Regional Office.

SEC. 4. Ceiling prices for certain kosher beef items which are not specifically listed in section 3—(a) Kosher variety meats and beef by-products. If you sell a kosher beef variety meat or beef by-product which is not listed in Appendix 5, your ceiling price is established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

(b) Cured beef items. Your ceiling prices for cured, corned, cooked, smoked, barbecued, and dried kosher beef items which you sold during the calendar year 1950 or which you purchase for resale, shall be your ceiling prices established therefor by the General Ceiling Price Regulation. You must, however, file the report and keep the records required for these items by that regulation. If you did not sell these items in 1950 or do not purchase them for resale, see section 4 (c).

(c) New cured kosher beef items. If you desire to sell a kosher beef item listed in section 4 (b) which you did not sell during 1950 and which you do not purchase for resale, you may apply in writing to the Director of Price Stabilization in Washington, D. C., for a ceiling price. In your application you shall state the information required in section 12. The Director of Price Stabilization may authorize a ceiling price for such item if your application includes sufficient facts to enable him to find that:

(1) You have made a substantial financial investment which cannot be utilized except in the sale of such kosher beef item;

(2) The sale of this product is to constitute at least 10 percent of your dollar volume of business;

(3) Production of this item will not divert an abnormal amount of beef from low cost to high cost items; and

(4) Approval of your application will be generally fair and equitable, will not adversely affect the price structure established by this regulation, and will not otherwise have an inflationary effect.

SEC. 5. Limitations on the sale of kosher beef cuts, ground and cubed beef—(a) Limitations on the sale of kosher retail cuts. Appendix 4 of this regulation describes the retail cuts of kosher beef which you may sell and how they are to be cut. You may not sell kosher retail cuts other than those specified in Appendix 4.

(b) Special limitations on the sale of kosher cubed beef. You are not permitted to pre-cube kosher steaks from any wholesale or retail cut of kosher beef.

(c) Special orders of ground, cubed, boned and rolled kosher beef—(1) General limitations. You may not grind, cube, bone, or roll any cut or grade of kosher beef not authorized to be preground, pre-cubed, pre-rolled, or preboned, in Appendix 4, except in accordance with the provisions of this section. You may on special order from the customer grind, cube, roll or bone kosher beef in a way not authorized by Appendix 4, if it is done in the customer's presence so he can observe it or in accordance with section 5 (c) (3); if you make no charge for the grinding, cubing, rolling and boning; and if you comply with the applicable provisions of section 5 (c) (2).

(2) Special limitations on the sale of kosher ground beef—(i) Limitations on ground beef inventory. You may not sell any kosher ground beef unless it is ground beef as defined in Appendix 4. Moreover, you shall not have in your store, refrigerator, cooler, or warehouse any kosher ground beef except ground beef as defined in Appendix 4 or kosher beef which has been bought by a customer and ground at his request and which is wrapped and marked with his name or, if you are authorized by section 5 (c) (3) to fill telephone orders, kosher beef which has been prepared, wrapped and marked with a customer's name as a result of an order telephoned by him.

(ii) Observation by customer of grinding operation. The customer will be permitted to observe the grinding of kosher beef by either of the following methods:

(a) The grinding operation may be performed at the meat counter; or

(b) The grinding operation may be performed in the refrigerator if the meat is shown to the customer immediately before and after grinding, if the right to observe the grinding operation is granted to every customer requesting such grinding, and if printed notice of such right is posted in two or more conspicuous places at or near where your meat sales are made and where your customers can easily see and read it. Such notices shall consist of letters one inch high and shall be in the following form:

Meat grinding equipment kept under refrigeration. We invite you to watch the grinding of your meat. OPS grants you this right. Ask the clerk.

(3) Special telephone orders. You may fill bona-fide telephone orders for special ground, boned, rolled or cubed cuts of kosher beef even though the customer is not present to observe the preparation. The authorization granted under the provisions of this section 5 (c) (3) will end on notice to you by your OPS District Office to that effect. Every seller authorized to fill telephone orders for ground, boned, rolled or cubed cuts of kosher beef in accordance with the preceding provisions of this section 5 (c) (3) must comply with the following rules:

Rule 1. The special ground, boned, rolled or cubed beef must not be placed on display to the public;

Rule 2. The special ground, boned, rolled or cubed beef must be wrapped immediately after preparation;

Rule 3. The wrapper containing the special ground, boned, rolled or cubed beef must be marked with the customer's name, the cut, grade and weight of the beef before preparation, the price per pound, and the total charge;

Rule 4. The special ground, boned, rolled or cubed beef must not be sold, offered, delivered, or diverted in any manner to any customer other than the one making the telephone order;

Rule 5. You must not pre-grind, prebone, pre-roll, or pre-cube any cut or grade of beef in anticipation of telephone orders except as generally authorized in Appendix 4 of this regulation;

Rule 6. No addition may be charged the customer for the grinding, boning, rolling, cubing or any other special preparation; and Rule 7. No addition may be charged the customer for delivery service.

SEC. 6. Display—(a) Beef cuts. You may not display together kosher beef cuts having different ceiling prices, but must put them in separate trays, compartments or sections of your showcase, according to the difference in ceiling price, even though the beef cuts are of the same kind. You must place the appropriate ceiling price on each separate display so that your customers can see and read it. If you fail to make this separation, or if you fail to place the appropriate ceiling price on each separate display so that your customers can see and read it, the price you charge or offer to charge for any such kosher beef cuts must not be more than the maximum price fixed in this regulation for the same retail or wholesale cut of the lowest grade of kosher beef.

(b) Beef variety meats and beef by-products. You must not put different types of beef variety meats or beef by-products, or variety meats or edible by-products coming from different kinds of animals, together in your showcase.

SEC. 7. Posting ceiling prices. Not later than twenty days after the effective date of this regulation, you must post at your store your "Official OPS List of Retail Kosher Beef Prices". You may use an exact copy of the OPS List if the printing is as legible and at least as large. Put it at or near the place where your meat sales are made and where your customers can easily see and read it. You must have at least one list posted for each 20 feet of meat counter space. You may get your official copies of the price lists for posting or copying from your District Office. When you display a kosher beef cut or certain kosher beef variety meat or beef by-product the ceiling price of which is specified in this regulation, you must put your selling price for that product on the display.

SEC. 8. Customary sales receipts. You shall give customers the sales slip, receipt or other record of purchase you have customarily given. In addition, you shall, upon request by any customer, give him a receipt showing the date of sale, your name and address, the name, weight and the price you receive for each kosher beef cut or certain kosher beef variety meat or beef by-product sold and the grade of each kosher beef cut sold.

SEC. 9. Taxes. You may collect, in addition to your ceiling price, any tax upon or incident to a retail sale of food covered by this regulation if you state the tax separately, and if the statute or ordinance does not prohibit sellers from stating and collecting the tax separately from the price.

SEC. 10. Transfer of business and stock in trade. If at any time after December 31, 1950, you acquired in any way the business, assets, and stock in trade of any retail store covered by this regulation and you carried on the business or continued to deal in the same type of food products in that same store, your ceiling prices shall be the same as those of the former owner as if no transfer had taken place. You must keep all the records needed to verify your ceiling prices. The former owner must either preserve and make available to you, or give you, all the records of his transactions before you acquired the store which you need to comply with the record provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 11. Records—(a) General records. You shall make and preserve, for a period of two years after the effective date of this regulation, the same records you have customarily kept. In addition you must preserve the invoices, freight bills or other written records provided by your meat supplier or suppliers which pertain to purchases of meat made by you. You shall also continue to preserve all records required to be preserved by section 16 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Section 16 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation requires you to preserve the following records:

(1) Those records in your possession showing the prices charged by you for the commodities or services which you delivered or offered to deliver during the period from December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951, inclusive (hereinafter referred to as the "base period"), and also sufficient records to establish the latest net cost incurred by you prior to the end of that period in purchasing the commodities; and

(2) As to all of your deliveries and offers for delivery of commodities, a statement showing the categories of commodities in which you made deliveries and offers for delivery during the base period; or if you sold services, a statement listing the services which you delivered or offered to deliver during the base period; and

(3) As to all of your deliveries and offers for delivery of commodities, a ceiling price list showing the commodities in each category (listing each type, style and kind), or the services, delivered or offered for delivery by you during the base period together with a description or identification of each such commodity or service and a statement of the ceiling price. (Your ceiling price list may refer to an attached price list or catalogue. You may satisfy the requirements of this paragraph (3) by recording on your purchase invoice covering the commodities (including every type, style and kind) delivered or offered for delivery by you during the base period, the price at which you sold, offered the commodities for delivery, during the base period); and

(4) A statement of your customary price differentials for terms and conditions of sale and classes of purchasers, which you had in effect during the base period.

(b) Microfilming records. All records required to be preserved under this section may, after the expiration of 90 days after the date of the transaction to which they relate, be transferred to and preserved thereafter on microfilm.

(c) Inspection by OPS representatives. You shall show the records required by this section to be preserved to any OPS representative upon request.

SEC. 12. Reports on cured beef items. If you apply for a ceiling price on an item described in section 4 (c), your application shall include the following data:

(a) A description of the item, including the name of the item.

(b) The cut and grade of beef used in the item.

(c) A complete description of its preparation.

(d) The type of wrapping or packaging used.

(e) The manner in which the product differs from the most similar type of product of the same type for which a ceiling price is established in section 3.

(f) The cost of any operations which are added to or eliminated from the manufacture of the most similar product of the same type for which a ceiling price is established in section 3.

SEC. 13. Evasion. (a) You shall not evade the provisions of this regulation, by direct or indirect methods in connection with an offer, solicitation or agreement relating to the sale, delivery, purchase, transfer or receipt of beef, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or service, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, wrapping, packaging, or other charge or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by changing the selection, grading or the style of dressing, cutting, trimming, cooking or otherwise processing, or the wrapping or packaging of beef or otherwise.

(b) Among other, the following practices are considered evasions and are prohibited:

(1) Boning and/or rolling of any rib roast of beef other than those of utility or cutter and canner grades, at any time prior to receiving a specific order from a customer for the particular rib roast which is to be boned and/or rolled.

(2) Pre-cubing of steaks from any kosher beef cut.

(3) Selling or delivering or offering to sell or deliver kosher beef cuts or certain kosher beef variety meats or beef by-products at a price higher than the ceiling price established by Ceiling Price Regulation 25 for the corresponding non-kosher item or at the ceiling price fixed herein, unless you maintain a store at or through which you regularly and generally sell kosher meats.

(4) Adding any charge for delivery service.

(5) Selling to consumers wholesale kosher beef cuts for which retail prices have not been established in section 30 of this regulation.

(6) Keeping in your store, refrigerator, cooler or warehouse any beef which does not have the grade name or grademark on each wholesale kosher cut.

(7) Falsely or incorrectly invoicing or grading beef.

(8) Offering, selling or delivering a beef cut, beef variety meat or beef by-product on condition that the buyer purchase another commodity or service.

(9) Removing the grademark from any kosher carcass or kosher beef cut, except when the removal cannot be avoided in preparing a retail kosher beef cut in accordance with the specifications listed in Appendix 4.

(10) Buying, receiving, selling or offering for sale any retail kosher beef cut obtained from a kosher carcass or wholesale kosher beef cut which has not been graded or grade marked in accordance with Office of Price Stabilization Distribution Regulation 2.

(11) Buying, receiving, selling or offering for sale any wholesale kosher beef cut which has not been graded or grade marked in accordance with Office of Price Stabilization Distribution Regulation 2.

SEC. 14. Prohibitions—(a) Selling at prices above ceiling. Regardless of any contract, agreement or other obligations, (1) you shall not sell or deliver any kosher beef item at a price higher than the ceiling price established for such item by this regulation; (2) you shall not buy or receive, in the regular course of trade or business, any kosher beef item at a price higher than the ceiling prices established for such item by this regulation; and (3) you shall not agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing.

(b) Selling other than defined items. Regardless of any contract, agreement or other obligation, you shall not sell or deliver or offer to sell or deliver a kosher beef item unless such item is listed in Appendixes 3, 4 or 5. However, this shall not prevent you from selling cured beef items described in section 4 (b) if you sold them during the calendar year 1950 or purchase them for resale, nor shall it prevent you from selling other beef variety meats, beef by-products, sausage or sterile canned beef items.

SEC. 15. Enforcement. On and after the effective date of this regulation, if you violate any provision of this regulation, or any order issued pursuant to it, you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions and suits for treble damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950. Also, any person who in the course of trade or business buys from you at a price higher than your ceiling price is subject to the criminal penalties and civil enforcement actions provided for by that Act.

SEC. 16. Petitions for amendment. If you seek an amendment of any provision of this regulation, you may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation 1, issued by OPS.

SEC. 17. Less than ceiling prices. You may charge, demand, pay or offer lower prices for kosher beef items than are established by this regulation.

SEC. 18. Ceiling prices for non-graded and improperly cut cuts. (a) If, in violation of the requirements of a regulation issued by OPS, a kosher beef cut has either not been graded and grademarked or the grade mark has been removed (except when such removal cannot be avoided in preparing a retail beef cut in accordance with the specifications listed in Appendix 4), your ceiling price for that kosher cut shall be the price for that same cut of utility grade.

(b) If a kosher beef cut does not satisfy the standard cut specifications provided in Appendixes 3 or 4, your ceiling price for that cut shall be, in the case of a kosher wholesale cut, the ceiling price specified for shank of utility grade, and in the case of a kosher retail cut, the ceiling price specified for plate (bone in) of utility grade.

(c) Nothing in paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section shall in any way excuse the violation of the grading, grade marking or cutting requirements of Distribution Regulation 2 or of this regulation.

ARTICLE II—SALES TO EATING PLACES AND OTHER RETAILERS

SEC. 20. Stores selling less than 25 percent to eating places—(a) Limitation on sales. You may not during any calendar month sell more than 25 percent of your total dollar volume of meat sales during that month to eating places unless you comply with the provisions of section 21.

(b) Ceiling prices. If you do not exceed the 25 percent limit in any calendar month your ceiling prices for sales of kosher beef cuts and certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products to eating places shall be the same as the ceiling prices for sales to consumers as set forth in section 3. If, however, during any calendar month you sell more than the 25 percent limit, you shall not only be in violation of section 20 (a) but your ceiling prices for sales to eating places of kosher beef cuts and certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of section 32.

SEC. 21. Stores customarily selling more than 25 percent to eating places—(a) Limitations on sales. If your store during any calendar quarter in 1950 sold more than 25 percent of its dollar volume of meat sales to eating places, you may sell to eating places the same percentage of dollar sales of meat as you sold in the corresponding quarter in 1950 provided you file the report provided for in section 21 (c) and keep the appropriate records required by section 24. If your total dollar volume of meat sales to eating places during any current three-month period is in excess of the dollar volume permitted by this section or if you otherwise violate or fail to comply with its requirements you shall thereafter be subject to the limitations provided in section 20 (a).

(b) Ceiling prices. If, in accordance with section 21 (a) you are permitted to sell and you do sell more than 25 percent of your dollar volume of meat sales to eating establishments for any quarter, your ceiling prices for sales of kosher beef cuts and certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products to eating places for that quarter and for all subsequent periods, shall be those set forth in section 32 of this regulation.

(c) Reporting requirements. If you desire to sell more than 25 percent of your total dollar volume of meat sales to eating places you shall file with your OPS District Office a signed statement containing:

(1) The name and address of your store;

(2) The total dollar volume of your meat sales to eating places during each calendar quarter of 1950; and

(3) The total dollar volume of meat you sold during each calendar quarter.

You shall mail this report to your OPS District Office by registered mail, return receipt requested. You shall retain the receipt for a period of two years. Any statement filed in accordance with this Section shall also satisfy the similar filing requirements of Ceiling Price Regulation 25.

SEC. 22. Adjustment for local shortages. Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 20 or 21, upon a finding by the Director of Price Stabilization that there is not within an area or areas meat sufficient to supply the requirements of eating places, and that this condition has occurred because of an increase in population in such area or areas by the establishment and maintenance of a project or projects connected directly with the defense effort, the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington, D. C., may, by order, designate such area as a deficiency area for such period as he may prescribe. Upon the Director's designation of any specific area as a deficiency area, the OPS District Director for the District in which the deficiency area is located may authorize any store customarily serving such area to sell kosher beef cuts and certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products, at or below the ceiling prices specified in section 32, to eating places located in such area in such volume and subject to such terms and conditions as he deems necessary.

SEC. 23. Sales to other retailers. You may sell from your store to other retailers for resale, or buy from the stores of other retailers for resale, kosher beef cuts and certain kosher beef variety meats and edible beef by-products if you comply with the rules set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) Rules for selling to other retailers.

Rule 1. You (the retailer who is selling) must sell to consumers more than 50 percent of the total dollar volume of meat sales from your store during each current month;

Rule 2. During any month you must not sell to other retailers more than 40 percent of the total dollar volume of meat sales from your store;

Rule 3. You must keep records, either weekly or monthly, showing the total dollar volume of meat sales from your store;

Rule 4. You must keep records in the same form as those you keep under Rule 3, showing the total dollar volume of meat sales to other retailers and eating places, if any, from your store;

Rule 5. You must not sell the buying retailer wholesale kosher cuts of beef; and Rule 6. You must not charge the buying retailer for kosher beef cuts or certain kosher beef variety meats or beef by-products more than the ceiling prices provided in section 32.

(b) Rules for buying from other retailers.

Rule 1. You (the retailer who is buying) must not buy wholesale kosher cuts of beef from the selling retailer;

Rule 2. You must keep records, either weekly or monthly, showing the total dollar volume of meat bought from the selling retailer;

Rule 3. You must not pay the selling retailer for kosher beef cuts or certain kosher beef variety meats or beef by-products more than the ceiling prices provided in section 32; and Rule 4. You must not charge your customers for kosher beef cuts or certain kosher beef variety meats or beef by-products more than the respective ceiling prices provided in sections 30 and 31.

(c) Violation of rules. If you violate any one of the foregoing rules provided for you in this section, you may not thereafter sell to, or buy from, other retailers, kosher beef cuts and certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products.

SEC. 24. Records of sales to eating places and other retailers. On all sales of meat to eating places you shall keep records, and give receipts to each buyer, showing the name and address of the buyer, the date of the sale, your name and address, and the details of each order, including the name, weight, grade and price charged for each kosher beef cut, and certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products. If you are permitted to sell kosher beef cuts and certain kosher beef variety meats and beef by-products to other retailers for resale purposes, you must keep records of each transaction and give receipts showing the same facts you are required to show on your sales to eating places. Moreover, if you sell meat to eating places or other retailers, you shall keep records, either weekly or monthly, showing the total dollar volume of meat sales to all buyers and the total dollar volume of meat sales to eating places and the total dollar volume of meat sales to other retailers during the same period. You shall also keep the records or data upon which you base the report you submit pursuant to section 21 (c).

(All measurements prescribed herein shall be made with a rigid straight ruler. All cuts shall be made according to the definite guides and measurements specified. Ribs are designated as 1st to 13th, inclusive, counting as the 1st rib that one which is nearest the neck end of the side). You must cut the beef carcasses, side, quarter or combination cut of beef into the following cuts before you make the standard kosher retail cuts.

(a) Hindquarter means the posterior portion of the side remaining after the severance of the 12-rib forequarter from the side, and comprising the round, full loin including the 13th rib, flank, kidney and hanging tender all in one piece, which posterior portion shall be obtained by cutting the beef side between the 12th and 13th ribs, keeping the knife firmly against the 12th rib while cutting down the length of the rib to the point at the end of the rib where the rib joins the rib (costal) cartilage, from which point passing through the cartilage and meat of the flank and short plate in the same straight line, completing the cut.

(b) Forequarter means the anterior portion of the side remaining after the severance of the 1-rib hindquarter from the side and comprises the rib, regular chuck, brisket, short plate and fore-shank, all in one piece, which anterior portion contains the first to the twelfth ribs, inclusive. The cross cut chuck shall contain five (5) ribs (1st to 5th, inclusive).

(d) Regular chuck means the portion of the cross cut chuck remaining after the severance of the foreshank and brisket from the cross cut chuck, and containing most of the blade bone (scapula), part of the (humerus) arm bone, parts of the five ribs (1st to 5th, inclusive), that section of the back bone attached to the ribs, and the neck bone (cervical vertebrae from 1 to 7, inclusive), which portion shall be obtained by a cut through the cross cut chuck made in a straight line perpendicular to the contour of the outside or skin surface of the cross cut chuck (thereby separating the brisket and foreshank from the cross cut chuck) starting at a fixed point on the inside of the 5th rib determined by measuring off ten (10) inches along the 5th rib in a straight line from the center of the protruding edge of the 5th thoracic vertebra, continuing in the same straight line to the tip of the forward end of the breast bone (forward end of 1st segment of sternum), and passing through the (humerus) arm bone in the same straight line to complete the cut.

NOTE: The 10-inch measurement shall be made from the center of the protruding edge of the 5th thoracic vertebra and not from the hollow of the chine bone where the 5th rib joins the 5th thoracic vertebra.

(e) Foreshank means the portion of the cross cut chuck remaining after the severance of the regular chuck and brisket from the cross cut chuck, which portion shall be obtained (after separation of the regular chuck) by separation from the brisket by a cut following the natural seam and leaving the entire lip, or web muscle on the brisket.

(f) Brisket means the portion of the cross cut chuck remaining after the severance of the regular chuck and foreshank from the cross cut chuck, which portion contains parts of four ribs (2d to 5th, inclusive), part of the breast bone and the rib (costal) cartilages which connect the ends of the rib bones with the breast bone. All heart (mediastinal) fat, but no other fat shall be removed from the brisket.

(g) Rib means the portion of the forequarter remaining after the severance of the cross cut chuck and short plate from the forequarter, and containing parts of seven ribs (6th to 12th, inclusive), that section of the backbone attached to the ribs, posterior tip and cartilage of the blade bone (scapula), part of the blade bone (scapula) which portion shall be obtained (by separation from the short plate) by a straight cut across the ribs starting at a fixed point determined by measuring off 10 inches on the inside of the 12th rib along the 12th rib from the center of the inside protruding edge of the 12th thoracic vertebra and continuing to and through a fixed point determined by measuring off 10 inches on the inside of the 6th rib along the 6th rib from the center of the inside protruding edge of the 6th thoracic vertebra.

NOTE: The 10-inch measurements shall be made from the centers of the protruding edges of the 6th and 12th thoracic vertebra, and not from the hollow of the chine bone.

(h) Short plate means the portion of the forequarter remaining after the severance of the cross cut chuck and the rib from the forequarter, and containing parts of seven ribs (6th to 12th, inclusive), the rib (costal) cartilages attached to them, and part of the breast bone.

(i) Triangle means the portion of the forequarter remaining after the severance of the rib from the forequarter, and containing the short plate, brisket, foreshank and regular chuck all in one piece, which portion shall be obtained by removing the rib from the forequarter by a straight cut across the ribs starting at a fixed point determined by measuring off 10 inches on the inside of the 12th rib along the 12th rib from the center of the inside of the protruding edge of the 12th thoracic vertebra and continuing to a fixed point determined by measuring off 10 inches on the inside of the 6th rib along the 6th rib from the center of the inside protruding edge of the 6th thoracic vertebra, and severing the rib from the forequarter by a second cut made in a straight line between the 5th and 6th ribs, keeping the knife firmly against the 5th rib to the point where the second cut meets the end of the first cut.

GCPR, SR 28—Modified Methods of Ceiling Price Determination for Certain Mail Order Establishments

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stbilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 28 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 808) is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

Issuance of General Ceiling Price Regulation on January 26, 1951, has been followed by certain specific ceiling price regulations which have been tailored to meet the needs of individual levels of production or distribution. It is recognized that additional adjustments and regulations are necessary to prevent and correct hardships and inequities experienced by industry and trade segments and to apply to such segments, types of controls specially adapted to their requirements.

While a large portion of retail sales has already been placed under margin regulation, considerable portions still remain under the General Ceiling Price Regulation where they are badly "squeezed" at present.

Mail order establishments, which published their catalogs months before the December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951 base period of General Ceiling Price Regulation, clearly have been subjected to a price freeze more stringent than was the case for other segments of the retail trade. For this group, unlike any other defined portion of the retail trade, base period prices are catalog prices, based upon costs of merchandise in effect several months earlier than the base period.

Many mail order organizations are presently endeavoring to price catalogs for the fall season. Relief in the form of margin price control, which might be made available to retailers in general during the next few months, could not practically be applied to these mail order organizations after their catalogs are in print. It therefore becomes necessary to permit immediate authorization to these organizations of methods of pricing which modify those of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Under the terms of this Supplementary Regulation, such authorization may be granted, provided the method of price determination is based on markups no higher than those in effect prior to October 15, 1950.

Mail order sellers of the type covered by this supplementary regulation lend themselves peculiarly to its special pricing provisions, since their catalogs issue regularly at stated seasons of the year and since such sellers have at hand appropriate data for corresponding seasons of the previous year. The situation therefore clearly warrants the action which has been here taken.

Sec.
1. What this regulation does.
2. Contents of application.
3. Orders.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 and 2 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. (a) Any "long-term catalog mail order establishment" may, in accordance with the provisions of this Supplementary Regulation, apply for and receive an order permitting it to use methods of determining ceiling prices for mail order sales at retail, modifying those which it would otherwise have under General Ceiling Price Regulation.

(b) A "long-term catalog mail order establishment" is a person who regularly makes deliveries by mail to individual ultimate consumers in response to orders received by mail for merchandise selected from catalogs or other printed price lists having effective periods of at least four months and covering the same seasons or calendar periods in each year.

SEC. 2. Contents of application. An application for an order for a method of ceiling price determination shall be filed with the Distribution Price Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. The applicant in its application shall state:

(a) Its name and address.

(b) Information showing that it is a long-term catalog mail order establishment as defined in section 1.

(c) The date or dates on which it finally determined selling prices published in its catalog in effect during the period of December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951.

(d) That applicant's ceiling prices under the General Ceiling Price Regulation for mail order sales at retail are generally no higher than its selling prices determined prior to October 15, 1950.

(e) The methods of ceiling price determination it proposes to use in lieu of those prescribed in the General Ceiling Price Regulation. These methods must, in general, result in markups no higher than those which the applicant used in determining prices prior to October 15, 1950.

SEC. 3. Orders. If it appears from the application that applicant is a "long-term catalog mail order establishment" and that its ceiling prices under the General Ceiling Price Regulation for mail order sales at retail are generally the same as its selling prices determined prior to October 15, 1950, the Director may by order establish for the applicant a special method of determining ceiling prices for its mail order sales at retail. No such special method will be authorized unless it is based on markups no higher than those which the applicant used in determining prices prior to October 15, 1950.

Effective date. This Supplementary Regulation 28 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation shall become effective May 22, 1951.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this supplementary regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

INT. 18—PRODUCT LINES IN THE FURNITURE INDUSTRY

In determining what a product line is under section 15 (a) (i), furniture manufactures have a wide choice open to them. They may determine a product line on a "horizontal" basis; i. e. by reference to a suite such as a dinette set, a bedroom suite, a dining room suite, etc. They may determine a product line on a "vertical" basis, that is, take a number of beds, occasional tables, dining room tables, dressers, chairs, etc., as a product line.

Manufacturers of "open stock" furniture who do not make suites which sell as an unit may still classify on a horizontal basis providing that the items classified together as a product line belong to the same general quality classification.

Upholstered furniture may not be classified in the same product line with wood or metal furniture. High quality deluxe items may not be classified in the same product line as popular priced furniture.

The cardinal test is whether items classed together in a product line are made by the same manufacturing process from substantially the same materials. This is not normally the case unless the labor cost ratio and the materials cost ratio would be very close were the items computed on an individual commodity basis.

[General Wage Regulation 9, Amdt. 1]

GWR 9—WAGE SCHEDULES FOR NEW PLANTS

REQUESTS FOR MODIFICATION OF CRITERIA FOR ESTABLISHING RATES OF WAGES IN NEW PLANTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), Executive Order 10233 (16 F. R. 3503), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 3 (16 F. R. 739), this Amendment 1 to General Wage Regulation 9 is hereby issued.

General Wage Regulation 9 is amended to add Section 4 as follows:

SEC. 4. The Wage Stabilization Board will consider requests for modification of the criteria specified in section 2 of this regulation where the application of such criteria with respect to the internal structure of a wage schedule or with respect to supplemental compensation practices would be unworkable or would cause undue hardships in the circumstances of the particular case. Such requests should be accompanied by a full and clear statement of the circumstances on which the request is based. Terms of compensation not in accordance with section 2 of this regulation may not be put into effect without prior authorization by the Wage Stabilization Board.

Chapter VI—National Production Authority, Department of Commerce

[NPA Order M-13, as amended May 17, 1951]

RAYON—LIMITATION FOR DO RATED ORDERS

EDITORIAL NOTE: The following is a complete restatement of NPA Order M-13, embodying all changes effected by the amendment to said Order M-13 as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, May 18, 1951, 16 F. R. 4656.

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

This amendment affects NPA Order M-13, as last amended February 15, 1951, by changing the percentage figure in section 5 from 15 to 30 percent. As so amended, NPA Order M-13 reads as follows:

Sec.
1. What this order does.
2. High tenacity rayon yarn covered by this order.
3. Required delivery dates.
4. Rejection of rated orders.
5. Limitation on acceptance of rated orders.
6. NPA assistance in placing rated orders.
7. Applications for adjustment or exception.
8. Communications.
9. Records and reports.
10. Violations.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 10 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order applies particularly to producers of high tenacity rayon yarn and provides rules for placing, accepting, and scheduling rated orders for these yarns. Its purpose is to provide equitable distribution of rated orders among all producers of yarns covered by this order and thus to reduce to a minimum disruption of normal distribution and to promote maximum production. It supplements NPA Reg. 2, but only those provisions of NPA Reg. 2 which are contradictory to this order are superseded, and all other provisions of that regulation continue to apply to the yarns covered by this order.

SEC. 2. High tenacity rayon yarn covered by this order. High tenacity yarn to which this order applies is defined to mean viscose rayon yarn qualifying as yarn of 250 denier or coarser and having an average tenacity of 3 grams per denier or higher, irrespective of elongation, in tests made under the following conditions, whether produced for shipment by the rayon producer in the form of singles yarn, plies, cord, or cord fabric:

(a) Yarns with three turns per inch twist shall be used:

(b) Yarn shall be conditioned until it reaches a regain equilibrium, approached from the dry side, in an atmosphere of 70 degrees Fahrenheit and 57 percent relative humidity.

(c) The loading rate on a constant-rate-of-loading machine shall be from 30 to 35, inclusive, grams per denier per minute. The loading rate on a pendulum type machine shall not exceed 35 grams per denier per minute.

(d) A denier tolerance of 3 percent, plus or minus, on deniers of 250 to 300 shall be allowed, based on the average denier of the lot tested. A denier tolerance of 2 percent, plus or minus, on deniers coarser than 300 shall be allowed, based on the average denier of the lot tested.

SEC. 3. Required delivery dates. A rated order for high tenacity rayon yarn must specify delivery in a particular month, which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. The producer of such rayon yarn must schedule the order for delivery within the requested month as early as practicable in accordance with the provisions of NPA Reg. 2.

SEC. 4. Rejection of rated orders. A producer of high tenacity rayon yarn need not accept a rated order therefor which is received less than 30 days prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is requested, unless specifically directed to accept the order by the NPA.

SEC. 5. Limitation on acceptance of rated orders. Unless otherwise specifically directed by the NPA, no producer shall be required to accept rated orders for shipment in any one month of high tenacity rayon yarn (whether in the form of singles yarn, plies, cord, or cord fabric) in excess of 30 percent of his scheduled production of such rayon yarns in that month.

SEC. 6. NPA assistance in placing rated orders. Any person who is unable to place a rated order for high tenacity rayon yarn due to the limitations imposed by section 5, should report such fact to the NPA, specifying the producers who refused to accept the order. The NPA will arrange to assist such person in locating sources of supply.

SEC. 7. Applications for adjustment or exception. Any producer subject to this order may file an application for an adjustment or exception upon the ground that it works an exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by other producers, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each application shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought and shall state the justification therefor.

SEC. 8. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M-13.

SEC. 9. Records and reports. Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 10. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or who wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

This order, as amended, shall take effect on May 17, 1951.

[SEAL] MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Administrator.

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans' Administration

SERVICEMEN'S INDEMNITY FOR DEATH

A new § 4.453 is added to read as follows:

§ 4.453 Servicemen's indemnity for death—(a) Definitions. As used in this section the word "indemnity" refers to the automatic indemnity which is payable solely by virtue of Part I, Public Law 23, 82d Congress, and the word "insurance" refers to National Service life insurance and or United States Government life insurance. The word "serviceman" refers to the person on whose service the payment of an indemnity is based.

(b) General conditions of title. The indemnity will be payable: Provided, That

(1) The serviceman's service and death comes within the purview of paragraph (c) of this section;

(2) The serviceman had either no insurance or insurance with a face value of less than $10,000 in force at the time of his death (paragraph (h) of this section);

(3) The rights to an indemnity are not barred by the forfeiture provisions outlined in paragraph (i) of this section; and that

(4) The serviceman was survived by a relative or relatives within the permitted class as stated in paragraph (d) of this section.

(c) Basic requirements of service and death. (1) The indemnity may be granted in claims based on active service rendered on or after June 27, 1950, in any of the categories described in this subparagraph. Death must have occurred in service, or, if the serviceman had been called to extended active duty for a period exceeding 30 days, the indemnity may be payable if death occurred within 120 days after separation or release from such active service.

(i) Active service in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, or the reserve components thereof;

(ii) National Guard when called to active duty or active training duty for 14 days or more (the protection afforded for death occurring after separation from service is not extended unless the serviceman was called to extended active duty for a period exceeding 30 days);

(iii) Cadets and midshipmen at the United States Military, Naval, and Coast Guard Academies;

(iv) Commissioned officers of the Public Health Service while entitled to full military benefits as provided in section 212 (a) of the act of July 1, 1944, as amended;

(v) Commissioned officers of the Coast and Geodetic Survey while assigned to duty during a period of war or an emergency as proclaimed by the President or the Congress on projects for the Army, Navy, or Air Force in areas outside the continental United States or in Alaska or in coastal areas of the United States determined by the Department of Defense to be of immediate military hazard.

(2) The indemnity may be granted in claims where under the circumstances described in this subparagraph, the serviceman is deemed to have been in active service for the purposes of this Act at the time of his death. It should be borne in mind that under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, death must have occurred while engaged in an aerial flight, and that under subdivision (ii) and (iii) of this subparagraph, death must have been due to a disability incurred under the conditions specified.

(i) Persons who served on or after June 27, 1950, in the reserve components, including the National Guard, while engaged in aerial flights in government owned or leased aircraft for any period with or without pay as an incident to military or naval training;

(ii) Persons who have been or are provisionally accepted on or after June 27, 1950, and directed to report to a place for final acceptance or for entry upon active duty in the military or naval service and who died or shall die as the result of disability incurred while en route to such place and within 120 days after the incurrence of such disability;

(iii) Registrants under the Selective Service Act of 1948, as amended, who on or after June 27, 1950, in response to an order to report for induction into the armed forces and who after reporting to a local draft board died or dies as the result of disability incurred while en route from such draft board to a designated induction station and within 120 days after the incurrence of such disability.

(d) Persons entitled. The indemnity is payable to the surviving spouse, child or children (including a stepchild, adopted child or an illegitimate child, if the latter was designated as beneficiary by the serviceman), parent (including a stepparent, parent by adoption, or person who stood in loco parentis to the serviceman at any time prior to entry into the active service for a period of not less than one year), brother or sister of the serviceman (including those of the half blood and those through adoption). Unless designated otherwise by the serviceman the term "parent" includes only the mother and father who last bore that relationship to the serviceman.

(e) Determination of eligible persons. The serviceman has the right to designate the beneficiary or beneficiaries of the indemnity within the classes designated in paragraph (d) of this section; to designate the proportion of the principal amount to be paid to each; and to change the beneficiary or beneficiaries without the consent thereof but only within the classes designated. If the designated beneficiary or beneficiaries do not survive the serviceman, or if none has been designated, the indemnity will be paid to the first eligible class of beneficiaries according to the order set forth in paragraph (d) of this section and in equal shares if the class is composed of more than one person. Any installments of an indemnity not paid to a beneficiary during such beneficiary's lifetime shall be paid to the named contingent beneficiary, if any; otherwise to the beneficiary or beneficiaries within the permitted class next entitled to priority. No payment shall be made to the estate of any deceased person.

(f) Evidence requirements. Proof of death of the serviceman shall, pursuant to this act, be established by certification by the Secretary of the Department concerned and relationship of the beneficiary will be shown by evidence as outlined in §§ 3.46, 3.50, and 3.55 of this chapter. The relationship of a brother or sister of the full blood or half blood shall be established by proof of birth as outlined in § 3.46 of this chapter, of both the serviceman and the claimant showing that both the serviceman and the claimant had one or both parents in common; a brother or sister by adoption, by proof of birth of the natural child and a certified copy of the court decree of adoption of the other child by one or both of the serviceman's parents. Proof of marriage or remarriage of a beneficiary will not be required solely for the purpose of establishing a change of name.

(g) Method of payment. The indemnity will be payable in 120 monthly installments beginning as of the date of death of the serviceman at the rate of $9.29 per month per thousand to the person or persons entitled. If there are 2 or more payees, and the equal or pro rata division of the monthly payment would normally require payments involving fractions of a cent, these fractions will be absorbed by reducing payment to one or more of the payees to the next lower cent and raising the payment to one or more of the payees to the next higher cent. If there is only one payee and payment of the monthly installment would otherwise involve a fraction of a cent, the amount will be increased to the next higher cent if the fraction is one-half cent or more, and will be decreased to the next lower cent if the fraction is less than one-half cent.

(h) Amount of indemnity payable. If at the date of death the serviceman had no insurance in force, the indemnity will be paid in the principal amount of $10,000. If the serviceman had insurance in force in an amount less than $10,000, the indemnity will be paid in the principal amount of $10,000, minus the face value of the insurance in force at the date of death. If insurance having a face value of $10,000 was in force at the date of death, the indemnity will not be payable.

(i) Forfeiture. Any person who is guilty of mutiny, treason, spying or desertion, or who because of conscientious objections refuses to perform services in the land or naval forces of the United States or refuses to wear the uniform of such force, forfeits all right to an indemnity under this act: Provided, That restoration to active duty after commission of any such offense restores all rights to the indemnity. It should be borne in mind that under this provision for restoration of rights upon restoration to active duty persons who have forfeited insurance rights under section 612, National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, have not necessarily forfeited rights to the indemnity. No indemnity is payable for death inflicted as a lawful punishment for crime or for military or naval offense, except when inflicted by an enemy of the United States.

(j) Other applicable laws. The provisions of Public No. 262, 74th Congress (act of August 12, 1935), as amended, Titles II and III of Public No. 844, 74th Congress (act of June 29, 1936), as amended, and section 15 of Public No. 2, 73d Congress (act of March 20, 1933), insofar as they are applicable, shall apply to the provisions of Part I of the act.

(k) Assignments. Assignments of all or any part of the beneficiary's interest may be made by a beneficiary to any other person or persons within the permitted class of beneficiaries as specified in paragraph (d) of this section if all other persons having contingent rights of equal or greater priority to those of the assignee join in the assignment. Such an assignment shall not affect any payments made prior to its receipt by the Veterans Administration. Assignments may be made at any time subsequent to the death of the serviceman regardless of whether any installments have been paid. In the event of the death of the assignee prior to receiving all installments the remaining installments will become payable to the person(s) surviving in the permitted class set forth in paragraph (d) of this section and in the order of preference named in that paragraph. The privilege of assignment is available to persons whose title arises through devolution as well as to persons who are designated beneficiaries.

(l) Attorneys' fees. The payment of an attorney's fee as contemplated by section 201, Title II, Public No. 844, 74th Congress, shall not exceed $10 in any one claim and in all cases fees shall be deducted from the indemnity allowed (Instruction No. 1, Part I, Public Law 23, 82d Congress)

(Sec. 5, 43 Stat. 608, as amended, sec. 2, 46 Stat. 1016, sec. 7, 48 Stat. 9; 38 U. S. C. 11a, 426, 707)

This regulation is effective May 19, 1951.

Deputy Administrator.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 9425]

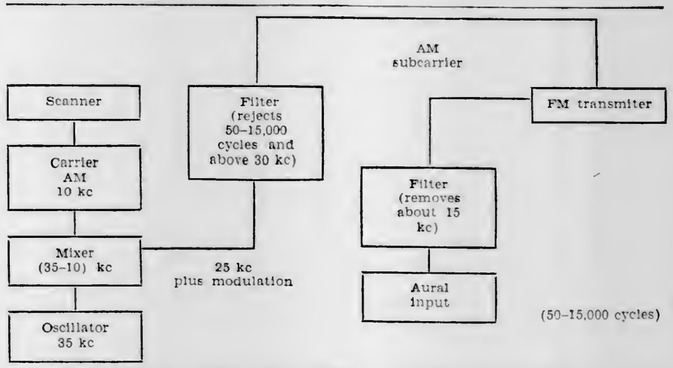
FACSIMILE BROADCASTING

In the matter of amendment of Part 3, Subpart B, § 3.266 (b) of the Commission's rules and regulations, and section 1 and 8 of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations, pertaining to facsimile broadcasting.

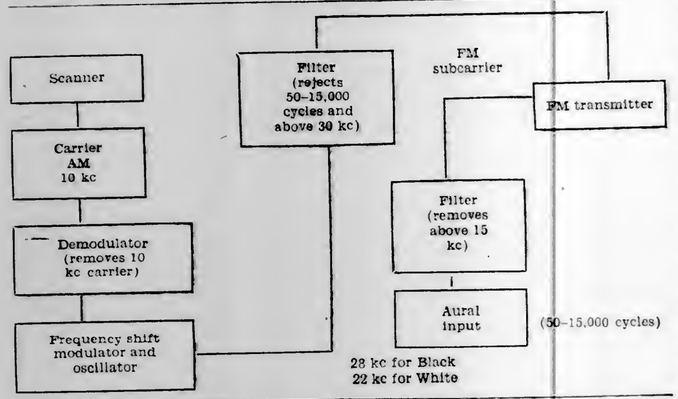


1. This proceeding was commenced at the instance of petitioner Radio Inventions, Inc. which later changed its name to Hogan Laboratories, Inc., and is so referred to hereinafter. Said petitioner, on May 27, 1949, filed a request for a rule making proceeding looking to amendment of § 3.266 (b) of the Commission's rules and regulations to permit multiplexing upon an unlimited time basis and to delete the present provision in said rules permitting degradation of the FM aural program to 10,000 cycles. In its petition, Hogan Laboratories alleged that it had developed a multiplexing system which, on bench tests, was found to cause neither degradation of the aural program below 15,000 cycles nor interference in standard FM sound receivers; that its multiplexing system complied with the specifications set forth by the Commission in Docket No. 8751;[1] and that the Commission should, accordingly, amend § 3.266 (b) to allow multiplex facsimile upon an unlimited time basis. Upon consideration of said petition, the Commission decided that it would be desirable to determine the over-all status of multiplex facsimile broadcasting before taking action thereon.

2. The initial notice of August 24, 1949, in this matter, announced that a hearing would be held before the Commission en banc on December 12, 1949, in Washington, D. C. A subsequent order, adopted November 16, 1949, provided that the hearing would be before Commissioner Jones. On December 6, 1949, Commissioner Jones granted the motion of petitioner Hogan Laboratories, Inc., the only party to file a timely appearance in the proceeding, to change the place of hearing from Washington, D. C. to New York City at the offices of Hogan Laboratories, Inc. The hearing was held on December 12, 1949. At the opening of the hearing, William S. Halstead personally appeared and requested the Hearing Officer to permit him to participate in the proceeding on behalf of Communications Research Corporation although no appearance had previously been filed on behalf of said Corporation; this request was granted.

3. The issues in the hearing were designed to obtain information concerning the development and status of multiplex facsimile and FM aural broadcasting; to determine public demand for such multiplexing service; to obtain full information concerning U. S. patents with claims directed to or covering multiplex facsimile transmitting systems or equipment; to determine whether multiplex facsimile broadcasting should be authorized upon an unlimited basis at this time; and, if so, to determine the transmission standards to be employed.

4. The only witnesses to testify at the December 12, 1949, hearing were John V. L. Hogan, on behalf of petitioner Hogan Laboratories, Inc. and William S. Halstead, on behalf of Communications Research Corporation. Mr. Hogan's testimony, supported by exhibits and demonstrations, was to the general effect that the Hogan Laboratories had developed a multiplexing system which satisfied the Commission's specifications[1] for an acceptable sound-facsimile multiplex broadcast service and that the art was now sufficiently developed to justify the amendment of the rules and regulations to delete the present 3 hour per day limitation thereon. He urged in addition, establishment of a standard subcarrier frequency for multiplexing (25 kc); continuation of amplitude modulation of the subcarrier as standard; and retention of the present rules governing simplex facsimile operation. Mr. Halstead, in his presentation, was in general agreement with Mr. Hogan's proposal, except that he recommended amendment of the present FM Engineering Standards, which provide only for amplitude modulation of the facsimile subcarrier, to authorize frequency modulation (frequency shift) of the facsimile subcarrier.



5. The Hogan Laboratories system employs for its facsimile signals a scanner which modulates a 10 kc carrier; this in turn introduces the output to a 35 kc oscillator and mixer, producing an "amplitude modulated" subcarrier of 25 kc. A filter used to remove frequencies below 15,000 cycles, ensures that no appreciable facsimile signals penetrate the aural range of frequencies. This "amplitude modulated" subcarrier and the normal FM aural signal are then introduced into the FM transmitter for transmission in the ordinary manner. The following block diagram illustrates the Hogan system:

6. The multiplexing system developed by Mr. Halstead also uses a scanner to modulate a 10 kc carrier; the resultant output is then connected to a demodulator for removing the 10 kc carrier: the demodulated signal is in turn introduced into a frequency shift modulator and oscillator, which provides at its output a "frequency modulated" subcarrier; this is fed into the FM transmitter for transmission along with the normal aural signals. This use of a subcarrier with frequency modulation (shift), corresponding to the facsimile signal before it enters the FM transmitter, contrasts with the Hogan Laboratories' method of employing a subcarrier with amplitude modulation corresponding to the facsimile signals before it enters the FM transmitter. The following block diagram illustrates the Halstead system:

[1] The Commission's rules and regulations now provide for facsimile broadcasting on either a simplex or multiplex basis. In simplex facsimile, there is no FM aural program transmission on the FM carrier frequency during the facsimile broadcasting period; in multiplexing the FM aural and the facsimile programs are simultaneously transmitted on the FM carrier frequency. The present facsimile rules were promulgated in the Commission's Report and Order in Docket No. 8751, adopted June 9, 1948, which amended § 3.266 (b) of its rules and regulations, effective July 15, 1948, so as to allow FM broadcast stations to "transmit multiplex facsimile and aural broadcasting programs for a maximum of three hours between the hours 7 a. m. and midnight (no limit for the hours between midnight and 7 a. m.) in accordance with transmission standards set forth in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations: Provided, That the transmission of facsimile does not impair the quality of the aural programs below 10,000 cycles per second, and that a filter or other additional equipment is not required for receivers not equipped to receive facsimile." The same report and order stated that the Commission was "of the opinion that ultimately a suitable multiplex system must be developed if FM and facsimile are to operate in the same band. The Commission expects that extensive research will be undertaken looking toward the development of a multiplex facsimile system, particularly one which will not cause any degradation to the full tone range of which FM is capable." The Commission further observed in that Report that "All interested persons are strongly urged to continue multiplex experimentation so that a system can be developed at an early date which involves no degradation of the aural program below 15,000 cycles. In this way, simplex operation can be eliminated entirely and multiplex will be possible during all hours."

7. Concerning their basic claim, that their respective systems as a whole satisfy the Commission's requirement of an interference-free facsimile multiplexing scheme which involves no objectionable degradation of the aural programs simultaneously transmitted, it should be noted that both witnesses pitched their contentions in part upon tests apparently made largely or exclusively with FM receivers containing a de-emphasis circuit operating prior to their first audio stage: No evidence was introduced concerning whether any of the sets tested were of a type without de-emphasis prior to the first audio tube; and, while the former type of circuitry is found in most existing FM receivers—in some—principally FM-only or possibly FM-TV sets—the de-emphasis circuit is incorporated after the first audio stage, with the result that inter-modulation or other similar effects which may occur, may be considerably increased, owing to the presence of the facsimile signal at that point at its original amplitude. Also, for the most part, qualitative rather than quantitative tests were adduced at the hearing in support of the claim that both of these proposed facsimile systems do not degrade aural programs simultaneously transmitted below 15,000 cycles. The observations upon actual receivers, described by these witnesses as having been made at various locations while transmissions of their respective methods of multiplex facsimile were being conducted over FM broadcast stations, were the subjective observations of individuals listening to the test receivers.

8. The Hogan Laboratories, during August and September 1948, subjected their multiplexing system to certain "bench" tests[2] and conducted a series of qualitative field tests in conjunction with Station WQXR-FM New York City, in the course of which more than one hundred twenty standard FM receivers of more than twenty makes were checked, and no interference was found with the sound program caused by the simultaneous facsimile program;[3] during this entire testing period, it was asserted, no listeners to the regular WQXR-FM sound programs complained to the station of interference with the sound program. Similarly, during field tests involving a few test receivers, conducted for 9 hours with Station WFIL-FM, Philadelphia, Pa., for 5 days with Station WEAW, Chicago, Illinois, and for a total of 64 hours with Station WMAQ-FM, Chicago, Illinois, no interference or degradation was allegedly observed by the Hogan staff or other interested persons, and no letters or other communications were received from the listeners to the sound program tending to indicate that interference or degradation had been observed.

9. Concerning the Communications Research Corporation's system of multiplexing, Mr. Halstead testified that he conducted a series of tests in October and November, 1948, on behalf of Rural Radio Network, licensee of several FM stations located in the western portion of New York State, in which multiplex receiving and recording equipment was installed at Station WVFC, Ithaca, New York; WVFC received the Rural Radio Network's regular aural programs and the superimposed facsimile multiplexed signals after radio relay through the Network's Station WVCN, located at De Ruyter, New York, which is about fifty-two airline miles from Ithaca; facsimile recordings of the relayed multiplex facsimile signals were compared with recordings of the same subject matter as transmitted and received locally at the Ithaca station; and that no serious degradation of the facsimile copy was observed. Mr. Halstead stated, in addition, that inquiries made during the test period, of listeners to the Network's aural programs in many parts of New York State, whether they had observed interference or noise failed to elicit reports of interference at any time, although the facsimile multiplex signals were being transmitted by several of the Network's stations in addition to the aural program; and that for more than a week of the test period, operators at outlying stations of the Rural Radio Network were not even aware that facsimile multiplex signals had been superimposed upon the regular aural program, in spite of the fact that at each of these installations, high fidelity monitoring receivers and noise and distortion meters are in regular use. Similarly, no operator at the outlying stations assertedly reported traces

[2] In these tests, facsimile signals were applied to a multiplexer, the output of which was passed into a Boonton Type 78 FM signal generator. For the first measurements, no sound input was applied to the multiplexer. The deviation of the signal generator was set at plus or minus 5 kilocycles on the full black facsimile signal. The radio frequency FM output of the signal generator was connected to the antenna terminals of the radio receiver under test. The output of the receiver was passed through a 15-kilocycle low-pass filter and applied to the terminals of a Ballantine Type 300–A vacuum tube voltmeter. The low-pass filter was employed in order to ensure that the voltmeter would not respond to the inaudible carrier and side-band components, in the vicinity of 25 kilocycles, but would indicate any voltage injected in the full audible spectrum by the facsimile signal.

As an initial calibration procedure, the facsimile input to the multiplexer was disconnected and an audible tone was applied to the sound channel input of the multiplexer and its level adjusted to produce 100% (plus or minus 75 kilocycles deviation) modulation of the signal generator. The output of the system, as read on the Ballantine voltmeter, was recorded. In the interference test proper, the audio input tone was disconnected from the multiplexer and the facsimile input reconnected. The facsimile scanner was set to scan repeatedly a 110 lines per inch black and white raster in order to produce a continuous modulation of the 25-kilocycle subcarrier. The Ballantine voltmeter was carefully watched under this condition, but in no instance was there obtained a reading which could be attributed to interference caused by the facsimile signals. No reading of any sort obtained under these conditions was greater than 60 decibels below 100% modulation, and in no event, when a reading was obtained, did the reading change when the facsimile signals were applied and removed. A number of different receivers were tested quantitatively by the method just described. Among these were Pilotuners and General Electric Model 417–A FM receivers.

[3] Observations made during these tests showed that without exception no sound caused by the facsimile modulation could be heard in the loudspeaker, whether the sound carrier was or was not under modulation, whether the receiver was accurately tuned or slightly detuned, or whether the volume control was set normally or was purposely adjusted at an abnormally high level. In one instance a receiver was found to produce a weak interfering tone corresponding to facsimile modulation, but investigation showed that this particular machine was badly out of alignment, and that the interference disappeared when it was realigned and tuned.

of noise, or other indications of the transmission of facsimile at the time.[4]

10. Mr. Halstead in his testimony conceded the technical feasibility of the Hogan system of AM modulation of the facsimile subcarrier, but urged adoption of the frequency shift (FM) type of facsimile subcarrier modulation, upon the theory that it would lend itself better to a network operation based upon a progressive rebroadcasting technique.[5] Mr. Hogan, on the other hand, conceded at the hearing that use of FM for modulation of the facsimile subcarrier is feasible; he maintained, however, that such a system would be more complex, would require more parts, and that its performance would be no better than that of his own AM system. The countervailing financial and other testimony introduced upon this last point is not persuasive as to the marked superiority of either method: The key component involved in modifying a simplex facsimile receiver to a multiplex receiver is termed the multiplex adapter; the multiplex adapter itself is a minor element in the complete FM-Facsimile receiver and the remainder of the receiver is identical in the two systems of subcarrier modulation. Where the AM system of modulating the facsimile subcarrier is employed, the multiplex adapter is known as an AM multiplex adapter; where the FM system is used, the adapter is called an FM multiplex adapter; and where the adapter is designed to function upon either AM or FM modulation of the facsimile subcarrier, it is termed an AM-FM multiplex adapter. Hogan and Halstead both submitted cost data upon multiplex adapters; however, meaningful comparison of the two estimates is impossible because they were not made upon the same basis.[6]

11. Independent analysis of the circuit diagrams submitted by both parties impels us to the following conclusions concerning the cost of multiplex adapters: The cost of the Hogan AM multiplex adapter should be approximately the same as Halstead's FM multiplex adapter; the cost of modifying Halstead's FM multiplex adapter to an AM-FM adapter should be slight; the cost of modifying Hogan's AM adapter to an AM-FM adapter would double the cost of the AM adapter; the cost of a combination AM-FM multiplex adapter, designed as such from the outset, should not be appreciably more than the cost of either an AM or FM type of adapter alone; finally, the cost of the multiplex adapter would be a small portion of the cost of the complete FM-Facsimile receiver.

12. While the Commission would have preferred more extensive data before authorizing multiplexing on a full-time basis, it appears from a study of the record that approval of the multiplexing systems of either Hogan Laboratories, Inc. or Commercial Research Corporation involves no substantial danger that aural FM programs will be degraded and that both systems satisfy substantially the Commission's basic criteria as set forth in Docket No. 8751.[1] We accordingly conclude that § 3.266 (b) of the Commission's rules and regulations should be amended to permit multiplex facsimile upon an unlimited time basis, to delete the present provision permitting degradation of the FM aural program to 10,000 cycles, and to restore the requirement that the transmission of multiplex facsimile not reduce the quality of aural programs below that required by the FM Engineering Standards. It may be noted in this connection that the present requirement that no degradation result to the reception of aural programs by FM receivers not equipped with filters or other additional equipment to accommodate the facsimile signals is retained.

13. However, the record appears to be inconclusive as to the relative merits of the "Hogan" and "Halstead" systems of subcarrier modulation: Although the Hogan system has been field tested to a greater extent than Halstead's, no definitive comparative tests have been conducted to establish its relative ability to provide an interference-free non-degrading sound-facsimile broadcast service. In the absence of such factual data, adequate judgment upon the relative merits of the two systems cannot be made at this time.

14. But the present status of facsimile broadcasting seems to be such that an immediate final decision upon this aspect of multiplexing is not essential: Less than 10 FM licensees are now engaged in facsimile broadcasting upon any basis, and indications are that an extremely small number, if any, of home-type facsimile receivers are owned by the general public. In addition, as indicated in paragraph 11, the cost of the multiplex adapter is a very small part of the complete FM-Facsimile receiver, and a multiplex adapter designed to accommodate both systems (amplitude and frequency) of modulating the facsimile subcarrier costs little, if any, more than an AM or an FM type of adapter alone. Furthermore, facsimile receivers designed to operate on both systems of facsimile subcarrier modulation, would not suffer obsolescence if one or the other type of subcarrier modulation were eventually adopted as the exclusive standard. While the combination AM-FM multiplex adapter would no longer be necessary should either the AM or FM system of facsimile subcarrier modulation eventually be adopted as standard, in the meantime, interested persons would have the opportunity of promoting the fullest development of both systems.

15. Upon these facts, we are of the opinion that it would be advisable to allow a substantial developmental period to elapse for full investigation and exploitation of the respective potentialities of both systems before undertaking to choose finally between them. We therefore conclude that the Standards of Good Engineering Practice concerning FM broadcast stations should be amended to permit either amplitude or frequency modulation of the facsimile subcarrier.

16. In order to implement this determination, the order below amends the existing rules and FM Engineering Standards in the following manner: The existing provisions of the multiplex facsimile rules permitting degradation of aural programs to 10,000 cycles are deleted; the former standard of quality for aural programs is restored; multiplexing will be permitted upon an unlimited time basis; and either amplitude or frequency modulation of the facsimile subcarrier will be allowed.[7] Adoption of these amendments does not imply that we are according final approval to either the "Hogan" or "Halstead" system of subcarrier modulation. We are merely authorizing the use of both systems for an interim period in order to permit their unhampered development until sufficient factual data has been assembled to form an adequate basis for a final determination of the matter.

17. To obviate the possibility that subcarriers below 20 kc may continue to be employed for simplex facsimile, while subcarriers above 20 kc are utilized in multiplex facsimile—a result which would require additional switching operations to receive facsimile in the 88 to 108 mc band, when changing from simplex to multiplex reception—we are standardizing the subcarrier frequency and type of modulation utilized for simplex facsimile to conform to the determination made herein with regard to multiplex facsimile. In so doing, the degree of modulation of the FM transmitter by the facsimile subcarrier in simplex facsimile will be limited to 30 percent since this value of modulation will tend to restrict the side bands of the FM transmitter to approximately the same order of magnitude as is involved when modulating the transmitter 100 percent with frequencies in the range 50–15,000 cycles. For multiplex operation, the modulation of the FM transmitter by the subcarrier will be limited to 5 percent.* This value is somewhat lower than that suggested in the proposals of either Mr. Hogan or Mr. Halstead; however, both parties introduced testimony to the effect that a value as low as 5 percent had been tried and been found to produce satisfactory facsimile copy. Since multiplexing in its present early stage of development involves a number of unknown factors, such limitation of the facsimile modulation to the lowest practical value consistent with satisfactory operation appears reasonable.

[4] The record contains only one series of laboratory measurements indicating the non-degradation characteristics of Halstead's system. These were made with a General Electric Type YDA–1 Distortion and Noise Analyzer connected to the output terminals of a REL Type 646 FM receiver and allegedly demonstrated that when the receiver was tuned to resonance in the normal manner for reception of FM signals, no measurable noise in the audible range could be detected above the normal background noise of the receiver (above 60 db down with respect to 1 milliwatt on a 600 ohm line).

[5] Stations operating in this manner progressively rebroadcast the program of the station originating the network program; i. e., if the program originates at Station 1; Station 2 rebroadcasts Station 1; Station 3 rebroadcasts Station 2; Station 4 rebroadcasts Station 3; etc.

[6] Hogan included a labor cost in his estimate and Halstead did not; also, Halstead's estimate is based upon a 10,000 unit lot basis while Hogan's estimate appears to be upon the basis of small quantity production. In addition, Hogan's costs include a limiter-discriminator type of demodulator for Halstead's system, while Halstead proposes a slope filter unit to accomplish the demodulation. Hogan estimates that an AM multiplex adapter costs $11.14 and that modification of the unit to make it into an AM-FM adapter will cost an additional $14.83. Halstead estimates that an FM multiplex adapter will cost $3.36 and that modification of the unit to make it into an FM-AM adapter costs an additional $0.38.

18. Section 3.566 of the Commission's rules and regulations, providing for facsimile broadcasting by noncommercial educational FM stations, was not specifically in issue in this proceeding. However, consistently with the Commission's continuing intention to provide noncommercial educational FM stations parallel opportunities in facsimile broadcasting, § 3.566 is also amended to include provisions similar to the changes in the facsimile rules adopted herein for commercial FM stations.

19. Section 3.266 (a) does not require FM stations engaging in simplex facsimile broadcasting to notify the Commission of such operations. In order that the Commission may be fully apprised of developments in this field, §§ 3.266 (a) and 3.566 (a) are amended to require notification to the Commission of a station's intent to transmit simplex facsimile. The present provisions of §§ 3.266 (a) and 3.566 (a) requiring prior Commission approval of multiplex facsimile operations are retained.

It is therefore ordered, This 3d day of May 1951, that the following amendments to §§ 3.266 and 3.566 of the Commission's rules and regulations and section 8 (H) of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations be adopted, effective June 12, 1951:

1. Section 3.266 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.266 Facsimile broadcasting and multiplex transmission. (a) FM broadcast stations may transmit simplex facsimile in accordance with transmission standards set forth in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations during periods not devoted to FM aural broadcasting. Such transmissions may not exceed one hour during the period between 7 a. m. and midnight (no limit for the hours between midnight and 7 a. m.) and may not be counted toward the minimum operation required by § 3.261. The Commission shall be notified by the licensee of the FM broadcast station of its intent to transmit such facsimile.

(b) FM broadcast stations may, upon securing authorization from the Commission, transmit multiplex facsimile in accordance with transmission standards set forth in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations; Provided, That the transmission of such facsimile does not reduce the quality of aural programs simultaneously transmitted by the licensee below that required by the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations and that no degradation of such aural programs will result from such facsimile transmissions when received on FM receivers not equipped with filter or other additional equipment.

2. Section 3.566 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.566 Facsimile broadcasting and multiplex transmission. (a) Noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations may transmit simplex facsimile in accordance with transmission standards set forth in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations during periods not devoted to FM aural broadcasting. Such transmissions may not exceed one hour during the period between 7 a. m. and midnight (no limit is placed upon the hours between midnight and 7 a. m.). The Commission shall be notified by the licensee of the Noncommercial Educational FM broadcast station of its intent to transmit such facsimile.

(b) Noncommercial educational FM broadcast stations may, upon securing authorization from the Commission, transmit multiplex facsimile in accordance with transmission standards set forth in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations: Provided, That the transmission of such facsimile does not reduce the quality of the aural program simultaneously transmitted by the licensee below that required by the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations and that no degradation of such aural programs will result from such facsimile transmissions when received on FM receivers not equipped with filters or other additional equipment.

Section 8 (H) of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning FM Broadcast Stations is amended, in part, to read as follows:

7. Amplitude or frequency (frequency-shift) modulation of the subcarrier shall be used.

9. Negative modulation shall be used, i. e., for amplitude modulation of subcarrier, maximum subcarrier amplitude and maximum radio frequency swing on black; for frequency modulation of subcarrier, highest instantaneous frequency of subcarrier on black.

11. The facsimile subcarrier transmission shall be conducted in the frequency range between 22 and 28 kilocycles. Should amplitude modulation of the subcarrier be employed the subcarrier frequency shall be 25 kilocycles with side-bands extending not more than 3 kilocycles in either direction from the subcarrier frequency. Should frequency modulation of the subcarrier be employed the total swing of the subcarrier shall be within the range from 22 to 28 kilocycles, with 22 kilocycles corresponding to white and 28 kilocycles corresponding to black on the transmitted copy. In multiplex operation the modulation of the FM carrier by the modulated subcarrier shall not exceed 5 percent. In simplex operation the modulation of the FM carrier by the modulated subcarrier shall not exceed 30 percent.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066 as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies sec. 303, 48 Stat. 1082; 47 U. S. C. 303)

Released: May 4, 1951.

Secretary.

[F. R. Doc. 51-5822; Filed, May 18, 1951; 8:48 a. m.]

*In the Hogan system, 6.67 percent modulation of the FM transmitter by the subcarrier was proposed; Mr. Halstead suggested 10 percent for single station operation and 15 percent for network operation.

Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary, the tax under this subsection shall not apply in the case of sales of any such refrigerator components by the manufacturer, producer, or importer to a manufacturer or producer of refrigerators, refrigerating or cooling apparatus, or quick-freeze units. If any such refrigerator components are resold by such vendee otherwise than on or in connection with, or with the sale of, complete refrigerators, refrigerating or cooling apparatus, or quick-freeze units, manufactured or produced by such vendee, then for the purposes of this section the vendee shall be considered the manufacturer or producer of the refrigerator components so resold.

PAR. 16. Section 316.70, as amended by Treasury Decision 5099, approved April 7, 1949, is further amended as follows:

(A) By striking out the heading of paragraph (b) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "(b) For the period November 1, 1942, to October 31, 1950."

(B) By adding a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

(c) For the period beginning November 1, 1950. (1) Subsection (a) of section 3405, as amended by section 606 of the Revenue Act of 1950, imposes a tax on the sale by the manufacturer of household type refrigerators (for single or multiple cabinet installations) having, or being primarily designed for use with, a mechanical refrigerating unit operated by electricity, gas, kerosene, or gasoline, and of household type units for the quick freezing or frozen storage of foods operated by electricity, gas, kerosene, or gasoline, and combinations of such units and household type refrigerators, including in each case parts or accessories therefor sold on or in connection with the sale thereof.

(2) The term "household type refrigerator" includes refrigerators for single or multiple cabinet installations, which (i) are designed for domestic use, (ii) are arranged to provide refrigerated storage space for the preservation of food products or low temperature space for making ice cubes and frozen desserts, (iii) have a net storage space not exceeding 14 cubic feet, and (iv) have, or are primarily designed for use with, a mechanical refrigerator unit operated by electricity, gas, kerosene, or gasoline.

Units designed and constructed solely for commercial, industrial, or scientific purposes are not taxable.

(4) A manufacturer of household type refrigerators or household type units for the quick freezing or frozen storage of foods taxable under section 3405 (a) or other refrigerators or refrigerating or cooling apparatus may purchase tax free for use as a component in the manufacture of such articles any of the refrigerating and freezing apparatus specified in section 3405 (b). (See § 316.71.) However, if any of the refrigerating or freezing apparatus specified in section 3405 (b) is purchased tax paid and used as a component in the manufacture of a household type refrigerator or household type unit for the quick freezing or frozen storage of foods taxable under section 3405 (a), as amended, the manufacturer of such refrigerator or unit may be allowed a credit to the extent of the tax paid on the refrigerating or freezing apparatus so used as a component. (See § 316.204.)

(5) The tax does not apply to refrigerator cabinets which are primarily designed for use without a mechanical refrigerating unit.

PAR. 17. Section 316.71, as amended by Treasury Decision 5189, approved November 30, 1942, is further amended as follows:

(A) By striking out the heading for paragraph (b) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "(b) For the period November 1, 1942, to October 31, 1950, inclusive."

(B) By adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

(c) For the period beginning November 1, 1950. Subsection (b) of section 3405, as amended by section 606 of the Revenue Act of 1950, imposes a tax on sales by the manufacturer of cabinets, compressors, condensers, condensing units, evaporators, expansion units, absorbers, and controls for, or suitable for use as parts of or with, household type refrigerators or quick-freeze units of the type described in section 3405 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended by section 606 of the Revenue Act of 1950, including in each case parts or accessories therefor sold on or in connection with the sale thereof. Sales of such refrigerating apparatus as component parts of complete refrigerators, household type units for the quick freezing or frozen storage of foods, or refrigerating or cooling apparatus are not subject to tax.

PAR. 18. Section 316.72, as amended by Treasury Decision 5189, and § 316.73, as amended by Treasury Decision 5099, are renumbered sections 316.73 and 316.74, respectively, and a new § 316.72 is inserted immediately following § 316.71 to read as follows:

§ 316.72 Application of tax. (a) Where a household type refrigerator or quick-freeze unit is sold, the tax is based upon the sale price of the assembly, which includes all components, and all parts and accessories therefor, sold on or in connection with, or with the sale of, the refrigerator or quick-freeze unit.

(c) A manufacturer of refrigerator components, as specified in section 3405 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code, may sell such components tax free to a manufacturer of refrigerators, refrigerating or cooling apparatus, or quick-freeze units, without regard to whether such refrigerators, apparatus, or units are taxable. To establish the right to exemption from tax on such sale by the manufacturer of the refrigerator component, it is necessary that he obtain from the purchaser a properly executed exemption certificate substantially in the form prescribed in this section.

(d) This exemption from tax does not apply in the case of a sale of refrigerator components by the manufacturer thereof to a wholesaler, jobber, dealer, etc., where such wholesaler, jobber, dealer, etc., does not qualify as a manufacturer of refrigerators, refrigerating or cooling apparatus, or quick-freeze units.

(e) Under section 3405 (b) of the Code a manufacturer who purchases a refrigerator component tax free under an exemption certificate is considered the manufacturer of the component so purchased and is liable for the tax on the resale thereof unless (1) such component is resold on or in connection with, or with the sale of a complete refrigerator, refrigerating or cooling apparatus, or quick-freeze unit manufactured or produced by him or (2) such resale is otherwise exempt from tax, such as sale for export, sale to other manufacturers of refrigerating equipment, etc.

(f) Following is the form of exemption certificate which will be acceptable for purposes of this section and which must be adhered to in substance:

EXEMPTION CERTIFICATE

The undersigned hereby certifies that he is a manufacturer or producer of refrigerators, refrigerating and cooling apparatus, or quick-freeze units and that the refrigerator components specified in the accompanying order No. ____, or purchased within the period from ---------- to ---------- (such period shall not exceed six months) are purchased tax free by virtue of the provisions of section 3405 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code.

It is understood that if any of the refrigerator components purchased under this certificate are resold by the undersigned otherwise than on or in connection with or with the sale of complete refrigerators, refrigerating or cooling apparatus or quick-freeze units manufactured or produced by him, the undersigned is considered the manufacturer or producer of the articles purchased hereunder and unless such resale is otherwise exempt must pay the tax on his sales of such refrigerator components, as provided in section 3405 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code. Thus, the undersigned is liable for tax on all resales of such refrigerator components for repair or replacement purposes on either household or commercial refrigeration equipment.

It is further understood that the fraudulent use of this certificate to secure exemption will subject the undersigned and all guilty parties to a fine of not more than $10,000, or to imprisonment of not more than five years or both, together with cost of prosecution.

(g) If it is impracticable to furnish a separate exemption certificate for each order, a certificate covering all orders between given dates (such period not to exceed six months) will be acceptable.

(h) The certificate, with supporting orders, invoices, etc., must be maintained by the manufacturer, producer, or importer of the refrigerator components for a period of not less than four years from the date on which the tax free sale is made.

(i) Where the certificate is not obtained prior to the time the manufacturer thereof is required to file a return covering taxes due for the month during which the sale was made he should include the tax on such sale in his return for that month. However, if the certificate is later obtained a claim for refund of tax paid may be filed on Form 843, or a credit taken upon a subsequent return, but such action must be taken within the four year period of limitation prescribed by section 3313 of the Code.

[Docket No. AO 194-A4]

MILK IN ROCKFORD-FREEPORT, ILLINOIS, MARKETING AREA

AMENDMENT TO NOTICE OF HEARING WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a notice was issued on May 15, 1951, of a public hearing to be held at the Hotel Faust, 618 E. State Street, Rockford, Illinois, beginning at 9:30 a. m., c. d. s. t., on May 25, 1951.

The aforesaid notice of hearing is hereby amended by adding thereto the proposal hereinafter set forth. Evidence will be received with respect to economic and marketing conditions which relate to the proposed amendments contained in the original notice of hearing and to the proposal set forth in this amendment to the notice of hearing. The following proposal has not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The following amendment has been proposed by the Stephenson County Pure Milk Association:

Proposal No. 10. Delete the provisions of § 991.71 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 991.71 Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall compute a uniform price per hundredweight on the basis of 3.5 percent butterfat content for producer milk as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 991.70 and all handlers who made reports prescribed by §§ 991.30, 991.31, 991.32, and 991.33 except those in default of the payments prescribed in § 991.8 for the preceding delivery period;

(b) Add an amount representing one-half the cash balance on hand in the producer-settlement fund less the total amount of contingent obligations to handlers;

(c) Subtract if the weighted average butterfat test of producer milk represented by the values included under paragraph (a) of this section is higher than 3.5 percent, or add if such butterfat test is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by: Multiplying the amount by which the weighted average butterfat test varies from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 991.81 and multiply the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(d) Divide the resulting amount by the total hundredweight of milk represented by the values included in paragraph (a) of this section; and

(e) Subtract not less than four cents nor more than five cents from the amount per hundredweight computed under paragraph (d) of this section.

NOTE: The above proposal would provide for the "marketwide" pooling of returns for producer milk as contrasted with the present "individual-handler" pools. If adopted, the proposal would require certain conforming changes in other provisions of the order and would necessitate the establishment of a "producer-settlement fund" for the purpose of implementing payment of the uniform price.

Copies of the notice of hearing issued on May 15, 1951, of this amendment thereto, and of the said order, as amended, may be obtained from the Market Administrator, 73 West Monroe Street (2d Floor), Chicago 3, Illinois, or from the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 1353, South Building, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

Dated: May 17, 1951.

MAIL TRANSPORTATION

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AIR STAR ROUTE

In accordance with Public Law 277 of the 81st Congress (approved August 30, 1949), notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has received a request from the Postmaster General (Docket No. 4937) for certification that the proposed air star route, hereinafter described, does not conflict with the development of air transportation as contemplated under the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended.

The route proposed is as follows: Cortez, Colorado, via Elanding, Utah, to White Canyon, (N. O.) Utah, and return. Distance between termini 104 miles.

Under the provisions of the said Public Law 277, the Postmaster General is required to obtain the certification of the Board prior to advertising for bids for the carriage of mail by aircraft on any star route. Any contract which may ultimately be awarded by the Postmaster General under such law will not confer authority to carry persons or property (other than mail) by air.

Prior to reaching its decision as to whether the requested certification should be issued, the Board desires to afford interested persons an opportunity to comment thereon through the submission of written data, views or arguments, in triplicate, addressed to the Secretary, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. DELTA AIR LINES, INC.; ALL-CARGO FLIGHT AMENDMENTS CASE

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the matter of the application of Delta Air Lines, Inc., for amendment of its certificates of public convenience and necessity for routes Nos. 24 and 54.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, particularly sections 401 (h) and 1001 of the said act, the above-entitled proceeding is assigned for hearing on June 6, 1951, at 10:00 a. m. e. d. s. t., in Room E-210, Temporary Building No. 5, Sixteenth Street and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D. ECONOMIC STABILIZATION AGENCY

Office of Price Stabilization

[Ceiling Price Regulation 7, Section 43 Special Order 21]

FIELDCREST MILLS DIVISION OF MARSHALL FIELD & CO.

CEILING PRICES AT RETAIL

Statement of considerations. In accordance with section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7, the applicant named in the accompanying special order, Fieldcrest Mills Division of Marshall Field & Company, has applied to the Office of Price Stabilization for maximum resale prices for retail sales of certain of its articles. Applicant has submitted the information required under this section and has produced evidence which in the judgment of the Director indicates that the applicant has complied with other stated requirements.

The Director has determined on the basis of information available to him, including the data submitted by the applicant, that the retail ceiling prices requested and which are established by this special order are no higher than the level of ceiling prices under Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

It has been the applicant's custom in the past, borne out by printed price lists, to charge retailers in the area west of the Rocky Mountains higher uniform wholesale prices than those prevailing in the rest of the country and to permit retailers west of the Rocky Mountains to sell at retail at higher uniform prices than those prevailing in the rest of the country. This uniform pricing system for two zones is continued by this order and conforms with the provisions of section 43, Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

The special order contains provisions requiring each article to be marked by the applicant with the retail ceiling price established by the accompanying special order. The applicant is required to send purchasers of the articles a copy of this special order and, in specified cases, of subsequent amendments of this special order.

The special order also requires applicant to file with the Distribution Price Branch regular reports setting forth the number of units of each article covered by this special order which applicant has delivered during the reporting period. This requirement conforms with the provisions of section 43, Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and pursuant to section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7, this special order is hereby issued.

1. The following ceiling prices are established for sales after the effective date of this special order by any seller at retail of wool rugs and wool carpeting manufactured by Fieldcrest Mills Division of Marshall Field & Company, Spray, North Carolina, having the brand names "Karastan," "Lanamar," "Tudor," "Decorette," "Contemporary," "Chateau," and "Celebrity," and described in the manufacturer's application dated March 12, 1951 and supplemented and amended in the manufacturer's application dated March 16, 1951. The manufacturer's prices listed below are subject to a discount of 4/10, Net 60.

Copies shall be sent to all other purchasers on or before the date of the first delivery of any such article subsequent to the effective date of the special order, and shall be accompanied by copies of each amendment thereto (if any) issued prior to the date of the delivery. Within 15 days after the effective date of any subsequent amendment to the special order, the manufacturer shall send a copy of the amendment to each purchaser to whom, within two months immediately prior to the effective date of such amendment, the seller had delivered any article the sale of which is affected in any manner by the amendment.

5. CENTRAL WEST UTILITY CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 14, 1951.

Take notice that The Central West Utility Company (Applicant), a Kansas corporation with its principal place of business at Kansas City, Missouri, filed on May 7, 1951:

(1) An application for an order of the Commission under section 7 (a) of the Natural Gas Act directing Cities Service Gas Company (Cities Service), a natural-gas company subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and The Gas Service Company (Gas Service), a retail gas distributing company serving Kansas City, Missouri, and other areas in western Missouri and like Cities Service a wholly owned subsidiary of Cities Service Company, to establish physical connection of their transportation facilities with the proposed connecting pipe line of, and to sell natural gas to, Applicant.

(2) An application pursuant to section 7 (c) of the act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation by Applicant of certain natural-gas transmission pipe line facilities, or, in the alternative;

(3) A dismissal of the application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for lack of jurisdiction.

Applicant proposes to construct pipe lines connecting its distribution system in Clay County, Missouri, with the systems of Cities Service or Gas Service either in Clay County or Jackson County, Missouri, by four alternative plans, designated Plans A, B, C, and D, as more fully described in the application. Applicant states the maximum capacity of the proposed connecting pipe line by Plan C is approximately 30,000 Mcf per day with estimates not yet proposed for other plans.

By means of the proposed facilities, Applicant states it will be able to augment its supply of natural gas now provided by Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company so that it would be able to perform adequately the service which it proposes to render in the Clay County area, not only for the present but also for the predictable future. Applicant alleges that the supply of gas from Panhandle Eastern has been barely adequate in recent years and is insufficient to meet anticipated normal increases in demand for natural gas service in the area.

The estimated over-all capital cost of the proposed project ranges from $9,000 for Plan A to $1,000,000 for Plan C. Applicant proposes to finance the cost of Plans A, B, and D out of working capital. It proposes to finance Plan C by the issuance and sale of bonds in an amount equal to 70 percent of the estimated cost, and the balance out of working capital.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 4th day of June 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-2606]

CONSOLIDATED NATURAL GAS CO.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER AUTHORIZING ISSUANCE AND SALE OF PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF 3¼ PERCENT DEBENTURES AND RELEASING JURISDICTION OVER FEES AND EXPENSES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 15th day of May A. D. 1951.

Consolidated Natural Gas Company ("Consolidated"), a registered holding company, having filed a declaration and an amendment thereto, pursuant to section 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") regarding the issue and sale, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, of $50,000,000 principal amount of debentures due 1976; and

The Commission having, by order dated April 30, 1951, permitted said declaration to become effective, subject to the condition, among others, that the proposed sale of debentures shall not be consummated until the results of competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 shall have been made a matter of record in this proceeding, and a further order shall have been entered in the light of the record so completed; and jurisdiction having been reserved over the payment of all fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transaction; and

Consolidated having, on May 15, 1951, filed a further amendment to said declaration in which it is stated that it has offered the debentures for sale pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 and has received the following bids:

Bidder	Annual interest rate (percent)	Price to Consolidated [1] (percent of principal)	Annual cost to Consolidated (percent)
Morgan Stanley & Co., and The First Boston Corp	3¼	100.5719	3.1991
Dillon, Read & Co. Inc., White, Weld & Co., and Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis	3¼	100.51969	3.2021
Halsey, Stuart & Co. Inc	3¼	100.366991	3.2283

[1] Exclusive of accrued interest from May 1, 1951.

The amendment further stating that Consolidated has accepted the bid of Morgan Stanley & Co., and the First Boston Corporation for the debentures as set forth above and that the debentures will be offered for sale to the public at a price of 101.50 percent of principal amount thereof, resulting in an underwriters' spread of 0.6281 percent; and

The declaration, as amended, having set forth the fees and expenses incurred by Consolidated in connection with the proposed transaction in the aggregate estimated amount of $184,675, including legal fees and expenses of $2,500, accountants' fees and expenses of $7,500, and engineering fees and expenses of $6,500; and legal fees to be paid by the underwriters to Cahill, Gordon, Zachry and Reindel in the amount of $12,000; and

The Commission having examined said amendment and having considered the record herein and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the price to be received for said debentures, the redemption prices thereof, the interest rate thereon and the underwriters' spread; and

It appearing that the fees and expenses are not unreasonable and that jurisdiction with respect thereto should be released:

It is hereby ordered, That jurisdiction heretofore reserved in connection with the sale of said debentures be, and the same hereby is, released, and that the said declaration, as further amended, be, and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 of the general rules and regulations under the act.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction heretofore reserved over all fees and expenses in connection with the transaction be, and the same hereby is, released.

INCOME FOUNDATION FUND, INC., ET AL.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 15th day of May A. D. 1951.

In the matter of Income Foundation Fund, Incorporated, Axe-Houghton Fund A, Inc., Axe-Houghton Fund B, Inc., Republic Investors Fund, Inc., and Axe Securities Corporation; File No. 812-725.

Notice is hereby given that Income Foundation Fund, Incorporated, Axe-Houghton Fund A, Inc., Axe-Houghton

Fund B, Inc., and Republic Investors Fund, Inc. (hereinafter sometimes referred to as "Fund" or "Funds", as the case may be), registered investment companies, and Axe Securities Corporation, the principal underwriter for all four Funds, have filed an application pursuant to section 6 (c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 for an order of the Commission exempting from the provisions of section 22 (d) of the act, the offering of shares of the Funds at reduced public offering prices based on quantity purchases of shares of one or more of the four Funds, under the different circumstances hereinafter described.

Each of the Funds is an open-end investment company and E. W. Axe & Co., Inc., is the investment adviser and manager of all four.

The application states that Income Foundation Fund, Incorporated, Axe-Houghton Fund A, Inc., and Axe-Houghton Fund B, Inc., are each classified as balanced funds, but their portfolio holdings are substantially different, and they differ in their investment objectives; and that Republic Investors Fund, Inc., is a leverage company with bank borrowings in addition to its outstanding common stock.

The offering price of the shares of each of the four Funds is equal to the net asset value per share plus a percentage selling commission. Quantity discounts, resulting in decreased selling commissions, are presently available with respect to individual purchases of $25,000 or more of the shares of each of the four individual Funds. In each case, the selling commission is reduced to 6 percent on purchases of $25,000 or more, 4 percent on purchases of $50,000 or more, 2 percent on purchases of $100,000 or more, 1 percent on purchases of $250,000 or more with the exception that in the particular case of the shares of Income Foundation Fund, Incorporated only, such selling commission is further reduced to ½ percent on purchases of $500,000 or more.

It is now proposed to extend these quantity discounts to purchases of shares of any one or more of the four Funds so that a quantity discount will be available for concurrent purchases of shares of one or more of the Funds for issue (1) in one name, (2) in the name of the same trustee or other fiduciary for one or more accounts, or (3) in the name of members of the same immediate family. The schedule of selling commissions in such cases will be as follows: 6 percent if the aggregate selling price is $25,000 or more, 4 percent if the aggregate selling price is $50,000 or more, 2 percent if the aggregate selling price is $100,000, and 1 percent if the aggregate selling price is $250,000 or more; with the exception that in the particular case of the shares of Income Foundation Fund, Incorporated, only, such selling commission is further reduced to ½ percent on purchases of $500,000 or more.

The application further states that it has been the experience of the Funds and Axe Securities Corporation that persons contemplating a sizable purchase of investment company shares seek to diversify their holdings in several Funds with different portfolios and differing investment objectives and that the proposed schedule of quantity discounts will permit such an investor to obtain the diversification he seeks without sacrificing the advantage of the quantity discount presently available only for concurrent purchases of shares of Axe-Houghton Fund A, Inc., Axe-Houghton Fund B, Inc., and Republic Investors Fund, Inc.

All interested persons are referred to said application which is on file in the Washington, D. C., office of the Commission for a more detailed statement of the matters of fact and law therein asserted.

Notice is further given that an order granting the application, in whole or in part and upon such conditions as the Commission may deem necessary or appropriate, may be issued by the Commission at any time on or after June 4, 1951, unless a hearing upon the application is ordered by the Commission as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act. Any interested person may, not later than June 1, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., submit to the Commission in writing his views or any additional facts bearing upon this application or the desirability of a hearing thereon, or request in writing that the Commission order a hearing to be held thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C., and should state briefly the nature of interest of the person submitting such information or requesting a hearing, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by the application which he desires to controvert.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

Subchapter E—Account Servicing

PART 363—FARM OWNERSHIP AND FARM HOUSING TAXES

Part 363 in Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations (14 F. R. 2057), is revised to include servicing of real estate taxes on farms mortgaged to secure Farm Housing loans, and to read as follows:

Sec.
363.1 General.
363.2 Servicing delinquent taxes when Government holds a first mortgage.
363.3 Servicing delinquent taxes related to Farm Housing loan when Government does not hold a first mortgage.

AUTHORITY: §§ 363.1 to 363.3 issued under sec. 41, 60 Stat. 1066, sec. 510, 63 Stat. 438; 7 U. S. C. 1015, 42 U. S. C. 1480. Interpret or apply sec. 3, 60 Stat. 1074, sec. 510, 63 Stat. 437; 7 U. S. C. 1003, 42 U. S. C. 1480.

DERIVATION: §§ 363.1 to 363.3 contained in FHA Instructions 425.1 and 425.2 and the order of the Administrator dated April 23, 1951.

§ 363.1 General. Each borrower who obtains a direct or insured Farm Ownership loan or a first mortgage Farm Housing loan will be responsible for paying taxes on his farm to the proper taxing authorities. This obligation of the borrower is included in the mortgage (deed of trust) securing his loan. A borrower having a Farm Housing loan secured by a junior mortgage (deed of trust) is required to pay taxes on his farm either to the proper taxing authorities or to the prior lienholder, depending upon the terms of the prior lien.

§ 363.2 Servicing delinquent taxes when Government holds a first mortgage. Upon a determination by the State Director that every practicable effort has been made, without success, to have the borrower pay the delinquent tax with his own funds, payment of such taxes by the Government will be accomplished by the use of Standard Form 1034, "Public Voucher for Purchases and Services other than Personal." The amount so advanced will be charged against the borrower's account and will bear interest at the lowest rate specified in any existing mortgage (deed of trust) securing the borrower's indebtedness.

§ 363.3 Servicing delinquent taxes related to Farm Housing loan when Government does not hold a first mortgage—(a) Policy. As a general policy, the Government will not pay a delinquent tax on a farm on which the Government holds other than a first mortgage securing a Farm Housing loan. However, such a delinquent tax may be paid by the Government where (1) there is danger that nonpayment of the delinquent tax may result in loss of the security for the loan, and (2) the value of the security is adequate to justify the additional advance to pay the delinquent tax.

(b) Servicing actions. Upon receipt of a report that notice of a tax sale or foreclosure of a tax lien has been issued, the State Director will determine whether the value of the security is sufficient to justify any additional advance to pay taxes. If the State Director determines that the value of the security will justify the expenditures, he will request the County Supervisor to prepare and process a Standard Form 1034 voucher to pay the delinquent tax and charge the amount of the tax payment to the borrower's Farm Housing loan account.

[SEAL] DILLARD B. LASSETER,
Administrator,
Farmers Home Administration.

PART 52—PROCESSED FRUITS AND VEGETABLES, PROCESSED PRODUCTS THEREOF, AND CERTAIN OTHER PROCESSED FOOD PRODUCTS

SUBPART B—UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR GRADES OF PROCESSED FRUITS, VEGETABLES AND OTHER PRODUCTS [1]

U. S. STANDARDS FOR GRADES OF ORANGE MARMALADE

On February 14, 1951, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (16 F. R. 1550) regarding the issuance of proposed United States Standards for Grades of Orange Marmalade. After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice, the following United States Standards for Grades of Orange Marmalade are hereby promulgated under the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.) and the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1951 (Pub. Law 759, 81st Cong., approved September 6, 1950):

§ 52.488 Orange marmalade. Orange marmalade is the semi-solid or gel-like product prepared from orange fruit ingredients together with one or more sweetening ingredients and may contain suitable food acids, food pectins, lemon juice, or lemon peel. The ingredients are concentrated by cooking to such a point that the soluble solids content of the finished marmalade is not less than 68 percent.

(a) Kinds of orange marmalade. (1) "Sweet orange marmalade" means that the orange fruit ingredient consists principally of such varieties as Navel and Valencia or other commercial dessert varieties other than tangerines. "Sweet orange marmalade" is prepared from not less than 30 parts by weight of orange fruit ingredient to 70 parts by weight of sweetening ingredient.

(2) "Bitter orange marmalade" means that the orange fruit ingredient consists principally of the Seville or sour type of oranges other than tangerines. "Bitter orange marmalade" is prepared from not less than 25 parts by weight of orange fruit ingredient to 75 parts by weight of sweetening ingredient.

(3) "Sweet and bitter orange marmalade" means that the orange fruit ingredient consists of a blend of sweet oranges and bitter oranges other than tangerines. "Sweet and bitter orange marmalade" is prepared from not less than 30 parts by weight of orange fruit ingredient to 70 parts by weight of sweetening ingredient. It is recommended that the orange fruit ingredient from which "sweet and bitter orange marmalade" is prepared be approximately 50 percent by weight of sweet orange material and bitter orange material.

(b) Styles of orange marmalade. (1) "Sliced" means that the peel in the orange marmalade is in thin strips.

(2) "Chopped" means that the peel in the orange marmalade is in small pieces (such as irregular shapes and dice-like shapes).

(c) Types of orange marmalade. (1) "Type I, Clear" means that the peel is suspended in a translucent semi-solid or gel-like mass.

(2) "Type II, Natural" means that the peel is suspended in a cloudy or opaque semi-solid or gel-like mass.

(d) Grades of orange marmalade. (1) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of orange marmalade that is practically free from defects; that possesses a good flavor and odor; and that is of such quality with respect to color and consistency and character as to score not less than 85 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section.

(2) "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. Choice" is the quality of orange marmalade that possesses a reasonably good color; that possesses a reasonably good consistency and character; that is reasonably free from defects; that possesses a reasonably good flavor and odor; and that scores not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section.

(3) "U. S. Grade D" or "Substandard" is the quality of orange marmalade that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice.

(e) Recommended fill of container. The recommended fill of container is not incorporated in the grades of the finished product since fill of container, as such, is not a factor of quality for the purposes of these grades. It is recommended that each container be filled as full as practicable with orange marmalade and that the product occupy not less than 90 percent of the volume of the container.

(f) Ascertaining the grade. The grade of orange marmalade is ascertained by considering, in conjunction with the requirements of the respective grade, the respective ratings for the factors of color, consistency and character, absence of defects, and flavor and odor. The relative importance of each factor which is scored is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

Factors	Points
(1) Color	20
(2) Consistency and character	20
(3) Absence of defects	20
(4) Flavor and odor	40
Total score	100

(g) Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. The essential variations within each factor which is scored are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical rating within each factor which is scored is inclusive (for example, "17 to 20 points" means 17, 18, 19, or 20 points).

(1) Color. (i) Orange marmalade that possesses a good color may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good color" means that the product possesses a practically uniform bright color characteristic of properly prepared and properly processed orange marmalade for the respective kind; that the product is practically free from green-colored peel, and that the product is free from dullness of color due to oxidation or improper processing or improper cooling or other causes.

(ii) If the orange marmalade possesses a reasonably good color, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. "Reasonably good color" means that the product possesses a reasonably uniform color; that the product is reasonably free from green-colored peel; that the color of the product may be slightly dull but is not off-color nor excessively dark due to oxidation or improper processing or improper cooling or other causes.

(iii) Orange marmalade that fails to meet the requirements of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade D or Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(2) Consistency and character. The factor of consistency and character refers to the gel strength of the product, the amount and distribution of the peel in the product, the tenderness of the peel, the uniformity of width of slices of peel, and the uniformity of size of small pieces of peel.

(i) Orange marmalade that possesses a good consistency and character may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good consistency and character" means that the product is a firm but tender gel and may possess no more than a very slight tendency to flow; that the product contains a substantial, but not excessive, amount of peel; that the peel is evenly distributed; that the peel is tender; that in "sliced" style, the thin strips of peel are predominantly of strips approximating $\frac{1}{32}$ inch to $\frac{1}{16}$ inch in width; and that in "chopped" style, the small pieces of peel are reasonably uniform in size.

(ii) If the orange marmalade possesses a reasonably good consistency and character, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. "Reasonably good consistency and character" means that the product may be definitely firm but is not excessively gummy nor excessively rubbery or that the product may be viscous but is not excessively thin; that the peel is fairly evenly distributed; that the peel is reasonably tender; that in "sliced" style, the thin strips of peel are predominantly of strips approximating no more than $\frac{1}{8}$ inch in width; and that in "chopped" style, the small pieces of peel are fairly uniform in size.

(iii) Orange marmalade that fails to meet the requirements of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade D or Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(3) Absence of defects. The factor of absence of defects refers to the degree of freedom from seeds or portions of seeds, from blemished peel, from objectionable material, from harmless extraneous material, and from any other defects not specifically mentioned that affect the appearance and eating quality of the product.

(i) "Harmless extraneous material" includes, but is not limited to, small particles of leaves, undeveloped seeds or particles of seeds that measure not more than $\frac{3}{16}$ inch in any dimension, or other similar materials that are harmless.

(ii) "Seeds or portions of seeds" means any seed or any portion thereof, whether or not fully developed, that measures more than $\frac{3}{16}$ inch in any dimension.

(iii) "Blemished peel" means pieces of the peel blemished by surface discoloration to the extent that the appearance or eating quality is materially affected.

(iv) Orange marmalade that is practically free from defects may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Practically free from defects" means that there may be present on an average for each 16 ounces net weight, not more than 1 seed or portion of seed and not more than 6 pieces of blemished peel; and that in a single container, the appearance and eating quality of the product is not materially affected by the presence of seeds, portions of seeds, blemished peel, objectionable material, harmless extraneous material, any other defects not specifically mentioned, or any combination thereof.

(v) If the orange marmalade is reasonably free from defects, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Orange marmalade that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that there may be present on an average for each 16 ounces net weight, not more than a total of 2 seeds or portions of seeds and not more than 10 pieces of blemished peel; and that in a single container, the appearance and eating quality of the product is not seriously affected by the presence of seeds, portions of seeds, blemished peel, objectionable material, harmless extraneous material, any other defects not specifically mentioned, or any combination thereof.

(vi) Orange marmalade that fails to meet the requirements of subdivision (v) of this subparagraph may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade D or Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(4) Flavor and odor. (i) Orange marmalade that possesses a good flavor and odor may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Good flavor and odor" means that the product possesses a good and distinct flavor and aroma characteristic of properly processed orange marmalade for the respective kind; that the flavor of the product is neither excessively tart nor excessively sweet; and that the product is free from any caramelized flavor and is free from objectionable flavor and objectionable odor of any kind.

(ii) If the orange marmalade possesses a reasonably good flavor and odor, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Orange marmalade that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good flavor and odor" means that the product possesses a reasonably good flavor characteristic of the orange marmalade for the respective kind; that the flavor of the product may be excessively tart or excessively sweet or may possess a slightly caramelized flavor but that the product is free from objectionable flavor and objectionable odor of any kind.

(iii) Orange marmalade that fails to meet the requirements of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph may be given a score of 0 to 27 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade D or Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(h) Explanation of terms or analyses. (1) "Orange fruit ingredient" means the edible portions of clean, sound, mature oranges free from material dryness and damage by freezing, including properly prepared orange peel and orange juice but excluding oranges that are artificially colored. Orange fruit ingredients consist of a mixture of cooked orange peel or canned orange peel together with fresh, cooked, canned, concentrated, or frozen orange juice or any combination thereof. The orange juice may be strained or filtered or may contain part or all of the cellular or edible fibrous portions of the oranges used.

(2) The "weight of orange fruit ingredient" means:

(i) The weight of orange peel after the removal of waste materials commonly removed therefrom and prior to steaming or cooking or canning and exclusive of any added water, water used in preparation, added sweetening ingredients, lemon peel, or lemon juice;

(ii) The weight of orange juice, whether concentrated or not, approximating the average soluble solids of single-strength juice; and

(iii) That the proportion by weight of such orange peel to such orange juice approximates not more than the orange peel (exclusive of waste materials commonly removed therefrom) and orange juice from sound, mature oranges free from material dryness and damage by freezing.

(3) "Sweetening ingredients" mean sugar, invert sugar sirup, dextrose, corn sirup, corn sirup solids, glucose sirup, or any mixture thereof.

(4) The "weight of sweetening ingredient" means the weight of the solids of such ingredient or ingredients.

(5) "Soluble solids content" is determined by the method prescribed in the "Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists" as outlined under the applicable method for determining the soluble solids in marmalades, except that no correction is made for water-insoluble solids.

(i) Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (1) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of orange marmalade, the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if:

(i) Not more than one sixth of such containers fails to meet all the requirements of the grade indicated by the average of such total scores, and, with respect to such containers which fail to meet the requirements of the indicated grade by reason of a limiting rule, the average score of all containers in the sample for the factor, subject to such limiting rule, is within the range for the grade indicated;

(ii) None of the containers comprising the sample falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores; and

(iii) All containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards for quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification.

PART 330—REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE PAYMENT OF UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS WITHOUT THE OWNER'S SIGNATURES TO THE REQUESTS FOR PAYMENT

MAY 15, 1951.

Pursuant to section 22 (a) of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended (31 U. S. C. 757c), the following additional regulations applicable to United States Savings Bonds are prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, effective June 1, 1951.

Sec.

330.1 Purpose of regulations.
330.2 Agents eligible to process bonds.
330.3 Bonds eligible for processing.
330.4 Guaranty given to the United States.
330.5 Evidence of owner's authorization to agent.
330.6 Endorsement of bonds.
330.7 Bonds in coownership form.
330.8 Payment of bonds.
330.9 Liability of paying agents under this circular.
330.10 Functions of Federal Reserve Banks.
330.11 Modification of other parts.
330.12 Other parts generally applicable.
330.13 Supplements and amendments.

AUTHORITY: §§ 330.1 to 330.13 issued under sec. 22, 49 Stat. 21, as amended; 31 U. S. C. 757c.

§ 330.1 Purpose of regulations. The regulations in this part prescribe a procedure whereby eligible qualified paying agents may specially endorse certain United States Savings Bonds in lieu of requiring the owner or coowner to sign the request for payment and to pay such bonds if they are otherwise subject to payment under the provisions of Part 321 of this chapter (Treasury Department Circular 750, Revised), or to forward to the Federal Reserve Bank of the District of payment those bonds which are not subject to payment under said part. Although the procedure is designed for use primarily in connection with bonds held by paying agents in safekeeping or trust accounts for known customers, it is not limited to bonds held in such accounts. However, under No Circumstances shall the procedure be used to effect a transfer of ownership or a hypothecation or pledge of a bond. Violation of these prohibitions will be cause for the withdrawal of an agent's privilege to process bonds under this part.

§ 330.2 Agents eligible to process bonds. In order to establish its eligibility to process savings bonds under this part, an institution qualified as a paying agent of savings bonds must certify on Treasury Department Form PD 2291, that by duly executed resolution of its governing board or committee, the institution has been authorized to apply for the privilege of processing bonds in accordance with the provisions and conditions of this part, including all supplements, amendments and revisions thereof and any instructions issued in connection therewith. Such application and certification should be made to the Federal Reserve Bank of the District which will, when appropriate, issue, on Form PD 2292, notification of the acceptance of such application-certification. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to withdraw such privilege from any institution at any time and such action may be taken either by the Treasury Department direct or through a Federal Reserve Bank, acting as fiscal agent of the United States.

§ 330.3 Bonds eligible for processing. A United States Savings Bond of any series may be processed under the regulations in this part: Provided, That the registered owner (which term as now and hereafter used in this part includes a coowner) named on the bond requests its payment. The term "owner" is defined to include individuals, incorporated and unincorporated bodies, executors, administrators, and other fiduciaries named on the bonds. The procedure does not apply, for example, to cases where a parent requests payment in behalf of a minor child who is named on the bond as its owner or to cases where requests for payment are made by surviving beneficiaries, or to any other cases requiring death certificates or other supporting evidence.

§ 330.4 Guaranty given to the United States. Each paying agent by the act of paying a bond without the signature of the owner or presenting a bond to the Federal Reserve Bank of the District for payment without the owner's signature, under the regulations in this part, shall be deemed thereby to have unconditionally guaranteed to the United States (a) the validity of the transaction, including the identification of the owner and the disposition of the proceeds in accordance with his instructions, and (b) that if a loss is incurred by the United States as a result of such transaction the agent shall upon request of the Treasury Department make prompt reimbursement for the amount of the loss.

§ 330.5 Evidence of owner's authorization to agent. By the act of presenting a bond to the Federal Reserve Bank (either as a "paid" bond or for payment by the Federal Reserve Bank) without the owner's signature to the request for payment, the paying agent represents to the United States that it has obtained adequate instructions from the owner with respect to payment of the bond and disposition of its proceeds. To support this representation agents should maintain appropriate records evidencing the receipt of such instructions as well as records establishing compliance therewith.

Absence of owner's signature, and validity of transaction, guaranteed in accordance with Treasury Department Circular No. 888.

(Name and location of agent)

This endorsement must be placed on the back of the bond in the space provided for the owner to request payment. The endorsement stamp must be legibly impressed in black or other dark-colored ink. The Federal Reserve Bank of the District will furnish rubber stamps for impressing the above endorsement or, in lieu thereof, will approve designs for suitable stamps to be obtained by paying agents. Requests for endorsement stamps to be furnished or approved by the Federal Reserve Bank shall be made in writing by an officer of the institution.

§ 330.7 Bonds in coownership form. In addition to the endorsement prescribed in § 330.6, the paying agent shall in the case of bonds registered in coownership form indicate which coowner requested payment. This should be done by encircling in black or other dark-colored ink the name of such coowner (or both coowners if a joint request for payment is made) as it appears in the inscription on the face of the bond.

§ 330.8 Payment of bonds. Bonds bearing the special endorsement prescribed in § 330.6, may be paid by paying agents if the bonds are otherwise eligible for payment under the provisions of Part 321 of this chapter (Department Circular 750, Revised). (The same specific limitations of payment authority set forth in § 321.9 of Department Circular 750, Revised—except for absence of the owner's signature under the regulations in this part—continue to apply.) These paid bonds should, of course, bear the agent's payment stamp and the data required thereby and the bonds should be forwarded to the Federal Reserve Bank of the District, with other paid bonds, in the usual manner. All other bonds bearing the special endorsement should be forwarded to the Federal Reserve Bank of the District for payment.

These bonds should be separated from paid bonds and should be accompanied by appropriate instructions governing disposition of the check to be issued in payment of the bond proceeds. See § 330.3 with respect to bonds eligible for special endorsement under the regulations in this part.

§ 330.9 Liability of paying agents under this part. In accordance with the guarantee provisions of § 330.4, paying agents are absolutely and unconditionally liable for any losses incurred by the United States by reason of the processing of bonds under the regulations in this part.

§ 330.10 Functions of Federal Reserve Banks. The Federal Reserve Banks, as fiscal agents of the United States, are authorized and directed to perform such duties, and prepare and issue such instructions, as may be necessary to the fulfillment of the purpose and requirements of this part. The Federal Reserve Banks may utilize any or all of their Branches in the performance of these duties.

§ 330.11 Modification of other parts. The provisions of the regulations in this part shall be considered as amendatory of and supplementary to Parts 315, 316, 318, 321, 322, and 329 of this chapter (Department Circulars 530, 653, 654, 750, 751, and 885), and any revisions thereof, and those parts are hereby modified where necessary to accord with the provisions in this part.

§ 330.12 Other parts generally applicable. Except as provided in the regulations in this part, the parts referred to in § 330.11 will continue to be generally applicable.

§ 330.13 Supplements and amendments. The Secretary of the Treasury may at any time or from time to time supplement or amend the terms of the regulations in this part, or of any amendment or supplement thereto.

[SEAL] JOHN W. SNYDER,
Secretary of the Treasury.

PART 591—PROCUREMENT BY FORMAL ADVERTISING

Part 591 is amended as indicated below:

1. Rescind § 591.102 and substitute the following in lieu thereof:

§ 591.102 Use of formal advertising—(a) Policy. Subject to such further instructions as may be issued by the Heads of Procuring Activities, during a period of national emergency declared by the President or by Congress, procurement by formal advertising will continue to be used. Formal advertising, however, will not be used when such use will adversely affect the acceleration of procurement or the broadening of the industrial base, or when in conflict with the policy set forth in § 590.301 of this chapter. In complying with the provisions of this section, formal advertising normally will be used in the following instances:

(1) In the procurement of standard commercial supplies or services;

(2) When the items being procured and the conditions are such that greater participation by small business can be obtained;

(3) When procurement by formal advertising will expedite the consummation of the transaction or will obtain the required items more rapidly than by negotiation;

(4) When there are no important factors to be considered in making the award, such as time of delivery, etc., other than price and it is anticipated that the supplies or services can be purchased more economically by formal advertising;

(5) When the list of suppliers to be solicited is extensive, full competition is desired and purchase by formal advertising will be accomplished more efficiently and expeditiously than by negotiation;

(6) In such additional instances as are deemed to be desirable.

(b) Lists of bidders. Current lists of bidders will be maintained. Requests for inclusion on such lists will receive prompt and courteous attention. Lists of bidders will be maintained in accordance with § 402.202 of this title and shall not include the name of any person or firm appearing in the "Consolidated Listing of Suspended and Ineligible Contractors and Disqualified Bidders" (§590.303 (d) of this chapter).

(c) Classified contracts. Procurements classified as confidential, or higher, shall not be effected by formal advertising, except when the Head of a Procuring Activity considers this method to be in the interest of the Government.

[1] This symbol will not be used to enter into procurement contracts but will be used in connection with contracts for the repayment to the Government of amounts found to be excessive profits under the Renegotiation Act of 1948.

2. Amend § 591.202–4 by changing paragraphs (e) (g) and (h) (2) through (4), to read as follows:

§ 591.202–4 Publishing in newspapers. • • •

(e) Rates. (1) Advertising may be paid for at a price not to exceed the commercial rates charged to private individuals, with the usual discounts.

(2) All advertising in newspapers, however, shall be audited and paid at rates not higher than those charged the general public; but lower prices may be secured whenever the public interest requires it.

• • • • •

(g) Forms. (1) WD AGO Form No. 192 (Request for Authority to Advertise).

(2) The following Standard Forms for Government advertising are hereby prescribed and published for general use, in lieu of all other forms of like character previously used for this purpose:

Standard Form No. 1143—Revised (Advertising Order).
Standard Form No. 1143a—Revised (Advertising Order—Memorandum).
Standard Form No. 1144—Revised (Public Voucher for Advertising—Memorandum).
Standard Form No. 1144a—Revised (Public Voucher for Advertising—Memorandum).

The Comptroller General has directed that, in the interest of economy, the present supply of unused Standard Forms Nos. 1143, 1143a, 1144, and 1144a, on hand and at the Government Printing Office will be used, until exhausted.

(h) Use of forms. • • •

(2) Standard Form No. 1142—Revised, and memorandum therefor, Standard Form No. 1142a—Revised, were formerly used in obtaining sworn statements of commercial advertising rates. The Comptroller General under date of 2 January 1951 has declared these forms obsolete. This has necessitated changes in Standard Forms 1143—Revised and 1143a—Revised, as indicated in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(3) Standard Form No. 1143—Revised, and memorandum therefor, Standard Form No. 1143a—Revised, are the forms used to place advertisements with the publishers. The qualifications set forth in paragraph (c) of this section, with reference to the composition of advertising copy, should be noted in connection with the preparation of this form. Pending revision of the forms and in connection with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the following deletions should be made:

(i) From authorization to publish, "charges for the same do not exceed the sworn rates on file or to be filed in this department or establishment and such";

(ii) From "Instructions to Publishers", the entire first paragraph and the following words in lines 3 and 4 of the second paragraph: "in the sworn statement of advertising rates on file in the General Accounting Office."

(4) The Public Voucher for Advertising (Standard Form No. 1144—Revised) and memorandum therefor (Standard Form No. 1144a—Revised), will be used by publishers to bill their charges against the Department for advertising published in accordance with the advertising order (Standard Form No. 1143—Revised). Pending revision of Standard Form No. 1144—Revised, the wording of the certification of the payee appearing thereon should be changed to read: "I certify that the above account is correct and just and that payment therefor has not been received." The original voucher for advertising (Standard Form No. 1144—Revised) is printed on the reverse of the original advertising order (Standard Form No. 1143—Revised). The memorandum voucher for advertising (Standard Form No. 1144a—Revised), is printed on the reverse of the memorandum advertising order (Standard Form No. 1143a—Revised). In no case will separate instruments be used for the ordering of advertising and the payment therefor. In connection with the use of this form instructions as set forth in paragraph (f) of this section should be followed.

Part 592 is amended as indicated below:

Such determinations will be made by the Head of a Procuring Activity as provided in § 402.303 (b) of this title, or by such officers and individuals to whom authority may be delegated in accordance with § 592.303 (b).

PART 596—CONTRACT CLAUSES AND FORMS

Part 596 is amended as indicated below:

1. Section 596.104–10 is amended by changing the headnote to "Renegotiation" and by adding paragraph (g) as follows:

§ 596.104–10 Renegotiation. • • •

(g) The Renegotiation Act of 1951 (Public Law 9, 82d Congress) was signed by the President on March 23, 1951. It applies to all contracts entered into by certain Departments, among which are the Departments of Defense, Army, Navy and Air Force, on and after January 1, 1951, and also to contracts entered into prior to January 1, 1951 to the extent of certain receipts and accruals therefrom realized on or after January 1, 1951, as set forth in section 102 of the act. The new law also provides that the Renegotiation Act of 1943 shall not apply to any contracts entered into on or after January 1, 1951. It will not be necessary to amend contracts entered into subsequent to January 1, 1951 so as to delete any such clauses that may be contained therein, nor to dispatch to contractors any notices with respect thereto. The clause set forth below will be included in all contracts which are entered into after April 22, 1951, except those contracts within the coverage of the mandatory exemptions set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph:

RENEGOTIATION

(a) This contract is subject to the Renegotiation Act of 1951 (P. L. 9, 82nd Congress) and shall be deemed to contain all the provisions required by Section 104 of said Act.

(b) The contractor (which term as used in this clause means the party contracting to furnish the materials or perform the work required by this contract) agrees to insert the provisions of this clause, including this paragraph (b), in all subcontracts as required by Section 104 of the Renegotiation Act of 1951; provided that the contractor shall not be required to insert the provisions of this clause in any subcontract of a class or type described in Section 106 (a) of the Renegotiation Act of 1951.

(1) The following are the mandatory exemptions set forth in section 106 (a) of the Renegotiation Act of 1951. (It is not necessary to insert any renegotiation clause in any contract or subcontract covered by such mandatory exemptions):

(1) Any contract by a Department with any Territory, possession, or State, or any agency or political subdivision thereof, or with any foreign government or any agency thereof; or

(2) Any contract or subcontract for an agricultural commodity in its raw or natural state, or if the commodity is not customarily sold or has not an established market in its raw or natural state, in the first form or state, beyond the raw or natural state, in which it is customarily sold or in which it has an established market. The term "agricultural commodity" as used herein shall include but shall not be limited to—

(A) Commodities resulting from the cultivation of the soil such as grains of all kinds, fruits, nuts, vegetables, hay, straw, cotton, tobacco, sugarcane, and sugar beets;

(B) Natural resins, saps, and gums of trees;

(C) Animals, such as cattle, hogs, poultry, and sheep, fish and other marine life, and the produce of live animals, such as wool, eggs, milk and cream; or

(3) Any contract or subcontract for the product of a mine, oil or gas well, or other mineral or natural deposit, or timber, which has not been processed, refined, or treated beyond the first form or state suitable for industrial use; or

(4) Any contract or subcontract with a common carrier for transportation, or with a public utility for gas, electric energy, water, communications, or transportation, when made in either case at rates not in excess of published rates or charges filed with, fixed, approved, or regulated by a public regulatory body, State, Federal, or local, or at rates not in excess of unregulated rates of such a public utility which are substantially as favorable to users and consumers as are regulated rates. In the case of the furnishing or sale of transportation by common carrier by water, this paragraph shall apply only to such furnishing or sale which is subject to the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission under Part III of the Interstate Commerce Act or subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Maritime Board under the Intercoastal Shipping Act, 1933; or

(5) Any contract or subcontract with an organization exempt from taxation under section 101 (6) of the Internal Revenue Code, but only if the income from such contract or subcontract is not includible under section 422 of such code in computing the unrelated business net income of such organization; or

(6) Any contract which the Board determines does not have a direct and immediate connection with the national defense. The Board shall prescribe regulations designating those classes and types of contracts which shall be exempt under this paragraph; and the Board shall, in accordance with regulations prescribed by it, exempt any individual contract not falling within any such class or type if it determines that such contract does not have a direct and immediate connection with the national defense. Notwithstanding section 108 of this title, regulations prescribed by the Board under this paragraph, and any determination of the Board that a contract is or is not exempt under this paragraph, shall not be reviewed or redetermined by the Tax Court or by any other court or agency; or

(7) Any subcontract directly or indirectly under a contract or subcontract to which this title does not apply by reason of this subsection.

(No determinations have been made to date by the Renegotiation Board as to what contracts do not have a direct and immediate connection with the national defense.)

(2) Specific attention is directed to the broad coverage of the Renegotiation Act of 1951. It applies to all contracts covered thereby, irrespective of the size of the contract and irrespective of whether the contract is formally advertised or negotiated.

(3) It is not required that contracts entered into prior to the effective date of this paragraph be amended to include the Renegotiation clause set forth in this paragraph, nor that any notice be dispatched to contractors with respect thereto.

(4) The Renegotiation Act of 1951 contains limited authority to the new Renegotiation Board to grant permissive exemptions. No permissive exemptions have been granted as of the effective date of this paragraph.

At 10 a. m., on the 35th day after the date of this order the surveyed public lands affected by this order shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to application, petition, location, and selection as follows:

(a) Ninety-one day period for preference-right filings. For a period of 91 days, commencing at the hour and on the day specified above, such lands shall be subject to (1) application under the homestead laws or the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, 52 Stat. 609 (43 U. Applications under subdivision (1) of this paragraph shall be subject to applications and claims of the classes described in subdivision (2) of this paragraph. All applications filed under this paragraph either at or before 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at that time. All such applications filed either at or before 10:00 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this order, shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at the hour specified on such 126th day. All applications filed thereafter shall be considered in the order of filing.

A veteran shall accompany his application with a complete photostatic, or other copy (both sides), of his certificate of honorable discharge, or of an official document of his branch of the service which shows clearly his honorable discharge as defined in § 181.36 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations, or constitutes evidence of other facts upon which the claim for preference is based and which shows clearly the period of service. Other persons claiming credit for service of veterans must furnish like proof in support of their claims. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

M-1—IRON AND STEEL

This order M-1, as amended, is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the issuance of this order and certain amendments thereto, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the issuance of certain other amendments, consultation with industry representatives was rendered impracticable due to the necessity for immediate action.

NPA Order M-1, as last amended April 6, 1951, is hereby amended in the following respects:

Section 8 of the order is hereby amended as below set out in order to place a floor of 90 percent on deliveries of carbon steel products (except carbon plates for line pipe) made by a producer supplier to a converter customer. The order is further amended by breaking down several product names in part A of table I and changing certain of the product limitation percentages contained in part C of said table I. It also changes the 45-day lead times set forth in part B of said table I to 30 days for the month of July 1951 only.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order applies particularly to producers of iron and steel and provides rules for placing, accepting, and scheduling rated orders for iron and steel. Its purpose is to provide equitable distribution of rated orders among all iron and steel producers of the particular products in order to make possible maximum production and to reduce to a minimum disruption of normal distribution. It makes provision for required acceptance of rated orders based on a percentage of previous shipments, and provides for allotment and maximum inventories. It supplements NPA Regs. 1 and 2, but only those provisions of Regs. 1 and 2 which are inconsistent with this order are superseded, and all other provisions of those regulations continue to apply to the iron and steel industry.

SEC. 2. Forms of iron and steel products to which this order applies. The iron and steel products to which this order applies are set out in Table I at the end of this order. Table I also sets out the lead time (days) and product limitation for acceptance of rated orders. This order also applies to all second quality materials and shearings and material sorted or salvaged from steel scrap and sold for other than remelting purposes.

SEC. 3. Required shipment dates. A rated order for iron or steel in any of the forms listed in Part A of Table I must specify shipment on a particular date or in a particular month, which, in no case, may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. The producer of iron or steel must schedule the order for shipment within the requested month as close to the requested shipment date as is practicable considering the need for maximum production.

SEC. 4. Rejection of rated orders (lead time). A producer of iron or steel in a form listed in Part A of Table I need not accept a rated order which is received by him less than the number of days (lead time) set forth in Part B of Table I prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is requested, unless specifically directed to accept such order by the National Production Authority.

SEC. 5. Product limitation for acceptance of rated orders. Unless specifically directed by NPA, no iron or steel producer shall be required to accept rated orders for shipment from any one producing unit regardless of location in any one month in excess of the percentages set forth in Part C of Table I, of his average monthly shipments of the products listed in said part, as made by him during the period from January 1, 1950, through August 31, 1950. Where no percentage limitation is set forth as to any product, it is expected that the amount of such product to be called for by rated orders will be relatively small.

SEC. 6. Conditions for acceptance of rated orders. Unless otherwise specifically directed by the National Production Authority, and subject to the provisions of NPA Reg. 2, each iron or steel producer shall be required to accept rated orders calling for shipment in any one month from any one of his producing units regardless of location, of products listed in Part A of Table I up to the amount of the percentages listed in Part C of Table I of his average monthly shipments of such products from that producing unit during the period from January 1, 1950, to August 31, 1950. Where no percentage is listed in Part C, in regard to any iron or steel product, each iron or steel producer shall be required to accept all rated orders served upon him, subject to the provisions of NPA Reg. 2, unless otherwise specifically directed by the National Production Authority.

SEC. 7. Changes in lead time. (a) If an iron or steel producer would have an open space on his production schedule created by the difference between the lead time of forty-five days as established by this order as originally issued or as subsequently amended, and a longer lead time as established by section 4 of this order, he shall continue to accept rated orders to fill such open space on his production schedule, on the basis of a lead time of forty-five days, before he applies the newly established longer lead time. In filling such open space on his production schedule, as above referred to, an iron or steel producer shall be governed by the product limitation percentage appearing in Part C of Table I.

Example: Under the previously established lead time of 45 days, a steel producer would, up to December 17, 1950, accept DO rated orders for shipment in February 1951. Where a lead time has been increased to 120 days, he would, up to January 31, 1951, accept DO rated orders for shipment in June 1951. In the application of this example, the steel producer would continue to accept DO rated orders for shipment in March and April 1951, on a 45-day lead time until he had arrived in any one month at the product limitation percentage of that product as set forth in Part C, of Table I. Thereafter, he would conform to the new lead time of 120 days for shipment in the succeeding months.

(b) In the example in paragraph (a) of this section, if the product limitation percentage under Part C of Table I as to that particular iron or steel product has been increased from 5 percent to 10 percent, the iron or steel producer should accept DO rated orders up to the amount of the new product limitation percentage figure, commencing with shipments for the month of March 1951, and should continue at that new figure thereafter.

SEC. 8. Allotments for further conversion. A steel producer who buys from another steel producer a steel product listed under the heading "Steel Mill Products" in part A of Table I (herein called "steel mill products"), and by further processing converts, for resale, the purchased steel into another steel mill product is engaged in further conversion. For the purpose of this section, the steel producer who sells a steel mill product for further conversion shall be called a producer supplier and the steel producer engaged in further conversion shall be called a converter. Each producer supplier shall make a monthly allotment to each of his converter customers of his production of each steel mill product in accordance with provisions of this section. In order to determine such monthly allotment for each converter customer, each producer supplier shall determine the amount of each steel mill product which will be available for that particular month after making provision for production under DO rated orders and other orders which said steel producer is required to accept by specific direction by the NPA. The ratio of the tonnage thus remaining to the total average monthly shipments of each such product during the base period, from January 1, 1950, through September 30, 1950, shall be applied to the average monthly shipments of each such product to each converter customer during the base period. The result shall be the monthly allotment for each converter customer: Provided, however, That the monthly allotment of each carbon steel mill product (except carbon plates for line pipe) shall in no case be less than 90 percent of the average monthly tonnage of each carbon steel mill product shipped to each converter customer during the base period. Any such allotment of a carbon steel mill product shall include the tonnage to be shipped on all DO rated orders for that particular product received by the steel producer from such converter customer for shipment during the month for which the allotment had been made. A producer supplier must accept orders placed by his converter customer up to the limit of his allotment: Provided, however, That such orders are placed in accordance with the lead times in part B of table I. Shipments, except for carbon steel mill products for which a minimum tonnage is provided in this section, under such allotments shall be made in addition to shipments to the same converter cutomer pursuant to authorized extension of DO ratings. Orders placed under the provisions hereof must be for substantially the same product as was supplied to each such converter customer during such base period, except for minor variations in size and design. In determining the amount of the monthly allotments, adjustments may be made by a producer supplier, with the consent of the converter customer involved, to provide for any abnormal situations which affect any steel products. Converter customers in Canada shall be entitled to the benefits of this section, and producer suppliers in the United States shall make monthly allotments to Canadian converter customers in accordance with the provisions of this section.

SEC. 9. Extension of ratings for further conversion of steel products. All DO ratings extended for the purpose of further conversion of steel products shall have the symbol FC added to the two-digit designation following the prefix DO on the order.

SEC. 10. NPA assistance in placing rated orders. Any person who is unable to place a rated order for iron or steel due to the limitations imposed by sections 5 and 6 of this order should apply to the NPA, Iron and Steel Division, Ref.: M-1, specifying the producers who refused to accept the order. The NPA will arrange to assist him in locating other sources of supply.

SEC. 10. NPA assistance in placing will from time to time approve scheduled programs calling for the production and delivery of iron and steel products for stated purposes, over specified periods of time. Upon approval of major programs of this type, supplements to this order will be issued describing such programs and specifying the manner in which they are to be carried out by the iron and steel industry. Thereafter, directives will be issued to individual concerns establishing schedules for their participation in such programs. Such directives shall be complied with by the recipients in accordance with the terms thereof, unless otherwise directed by NPA.

SEC. 12. Minimum orders. The minimum orders that may be placed with DO ratings or under NPA directives are set out in Table II at the end of this order. The minimum quantity for each size and grade of any item for shipment at any time to any one destination is listed opposite the appropriate item. If all other requirements of this order have been met, orders for such minimum quantities shall be accepted.

SEC. 13. Inventories. In addition to the provisions of NPA Reg. 1, relating to inventory control, it is considered that a more exact requirement applying to users of iron or steel products is necessary. No person obtaining iron or steel products for use in manufacture, processing, or construction, may receive or accept delivery of a quantity of iron or steel products if his inventory is, or by such receipt would become, in excess of that necessary to meet his deliveries or supply his services on the basis of his scheduled method and rate of operation pursuant to this order during the succeeding 45-day period, for steel products, gray and malleable iron castings, and 30-day period for pig iron, or in excess of a practicable minimum working inventory (as defined in NPA Reg. 1), whichever is less. For the purpose of this section, iron and steel products listed in Table I in which only minor changes or alterations have been effected shall be included in inventory. NPA Reg. 1 will apply to iron and steel products except as modified by this section. Said 45-day limitation does not apply to persons who order structural steel for use in construction (including buildings, bridges and other structures of a like type) and who order it delivered cut to the specifications required for a specific project and who normally keep such steel segregated for the specific project. Instead, no such person may accept delivery of such steel more than 45 days before it is scheduled to be fabricated or, if it is not to be further fabricated, before it is scheduled to be assembled.

SEC. 14. Ferro-alloys. (a) As used in this section and in section 17 of this order, "ferro-alloys" means and includes, in such form or condition that the same may be used in the production of alloy iron, steel, or nonferrous products, the following elements and their compounds, and scrap containing usable quantities of any one or more of such elements or of any compound or compounds of any one or more of such elements: Boron, calcium, chromium, cobalt, columbium, manganese, molybdenum, nickel, silicon, tantalum, titanium, tungsten, vanadium, and zirconium.

(b) Every person shall comply with any direction or directions issued by NPA respecting the use, and restrictions and limitations on the use, of any ferro-alloy or alloys in the production of alloy iron, steel, or non-ferrous products.

(c) No person shall receive or accept delivery of any ferro-alloy to be used for alloying purposes at a time when his inventory thereof exceeds, or by acceptance of such delivery would be made to exceed, 45 days' requirements on the basis of his then scheduled method and rate of operation or a practicable minimum working inventory (as defined in NPA Reg. 1), whichever is less. The provisions of this paragraph shall be construed to supersede the inventory limitation provisions of NPA Orders M-10 (Cobalt), M-14 (Nickel), M-30 (Tungsten), M-33 (Molybdenum), and M-49 (Columbium and Tantalum), so far as the inventory limitation provisions of said orders apply to persons having in inventory any ferro-alloy to be used for alloying purposes.

SEC. 15. Application for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that his business operation was commenced during or after the base period, or because any provision otherwise works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

SEC. 16. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-1.

SEC. 17. Reports. (a) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (P. L. 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F). In accordance with this section all steel producers are required to report on "NPAF–13—Steel Producers' Report of Orders Accepted for DO Ratings and Programs" the orders accepted bearing DO ratings and orders resulting from programs made effective by NPA directives; and on "NPAF–17—Steel Producers' Monthly Report of Shipments and Past Due Orders" the record of the shipments and past due orders by DO ratings and programs made effective by NPA directives.

(b) Every person shall submit to NPA such reports as it shall require with respect to the receipt, consumption, shipment, and maintenance in inventory of any ferro-alloy as defined in section 14 (a) of this order: Provided, That no person shall be required to file, as to any ferro-alloy, any report in addition to such report with respect thereto as he files pursuant to any order of NPA establishing allocation or inventory control over the use of such ferro-alloy.

SEC. 18. Records. Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least 2 years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

SEC. 19. Audit and inspection. All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the NPA.

SEC. 20. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or who wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order as amended shall take effect on May 18, 1951.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Administrator.

Chapter XV—Federal Reserve System

[Regulation W]

REG. W—CONSUMER CREDIT

DISASTER CREDITS: CERTAIN RENTALS

1. Effective May 15, 1951, section 7 of Regulation W (formerly Part 222 of Title 12) is hereby amended in the following respects:

a. By amending paragraph (j) to read as follows:

(j) Disaster credits. Any credit of a kind designated by a Federal Reserve Bank under this subsection as a result of a flood or other similar disaster which the Federal Reserve Bank determines has created within its district an emergency affecting the credit needs of a substantial number of the inhabitants of the stricken area. This exemption shall apply only within such areas and during such periods, and shall be subject to such other conditions, as the Federal Reserve Bank may prescribe.

b. By amending paragraph (l) to read as follows:

(l) Certain rentals. Any rental, leasing or bailment contract or arrangement (i) for a specified period of not more than 3 months if (i) the transaction is to be terminated, and the article returned to the Registrant, on or before the expiration of the specified period, and (ii) the transaction is not renewable and does not directly or indirectly relate to or involve any subsequent lease, use of, or other interest in, the article or any similar article; or (2) existing during 1950 between the Registrant and the obligor, or any bona fide continuation or modification thereafter of such existing contract or arrangement, which (i) does not expand the number of articles outstanding between the Registrant and the obligor beyond the maximum number outstanding between them at any one time during 1950, and (ii) does not otherwise alter the essential nature of the original contract or arrangement.

(Sec. 5, 40 Stat. 415, as amended, Title VI, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; 50 U. S. C. App., 5)

2. a. The above amendment to Regulation W is issued under the authority of section 5 (b) of the act of October 6, 1917, as amended, U. S. C., Title 50, App., sec. 5 (b); Executive Order No. 8843, dated August 9, 1941; and the "Defense Production Act of 1950", particularly section 601 thereof.

The purposes of the amendment are to provide certain technical changes in the provisions of the regulation exempting certain disaster credits and certain rentals. The change relating to disaster credits primarily concerns the method to be used by a Federal Reserve Bank in designating disaster areas under the regulation. The primary purpose of the other change is to add to the provision of the regulation concerning certain temporary rentals, a provision permitting the continuation of certain rental arrangements in effect during the year 1950.

b. These amendments were adopted by the Board after consideration of all relevant matter, including that presented to it pursuant to a notice published in 15 F. R. 8856, December 14, 1950, § 222.126, relating to "'Rental' transactions". Special circumstances rendered impracticable further consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, in the formulation of the above amendment, especially in view of the relaxing and technical nature thereof; and, therefore, as authorized by section 709 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, the amendment has been issued without such further consultation. Section 709 of the Defense Production Act of 1950 provides that the functions exercised under such act shall be excluded from the operation of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237), except as to the requirements of section 3 thereof.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM, [SEAL] S. R. CARPENTER,
Secretary.

(2) Except in an emergency involving danger to life or property, no nitrate laden vessel shall anchor within the area without first obtaining permission from the District Commander. The master of a nitrate laden vessel shall notify the District Commander in advance of his intention to anchor within the area, giving the name of the vessel and the time he expects to anchor and any additional information requested such as the reason for the stopover, anticipated period of the stopover, kind and amount of cargo carried, destination, and proposed location of any necessary torches or welding anticipated, etc. The vessel shall not enter the area until permission to anchor has been received from the District Commander, and it shall then anchor along the longitudinal center line of the area 500 yards from either the southeast or the northwest end as designated by the District Commander.

(3) The master of the vessel shall request permission from the District Commander for any necessary additional stopover privilege longer than the period originally anticipated. He shall also notify the District Commander when his vessel is ready to leave the area.

(4) In addition to the appropriate day and night signals, the anchored vessel shall display by day a red flag of at least 16 square feet, and by night a red light, at the mast head or at least 10 feet above the upper deck if the vessel has no mast.

(5) The master of the vessel shall have the vessel properly patrolled at all times, and anchor bearings carefully checked at frequent intervals. During rough seas, if he is in any doubt as to being securely anchored and is without ship power he shall call for tug service from any of the commercial tug-service firms available in Honolulu Harbor. All charges incurred thereby shall be charged to the vessel owner or agent.

(6) Upon being notified to shift its position a vessel shall get under way at once or signal for a tug and change position as directed with reasonable promptness.

(7) In the event of fire on board any anchored vessel, the master or other officer in charge shall immediately sound five blasts of five seconds each of a whistle or siren, which signal may be repeated at intervals to attract attention. This signal shall be used in addition to any other means available for reporting a fire. If for any reason the whistle signal is inoperative the master shall make arrangements whereby the radio transmitter and operator will be available.

(8) Nothing in this section shall be construed as relieving the owner or person in charge of any vessel from strict compliance with all applicable navigation laws and regulations and regulations established by the Commandant of the Coast Guard with respect to explosives and other dangerous articles and substances on board vessels.

PART 6—UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT LIFE INSURANCE

PART 8—NATIONAL SERVICE LIFE INSURANCE

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. In Part 6, § 6.78 is amended to read as follows:

§ 6.78 Provision for reinstatement. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 3 of the present United States Government life insurance policy or a similar paragraph in any policy that may be issued under the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, or any amendment or supplement thereto, United States Government Life Insurance which has lapsed, or may hereafter lapse, may be reinstated upon evidence of the insurability of the applicant satisfactory to the Administrator of Veterans Affairs and under the conditions stated in §§ 6.79, 6.80, 6.81, 6.90, and 6.92.

(a) The policy, if it has not been surrendered for a cash value, may be reinstated at any time after lapse upon evidence of the insurability of the insured satisfactory to the Administrator of Veterans Affairs, and upon the payment of all premiums in arrears, with interest from their several due dates at the rate of 5 per centum per annum, compounded annually, to the first monthly premium due date after July 31, 1946, and thereafter at the rate of 4 per centum per annum, compounded annually, and the payment or reinstatement of any indebtedness which existed at the time of such default, with interest. However, if such indebtedness with interest would exceed the reserve of the policy at the time of application for reinstatement of said policy, then the amount of such excess shall, except as provided in § 6.81, be paid by the insured as a condition of the reinstatement of the indebtedness and of the policy.

(b) Reinstatement is effected when an acceptable application and the required premiums are delivered to the Veterans' Administration. If application for reinstatement is submitted by mail, properly addressed to the Veterans' Administration, the postmark date shall be the date of delivery. The effective date of reinstatement of the insurance shall be the last monthly premium due date prior to the delivery or postmark date of the application for reinstatement, except where reinstatement is effected on the due date of a premium, then in such case, that date shall be the reinstatement date.

(Sec. 5, 43 Stat. 608, as amended, sec. 2, 46 Stat. 1016, sec. 7, 48 Stat. 9; 38 U. S. C. and Sup. 11a, 426, 707. Interpret or apply secs. 300, 301, 43 Stat. 624, as amended; 38 U. S. C. and Sup. 511, 512)

2. In Part 8, § 8.22 is amended to read as follows:

§ 8.22 Reinstatement of National Service life insurance. (a) Subject to the provisions of the National Service Life Insurance Act, as amended, and regulations issued thereunder, any insurance which has lapsed or may hereafter lapse and which has not been surrendered for a cash value or for paid-up insurance, may be reinstated upon written application signed by the applicant, and, except as hereinafter provided, upon payment of all premiums in arrears, with interest from their several due dates, provided such applicant at the time of application and tender of premiums is in the required state of health as shown in § 8.23 (a) or (b), whichever is applicable, and submits evidence thereof at the time of application and tender of premiums as may be satisfactory to the Administrator of Veterans Affairs: Provided, That interest on premium in arrears shall be at the rate of 5 per centum per annum, compounded annually, to the first monthly premium due date after July 31, 1946, and thereafter at the rate of 4 per centum per annum, compounded annually: Provided further, That the payment or reinstatement of any indebtedness against any policy must be made, and if such indebtedness with interest exceeds the reserve of the policy at the time of application for reinstatement thereof, then the amount of such excess shall be paid by the applicant as a condition of the reinstatement of the indebtedness and of the policy: Provided further, That a lapsed National Service life insurance policy which is in force under extended term insurance may be reinstated without health statement or other medical evidence, if application and tender of premiums with interest are made not less than 5 years prior to the date such extended insurance would expire: Provided further, That in any case in which the extended insurance under an endowment policy provides protection to the end of the endowment period such policy may be reinstated upon application and payment of the premiums with interest, and health statement or other medical evidence will not be required: And provided further, That National Service life insurance on the level premium term plan may be reinstated by written application of the insured accompanied by evidence of insurability and tender of two monthly premiums, one for the month of lapse, the other for the premium month in which reinstatement is effected; but such insurance when reinstated without payment of all premiums in arrears with interest shall have no reserve value. Except as provided in § 8.84, application for reinstatement of level premium term insurance accompanied by evidence of insurability and tender of premium must be submitted prior to the expiration of the 5-year term period.

(b) Reinstatement is effected when an acceptable application and the required premiums are delivered to the Veterans' Administration. If application for reinstatement is submitted by mail, properly addressed to the Veterans' Administration, the postmark date shall be the date of delivery. The effective date of reinstatement of the insurance shall be the last monthly premium due date prior to the delivery or postmark date of the application for reinstatement, except where reinstatement is effected on the due date of a premium, then in such case, that date shall be the reinstatement date.

(c) When the insured under a National Service life insurance policy on the level premium term plan makes inquiry prior to the expiration of the grace period disclosing a clear intent to continue insurance protection, such as a request for information concerning premium rates or conversion privileges, etc., an additional reasonable period not exceeding 60 days may be granted for payment of premiums due; but the premiums in any such case must be paid during the lifetime of the insured.

3. Section 8.24 is amended to read as follows:

§ 8.24 Application and medical evidence. The applicant for reinstatement of National Service life insurance, during his lifetime and before becoming totally disabled, must submit a written application signed by him and furnish evidence of health as required in § 8.23 at the time of application satisfactory to the Administrator of Veterans Affairs and upon such forms as the Administrator shall prescribe or otherwise as he shall require. Applicant's own statement of comparative health may be accepted as proof of insurability for the purpose of reinstatement under § 8.23 (a), but, whenever deemed necessary in any such case by the Administrator, report of physical examination may be required. Applications for reinstatement submitted after expiration of the applicable period mentioned in § 8.23 (a), must be accompanied by report of physical examination made in accordance with the provisions of § 8.64: Provided, That if the insurance becomes a claim after the tender of the amount necessary to meet reinstatement requirements but before full compliance with the requirement of this section, and the applicant was in a required state of health at the date that he made the tender of the amount necessary to meet reinstatement requirements, and that there is satisfactory reason for his noncompliance, the director, underwriting service, in central office cases, and the director, insurance service, in district office cases, may, if the applicant be dead, waive any or all requirements of this section (except payment of the necessary premiums) or, if the applicant be living, allow compliance with this section as of the date the required amount necessary to reinstate was received by the Veterans' Administration.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 9th day of May 1951:

The Commission having under consideration the provisions of Part 17 of this chapter, Rules Governing the Construction, Marking and Lighting of Antenna Towers and Supporting Structures, which were adopted pursuant to formal rule making procedures in Docket No. 9671 and which, among other things, furnish criteria for determining when the filing of FCC Form No. 401-A is required to cover the installation of a new or modified antenna or antenna supporting structure, furnish criteria for determining whether applications covering radio tower construction or modification of such construction require aeronautical study, and also provide specifications for obstruction marking and lighting of antenna structures;

Accordingly, notice is hereby given pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001), that under the authority provided in section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (section 14, 52 Stat. 1068; 29 U. S. 2. Amend § 522.79 to read as follows:

§ 522.79 Definition of the "knitted wear industry". For the purposes of §§ 522.68 to 522.79 the knitted wear industry is defined as follows:

(a) The manufacturing, dyeing or other finishing of any knitted fabric made from any yarn or mixture of yarns, except fulled suitings, coatings, topcoatings, or overcoatings containing more than 25 percent, by weight, of wool or animal fiber other than silk.

(b) The manufacturing, dyeing or other finishing, from any yarn or mixture of yarns, or from purchased knitted fabric, of any of the following products:

(1) Knitted garments or garment accessories for use as underwear, sleeping wear, or negligees.

(2) Fleece-lined garments; excluding, however, all fleece-lined garments made from purchased knitted fabric, except fabric containing cotton only or containing any mixture of cotton and not more than 25 percent, by weight, of wool or animal fiber other than silk.

(3) Knitted towels or cloths.

(c) Knitted shirts of cotton or any other fiber or any mixture of fibers which have been manufactured in the same establishment as that where the knitting process is performed.

(d) The manufacturing of men's and boys' underwear from any woven fabric.

(e) The knitting from any yarn or mixture of yarns and the further manufacturing, dyeing or other finishing of knitted garments, knitted garment sections, or knitted garment accessories for use as external apparel or covering which are partially or completely manufactured in the same establishment as that where the knitting process is performed; and the manufacture of bathing suits from any purchased fabric: Provided, That the manufacturing, dyeing or other finishing of gloves, mittens, and hosiery shall not be included.

Prior to the final adoption of the amendments, consideration will be given to any data, views or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Administrator, Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-2601]

OHIO POWER CO. AND UNION CITY ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 16th day of May A. D. 1951.

The Ohio Power Company ("Ohio") and Union City Electric Company ("Union"), both electric utility subsidiary companies of American Gas and Electric Company, having filed a joint declaration with this Commission, pursuant to the provisions of sections 12 (c), 12 (f) and 12 (g) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rules U-42 and U-43 promulgated thereunder, regarding the following transactions:

The Commission, in its order dated March 31, 1950, Holding Company Act Release No. 9776 (File No. 70-2322), authorized the acquisition by Ohio of 525 shares of the common stock of Union, which shares represent all of Union's issued and outstanding securities. In that proceeding, it was represented that the properties of Union would ultimately be acquired and become a part of the properties of Ohio. The power requirements of Union are furnished entirely by Ohio and the declarants state that Union no longer serves a useful purpose as a separate corporate entity.

The joint declarants propose that Union be dissolved and that its properties be transferred to and be acquired by Ohio, the sole stockholder of Union. It is represented that the properties of Union to be acquired by Ohio will be recorded on the books of Ohio on the basis of an original cost study, which is now being made, and it is proposed that any excess over such original cost will be disposed of by a charge to earned surplus.

Said joint declaration having been filed on March 28, 1951, and notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to the act, and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing with respect to said joint declaration within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Public Utility Commission of Ohio, the only State commission having jurisdiction over the proposed transactions, having duly authorized the transfer of Union's property and assets to Ohio and the dissolution of Union, and the declarants having requested that the Commission's order herein with respect to said joint declaration become effective upon issuance; and

The Commission finding with respect to the joint declaration that the applicable provisions of the act and rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said joint declaration be permitted to become effective, subject to the terms and conditions specified below; and

The Commission further deeming it appropriate to grant the request of the joint applicants that this order become effective forthwith;

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, that said joint declaration be, and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

TAYLOR INVESTMENT CO. ET AL.

ORDER APPROVING ACQUISITION OF UTILITY SECURITIES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 16th day of May, A. D. 1951.

In the matter of Taylor Investment Co., William H. Taylor, John M. Taylor, Ellis P. Taylor, John M. Taylor, Jr., File No. 70-2608.

Taylor Investment Co. ("Investment"), which is neither a registered holding company nor a subsidiary of a registered holding company, and William H. Taylor, John M. Taylor and John M. Taylor, Jr., officers and stockholders of Investment, and Ellis P. Taylor, a stockholder thereof, have filed a joint application in which sections 9 (a) (2) and 10 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") are designated as applicable to the following proposed transactions:

Investment proposes to purchase from William H. Taylor, and William H. Taylor proposes to sell to Investment, 4,036 shares (representing 28.7 percent of the outstanding shares) of the common stock of Allied Gas Company ("Allied"). The consideration to be paid for the said shares of stock is cash in the amount of $72,648, or $18 per share, which is based upon the market price of the stock at the date of the agreement of sale among the several applicants.

Investment, a Delaware corporation, is primarily engaged in the business of investing and trading in securities of various companies. Its outstanding securities consist of 128,554 shares of 4 percent preferred stock, par value $10 per share, and 338,300 shares of common stock, par value $1 per share. Of each class of said shares of stock, William H. Taylor, John M. Taylor, Ellis P. Taylor and John M. Taylor, Jr., own, respectively, approximately 27, 26, 16, and 12 percent. Allied, an Illinois corporation, is a gas utility company, which is engaged in the distribution at retail of propane-air gas in the communities of Paxton, Gibson City, Ludlow and Rantoul, Illinois, and natural gas in Rochelle, Illinois. As of December 31, 1950, Allied had outstanding 14,072 shares of common stock, par value $10 per share. William H. Taylor, John M. Taylor, and John M. Taylor, Jr., own, respectively, 4,036 shares, 400 shares and 223 shares, or 28.7, 2.8, and 1.6 percent of such stock.

Consummation of the proposed transactions will result in Investment becoming a public utility holding company within the meaning of section 2 (a) (7) (A) of the act. Investment has filed a statement pursuant to Rule U-9 in which it claims exemption from the provisions of the act on behalf of itself and all of its subsidiaries, including Allied. The acquisition by Investment will result in William H. Taylor, John M. Taylor and John M. Taylor, Jr., becoming affiliates of a public utility holding company and of a public utility company since they will each own directly more than 5 percent of the outstanding voting securities of Investment and directly and indirectly more than 5 percent of the outstanding voting securities of Allied. Ellis P. Taylor will become an affiliate of a public utility holding company.

Applicants represent that they do not, individually nor in the aggregate, directly or indirectly, own, hold or control with power to vote as much as 5 percent of the outstanding voting securities of any public utility holding company or any public utility company other than Allied.

Said joint application having been filed on April 6, 1950, and notice of said filing having been duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to said act, and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing with respect to said application within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The applicants having requested that the Commission's order issue herein at the earliest possible date and that the order become effective upon issuance; and

The Commission finding with respect to the application that the applicable provisions of the act and rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary thereunder, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said application be granted, and deeming it appropriate to grant the request of the applicants that the order become effective immediately upon issuance:

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act and the rules thereunder and subject to the terms and conditions prescribed by Rule U-24, that the application be, and the same hereby is, granted forthwith.

By the Commission.

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

NOTICE OF FILING REGARDING ISSUANCE OF $3,000,000 OF BONDS AND $7,100,000 OF NOTES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 15th day of May A. D. 1951.

Notice is hereby given that an application has been filed with this Commission, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), by Public Service Company of New Hampshire ("Public Service"), a public utility subsidiary of New England Public Service Company, a registered holding company. Applicant has designated section 6 (b) of the act and Rule U-50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may not later than May 28, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after May 28, 1951, said application, as filed or as amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said application which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Public Service proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $3,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, Series F, -- percent, due 1981. The interest rate on said bonds (to be a multiple of ⅛ of 1 percent) and the price, exclusive of accrued interest, to be received by the company (to be not less than 100 percent nor more than 102.75 percent of the principal amount of said bonds) are to be determined at competitive bidding. The bonds are to be issued under and secured by the company's Original Indenture of Mortgage dated January 1, 1943, as supplemented by various Indentures, and by a proposed Sixth Supplemental Indenture to be dated June 1, 1951. The net proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be applied to reduce short-term borrowings incurred for interim financing of the company's construction program.

Public Service further proposes to issue or renew, from time to time, until December 31, 1951, notes having a maturity of nine months or less up to the maximum amount of $7,100,000 at any one time outstanding (including notes outstanding as of May 4, 1951, in the amount of $5,450,000). The company anticipates that it will be able to borrow the required funds at an interest rate of not exceeding 2¾ percent per annum. It states that, if the interest rate on any of the notes should exceed 2¾ percent, it will file an amendment to its application at least five days before the execution and delivery of such note, and asks that such amendment shall become effective without further order of the Commission at the end the five day period unless the Commission shall have notified the company to the contrary. The aggregate amount of the short-term notes proposed to be issued will exceed 5 percent of the principal amount and par value of the other securities of the company then outstanding.

By order of the Commission dated March 22, 1951 (Holding Company Act Release No. 10455), Public Service is authorized to issue or renew until June 30, 1951, short-term notes up to a maximum of $6,500,000 at any one time outstanding. The company estimates that expenditures for its construction program for the six months ending December 31, 1951, will amount to approximately $5,000,000 and that it will be necessary to increase its short-term borrowings to $7,100,000 by the end of the year in order to carry out its construction program and for other corporate purposes.

Public Service expresses the desire to refund the short-term notes and to raise funds to finance its 1951 construction program principally through the issuance and sale of stock. However, the company states that no definite determination can now be made as to the time, amount or type of any future permanent financing.

Total fees and expenses to be paid by Public Service in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated at $30,000, including printing costs of $9,500, Trustee's fees of $4,250, accountants' fees of $1,400 and counsel fees of $9,000.

It is represented that the proposed issuance and sale of bonds are subject to the jurisdiction of the New Hampshire Public Service Commission, the State Commission of the State in which the company is organized and doing business, and to the jurisdiction of the Vermont Public Service Commission to the extent that such bonds are to be issued on account of property or expenditures within Vermont. It is stated that copies of the orders of said Commissions approving the transaction will be supplied by amendment. It is further represented that the issuance or renewal of the short-term notes is not subject to the jurisdiction of the New Hampshire Public Service Commission, except to the extent that such notes evidence indebtedness incurred more than twelve months prior to the maturity date of such notes. The company states that in the event notes having such a maturity date are issued, application will be made to the State Commission and a copy of the order thereon will be filed as an amendment to its application.

Public Service requests that the order herein be issued by May 31, 1951, and that such order in so far as it relates to the issuance and sale of bonds become effective upon its issuance and in so far as it relates to the issuance or renewal of short-term notes become effective on July 1, 1951.

By the Commission.

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS IN THE AIR FORCE RESERVE OR THE AIR FORCE OF THE UNITED STATES

§ 861.301 General—(a) Duration of appointment. All appointments in the United States Air Force Reserve will be made for a period of five years, except that appointments in force at the outbreak of war, and those made during a war, shall continue, unless sooner terminated, for the duration of such war and for six months thereafter, or for a period of five years from date of appointment, whichever is longer. Appointments in the Air Force of the United States effected during a war or emergency shall continue, unless sooner terminated, for the duration of such war or emergency and for six months thereafter.

NOTE: Appointments in the Air Force of the United States, without component (temporary), will not be made under the provisions of regulations contained in §§ 861.301 to 861.730 until specifically directed by the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force.

(b) Command responsibility. The Commanding General, Continental Air Command, is responsible for implementation of the regulations contained in §§ 861.301 to 861.730 under such administrative procedures as he may determine necessary for the accomplishment of the procurement required and to insure that appointments are tendered only to properly qualified persons. Final selections for appointment in grades above captain, as well as all selections for appointment in the Medical Service of the United States Air Force Reserve where concurrent active duty is desired, and all selections of chaplains will be made by the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force.

(c) Delegation of authority. The Commanding General, Continental Air Command, may delegate to subordinate commanders, not below numbered air force level, and major commanders, Zone of Interior and overseas, such authority granted to him as he may consider appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the regulations contained in §§ 861.301 to 861.730.

(d) Procurement objectives. Appointments will be made in such numbers, grades, and military specialities as may be authorized from time to time by the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force. Persons selected for appointment shall be fully qualified in accordance with requirements contained in §§ 861.301 to 861.730. Only those persons who are best qualified will be appointed. Appointment is not assured merely by reason of meeting the established requirements. Outstanding persons in business, scientific, professional, or technical fields who do not meet eligibility criteria but who have demonstrated through their civilian occupation that they are outstanding in their respective fields may be appointed upon approval of the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force.

§ 861.302 Eligibility—(a) General. Except for those specified in § 861.303 qualified persons, with or without prior military service, are eligible to apply for appointment under the provisions of §§ 861.301 to 861.730 including all members of the Air Force Reserve seeking appointment in a grade higher than that presently held: Provided, That, in the case of officer applicants, they are not currently serving on extended active duty. (b) Former Regular Air Force officers. Upon application, submitted within six months subsequent to discharge, former Regular Air Force officers who were separated honorably by reason of unqualified resignation will be appointed in the United States Air Force Reserve in the highest grade, either temporary or permanent, in which they have served at any time. Appearance before an examining board and qualification in a specialty covered by current procurement directives and §§ 861.301 to 861.730 are not required.

(c) Former Air National Guard of the United States officers. Upon application, submitted within six months subsequent to discharge, former Air National Guard of the United States officers who were separated honorably may be appointed in the United States Air Force Reserve in the highest grade in which they satisfactorily served in the Air Force of the United States, United States Air Force Reserve, or Air National Guard of the United States. essing, be exempted from appearance before an examining board. Such exemption will be made, however, only in those instances where adequate determination of qualification in a specialty covered by current procurement directives and §§ 861.301 to 861.730 can be made without such appearance.

§ 861.303 Ineligibility. The following persons are ineligible to apply for appointment in the Air Force Reserve:

Any request for waiver under this paragraph must be submitted by the applicant with his application, stating fully the circumstances of the case. Each request for waiver will be considered on its own merits.

(f) Former officers, warrant officers, flight officers, or enlisted personnel of any of the Armed Forces who were discharged under other than honorable conditions or were released from active service by reason of unsatisfactory service.

As an exception to the above, a registrant who has been ordered to report for preinduction processing, and whose local board subsequently reclassifies him into a class other than available for military service, may then be considered eligible to apply for appointment, provided that he is otherwise qualified under the provisions of §§ 861.301 to 861.730 as his order to report for preinduction processing is thereby administratively canceled. Subchapter D—Exportation and Importation of Animals and Animal Products

PART 97—OVERTIME SERVICES RELATING TO IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

OVERTIME, NIGHT, AND HOLIDAY INSPECTION AND QUARANTINE ACTIVITIES AT BORDER, COASTAL, AND AIR PORTS

EDITORIAL NOTE: Federal Register Document 51-5228, published on page 3978, issue of Saturday, May 5, 1951, as Part 165 of Subchapter I, has been redesignated Part 97 in Subchapter D and is reprinted below.

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by Public Law 735, 81st Congress, approved August 28, 1950, to pay employees of the Department performing inspection, certification or quarantine services relating to imports into and exports from the United States for all overtime, night, or holiday work performed by them and to accept reimbursement for such payment from persons for whom such work is performed, Subchapter D of Chapter I of Title 9 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by adding thereto the following new Part 97.

§ 97.1 Overtime work at border ports, seaports, and airports. Any person, firm, or corporation having ownership, custody or control of animals, animal by-products, or other commodities subject to inspection, certification, or quarantine under Subchapters B and F of this chapter, and who requires the services of an employee of the Bureau of Animal Industry on a holiday, or at any other time outside the regular tour of duty of such employee, shall sufficiently in advance of the period of overtime request the Bureau inspector in charge to furnish inspection, quarantine, or certification service during such overtime period and shall pay the Secretary of Agriculture therefor at the rate of $2.40 per man hour for service so furnished: Provided, That a minimum charge of $2.40 shall be made for any such service rendered. It will be administratively determined from time to time which days constitute holidays.

The rates prescribed in this section shall also be applicable to overtime work heretofore furnished pursuant to this statute under any contract or other arrangement.

The purpose of this amendment is to establish a uniform hourly rate of payment for all overtime services furnished in accordance with the act of August 28, 1950. Determination of the costs of such overtime inspection depends entirely upon facts within the knowledge of the Department of Agriculture. It is to the benefit of those who require such overtime service, as well as the public generally, that this amendment be made effective at the earliest practicable date. Accordingly, pursuant to the provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238), it is found upon good cause that notice and public procedure on this amendment are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making this amendment effective less than 30 days after publication.

(Pub. Law 735, 81st Cong.)

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 1st day of May 1951.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 13, Amendment 1]

GCPR, SR 13—COKE, COAL CHEMICALS AND COKE OVEN GAS

PARTICIPATING CONTRACTS; DISTRIBUTORS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738) this Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 13 (16 F. R. 809) to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 13 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is a clarifying amendment applicable to sections 1, 2, 3, and 6 of Supplementary Regulation 13 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

Due to an oversight the word "distributor" was inadvertently omitted from sections 1 and 2 at the time Supplementary Regulation 13 was published. This omission is corrected to include them in sections 1 and 2.

Participating contracts are an established practice in the field of coal chemicals. In this type contract the return to the seller varies according to the analysis of the material delivered, but inasmuch as the end or finished products are controlled under Supplementary Regulation 13, the transaction is not inflationary. In arriving at the seller's price some participating contracts are based upon published prices in trade journals for the derivatives and some are based upon the revenue obtained by the buyer from the sale of the derivatives. In the definition in section 2 (g) of Supplementary Regulation 13, only the latter type of participating contract was set forth. A strict application of this definition would not permit a buyer with a participating contract based upon published prices in trade journals to pay the seller such price if, in fact, he happened to be selling some of the derivatives at prices established by these published prices since the definition in the Regulation would only permit him to pay the seller "according to the revenue obtained". Therefore, section 2 (g) is rewritten to allow for both of the above contingencies.

Section 3 is amended so that no distributor may charge a price f. o. b. coke oven or tar distillation plant in excess of the ceiling price established for the aforesaid plants. However, where a distributor purchased coke and/or coal chemicals from a coke oven or tar distillation plant during the producer's base period and resold them, the distributor may charge the highest prices he received for such coke and/or coal chemicals during the base period plus any adjustments in price applied to the f. o. b. coke oven or tar distillation plant price of such coke and/or coal chemicals.

Section 6 is amended so that it places upon the distributors the same responsibilities which producers have in regard to records and record keeping.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 1 is amended by adding, following the word "producers", the words "and distributors".

2. Section 2 (g), "Participating contract", is deleted and the following is substituted therefor:

(g) "Participating contract" means a contract under which the seller's price for the material varies according to the revenue obtainable from the sale of the derivatives under the terms of the contract.

3. Section 2 is further amended by adding paragraph (i):

(i) "Distributor" means any person who purchases for resale, coke and or coal chemicals at or for delivery from coke oven or tar distillation plants, or plants refining or upgrading materials obtained from coke oven or tar distillation plants, and resells the same without physical handling; it includes any person acting as the agent of a distributor in the sale of such materials.

4. Amend section 3 by adding the following paragraph (d):

(d) No distributor shall charge a price f. o. b. coke oven or tar distillation plants or plants refining or upgrading materials obtained from coke oven or tar distillation plants in excess of the ceiling price or prices established for such plants under the provisions of this regulation: Provided, That in the event a distributor purchased coke and/or coal chemicals from such plants during the producer's base period, and resold such coke and/or coal chemicals, said distributor may buy and resell coke and/or coal chemicals from said plants and charge the highest price or prices he received for such coke and/or coal chemicals during the aforesaid base period plus any adjustments in price applied to the f. o. b. plant price of such coke and/or coal chemicals.

5. Amend section 6 by deleting paragraph (c) and substituting therefor:

(c) Not later than 20 days after the effective date of this amendment each distributor shall file, by letter, with the Office of Price Stabilization, Solid Fuels Branch, Washington 25, D. C., a statement setting forth: (1) a description of the product; (2) name and location of producer and plant; (3) ceiling prices established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation; (4) ceiling prices established under the authority of this amendment; (5) the price increase allowed under this amendment; (6) the charges, if any, made by the distributor for any special service rendered during the base period, together with a description of the special service so rendered, and (7) the prices specified in the contracts exempted by section 4 of Supplementary Regulation 13 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

6 Section 6 is further amended by adding paragraph (d) which reads as follows:

(d) Notwithstanding any other provision hereof, each producer and distributor subject to this supplementary regulation shall continue to be subject to the record keeping provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.)

Effective date. This Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 13 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation shall be effective as of March 16, 1951.

This order as amended is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense. It is issued pursuant to both the Defense Production Act of 1950 and the Rubber Act of 1948. In the formulation of this order there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, in the formulation of this amendment, consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impossible because of the need for immediate action.

This amendment affects NPA Order M-2 as amended May 1, 1951, as follows: It designates the text of section 19 as paragraph (a) and adds a new paragraph (b) to section 19; it substitutes a new section 20; and it makes certain changes in appendix B. As so amended NPA Order M-2 reads as follows:

R. 1823.

EXPLANATORY PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. Purpose and effect. The purpose of this order is to conserve the supply of rubber for the needs of national defense and to provide for its equitable distribution. It places over-all limits on the consumption of new rubber (including both natural and synthetic). It prohibits private importation of natural rubber, provides for allocation of Government-produced synthetic rubber, and for the distribution of natural rubber. Provisions are also made for increasing production of camelback, for directing production of rubber products into standard lines, and for restricting the use of natural rubber in certain listed products, for limiting inventories of tires and tubes and for restricting their delivery for installation on new passenger automobiles.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Natural rubber" means all new RHC (rubber hydrocarbon) forms and types of tree, vine, or shrub rubber, both dry and latex, including the following grades of wild rubber (cut, uncut, washed or dried): upriver fine, acre fine, Bolivian fine, beni fine, island fine, and all other types of fine pará, which are of equivalent quality regardless of name or origin; but excluding all other South or Central American grades of wild rubber and all rubber from guayule, balata or gutta percha, as well as reclaimed natural rubber.

(b) "Dry natural rubber" means all natural rubber in solid form.

(c) "Natural rubber latex" means the dry latex solids contained in natural rubber liquid latex.

(d) "Synthetic rubber" means all new RHC products of chemical synthesis similar in general properties and applications to natural rubber and specifically capable of vulcanization, including synthetic rubber latex but excluding reclaimed synthetic rubber.

(e) "GR-S" means a general-purpose synthetic rubber of the butadiene styrene type produced in the United States generally suitable for use in the manufacture of transportation items such as tires or camelback, as well as any other type of synthetic rubber equally or better suited for use in the manufacture of transportation items such as tires or camelback, as determined from time to time by the NPA, but excluding reclaimed general-purpose synthetic rubber.

(f) "Butyl" or "GR-I" means a special-purpose synthetic rubber produced in the United States, suitable for use in the manufacture of transportation items such as pneumatic inner tubes, but excluding reclaimed special-purpose synthetic rubber.

(g) "New RHC" means total new rubber hydrocarbon. This is the total RHC content of dry natural rubber, natural rubber latex, synthetic rubber, uncured scrap rubber, and uncured in-process materials.

(h) "Consume" means, in the case of dry natural rubber, natural rubber latex or synthetic rubber, to compound, expend, formulate, or in any manner make any substantial change in the form, shape, or chemical composition.

(i) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(j) "Reclaimed rubber" means any rubber derived from the processing or treatment of vulcanized rubber or cured scrap rubber.

(k) "NPA" means the National Production Authority in the Department of Commerce.

RESTRICTIONS ON CONSUMPTION

SEC. 3. Limit on total new rubber consumption (except natural rubber latex). (a) No person shall (except on prior written authorization of the NPA) consume in any calendar month a total amount of new rubber (including all synthetic both dry and latex and all natural except latex) in excess of 100 percent of his base monthly new rubber consumption as computed under paragraph (b) of this section: Provided, however, That no person shall consume in the manufacture of any item listed in appendix B of this order, in any calendar month, any new rubber in excess of 90 percent of the proportion of his base monthly new rubber consumption devoted to the manufacture of each such item during the year ending June 30, 1950: And provided further, That no person may consume more rubber in the manufacture of tires and tubes for delivery as original equipment for new passenger automobiles than is required to supply the manufacturers of new passenger automobiles with four tires and tubes for each of such automobiles.

(b) Each person's base monthly new rubber consumption shall be one-twelfth of his actual new rubber consumption (including all synthetic both dry and latex and all natural except latex) during the year ending June 30, 1950, as adjusted by the NPA.

(c) The limitation provided in this section shall not apply to any person during any calendar quarter in which his total consumption of new rubber (including all synthetic both dry and latex and all natural except latex) does not exceed 25,000 pounds.

SEC. 4. Limit on natural rubber latex consumption. (a) No person shall (except on prior written authorization of the NPA) consume during any calendar quarter, a total quantity of natural rubber latex in excess of one-fourth of his consumption during the year ending June 30, 1950, as adjusted by the NPA.

(b) In the event that imports of natural rubber latex are of such volume that an excess remains available for consumption after deducting from total imports (1) the base-period consumption allowed by paragraph (a) of this section, (2) the stockpile requirements of the Government, and (3) a reasonable reserve for adjustments under section 21 of this order, such excess will be allocated quarterly to consumers by the NPA on the basis of their pro rata allocation of natural rubber latex during the first calendar quarter of 1951. Any allocations made under this paragraph may be consumed in addition to the amounts permitted by paragraph (a) of this section.

SEC. 5. Rubber to fill certain rated orders. (a) Such quantities of new rubber as are used in making products to fill DO rated orders (other than those rated "DO–87" or "DO–97") are hereby exempted from the limitations on consumption contained in sections 3 and 4 of this order. All such quantities shall accordingly be excluded in computing consumption under those sections. Allocations of synthetic rubber will be made for such purposes, upon application in writing to the NPA, in addition to the allocations for which provision is made in sections 9, 10, and 11 of this order.

(b) Any person filing an application for an allocation of 500 pounds or more of new rubber to fill a DO rated order must show (1) the DO rating number or symbol applied to the order, (2) the Government contract or purchase order numbers, (3) the identity and quantity of the product ordered, (4) the Government specifications for the product insofar as they concern the rubber content, (5) the name and address of the customer, and (6) the types and quantities of rubber required, by month, to fill the order.

(c) Any person filing an application for allocation of rubber to fill any DO rated orders where each of such orders requires less than 500 pounds of new rubber must set forth (1) the number of orders with each DO rating, (2) the types and quantities or rubber required to fill each group of DO rated orders, and (3) a statement signed by an authorized officer or member of the company to the effect that he has received DO rated orders, which are on file and which require the amount of rubber applied for.

SEC. 6. Orders rated "DO–97." (a) No person shall apply or extend the rating "DO–97" to any order for any pneumatic tires or tire tubes or other transportation products as listed under code 1 and codes 3 through 8 in appendix A, and no such rating applied or extended to such orders shall be deemed a valid rating.

(b) Insofar as necessary and practicable, new rubber will be made available once a month, in addition to the quantities otherwise permitted by this order, to manufacturers of those products listed under code 2 and codes 9–24 in appendix A, to replace rubber used to fill orders for such products rated "DO–97." No additional rubber will be authorized for such purpose, however, except to the extent that the applicant demonstrates that he has filled "DO–97" rated orders for the product in the previous month requiring a greater proportion of his then permitted new rubber consumption than he devoted to the manufacture of that product out of his total new rubber consumption in the year ending June 30, 1950 (exclusive of such units as were manufactured and sold as parts of new equipment or for incorporation in new equipment). Application for such additional new rubber shall be made before the 10th day of each month. The quantities approved under this section will be authorized and allocated for use during the remainder of that month. (For example: If a company used rubber in April for orders rated "DO–97" in excess of the above-described proportion, it may report such excess use before the 10th of May, and additional rubber will be authorized or allocated in May). The applicant must state (if he has not previously submitted the same information) his consumption of new rubber during the year ending June 30, 1950, in making the product involved (broken down to show what proportion went into new equipment), the volume of orders filled for the product during the previous month (broken down to show those rated "DO–97"), the types and quantities of rubber used or required therefor, the new rubber authorization requested, and any other data necessary to demonstrate that the applicant has satisfied the above requirements entitling him to additional rubber.

IMPORTATION AND DISTRIBUTION OF NATURAL RUBBER

SEC. 7. Private importation of natural rubber prohibited. (a) On and after December 29, 1950, no person, other than the Administrator of General Services, shall import into the United States (including its territories and possessions) any natural rubber as defined in section 2 (a) of this order, except as specifically authorized in writing by the Administrator of General Services: Provided, however, That this prohibition shall not apply to any private importation required by a contract which was made prior to December 29, 1950, and which is registered with the General Services Administration on or before January 5, 1951, except as any such private importation may be disapproved by said Administrator. For purposes of this section, the term "import" includes any physical movement of rubber into the United States, whether placed in general order or in a foreign-trade zone, or whether entered for consumption, bonded customs custody, or otherwise, except where the rubber moves through the United States in transit, under bond, from a consignor in one foreign country to a consignee in another foreign country.

(b) The prohibition in paragraph (a) of this section does not apply to the types and grades of natural rubber excluded from the definition in section 2 (a) of this order.

SEC. 8. Purchase of natural rubber. (a) A person may in any calendar month purchase as much but no more natural rubber than he is permitted to consume in that month: Provided, however, That at the time of such purchase his total inventory of natural rubber does not exceed, or by the delivery of such purchase would not be made to exceed, the amount of natural rubber which he may under this order consume during the next succeeding 60 days (except that, if his inventory of any particular grade is less than his requirements for such grade for that calendar month, he may purchase the balance of his requirements for that grade for that month).

(b) Each person who desires to purchase any natural rubber shall furnish the Administrator of General Services a certificate reading substantially as follows:

I hereby certify, subject to the criminal penalties for misrepresentation contained in Title 18, U. S. Code (Crimes), section 1001, that I am authorized to consume all of the natural rubber called for by this purchase order during the current calendar month. I further certify that after receipt of the rubber called for by this order, my inventory will not exceed the limitations of NPA Order M–2.

ALLOCATION OF SYNTHETIC RUBBER

SEC. 9. Limitation on acquisition of synthetic rubber. No person shall acquire more Government-produced GR–S or butyl (GR–I) than is allocated to him by the NPA. No person shall sell or transfer any synthetic rubber acquired from the Government to any person other than the Office of Rubber Reserve, Reconstruction Finance Corporation: Provided, however, That this prohibition shall not apply to any transfer of Government-produced synthetic rubber which is part of a bona fide subcontracting arrangement by which the transferee is required to return the equivalent amount of synthetic rubber to the transferor, or where there is no transfer of the right ultimately to dispose of or sell the rubber or rubber product made therefrom.

SEC. 10. Allocation procedure. The NPA will allocate quarterly, to each consumer of GR–S or butyl, the amounts of Government-produced GR–S and butyl that he may purchase during a specified calendar quarter. The allocation will reflect the total quantity of hot rubber and the total quantity of cold rubber which the consumer may purchase, but will not specify particular types within these two categories. The NPA will notify the Office of Rubber Reserve, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, of such allocations and the Office of Rubber Reserve will not issue purchase permits to anyone for more GR–S or butyl than is allocated to him. Persons desiring to purchase GR–S or butyl will submit purchase requests to the Office of Rubber Reserve in accordance with its established procedure.

SEC. 11. Basis of allocation. GR–S and butyl for nondefense purposes will be separately allocated by the NPA for each calendar quarter on the following basis:

(a) GR–S. Subject to the provisions of paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section, each consumer of GR–S will be allocated a fair and proportionate share of the total available Government-produced GR–S (after a reasonable amount has been reserved for DO rated orders, for such other programs as may be approved by the NPA, and for adjustments under section 21 of this order).

(b) Butyl for tire tubes. Subject to the provisions of paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section, each manufacturer of tire tubes will be allocated his pro rata share of total available Government-produced butyl (after a reasonable amount has been reserved for DO rated orders, for such other programs as may be approved by the NPA, and for adjustments under section 21 of this order), based on the proportion which his total new rubber consumption for tire tubes during the year ending June 30, 1950, bears to the total new rubber consumption of the industry for tire tubes during that period as determined by the NPA.

(c) Butyl for other uses. Subject to the provisions of paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section, each consumer of butyl for purposes other than the manufacture of tire tubes will be allocated for each calendar quarter, his average quarterly consumption of butyl for such other purposes during the year ending June 30, 1950, as determined by the NPA.

(d) Imports to be considered. In making allocations described in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section, the NPA will ascertain the quantities of imported GR–S and butyl acquired by each consumer, and will reduce by the amounts of such imported rubber the allocations which would otherwise be made.

(e) Inventories to be considered. In making the allocations described in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section, the NPA will ascertain and take into account each consumer's inventory of GR–S and butyl, and will adjust the allocations insofar as practicable so that inventories (including rubber in warehouse and in transit) will not be increased beyond a 26-working-day supply.

(f) GR–S plant clean-up and dried latex drainings, coagulum, and preflox materials. Only 50 percent of the quantity of GR–S plant clean-up material purchased from the Office of Rubber Reserve, and only 25 percent of the GR–S dried latex drainings, coagulum, and preflox purchased from the Office of Rubber Reserve, need be considered in computing and reporting the total quantity of synthetic rubber acquired or consumed.

RUBBER PRODUCT REQUIREMENTS AND LIMITATIONS

SEC. 12. Camelback production required. Every person who produced camelback during the year ending June 30, 1950, shall produce in each month of 1951, an amount of camelback which by RHC weight is at least one and a half times as great in proportion to his total new rubber consumption in the manufacture of transportation products during such months, respectively, as the proportion which his production of camelback during the year ending June 30, 1950, bore by weight on RHC basis to his total new rubber consumption in transportation products during that year. For example, if a person's production of camelback on RHC basis accounted for 5 percent of his new rubber RHC consumption in transportation products during the year specified, his production of camelback in each month must account for at least 7.5 percent of his new rubber RHC consumption in transportation products during each month of 1951. This means that consumers who produce transportation products other than camelback must sacrifice sufficient RHC from other transportation products to achieve the above result, since no extra allocation of RHC will be made to compensate for increased camelback production. Those who produce camelback and no other transportation items, must increase their production only to the extent that they have received a special adjustment from NPA for camelback production.

SEC. 13. Tires or tubes for new passenger automobiles. No person shall deliver any tires or tubes to any manufacturer of new passenger automobiles unless such manufacturer furnishes to him a signed certificate reading substantially as follows:

I hereby certify, subject to the criminal penalties for misrepresentation contained in Title 18, U. S. Code (Crimes), section 1001, that, except in fulfillment of DO-rated orders, after April 1, 1951, I will not install on or use for any new passenger automobile more than four tires or tubes and that no more than four tires and tubes will be delivered by me with any new passenger automobile.

(Date) (Signed)

SEC. 14. Required production of certain tires or tubes. (a) No person, who, during the first calendar quarter of 1951, manufactured any tires or tubes for use on trucks, buses, and truck trailers, in sizes 8.25 and up, or on tractors or farm equipment, shall, during any month, devote less than the same proportion of his total new rubber consumption as limited by section 3 of this order to the manufacture of each of these items than he did in the first calendar quarter of 1951.

(b) In addition, the saving in new RHC resulting from the reduction in original passenger car tire and tube deliveries due to the elimination of the fifth tire and tube, shall be used by each tire manufacturer in the production of truck and bus tires and tubes, in sizes 8.25 and up, and for farm tires and tubes. Insofar as natural rubber may be used in producing such tires and tubes in accordance with the specifications in appendix A, such use in lieu of synthetic rubber is permitted, subject to the limitation on total new rubber consumption in section 3 of this order.

SEC. 15. Rubber product simplification and manufacturing specifications.—(a) Manufacture except in accordance with appendix A prohibited. No person shall manufacture any rubber product except in accordance with the specifications and other terms and conditions prescribed in the attached appendix A. More specifically, (1) no person shall consume any natural rubber (dry or latex) in the manufacture of any product not listed in column II of appendix A; (2) no person shall consume more natural rubber (dry or latex) in the manufacture of any listed product than prescribed in column III (as qualified by column IV) of appendix A; and (3) no person shall consume any new RHC (natural or synthetic) in the manufacture of any listed product in more or different lines, types, qualities, styles, or colors than those prescribed in column IV of appendix A: Provided, however, That any person who has received an allocation of synthetic rubber, for a given period, which is of a lesser proportion of his total new rubber consumption, as limited by section 3 of this order, than he is required by the specifications contained in appendix A to use in the manufacture of his usual line of products, may (within the limits of section 3) use such additional natural rubber as is necessary to make up the difference: And provided further, That any person who so uses additional natural rubber shall prepare a statement setting forth all of the facts and statistics upon which such additional use was based. This statement, signed by an officer of the company, shall be retained in the files of the company and made available to the NPA upon request.

(b) Exceptions to limitations of appendix A—(1) Defense orders. Notwithstanding the provisions of appendix A, any product manufactured to fill a DO rated order may be manufactured to the specifications of the order if and to the extent that such specifications are required by the Government. Efforts will be made, however, to obtain maximum standardization of rubber products for Government defense requirements as well as between defense and nondefense requirements.

(2) Tire experimentation. Notwithstanding the provisions of appendix A, any person may use up to a total of 2,000 pounds of dry natural rubber during any calendar quarter for experimentation in the manufacture of those sizes and types of tires for which specifications are provided in appendix A.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 17. Reports by tire, tube, and camelback manufacturers—(a) Monthly reports. Each manufacturer of tires, tubes, and camelback shall file a report of his production, shipments, and inventory for each calendar month on Form NPAF–5 with the NPA in accordance with the instructions accompanying the form. Such report shall be filed by the 10th of the month following the month to which it relates.

(b) Weekly reports of cured tires. Each manufacturer of tires shall file a report of his production of cured tires for each week on Form NPAF–6 with the NPA in accordance with the instructions accompanying the form.

SEC. 18. Reports by latex importer. Every importer of natural rubber latex shall report by letter to the NPA by the 15th of each month in long tons of dry latex solids (a) his imports for the current month (actual receipts plus material due to arrive), (b) his scheduled imports for the next succeeding month, and (c) his estimate of his imports for the second and third succeeding months.

SEC. 19. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least 2 years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines that the provisions of this order have been met. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who have or who may maintain such microfilm or other photographic records in the regular and usual course of business. All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority. All persons subject to this order shall keep such records and file such other reports as may be required subject to approval by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

(b) Each consumer of rubber shall complete and return to NPA Forms NPAF–56, NPAF–57, NAPF–58, and NPAF–59. These forms will be mailed to each consumer of rubber and shall be filed in accordance with the instructions accompanying them.

SEC. 20. Inventory limitations. (a) No person who uses tires or tubes in the course of trade or business shall receive delivery of new tires or tubes of any given size if his inventory of tires or tubes of such size exceeds, or by such receipt would be made to exceed, the minimum requirements for the operation of his business during the succeeding 30 days.

(b) No person who distributes or sells tires or tubes within the continental limits of the United States shall receive the delivery of new tires or tubes of any given size if his inventory of tires or tubes of such size exceeds, or by such receipt will be made to exceed, his minimum requirements for the operation of his business during the succeeding 30 days (or in the case of passenger car manufacturers 15 days). Each place of business engaged in the distribution of tires or tubes shall be deemed a separate person for the purpose of this section regardless of its ownership or control, and delivery to it shall be subject to this section regardless of whether such delivery is made on consignment, as an intracompany delivery, or otherwise.

(c) No person shall deliver tires and tubes (1) if he has reason to believe that his customer is not permitted to receive delivery under this section, nor (2) unless his customer furnishes to him a signed certificate reading substantially as follows:

I hereby certify, subject to the criminal penalties for misrepresentation contained in Title 18, U. S. Code (Crimes), section 1001, that after receipt of the tires or tubes covered by this order my inventory will not exceed the quantity permitted by NPA Order M–2.

SEC. 21. Applications for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, in duplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 22. Communications. All applications, reports, and other communications relating to this order should be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: Order M–2.

SEC. 23. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or furnishes false information or conceals any material fact in the course of operation under it, is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to compel necessary adjustment of his inventories or consumption or to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of, or from processing or using, materials subject to this order.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order as amended shall take effect on May 21, 1951.

MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Administrator.

APPENDIX A—RUBBER PRODUCTS SUBJECT TO SIMPLIFICATION AND MANUFACTURING SPECIFICATIONS AS PROVIDED IN SECTION 15 OF NPA ORDER M–2

EXPLANATION OF COLUMNS AND SYMBOLS

Column 1: The code number indicated in Column 1 is the numerical identification of a similar class of products.

Column 2: The product or product class to which the restrictions apply is described in Column 2.

Column 3: The figures and symbols in Column 3 specify the amount of natural rubber, if any, that may be used in the listed products.

For product codes 1 through 8 and 14, 15, 16, 17, 23, and 24, the figures in Column 3 represent maximum percent of dry natural rubber and/or natural rubber latex to the total weight of new RHC. For product codes 9 through 13 and 18 through 22, such figures represent maximum percent of dry natural rubber and/or natural rubber latex to the total volume of the compound except where provided in Column 4 that the percent is expressed in terms of total weight of new RHC.

The figure "0" in Column 3 means that the use of dry natural rubber or natural rubber latex is prohibited except as may be provided in Column 4.

The symbol "X" in Column 3 means that dry natural rubber or natural rubber latex may be used in the minimum amount required except as may be provided in Column 4.

Column 4: The provisions in Column 4 are in some instances qualifications on the use of dry natural rubber or natural rubber latex as otherwise permitted by Column 3. These qualifications take precedence over Column 3 where there is any apparent inconsistency. Column 4 also contains the simplification and standardization provisions governing the manufacture of the product or product class. These latter provisions do not relate merely to the use of natural rubber but limit the lines, types, qualities, styles, and colors in which the listed products may be manufactured with the use of any kind of rubber. There are no such limitations on the manufacture of listed products except as indicated in Column 4.

[NPA Reg. 4, as Amended May 22, 1951]

REG. 4—MAINTENANCE, REPAIR, AND OPERATING SUPPLIES AND MINOR CAPITAL ADDITIONS

This regulation as amended is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of the regulation, before amendment, there was consultation with a number of industry representatives, including trade association representatives, but it was found impracticable to consult with all affected industries because the regulation applies to all trades and industries. In the formulation of this regulation, as amended, however, such consultation has been rendered impracticable because of the need for immediate action.

This regulation amends NPA Reg. 4, as last amended April 16, 1951, in its entirety to read as follows:

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 14 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation provides a uniform procedure by which any business enterprise, Government agency, or public or private institution may use a DO-rating (identified by the symbol "DO–97") to obtain limited quantities of materials for maintenance, repair, and operating supplies (hereinafter collectively referred to as "MRO") as well as minor capital additions. It provides for the establishment of quarterly quotas for MRO. The regulation does not limit the quantity of materials which may be obtained in any quarter by a person who makes no use of the DO–97 rating to obtain materials in such quarter. A person may not exceed his quarterly quota except in a quarter in which (1) the total charges against his quota on account of rated-orders do not exceed 20 percent of such quota, or (2) his total charges against his quota do not exceed $1,000. The rating may not be used to obtain materials for personal or household use.

SEC. 2. Definitions. For purposes of this regulation:

(a) "Person" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other organized group, and includes any business enterprise, Government agency or institution. If in 1950, or in his last fiscal year ending prior to March 1, 1951, a person operated more than one plant, division, department, branch, or other unit, and maintained for any such unit separate records showing expenditures therefor for MRO, he may elect to treat any one or more of such units as a separate person for the purposes of determining the MRO quota and charges against such quota, or to treat his entire operation within the United States, its territories, and possessions as a person. In the absence of a contrary election, each such unit shall be treated for such purposes as if it were a separate person. An election so made may not be changed without prior written approval of the NPA.

(b) "Business enterprise" means a lawful activity conducted for profit in the United States, its territories or possessions.

(c) "Government agency" means the United States, its territories and possessions, any of the 48 States or the District of Columbia, any political subdivision of any of the foregoing, and any agency of any of the foregoing which is not a business enterprise.

(d) "Institution" means any lawful organization, public or private, within the United States, its territories and possessions, which is neither a business enterprise nor a Government agency. It includes, but is not limited to schools, libraries, hospitals, churches, clubs, and welfare establishments.

(e) "Maintenance" means the continuation of any plant, facility, or equipment in sound working condition, and "repair" means the restoration of any plant, facility, or equipment to sound working condition when it has been rendered unsafe or unfit for service by wear and tear, damage, failure of parts, or the like. Neither "maintenance" nor "repair" includes replacement of any plant, facility, or equipment.

(f) "Operating supplies" means, in the case of a business enterprise, any kind of material carried by such business enterprise as operating supplies according to its established accounting practice. Materials incorporated in a product are operating supplies of a business enterprise, if, but only if, they were carried as operating supplies according to the established accounting practice of the business enterprise. "Operating supplies" means, in the case of a Government agency or an institution, any kind of material used by the agency or institution in conducting any activity or rendering any service, provided such material is consumed in the course of operation and was not carried as capital equipment by the agency or institution according to its established accounting practice.

(g) "Minor capital addition" means any improvement or addition of a kind carried by the person as capital according to his established accounting practice, the total cost of the materials for which, acquired by such person, does not exceed $750 for any one complete capital addition. No capital addition may be subdivided for the purpose of bringing it or any part of it within the foregoing definition. In computing the cost of such improvement or addition, for the purposes of this regulation, the cost of all materials obtained by the person pursuant to the same project or plan (regardless of whether they are acquired with the use of the rating) shall be included even though the respective materials are ordered or delivered at different times and are obtained from different suppliers

(h) "MRO" means materials for maintenance, repair, and operating supplies. It does not include capital additions. The term "minor capital addition" is specifically used whenever it is intended to be included within the provisions of this regulation. Materials produced or obtained for sale to other persons or for installation upon or attachment to the property of other persons are not "MRO" of the producer or supplier.

(i) "Material" means any raw, in-process, or manufactured commodity, equipment, component, accessory, part, or product of any kind.

(j) "Established accounting practice" means, in the case of a person in operation on or before December 31, 1950, the accounting practice in use by such person on that date or on the last day of his operation prior thereto. In the case of a person whose operation begins after December 31, 1950, the term means the accounting practice established by him in such operation.

SEC. 3. DO rating assigned. (a) The NPA hereby assigns to every business enterprise, Government agency, and institution, the right to apply a DO–97 rating to obtain MRO and minor capital additions subject to the restrictions specified in paragraph (e) of this section and in section 5 (c). The DO–97 rating may not be applied or extended to obtain any materials listed in either table I or in table II appearing at the end of this regulation, and may not be applied to obtain any equipment pursuant to any lease.

(b) The DO–97 rating shall be applied by placing on the purchase order, or on a separate piece of paper attached to the order or clearly identifying it, the symbol "DO–97" together with the words "Certified under NPA Reg. 4." When such rating is extended it shall be likewise certified. Such certification shall be signed as prescribed in section 8 of NPA Reg. 2. The certification shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA that the person making it is authorized under the provisions of this regulation to use the rating to obtain the materials covered by the order.

(c) The DO–97 rating shall not be applied or extended by any person pursuant to this regulation, in order to obtain any item of MRO or any minor capital addition, or material therefor, at a time when such person is entitled, pursuant to any other regulation, order, directive, or other action of NPA, to obtain such item, minor capital addition, or material by the use of the DO–97 rating or any other DO rating symbol or any other form of priorities assistance.

(d) The DO–97 rating which, prior to April 16, 1951, was applied or extended to any contract or purchase order for any material listed in table I is cancelled, and such rating shall no longer have any effect whatever. This paragraph shall not be construed to mean that any such contract or purchase order itself is cancelled or otherwise affected by this regulation.

(e) The DO–97 rating may not be applied to obtain in any quarter (calendar or fiscal) materials for minor capital additions exceeding in the aggregate 10 percent of the person's MRO quota for such quarter, or $750, whichever is greater.

SEC. 4. Quarterly MRO quotas—(a) Computing the quota base. A person who applies the DO–97 rating must establish his quarterly MRO quota. In calculating the MRO quota base a person may include all expenditures by him in the base period for MRO (except materials listed in table II) even though such MRO consists of materials listed in table I. Expenditures for capital additions may not be included in the computation of the quota base.

(b) Standard base period. The standard base period is the calendar year 1950.

(c) Fiscal year base period. If a person operated on a fiscal year basis prior to March 1, 1951, he may elect to take as his base period his last fiscal year ending prior to that date. In such event he shall establish his MRO quotas for his fiscal quarters. After such election has been made, it may not thereafter be changed without the prior written approval of NPA.

(d) Standard quota. The standard quarterly quota is one-fourth of 120 percent of the quota base.

(e) Seasonal quotas. A person may elect to establish seasonal quarterly quotas. An election so made may not be changed thereafter without the prior written approval of NPA. Such seasonable quota for any quarter shall be 120 percent of the expenditures by the person for MRO (except materials listed in table II) in the corresponding quarter of his base period.

(f) Persons not in operation throughout the base period. A person not in operation throughout his entire base period shall establish and report his quarterly MRO quotas as follows:

(1) Persons operating during part of the base period. A person who was in operation during a part but not all of the year 1950 (or a part but not all of his last fiscal year ending prior to March 1, 1951) shall determine his quota base by computing the amount he would have spent for MRO (except materials listed in table II) in his base period had he continued to spend therefor throughout the year at the same rate as during the part of the year in which he was in operation, making necessary corrections to compensate for seasonal or other exceptional characteristics of the period in which he was in operation. Such person's standard quarterly MRO quota is one-fourth of 120 percent of his quota base. If such person elects to establish seasonal quarterly quotas, as above provided, he may divide 120 percent of his quota base into four quarterly MRO quotas in accordance with the seasonal demands of the activity in which he is engaged.

(2) Persons not in operation during any part of the base period. If a person was not in operation in any part of 1950 (or of his last fiscal year ending prior to March 1, 1951), his quarterly MRO quota (standard or seasonal) shall be the amount he determines to be necessary for his operation. However, the quota of such person may not exceed $5,000 for any quarter without prior written approval of NPA.

(3) Quarterly quotas in excess of $1,000. A person who establishes a quarterly MRO quota in excess of $1,000 pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph (f) must, within 30 days after he first applies a DO–97 rating, notify NPA in writing of the quota he has established, the base period he used, the method he used in computing his quota, and the corrections he made for seasonal or other factors.

(g) Future use of increase quotas. If a person's quarterly MRO quota is increased by specific authorization of NPA pursuant to section 12 of this regulation, the increased quota becomes his standard quota unless the increase is granted on a temporary or seasonal basis or is otherwise restricted by the terms of the authorization. An increased quarterly MRO quota granted as a seasonal quota may be used only in the corresponding quarter of subsequent years.

(h) Increase not retroactive. An increase in quota granted pursuant to section 12 of this regulation is not retroactive.

SEC. 5. Charges against quota—(a) Operation on delivery basis. A person operating on the delivery basis shall charge expenditures against his MRO quota for the quarter (calendar or fiscal) in which his purchase order specifies that delivery is to be made. When such person applies the DO–97 rating in any quarter (calendar or fiscal) he shall charge against his MRO quota for such quarter:

(1) All expenditures for MRO (except materials listed in table II) ordered for delivery during the quarter whether or not obtained by the use of the DO–97 rating, and

(2) All expenditures for minor capital additions ordered for delivery during the quarter if (but only if) obtained by applying the DO–97 rating.

(b) Operation on receipts basis. A person who prefers to do so may charge expenditures against his MRO quota for the quarter (calendar or fiscal) in which the materials were actually received. He may not use one method for part of his MRO and the other method for the remainder in any quarter. Having elected to use one method he may not thereafter change to the other without the prior written approval of NPA. A person so electing to charge the quota for the quarter of actual receipt shall charge against such quota:

(1) All expenditures for MRO (except materials listed in table II) received during the quarter whether or not obtained by the use of the DO–97 rating, and

(2) All expenditures for minor capital additions received during the quarter if (but only if) obtained by applying the DO–97 rating.

(c) Exceeding the quota. (1) A person, whose MRO quota, computed in accordance with section 4, is less than $1,000 in any quarter, may order or receive MRO and minor capital additions to the same extent as if his quota for such quarter were $1,000.

(2) If a person operating on the delivery basis applies the DO–97 rating to purchase orders for delivery in any quarter, which orders aggregate not more than 20 percent of his MRO quota for such quarter, he may, in addition, place unrated orders for delivery of MRO and minor capital additions in such quarter without regard to his quota.

(3) If a person operating on the receipts basis receives in any quarter, pursuant to purchase orders to which he applied the DO–97 rating, materials aggregating not more than 20 percent of his MRO quota for such quarter, he may, in addition, receive in such quarter, pursuant to unrated orders, MRO and minor capital additions without regard to his quota.

(4) If a person operating on the delivery basis applies the DO–97 rating to purchase orders for delivery in any quarter, which orders aggregate more than 20 percent of his MRO quota for such quarter, his total orders chargeable against his MRO quota for such quarter may not exceed such quota, and his orders for delivery during the first month of such quarter shall not exceed 40 percent of such quarterly quota.

(5) If a person operating on the receipts basis receives in any quarter, pursuant to purchase orders to which he applied the DO–97 rating, materials aggregating more than 20 percent of his MRO quota for such quarter, his total receipts chargeable against his MRO quota for such quarter may not exceed such quota, and his receipts during the first month of such quarter may not exceed 40 percent of such quarterly quota.

SEC. 6. Materials obtained for another's benefit—(a) Materials supplied by service trades. Any business enterprise (such as a service repair shop) engaged in doing maintenance or repair work or installing minor capital additions for any other person may apply the DO–97 rating to obtain materials therefor, but only to the extent that such other person would be entitled to do so if he were doing the work himself. The cost of materials so obtained (but not the cost of the labor or services of the person doing such work or making such installation) shall be charged to the MRO quota of the person for whom the work is done.

(b) Obligation to supply MRO under lease or other agreement. A person who is obligated to maintain, repair, or operate any plant, facilities, or equipment, under the terms of any lease or other agreement for the use of such property by another person, may apply the DO–97 rating to obtain materials needed for such purposes. Expenditures for such materials shall be charged to the MRO quota of the person thus applying the DO rating except that if his purchase is made on a reimbursable basis for the account of the person using the property, the latter's MRO quota shall be charged.

SEC. 7. Use of materials. If a person has obtained materials for MRO or minor capital additions by applying the DO–97 rating, he may use them for a different purpose if he could have applied any other DO rating to acquire them for such purpose. However, if he does use them for such different purpose, he may not use the DO–97 rating to replace them in inventory. To replace such materials in inventory he may use only the DO rating which he might have applied to obtain them for the purpose for which he used them. If he uses such materials obtained by applying the DO–97 rating for such different purpose, his records must be adequate to show that his purchases of material are substantially proportionate to his authorized rated uses.

SEC. 8. Inventory limitations. (a) Nothing in this regulation shall be deemed to authorize any person to order or receive any material if acceptance thereof would increase his inventory above a "practicable minimum working inventory" as defined in NPA Reg. 1, or the limit fixed in any other applicable regulation or order of NPA.

(b) No person shall apply the DO–97 rating to a purchase order for operating supplies if delivery of such material will increase his inventory thereof above the amount which he normally uses for operating supplies in a period of 60 days, or such other period which may be specified in the applicable orders or regulations of NPA, whichever is less.

(c) No person shall accept delivery of any operating supplies pursuant to a purchase order to which he has applied a DO–97 rating if his inventory of such material will thereby become greater than his normal use thereof for operating supplies in a period of 60 days, or such other period which may be specified in the applicable orders or regulations of NPA, whichever is less.

(d) A person who has placed an order for operating supplies before the effective date of this regulation, as amended, which order is outstanding and for delivery of a greater quantity of material than he is permitted by this section to rate or receive, must promptly cancel, reduce, or defer the delivery of such operating supplies to the extent necessary to comply with the limitations of this section.

(e) Nothing in this section shall prohibit the acceptance of delivery of operating supplies pursuant to a purchase order to which the DO–97 rating has been or shall be applied if the person is entitled to accept delivery of any part of such operating supplies, and the total quantity thereof ordered does not exceed the minimum quantity which is commercially procurable.

SEC. 9. Relation to other regulations—(a) Rules governing use of rating. This regulation supplements NPA Reg. 2, which sets forth the basic rules of the priorities system, and the provisions of that regulation govern the use of the DO–97 rating herein assigned.

(b) Delegations to Government agencies. This regulation does not revoke or prevent the use of any authority delegated by NPA to any other Government agency whereby such agency may use ratings other than DO–97 for direct procurement of its own requirements of MRO or minor capital additions.

(c) Other regulations and orders. Nothing in the regulation shall be construed to relieve any person from the obligation of complying with such limitations on acquisition or use of materials or such other provisions as may be contained in any applicable regulation or order of NPA or with any order of any other competent authority.

SEC. 10. Supplier receiving improperly rated orders. When a supplier has received a purchase order bearing the rating DO–97, which rating he knows, or has reason to believe, has been applied or extended in violation of any regulation or order of NPA, the supplier shall refuse to accept it as a rated order. In such event, the supplier shall promptly advise the buyer of his reason for such refusal.

SEC. 11. Records and reports—(a) Records to be kept. Each person who makes any use of the rating assigned by this regulation shall make and preserve, for so long as this or any successor regulation remains in effect and for 2 years thereafter, accurate and complete records showing what his quarterly MRO quotas are, how he computed them, the factual justification for them and for corrections or revisions thereof, any elections made as to the use of seasonal quotas, methods of figuring quotas and charges against them, or other options exercised, all materials ordered or received for use as MRO or minor capital additions whether rated or not, and all other relevant data, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this regulation have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records disclose the above data and supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) Inspection and audit. All records required by this regulation shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

(c) Other records and reports. Persons subject to this regulation shall make such further records and submit such further reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 12. Applications for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this regulation may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this regulation, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be submitted in writing, in triplicate, on Form NPAF–78. The request shall state the nature of the relief sought and the justification therefor, together with all pertinent facts.

SEC. 13. Communications. All communications concerning this regulation, including applications for exceptions or quota adjustments, shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: NPA Reg. 4.

SEC. 14. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this regulation or who wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this regulation is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This regulation as amended shall take effect on May 22, 1951.

MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Administrator.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 9873]

PART 1—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

PART 4—EXPERIMENTAL AND AUXILIARY BROADCAST SERVICES

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

In the matter of amendment of §§ 1.320 (a), 3.220 (a), 3.620 (a) of the Commission's rules relating to the time of filing of applications for renewal of broadcast station licenses and §§ 3.34 (a), 3.218 (a) and 3.618 of the Commission's rules relating to the license periods of Standard Broadcast, FM Broadcast and Television Broadcast Stations, Docket No. 9873.

1. The Commission has before it a proposal to make certain changes in its rules and regulations relating to the time of filing of applications for renewal of broadcast station licenses and the license periods of such stations.

2. Notice of Proposed Rule Making in this matter was released December 21, 1950, and in accordance with the requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 16, 1951 (16 F. R. 194).

3. The notice provided that comments relating to the proposed rule making may be filed on or before February 15, 1951 and that comments in reply to the original comments may be filed on or before March 1, 1951.

4. The proposal to amend the rules relating to the filing of renewal applications (§§ 1.320 (a), 3.220 (a) and 3.620 (a)), consists of a revision of the present requirement (that applications for renewal of licenses be filed 60 days prior to the expiration of the license sought to be renewed) to require the filing of renewal applications 90 days prior to the expiration of the license sought to be renewed. The proposal to amend the rules relating to the license periods of such stations consists of a revision of the present basis for determining the expiration dates of the normal station license period on a frequency basis, to provide for the determination of the expiration dates of the normal station license periods on a geographical basis.

5. Comments in support of the notice of proposed rule making were filed on behalf of Voice of Galveston (KLUF), Galveston, Texas. The Voice of Galveston stated that:

> We have read with a great deal of interest the proposed new ruling regarding the filing of renewal licenses . . . We thoroughly approve of these.
> To be able to file renewal applications for licenses for both AM and FM stations at the same time, makes it possible to have equipment tests for both stations at one time, which would save considerable money let alone the saving of time, etc., for the required reports.
> We earnestly trust these proposed new rulings will pass with flying colors.

6. Comments in opposition to the Notice of Proposed Rule Making were filed on behalf of South Jersey Broadcasting Company (WKDN), Camden, New Jersey, opposing the adoption of the rules for the reasons that "Staggering renewal periods by states will not accomplish the Commission's prime purpose." In support of this conclusion it was asserted that the announced purpose of the Commission was to have the licenses of stations located in contiguous areas expire at the same time; that the proposal would not achieve that end for the reason that wherever a line is drawn on a geographical basis areas which fall on the other side of the line would be considered at a different time. Therefore, it is argued that stations located in contiguous areas would not be considered at the same time. We find no merit in this objection. We are aware that the result of drawing a line between any two points is to divide into separate groups the areas falling on either side of the line. We are also aware, however, that in this instance the result of drawing the lines proposed in the Commission's Notice of Rule Making is to separate large contiguous areas so that the applications for renewal of licenses of stations in such areas will be considered at the same time. It is also urged by South Jersey Broadcasting Company that "AM and FM licenses can be grouped without upsetting AM schedule." In brief it is urged that the Commission's purpose can be achieved by providing that where AM and FM stations are operated in the same city, by a common license the expiration date for FM stations could be the same as the AM stations. This counter proposal is not completely unreasonable; however, it would not achieve purposes designed to be served by the proposed amendments of the Commission's rules. This counter proposal does not include TV stations. The omission of TV constitutes a serious objection to the counter proposal in view of the increasing importance of that service. Equally important is the fact that transfers of station licenses would change the license period for AM and FM stations which would necessitate a difficult and burdensome system for maintaining Commission records.

7. Comments were also filed by American Broadcasting Company which objected to the proposal to determine the expiration dates of Class I stations on a geographical basis. In support of this objection it is urged that Class I stations present problems that are common to this class and for that reason should be considered at the same time rather than at different times in connection with other classes of stations. It is apparent that the objections raised by American Broadcasting Company to the proposal is an attempt to introduce in this proceeding substantative questions relating to the allocation of clear channel stations and other subsidiary matters presently being considered in the Clear Channel hearing, Docket No. 6741. Such matters are not appropriate for consideration in this proceeding.

8. For these reasons we consider the objections raised to the Commission's notice of proposed rule making without merit. However, the following additional amendments, editorial and clarifying in nature, are necessary to effectuate the purposes set forth in the notice of proposed rule making:

(1) Section 3.34 (b) should be deleted.
(2) Section 3.34 (c) should be redesignated as § 3.34 (b).
(3) Section 3.218 (b) should be deleted.
(4) Section 4.20 should be amended as set forth below.

9. As indicated above the proposed rules require the filing of applications for renewal of certain broadcast station licenses ninety (90) days prior to the expiration of the licenses sought to be renewed, in lieu of the sixty (60) day period presently required. Applications for renewal of station licenses which are scheduled to expire on November 1, 1951, are presently required to be filed on September 1, 1951. The amendment of §§ 1.320 (a), 3.220 (a), 3.620 (a) and 4.20 will be made effective commencing August 1, 1951, so that applications for renewal of licenses of stations scheduled to expire on November 1, 1951 will be required to be filed on August 1, 1951, ninety (90) days prior to the expiration date of such licenses. Accordingly, station licenses which are scheduled to expire on June 1, 1951, August 1, 1951, and September 1, 1951 (for which applications are presently due to be filed on April 1, 1951, June 1, 1951, and July 1, 1951, respectively) will not be affected by the said amendment.

10. The proposed rules relating to the determination of license periods on a geographical basis do not affect the period of existing licenses. Accordingly, the expiration date of all licenses now outstanding will be determined in accordance with the terms of the station license. The amendment of §§ 3.34 (a) (b) (c), 3.218 (a) (b), and 3.618 will be made effective August 1, 1951, so that the licenses which are due to expire on and after August 1, 1951 will be granted renewals in accordance with the rules as amended. New licenses issued to cover construction permits will, on and after August 1, 1951, be issued in accordance with the license terms provided for in the said rules.

11. Accordingly, it is ordered this 16th day of May 1951 that effective August 1, 1951, Parts 1, 3 and 4 of the Commission's rules are amended as set forth below.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066 as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interpret or apply secs. 303, 308, 48 Stat. 1082, as amended, 1064, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 303, 308)

Released: May 17, 1951.

[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,

If the licensee fails to file such application within the prescribed time, the hearing or investigation shall proceed as if such renewal application had been received.

During the time that equipment subject to the regulations in this part is operated there shall be carried with the equipment, bills of lading, waybills, freight bills, manifests, or other papers identifying the lading, which shall clearly indicate that the transportation of the property carried is under the responsibility of the authorized carrier, which papers, together with the truck manifest, shall be preserved by the authorized carrier.

§ 207.5 Interchange of equipment. Authorized common carriers may by contract, lease, or other arrangement, interchange any equipment defined in § 207.2 with one or more other such common carriers, or one of such carriers may receive from another such carrier, any of such equipment, in connection with any through movement of traffic, under the following conditions:

(a) Agreement providing for interchange. The contract, lease, or other arrangement providing for interchange shall specifically describe the equipment to be interchanged; the specific points of interchange; the use to be made of the equipment and the consideration for such use; and shall be signed by the parties to the contract, lease or other arrangement, or their regular employees or agents duly authorized to act for them, in the execution of such contracts, leases, or other arrangements;

(c) Driver of interchanged equipment. Each carrier must assign its own driver to operate the equipment that is proposed to be operated from and to the point or points of interchange and over the route or routes or within the territory authorized in the participating carriers' respective certificates of public convenience and necessity.

(d) Through bills of lading. The traffic transported in interchange service must move on through bills of lading issued by the originating carrier, and the rates charged and revenues collected must be accounted for in the same manner as if there had been no interchange of equipment. Charges for the use of the equipment shall be kept separate and distinct from divisions of the joint rates or the proportions thereof accruing to the carriers by the application of local or proportional rates.

(e) Inspection of equipment. It shall be the duty of the carrier acquiring the use of equipment in interchange to inspect such equipment, or to have it inspected in the manner provided in § 207.4 (c), and equipment which does not meet the requirements of the safety regulations shall not be operated in the respective services of the interchange carriers until the defects have been corrected.

(f) Identification of equipment. The authorized carriers operating equipment in interchange service under this section shall carry with each vehicle so operated a copy of the contract, lease, or other arrangement while the equipment is being operated in the interchange service.

§ 207.6 Rental of equipment to private carriers and shippers—(a) Renting equipment with drivers. Unless such service is specified in their operating authorities, authorized carriers shall not rent equipment with drivers to non-carriers.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR, Part 929]

[Docket No. AO-228]

HANDLING OF MILK IN MUSKOGEE, OKLA., MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Muskogee, Oklahoma, on November 6 through 10, 1950, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on October 19, 1950 (15 F. R. 7050; Doc. 50-9354), upon a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Muskogee, Oklahoma, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on March 27, 1951, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 30, 1951 (16 F. R. 2800; Doc. 51-2885).

The material issues and the findings and conclusions of the recommended decision (16 F. R. 2800; Doc. 51-3885) are hereby approved and adopted as the material issues and the findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein, subject to the following revisions:

1. Delete the last paragraph beginning in column 1, 16 F. R. 2804 (Doc. 51-3885) and substitute therefor the following: "The recommended decision provided for an administrative determination of each producer's deliveries to handlers during the months of October, November, December 1950 and January 1951 in order to compute the pool during the base paying period of April-June 1951. Since the effective date of any order would necessarily be subsequent to the base paying period for 1951, this provision would serve no useful purpose."

Rulings on exceptions. In arriving at the findings and conclusions, included in this decision each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings and conclusions herein are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are overruled.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of March 1951 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of an order to regulate the handling of milk in the Muskogee, Oklahoma, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached order is approved or favored by producers, who during such period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Muskogee, Oklahoma, Marketing Area," and "Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Muskogee, Oklahoma, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of May 1951.

Secretary of Agriculture.

(1) The said order and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in this order, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expenses of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler, as his pro rata share of such expense, 4 cents per hundredweight or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within the month of (i) other source milk which is classified as Class I milk, and (ii) milk from producers including such handler's own production.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Muskogee, Oklahoma, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the following terms and conditions:

In either case, the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly, upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 929.40 Basis of classification. All skim milk and butterfat received within the month by a handler and which is required to be reported pursuant to § 929.30 shall be classified by the market administrator pursuant to the provisions of §§ 929.41 through 929.46.

§ 929.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 929.43 and 929.44, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat disposed of in fluid form as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cream, cultured sour cream, and any other product required by the appropriate health authority of the City of Muskogee, Oklahoma, to be made from Grade A milk, and all skim milk and butterfat not specifically accounted for under paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Used to produce any product other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section; (2) disposed of for livestock feed; (3) in shrinkage allocated to receipts of milk from producers, but not in excess of 2 percent of such receipts of skim milk and butterfat, (4) in shrinkage allocated to receipts of other source milk; and (5) in inventory variations of milk, skim milk, cream, or any Class I product.

§ 929.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the resulting amounts between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk and in other source milk.

§ 929.43 Responsibility of handlers. All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

§ 929.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of by a handler either by transfer or diversion shall be classified:

(a) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream, to the approved plant of another handler (except a producer-handler) unless utilization in Class II is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 7th day after the end of the month within which such transaction occurred: Provided, That the skim milk or butterfat so assigned to Class II shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in Class II in the plant of the transferee-handler after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 929.46 and any additional amounts of such skim milk or butterfat shall be assigned to Class I: And provided further, That if either or both handlers have received other source milk, the skim milk or butterfat so transferred or diverted shall be classified at both plants so as to allocate the greatest possible Class I utilization to producer milk.

(b) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream to a producer-handler.

(c) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk to an unapproved plant located more than 185 miles from the approved plant by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator.

(d) As Class I milk if transferred in the form of cream under Grade A certification to an unapproved plant located more than 185 miles from an approved plant by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator, and as Class II milk if so transferred without Grade A certification.

(e) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream to an unapproved plant located not more than 185 miles from the approved plant by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator from which transferred or diverted, unless the market administrator is permitted to audit the records of receipts and utilization at such unapproved plant, in which case the classification of all skim milk and butterfat received at such unapproved plant shall be determined and the skim milk and butterfat transferred or diverted from the approved plant shall be allocated to the highest use remaining after subtracting, in series beginning with Class I milk, receipts of skim milk and butterfat at such unapproved plant directly from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute the regular source of supply for fluid usage of such unapproved plant in markets supplied by such plant.

§ 929.45 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the monthly report submitted by each handler and shall compute the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler.

§ 929.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After making the computations pursuant to § 929.45, the market administrator shall determine the classification of milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk determined pursuant to § 929.41 (b) (3);

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk in other source milk: Provided, That if the receipts of skim milk in other source milk are greater than the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class I;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk received from other handlers according to its classification as determined pursuant to § 929.44 (a);

(4) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(5) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II milk. Any amount so subtracted shall be called "overage."

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Determine the weighted average butterfat content of Class I and Class II milk computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 929.50 Basic formula price. The basic formula price to be used in determining the price per hundredweight of Class I milk shall be the highest of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section and § 929.51 (b) for the preceding month.

(a) The average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid or to be paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department, divided by 3.5 and multiplied by 4.0:

(1) From the simple average as computed by the market administrator of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago, as reported by the Department during the month, subtract 3 cents, add 20 percent thereof, and multiply by 4.0.

(2) From the simple average as computed by the market administrator of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area as published for the period from the 26th day of the preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department, deduct 5.5 cents, multiply by 8.5 and then multiply by 0.96.

§ 929.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. If the average butterfat content of the milk of any handler allocated to any class pursuant to § 929.46 is more or less than 4.0 percent, there shall be added to the respective class price, computed pursuant to § 929.51, for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 4.0 percent or subtracted for each one-tenth of 1 percent that such average butterfat content is below 4.0 percent an amount equal to the butterfat differential computed by multiplying the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling price per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the Department during the month specified below by the applicable factor listed and dividing the result by 10:

(b) Class II milk. Multiply such price for the current month by 1.15.

§ 929.53 Location adjustment credit to handlers. For that portion of milk which (a) is received directly from producers at an approved plant described in § 929.7 (b) which is located at Poteau, or Miami, Oklahoma; and (b) is moved to an approved plant in the marketing area in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream, the prices specified in § 929.51 shall be subject to a location adjustment credit to the handler, computed as follows:

Location of plant:	Cents per hundredweight
Poteau, Okla.	21
Miami, Okla.	23

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 929.60 Producer-handlers. Sections 929.40 through 929.46, 929.50 through 929.53, 929.70 through 929.72, 929.80 through 929.88, 929.90 and 929.91, shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 929.61 Milk priced under other Federal orders. In case skim milk or butterfat which is priced under another Federal milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act is disposed of as Class I milk in the marketing area on a route operated by or for a person subject to regulation as a handler as defined in such other agreement or order, the provisions of this part shall not apply except as follows:

(a) The handler shall, with respect to his total receipts of skim milk and butterfat make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

(b) If the price which such handler is required to pay under the other Federal order to which he is subject for skim milk and butterfat which would be classified as Class I milk under this part is less than the price provided by this part, such handler shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund (with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I milk within the marketing area) an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat as computed pursuant to this part and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 929.70 Computation of value of milk. The value of milk received during each month by each handler from producers shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the pounds of such milk in each class by the applicable class prices, adding together the resulting amounts and deducting therefrom the values of all location adjustments computed at the applicable rates set forth in § 929.53: Provided, That if the handler had overage of either skim milk or butterfat, there shall be added to the above values an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 929.46 by the applicable class prices.

§ 929.71 Computation of uniform prices. For each of the months of July through March the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 929.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 929.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 929.80 and 929.84 for the preceding month;

(b) Add the aggregate of the values of all allowable location adjustments to producers pursuant to § 929.81;

(c) Add not less than one-half of the cash balance on hand in the producer-settlement fund less the total amount of the contingent obligations to handlers pursuant to § 929.85;

(d) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 4.0 percent, or add if such average butterfat content is less than 4.0 percent an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 4.0 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 929.82 and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(e) Divide the resulting amount by the total hundredweight of milk included in these computations; and

(f) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers.

§ 929.72 Computation of uniform prices for base milk and excess milk. For each of the months of April through June the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and for excess milk, each of 4.0 percent butterfat content, as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 929.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 929.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 929.80 and 929.84 for the preceding month;

(b) Add the aggregate of the values of all allowable location adjustments to producers pursuant to § 929.81;

(c) Add not less than one-half of the cash balance in the producer-settlement fund less the total amount of the contingent obligations to handlers pursuant to § 929.85;

(d) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 4.0 percent, or add if such average butterfat content is less than 4.0 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 4.0 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 929.82 and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(e) Compute the total value on a 4.0 percent butterfat basis of excess milk included in these computations by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk not in excess of the total quantity of Class II milk included in these computations by the price for Class II milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content, multiplying the hundredweight of such milk in excess of the total hundredweight of such Class II milk by the price for Class I milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content, and adding together the resulting amounts;

(f) Divide the total value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (e) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk, and adjust to the nearest cent. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk of 4.0 percent butterfat received from producers.

(g) Subtract the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (e) of this section from the value of all milk obtained in paragraph (d) of this section and adjust by any amount involved in adjusting the uniform price of excess milk to the nearest cent;

(h) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (g) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk included in these computations; and

(i) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for base milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers.

PAYMENTS

§ 929.80 Time and method of payment. Each handler shall make payment to producers as follows:

(a) On or before the 15th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, to each producer (1) at not less than the uniform price computed pursuant to § 929.71 for all milk received from such producer if such preceding month was any of the months of July through March, or (2) at not less than the uniform price for base milk computed pursuant to § 929.72, with respect to base milk received from such producer, and at not less than the uniform price for excess milk computed pursuant to § 929.72 with respect to excess milk received from such producer, if such preceding month was any of the months of April through June, in each case adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 929.82, subject to location adjustments to producers pursuant to § 929.81, less the amount of the payment made pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section: Provided, That with respect to producers whose milk was caused to be delivered to such handler by a cooperative association which is authorized to collect payment for such milk, the handler shall, if the cooperative association so requests, pay such cooperative association, on or before the 13th day after the end of the month, an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments payable to such producers in accordance with this paragraph: And provided fur- ther. That if such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 929.85, he may reduce his total payments to all producers uniformly by not more than the amount of the reduction in payments from the market administrator; and the handler shall after receipt of such payment from the market administrator complete the payments to those producers not later than the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following after receipt of the balance from the market administrator.

(b) On or before the last day of each month, each handler shall make payment for milk received from producers during the first 15 days of the month to each producer at not less than the Class II price for the preceding month: Provided, That with respect to producers whose milk was caused to be delivered to such handler by a cooperative association, which is authorized to collect payments for such milk, if the cooperative association so requests, the handler shall pay such cooperative association an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers in accordance with this paragraph.

§ 929.81 Location adjustments to producers. In making payments to producers pursuant to § 929.80, a handler may deduct per hundredweight of milk received from producers at an approved plant described in § 929.7 (b) which is located at Poteau, or Miami, Oklahoma, the applicable amounts set forth below:

Location of plant:	Cents per hundredweight

§ 929.83 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund," into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 929.61 (b), 929.84 and 929.86, and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to §§ 929.85 and 929.86.

§ 929.84 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers as determined pursuant to § 929.70 is greater than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 929.80, or any amount required pursuant to § 929.61 (b).

§ 929.85 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, the market administrator shall pay to each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers during the month as determined pursuant to § 929.70 is less than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 929.80: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available.

§ 929.86 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses errors resulting in moneys due (a) the market administrator from such handler; (b) such handler from the market administrator; or (c) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any amount so due and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payments set forth in the provisions under which error occurred.

Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to sample, test, and check the weights of milk received and to provide producers with market information.

(b) In the case of producers for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deduction specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from the payments to be made to such producers as may be authorized by the membership agreement or marketing contract between such cooperative association and such producers on or before the 15th day after the end of each month pay such deduction to the cooperative association of which such producers are members accompanied by a statement showing the amount of any such deductions, and the amount and average butterfat test of milk for which such deduction was computed for each producer. In lieu of such statement a handler may authorize the market administrator to furnish such cooperative association the information with respect to such producers reported pursuant to § 929.31.

§ 929.88 Expenses of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this part, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of the month, 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within the month of (a) other source milk which is classified as Class I milk, and (b) milk from producers including such handler's own production.

If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records, pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

CIGAR AND CIGARETTE INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

NOTICE OF PROPOSED DECISION WITH RESPECT TO MINIMUM WAGE RATES

On October 19, 1950, pursuant to section 5 (a) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, hereinafter called the act, the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, by Administrative Order No. 403, appointed Special Industry Committee No. 9 for Puerto Rico, hereinafter called the Committee, and directed the Committee to investigate conditions in a number of industries in Puerto Rico specified and defined in the order, including the cigar and cigarette industry, and to recommend minimum wage rates for employees engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce in such industries.

For purposes of investigating conditions in and recommending minimum wage rates for the cigar and cigarette industry in Puerto Rico, the Committee included three disinterested persons representing the public, a like number representing employers, and a like number representing employees in the cigar and cigarette industry, and was composed of residents of Puerto Rico and of the United States outside of Puerto Rico.

After investigating economic and competitive conditions in the cigar and cigarette industry in Puerto Rico, the Committee filed with the Administrator a report containing its recommendation for a minimum wage rate of 36 cents an hour to be paid to employees in the cigar and cigarette industry who are engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

Pursuant to notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 13, 1951, and circulated to all interested persons, a public hearing upon the Committee's recommendations was held before Hearing Examiner Clifford P. Grant, as presiding officer, in Washington, D. C., on March 20, 1951, at which all interested persons were given an opportunity to be heard. After the hearing was closed the record of the hearing was certified to the Administrator by the presiding officer.

Upon reviewing all the evidence adduced in this proceeding and after giving consideration to the provisions of the act, particularly sections 5 and 8 thereof, I, as Acting Administrator, have concluded that the recommendation of the Committee for a minimum wage rate in the cigar and cigarette industry in Puerto Rico, as defined, was made in accordance with law, is supported by the evidence adduced at the hearing, and, taking into consideration the same factors as are required to be considered by the Committee, will carry out the purposes of sections 5 and 8 of the act.

I have set forth my decision in a document entitled "Findings and Opinion of the Administrator in the Matter of the Recommendation of Special Industry Committee No. 9 for Puerto Rico of a Minimum Wage Rate in the Cigar and Cigarette Industry in Puerto Rico," a copy of which may be had upon request addressed to the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001) and the rules of practice governing this proceeding (16 F. R. 1478), that I, as Acting Administrator, propose to approve the recommendation of the Committee for the cigar and cigarette industry and to issue a wage order to read as set forth below to carry such recommendation into effect.

Within 15 days from publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, interested parties may submit written exceptions to the proposed action above described. Exceptions should be addressed to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C. They should be submitted in quadruplicate, and should include supporting reasons for any exceptions.

[File No. 70-2614]

ALLENTOWN-BETHLEHEM GAS CO.

ORDER GRANTING EXCEPTION FROM COMPETITIVE BIDDING REQUIREMENTS

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of May A. D. 1951.

Allentown proposes to issue and sell for $1,500,000 in cash, $1,500,000 principal amount of its First Mortgage Bonds, -- percent series due 1976. Such bonds are to be issued under and secured by the First Mortgage dated April 1, 1924, of Allentown to Fidelity Trust Company, Trustee under which Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company is successor trustee) and the various indentures supplemental thereto, including specifically a supplemental indenture to be dated as of June 1, 1951, to be entered into between Allentown and said trustee. The application states that the proceeds from the sale of such bonds will be used by Allentown to repay short term bank loans, presently totalling $470,000; to repay the balance of certain advances made by The United Gas Improvement Company, presently totalling $595,000; and to apply toward Allentown's 1951 construction program estimated to cost in the aggregate $1,238,770.

In connection with Allentown's application, the company has requested that the Commission except the proposed sale from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50. If such exception is granted, Allentown proposes to negotiate terms with institutional or other purchasers at private sale. Applicant states that the interest rate, price, and other definitive terms of the bonds will be filed with the Commission by amendment.

After appropriate notice, a public hearing was held. The Commission having considered the record and deeming it appropriate to grant the exception from competitive bidding but to reserve jurisdiction with respect to the terms of the proposed bonds and all other aspects of the proposed transactions:

It is ordered, That the application of Allentown-Bethlehem Gas Company requesting exception from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 with respect to the proposed issue and sale of $1,500,000 of First Mortgage Bonds be, and the same hereby is, granted.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be and is hereby reserved to pass upon all other phases of the application with respect to said bond issue pursuant to section 6 (b) of the act, including the interest rate, price to be paid, and terms of the supplemental indenture, and other terms and conditions with respect to the proposed bonds.

RIDER NO. 1 TO THE MULTIPLE CROP INSURANCE POLICY

(Applicable in Butler County, Ala., Beginning With the 1951 Crop Year)

1. Insurable crops. For the purpose of the multiple crop insurance program the insurable crops are:

(a) Corn normally regarded as field corn. The contract will not provide insurance for true type silage corn, corn planted thick for silage or fodder purposes, sweet corn, popcorn, broom cron, corn planted for the development of hybrid seed corn, or any type of corn other than that normally regarded as field corn.

(b) Cotton, restricted to American upland cotton and not including cotton planted primarily for experimental purposes.

(c) Peanuts planted for harvest as nuts.

(d) Strawberries (excluding acreages of less than two-tenths acre on an insurance unit).

(e) Sweetpotatoes (excluding acreage of less than one acre on an insurance unit).

(f) Tobacco, type 14.

2. Coverage per acre. (a) The coverage per acre for each insured crop, except cotton, shall be reduced 50 percent for any acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop.

(b) The coverage per acre for cotton which is not harvested shall be reduced as follows: (1) 60 percent for any acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop, and (2) 25 percent for any unharvested acreage released by the Corporation and not planted to a substitute crop.

3. Insured acreage. In addition to the acreage specified in section 4 of the policy with respect to which no insurance will attach, insurance will also not attach with respect to any acreage planted to cotton or tobacco in excess of the allotment or permitted acreage established under any program administered by the Secretary of Agriculture but destroyed by natural causes or by the insured and not considered as cotton or tobacco under the provisions of such program.

4. Insurance period. Insurance shall attach at the time of planting to any insured acreage of any insured crop except that in the case of strawberries insurance shall attach on March 15 of each year provided the strawberries were planted by June 1 of the prior year and there is a sufficient stand of plants on March 15 to expect a normal crop to be produced. However, in no event shall insurance attach to any acreage of strawberries which has been or could normally have been harvested three times. Insurance shall cease with respect to (a) any portion of the tobacco crop upon weighing-in at the tobacco warehouse, transfer of interest in the tobacco after harvest, removal of the tobacco from the insurance unit (except for curing, packing or immediate delivery to the tobacco warehouse), or weighing of the tobacco for casing, and (b) any portion of the corn crop upon harvesting (picking the corn from the stalk either by hand or machine or cutting the corn for fodde or ensilage), the peanut crop upon threshing, the cotton and strawberry crops upon picking, the sweet potato crop upon digging, or with respect to any portion of any crop (except tobacco) upon removal from the field, whichever is earlier. However, in no event shall insurance remain in effect (a) with respect to tobacco later than October 31, unless such time is extended in writing by the Corporation, (b) with respect to any other crop later than the earlier of (i) the end of the normal harvest period for such crop or (ii) December 10, unless such time is extended in writing by the Corporation, and (c) with respect to any insurance unit later than the date of submission of a claim for indemnity.

Cotton: $0.27 per pound.
Peanuts: $168 per ton.
Strawberries: $4.75 per crate (24-quart crate)
Sweetpotatoes: $1.25 per bushel.
Tobacco: Fair market value as determined by the Corporation.

However, any production of corn or peanuts which will not meet the latest available requirements for a Commodity Credit Corporation loan or support because of poor quality due to insurable causes, and would not meet these requirements if properly handled, shall be evaluated at a value per unit determined by the Corporation. For any subsequent crop year, notice of any change in the predetermined price from the prior crop year shall be mailed by the Corporation to the insured at least 15 days before the cancellation date shown herein.

6. Released crop. Notwithstanding any other provision of the policy any crop on any insured acreage may be released by the Corporation subject to an appraisal by the Corporation of the yield that would be realized if the crop were harvested, except that any corn may be used for ensilage or fodder without a release by the Corporation if the insured leaves a number of rows considered by the Corporation to be an adequate representative sample for appraising the yield.

7. Amount of loss. (a) The amount of loss with respect to any insurance unit shall be determined by (1) multiplying the insurable acreage (exclusive of any acreage to which insurance did not attach) planted to each insured crop by the insured interest, and the result by the applicable coverage per acre, and (2) subtracting from the total (based on the predetermined price) of the total production on such acreage of all insured crops. (In any case where the Corporation exercises its right to limit the insured acreage of any crop to the allotment or permitted acreage established for such crop, the acreage of that crop approved by the Corporation on the acreage report shall be considered as the planted acreage in computing the amount of loss, and the production for such acreage shall be its proportionate part of the total production from all the acreage of that crop). However, the amount of loss so determined shall be reduced if the premium computed for the insurance unit on the basis of the acreage and interest approved by the Corporation on the acreage report is less than the premium computed for the planted acreage on the insurance unit. This reduction shall be made on the basis of the ratio of the premium computed for the acreage and interest as approved by the Corporation on the acreage report to the premium computed for the planted acreage. The total production for each insured crop on the insurance unit shall include all production determined in accordance with the production schedule below.

The Corporation reserves the right to determine the amount of production on the basis of an appraisal of any unharvested crop standing in the field.

PRODUCTION SCHEDULE

Crop	Acreage classification	Total production [1]
1. Each insured crop except cotton.	Acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop.	That portion of the appraised production for such acreage which is in excess of the number of bushels, crates, or pounds determined by (1) subtracting the total coverage for such acreage from what the total coverage for such acreage would be if it were not planted to a substitute crop, and (2) dividing the result thus obtained by the predetermined price for the crop.
2. Each insured crop except cotton.	Acreage not planted to a substitute crop.	The appraised production or the actual production, including an appraisal of corn left in the field after harvest and an appraisal of corn used for ensilage or fodder.
3. Cotton	Acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop.	That portion of the appraised production which is in excess of the number of pounds determined by (1) subtracting the total coverage for such acreage from what the total coverage for such acreage would be if it were harvested and (2) dividing the result thus obtained by the predetermined price.
4. Cotton	Acreage released by the Corporation which is not harvested and not planted to a substitute crop.	That portion of the appraised production which is in excess of the number of pounds determined by (1) subtracting the total coverage for such acreage from what the total coverage for such acreage would be if it were harvested and (2) dividing the result thus obtained by the predetermined price.
5. Cotton	Acreage harvested	Production, including an appraisal of production left in the field after harvest.
6. Each insured crop	Acreage put to another use without the consent of the Corporation.	Appraised production for such acreage but not less than the product of (1) such acreage and (2) the bushel, crate, or pound equivalent of the coverage per acre on the basis of the predetermined price for the crop.
7. Each insured crop	Acreage with reduced yield due solely to cause(s) not insured against.	Appraised number of bushels, crates, or pounds by which production for such acreage has been reduced but not less than the product of (1) such acreage and (2) the applicable bushel, crate, or pound equivalent of the coverage per acre, on the basis of the predetermined price for the crop, minus the number of bushels, crates, or pounds harvested.
8. Each insured crop	Acreage with reduced yield due partially to cause(s) not insured against and partially to cause(s) insured against.	Appraised number of bushels, crates, or pounds by which production for such acreage has been reduced because of cause(s) not insured against.

[1] Production shall be in bushels for corn and sweetpotatoes, pounds for cotton, peanuts, and tobacco, and crates (24 quarts) for strawberries.

Notwithstanding the other provisions of this paragraph (a) regarding the determination of the total production of cotton, in any case where the quality of any cotton production is reduced solely by insured causes to the extent that the value per pound, as determined by the Corporation, is less than 75 percent of the predetermined price, the number of pounds of such poor quality cotton shall be adjusted downward to the number of pounds obtained by dividing the total value of such cotton, as determined by the Corporation, by 75 percent of the predetermined price.

(b) If production from two or more insurance units is commingled and the insured fails to establish and maintain separate acreage and production records satisfactory to the Corporation, the Corporation may allocate the commingled production between the units involved in any manner it deems appropriate or void the insurance on the insurance units involved and declare the premium(s) for such units forfeited by the insured. If production from uninsured acreage and insured acreage is commingled and the insured fails to establish and maintain separate acreage and production records satisfactory to the Corporation, all such production which is commingled shall be considered to have been produced on the insured acreage or the Corporation may void the insurance on the insurance unit(s) involved and declare the premium(s) for such unit(s) forfeited by the insured.

8. Date table.
Discount date: June 30.
Maturity date: July 31.
Interest date: October 31.
Cancellation date: February 15.

9. Definitions. (a) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 24 (d) of the policy, "crop year" with respect to strawberries means the period beginning March 15 and ending upon completion of harvest and shall be designated by reference to the calendar year in which the strawberries are normally harvested.

(b) For all purposes under the contract strawberries for harvest within the crop year shall be considered to have been planted as of March 15 of that crop year.

10. Reduction of premium based on good experience. The insured's annual premium for any year may be reduced 25 percent if he has had seven consecutive years of insured crop(s) under a Federal Crop Insurance contract without a loss for which an indemnity was paid. Credit for consecutive years of good experience under any other existing Federal Crop Insurance contract will not be transferred to the multiple crop contract if the insured is eligible to receive a premium discount based on consecutive years of good experience or based on an accumulated balance of premiums over indemnities under such existing contract. Nothing in this paragraph shall create in the insured any right to a reduced premium.

Approved: Beginning with the 1951 crop year.

[SEAL] FEDERAL CROP INSURANCE CORPORATION.

§ 420.51–2 Henry County.

(Applicable in Henry County, Ala., Beginning With the 1951 Crop Year)

1. Insurable crops. For the purpose of the multiple crop insurance program the insurable crops are:

(a) Corn normally regarded as field corn, including corn with which soybeans are interplanted. The contract will not provide insurance for true type silage corn, corn planted thick for silage or fodder purposes, sweet corn, popcorn, broom corn, corn planted for the development of hybrid seed corn, or any type of corn other than that normally regarded as field corn.

(b) Cotton, restricted to American upland cotton and not including cotton planted primarily for experimental purposes.

(c) Peanuts planted for harvest as nuts, excluding acreage of less than one acre on an insurance unit.

2. Coverage per acre. (a) The coverage per acre for each insured crop, except cotton, shall be reduced 50 percent for any acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop.

(b) The coverage per acre for cotton which is not harvested shall be reduced as follows: (1) 60 percent for any acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop, and (2) 25 percent for any unharvested acreage released by the Corporation and not planted to a substitute crop.

3. Insured acreage. In addition to the acreage specified in section 4 of the policy with respect to which no insurance will attach, insurance will also not attach with respect to any acreage planted to cotton in excess of the allotment or permitted acreage established under any program administered by the Secretary of Agriculture but destroyed by natural causes or by the insured and not considered as cotton under the provisions of such program.

4. Insurance period. Insurance shall attach at the time of planting to any insured acreage of any insured crop. Insurance shall cease with respect to any portion of the corn crop upon harvesting (picking the corn from the stalk either by hand or machine or cutting the corn for fodder or ensilage), the cotton crop upon picking, the peanut crop upon threshing, or with respect to any portion of any crop upon removal from the field, whichever is earlier. However, in no event shall insurance remain in effect (a) with respect to any crop later than the earlier of (i) the end of the normal harvest period for such crop, or (ii) December 10, unless such time is extended in writing by the Corporation, and (b) with respect to any insurance unit later than the date of submission of a claim for indemnity.

Corn: $1.20 per bushel.
Cotton: $0.27 per pound.
Peanuts: $168 per ton.

However, any production of corn or peanuts which will not meet the latest available requirements for a Commodity Credit Corporation loan or support because of poor quality due to insurable causes, and would not meet these requirements if properly handled, shall be evaluated at a value per unit determined by the Corporation. For any subsequent crop year notice of any change in the predetermined price from the prior crop year shall be mailed by the Corporation to the insured at least 15 days before the cancellation date shown herein.

6. Released crop. Notwithstanding any other provision of the policy any crop on any insured acreage may be released by the Corporation subject to an appraisal by the Corporation of the yield that would be realized if the crop were harvested, except that any corn may be used for ensilage or fodder without a release by the Corporation if the insured leaves a number of rows considered by the Corporation to be an adequate representative sample for appraising the yield.

7. Amount of loss. (a) The amount of loss with respect to any insurance unit shall be determined by (1) multiplying the insurable acreage (exclusive of any acreage to which insurance did not attach) planted to each insured crop by the applicable coverage per acre, and the result by the insured interest, and (2) subtracting from the total thereof the insured interest in the value (based on the predetermined price) of the total production on such acreage of all insured crops. (In any case where the Corporation exercises its right to limit the insured acreage of any crop to the allotment or permitted acreage established for such crop, the acreage of that crop approved by the Corporation on the acreage report shall be considered as the planted acreage in computing the amount of loss and the production for such acreage shall be its proportionate part of the total production from all the acreage of that crop.) However, the amount of loss so determined shall be reduced if the premium computed for the insurance unit on the basis of the acreage and interest approved by the Corporation on the acreage report is less than the premium computed for the planted acreage on the insurance unit. This reduction shall be made on the basis of the ratio of the premium computed for the acreage and interest as approved by the Corporation on the acreage report to the premium computed for the planted acreage. The total production for each insured crop on the insurance unit shall include all production determined in accordance with the production schedule below.

The Corporation reserves the right to determine the amount of production on the basis of an appraisal of any unharvested crop standing in the field.

PRODUCTION SCHEDULE

Crop	Acreage classification	Total production [1]
1. Each insured crop except cotton.	Acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop.	That portion of the appraised production for such acreage which is in excess of the number of bushels, or pounds determined by (1) subtracting the total coverage for such acreage from what the total coverage for such acreage would be if it were not planted to a substitute crop, and (2) dividing the result thus obtained by the predetermined price for the crop.
2. Each insured crop except cotton.	Acreage not planted to a substitute crop.	The appraised production or the actual production, including an appraisal of corn left in the field after harvest and an appraisal of corn used for ensilage or fodder.
3. Cotton	Acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop.	That portion of the appraised production which is in excess of the number of pounds determined by (1) subtracting the total coverage for such acreage from what the total coverage for such acreage would be if it were harvested, and (2) dividing the result thus obtained by the predetermined price.
4. Cotton	Acreage released by the Corporation which is not harvested and not planted to a substitute crop.	That portion of the appraised production which is in excess of the number of pounds determined by (1) subtracting the total coverage for such acreage from what the total coverage for such acreage would be if it were harvested, and (2) dividing the result thus obtained by the predetermined price.
5. Cotton	Acreage harvested	Production, including an appraisal of production left in the field after harvest.
6. Each insured crop	Acreage put to another use without the consent of the Corporation.	Appraised production for such acreage but not less than the product of (1) such acreage and (2) the bushel or pound equivalent of the coverage per acre on the basis of the predetermined price for the crop.
7. Each insured crop	Acreage with reduced yield due solely to cause(s) not insured against.	Appraised number of bushels or pounds by which production for such acreage has been reduced but not less than the product of (1) such acreage and (2) the applicable bushel or pound equivalent of the coverage per acre, on the basis of the predetermined price for the crop, minus the number of bushels or pounds harvested.
8. Each insured crop	Acreage with reduced yield due partially to cause(s) not insured against and partially to cause(s) insured against.	Appraised number of bushels or pounds by which production for such acreage has been reduced because of cause(s) not insured against.

[1] Production shall be in bushels for corn, and pounds for cotton and peanuts.

Notwithstanding the other provisions of this paragraph (a) regarding the determination of the total production of cotton, in any case where the quality of any cotton production is reduced solely by insured causes to the extent that the value per pound, as determined by the Corporation, is less than 75 percent of the predetermined price, the number of pounds of such poor quality cotton shall be adjusted downward to the number of pounds obtained by dividing the total value of such cotton, as determined by the Corporation, by 75 percent of the predetermined price.

(b) If production from two or more insurance units is commingled and the insured fails to establish and maintain separate acreage and production records satisfactory to the Corporation, the Corporation may allocate the commingled production between the units involved in any manner it deems appropriate or void the insurance on the insurance units involved and declare the premium(s) for such units forfeited by the insured. If production from uninsured acreage and insured acreage is commingled and the insured fails to establish and maintain separate acreage and production records satisfactory to the Corporation, all such production which is commingled shall be considered to have been produced on the insured acreage or the Corporation may void the insurance on the insurance unit(s) involved and declare the premium(s) for such unit(s) forfeited by the insured.

8. Date table.
Discount date: June 30.
Maturity date: July 31.
Interest date: October 31.
Cancellation date: February 28.

9. Reduction of premium based on good experience. The insured's annual premium for any year may be reduced 25 percent if he has had seven consecutive years of insured crop(s) under a Federal Crop Insurance contract without a loss for which an indemnity was paid. Credit for consecutive years of good experience under any other existing Federal Crop Insurance contract will not be transferred to the multiple crop contract if the insured is eligible to receive a premium discount based on consecutive years of good experience or based on an acumulated balance of premiums over indemnities under such existing contract. Nothing in this paragraph shall create in the insured any right to a reduced premium.

Approved: Beginning with the 1951 crop year.

§ 420.53–1 Arkansas County.

(Applicable in Arkansas County, Ark., Beginning With the 1951 Crop Year)

1. Insurable crops. For the purpose of the multiple crop insurance program the insurable crops are:

(a) Corn normally regarded as field corn, including corn with which soybeans are interplanted. The contract will not provide insurance for true type silage corn, corn planted thick for silage or fodder purposes, sweet corn, popcorn, broom corn, corn planted for the development of hybrid seed corn, or any type of corn other than that normally regarded as field corn.

(b) Cotton, restricted to American upland cotton and not including cotton planted primarily for experimental purposes.

(c) Lespedeza (annual only) for hay or seed, including volunteer lespedeza.

(d) Oats (fall seeded only) planted for harvest as grain. (Insurance to attach the first crop year of the contract only if the application is filed on or before November 30 preceding the calendar year in which the crop is normally harvested.)

(e) Rice planted for harvest.

(f) Soybeans planted for harvest as beans, excluding soybeans interplanted in the same row with corn.

2. Coverage per acre. (a) The coverage per acre for each insured crop, except cotton, shall be reduced 50 percent for any acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop.

(b) The coverage per acre for cotton which is not harvested shall be reduced as follows: (1) 60 percent for any acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop and (2) 25 percent for any unharvested acreage releaser by the Corporation and not planted to a substitute crop.

3. Insured acreage. In addition to the acreage specified in section 4 of the policy with respect to which no insurance will attach, insurance will also not attach with respect to any acreage planted to cotton or rice in excess of the allotment or permitted acreage established under any program administered by the Secretary of Agriculture but destroyed by natural causes or by the insured and not considered as cotton or rice under the provisions of such program.

4. Insurance period. Insurance shall attach at the time of planting to any insured acreage of any insured crop, except volunteer lespedeza in which case insurance shall attach on April 1 provided there is a stand at that time sufficient that farmers in the area generally would leave it for harvest the following harvest season. Insurance shall cease with respect to any portion of the hay crop upon baling or stacking, the corn crop upon harvesting (picking the corn from the stalk either by hand or machine or cutting the corn for fodder or ensilage), the cotton crop upon picking, all other insured crops upon threshing, or with respect to any portion of any crop upon removal from the field, whichever is earlier. However, in no event shall insurance remain in effect (a) with respect to any crop later than the earlier of (1) the end of the normal harvest period for such crop or (ii) December 10 unless such time is extended in writing by the Corporation, and (b) with respect to any insurance unit later than the date of submission of a claim for indemnity.

5. Predetermined price for valuing production. Production of each insurable crop shall be evaluated at the following predetermined prices for the 1951 crop year:

Corn: $1.40 per bushel.
Cotton: $0.26 per pound.
Hay: $15.00 per ton.
Lespedeza seed:
Kobe: $0.12 per pound.
All other: $0.07 per pound.
Oats: $0.65 per bushel.
Rice: $4.25 per hundredweight.
Soybeans: $1.90 per bushel.

However, any production of oats, corn, rice, or soybeans which will not meet the latest available requirements for a Commodity Credit Corporation loan or support because of poor quality due to insurable causes, and would not meet these requirements if properly handled, shall be evaluated at a value per unit determined by the Corporation. For any subsequent crop year, notice of any change in the predetermined price from the prior crop year shall be mailed by the Corporation to the insured at least 15 days before the cancellation date shown herein.

6. Released crop. Notwithstanding any other provision of the policy any crop on any insured acreage may be released by the Corporation subject to an appraisal by the Corporation of the yield that would be realized if the crop were harvested, except that any corn may be used for ensilage or fodder without a release by the Corporation if the insured leaves a number of rows considered by the Corporation to be an adequate representative sample for appraising the yield.

7. Amount of loss. (a) The amount of loss with respect to any insurance unit shall be determined by (1) multiplying the insurable acreage (exclusive of any acreage to which insurance did not attach) planted to each insured crop by the insured interest, and the result by the applicable coverage per acre, and (2) subtracting from the total thereof the insured interest in the value (based on the predetermined price) of the total production on such acreage of all insured crops. (In any case where the Corporation exercises its right to limit the insured acreage of any crop to the allotment or permitted acreage established for such crop, the acreage of that crop approved by the Corporation for insurance shall be considered as the planted acreage in computing the amount of loss and the production for such acreage shall be its proportionate part of the total production from all the acreage of that crop.) However, the amount of loss so determined shall be reduced if the premium computed for the insurance unit on the basis of the acreage and interest approved by the Corporation on the acreage report is less than the premium computed for the planted acreage on the insurance unit. This reduction shall be made on the basis of the ratio of the premium computed for the acreage and interest as approved by the Corporation on the acreage report to the premium computed for the planted acreage. The total production for each insured crop on the insurance unit shall include all production determined in accordance with the production schedule below. Where any small grains are seeded with an insured growing small grain crop on acreage not released by the Corporation, all production shall be counted as the insured small grain on a weight-equivalent basis. In the case of a volunteer crop produced with an insured crop, the production of such volunteer crop shall be included in determining the production of the insured crop. Where vetch is grown with an insured small grain crop all production of vetch shall be counted as production of such grain crop on a weight-equivalent basis.

The Corporation reserves the right to determine the amount of production on the basis of an appraisal of any unharvested crop standing in the field.

PRODUCTION SCHEDULE

Crop	Acreage classification	Total production [1]
1. Each insured crop except cotton.	Acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop.	That portion of the appraised production (on the basis of hay for lespedeza) for such acreage which is in excess of the number of bushels, tons, or pounds determined by (1) subtracting the total coverage for such acreage from what the total coverage for such acreage would be if it were not planted to a substitute crop, and (2) dividing the result thus obtained by the predetermined price for the crop.
2. Each insured crop except lespedeza and cotton.	Acreage not planted to a substitute crop.	The appraised production of the actual production, including an appraisal of corn left in the field after harvest and an appraisal of corn used for ensilage or fodder.
3. Lespedeza	Acreage not planted to a substitute crop.	The actual production of hay and seed for acreage harvested (except that the Corporation may count the appraised production for seed in place of the hay production for any cutting) and the appraised production (the appraisal for hay or the appraisal for seed, or both, whichever the Corporation elects) for (1) acreage pastured or (2) production not harvested.
4. Cotton	Acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop.	That portion of the appraised production which is in excess of the number of pounds determined by (1) subtracting the total coverage for such acreage from what the total coverage for such acreage would be if it were harvested and (2) dividing the result thus obtained by the predetermined price.
5. Cotton	Acreage released by the Corporation which is not harvested and not planted to a substitute crop.	That portion of the appraised production which is in excess of the number of pounds determined by (1) subtracting the total coverage for such acreage from what the total coverage for such acreage would be if it were harvested and (2) dividing the result thus obtained by the predetermined price.

[1] Production and allowances shall be in bushels for corn, oats, and soybeans; pounds for cotton, lespedeza seed and rice; and tons (rounded to tenths) for hay.

6. Cotton	Acreage harvested	Production, including an appraisal of production left in the field after harvest.
7. Each insured crop	Acreage put to another use without the consent of the Corporation.	Appraised production for such acreage but not less than the product of (1) such acreage and (2) the bushel, ton, or pound equivalent of the coverage per acre on the basis of the predetermined price for the crop.
8. Each insured crop	Acreage with reduced yield due solely to cause(s) not insured against.	Appraised number of bushels, tons, or pounds by which production for such acreage has been reduced but not less than the product of (1) such acreage and (2) the applicable bushel, ton, or pound equivalent of the coverage per acre, on the basis of the predetermined price for the crop, minus the number of bushels, tons, or pounds harvested.
9. Each insured crop	Acreage with reduced yield due partially to cause(s) not insured against and partially to cause(s) insured against.	Appraised number of bushels, tons, or pounds by which production for such acreage has been reduced because of cause(s) not insured against.

[1] Production and allowances shall be in bushels for corn, oats, and soybeans; pounds for cotton, lespedeza seed, and rice; and tons (rounded to tenths) for hay.

Notwithstanding the other provisions of this paragraph (a) regarding the determination of the total production of cotton, in any case where the quality of any cotton production is reduced solely by insured causes to the extent that the value per pound, as determined by the Corporation, is less than 75 percent of the predetermined price, the number of pounds of such poor quality cotton shall be adjusted downward to the number of pounds obtained by dividing the total value of such cotton, as determined by the Corporation, by 75 percent of the predetermined price.

(b) If production from two or more insurance units is commingled and the insured fails to establish and maintain separate acreage and production records satisfactory to the Corporation, the Corporation may allocate the commingled production between the units involved in any manner it deems appropriate or void the insurance on the insurance units involved and declare the premium(s) for such units forfeited by the insured. If production from uninsured acreage and insured acreage is commingled and the insured fails to establish and maintain separate acreage and production records satisfactory to the Corporation, all such production which is commingled shall be considered to have been produced on the insured acreage or the Corporation may void the insurance on the insurance unit(s) involved and declare the premium(s) for such unit(s) forfeited by the insured.

8. Date table.
Discount date: June 30.
Maturity date: July 31.
Interest date: October 31.
Cancellation date: October 31.

9. Definitions. For all purposes under the contract volunteer lespedeza for harvest within the crop year shall be considered to have been planted as of April 1.

In addition to the provisions of section 13 of the policy, any share of an insured crop paid or to be paid for irrigation water shall be considered for the purpose of determining insurance units only, as a part of the share of the insured.

10. Reduction of premium based on good experience. The insured's annual premium for any year may be reduced 25 percent if he has had seven consecutive years of insured crop(s) under a Federal Crop Insurance contract without a loss for which an indemnity was paid. Credit for consecutive years of good experience under any other existing Federal Crop Insurance contract will not be transferred to the multiple crop contract if the insured is eligible to receive a premium discount based on consecutive years of good experience or based on an accumulated balance of premiums over indemnities under such existing contract. Nothing in this paragraph shall create in the insured any right to a reduced premium.

Approved: Beginning with the 1951 crop year.

[SEAL] FEDERAL CROP INSURANCE CORPORATION.

§ 420.53–2 White County.

(b) Cotton, restricted to American upland cotton and not including cotton planted primarily for experimental purposes.

(c) Lespedeza (annual only) for hay, including volunteer lespedeza.

(d) Oats (fall seeded only) planted for harvest as grain.

(e) Potatoes commonly known as Irish potatoes, excluding (1) acreages planted after April 30 and (2) acreages of less than one acre on an insurance unit.

(f) Soybeans planted for harvest as beans, excluding soybeans interplanted in the same row with corn.

(g) Strawberries, excluding acreages of less than two-tenths acres on an insurance unit. (Insurance to attach the first year of the contract only if the application is submitted to the county office on or before January 31, 1951.)

3. Insured acreage. In addition to the acreage specified in section 4 of the policy with respect to which no insurance will attach, insurance will also not attach with respect to any acreage planted to cotton in excess of the allotment or permitted acreage established under any program administered by the Secretary of Agriculture but destroyed by natural causes or by the insured and not considered as cotton under the provisions of such program.

4. Insurance period. Insurance shall attach at the time of planting to any insured acreage of any insured crop, except (a) volunteer lespedeza on which insurance shall attach on May 1 provided there is a stand at that time sufficient that farmers in the area generally would leave it for harvest the following harvest season, and (b) strawberries on which insurance shall attach (1) in the first year of the contract on February 1 and (2) in each succeeding year of the contract on September 1, provided in either case the strawberries were planted by the preceding May 1 and there is a sufficient stand for the applicable date for insurance to attach) to expect a normal crop to be produced. However, in no event shall insurance attach to any acreage of strawberries which has been or under normal conditions could have been harvested three years. Insurance shall cease with respect to any portion of the hay crop upon baling or stacking, the corn crop upon harvesting (picking the corn from the stalk either by hand or machine or cutting the corn for fodder or ensilage), the cotton and strawberry crops upon picking, the potato crops upon digging, all other insured crops upon threshing, or with respect to any portion of any crop upon removal from the field, whichever is earlier. However, in no event shall insurance remain in effect (a) with respect to any crop later than the earlier of (1) the end of the normal harvest period for such crop or (ii) December 10 unless such time is extended in writing by the Corporation, and (b) with respect to any insurance unit later than the date of submission of a claim for indemnity.
